The Ostrich is Still A Popular Bird

Jews who shirk their responsibility to Jewish life on the ground that the "Jewish problem" is but a tiny fragment of the world problem are blissfully unaware of the front-page role which that "Jewish problem" plays in military as well as propaganda technique. In Berlin, the news tells us, Dr. Goebbels' technicians are training "fifth-column artists" in the methods of arousing Russian peasants against Jews as part of the invasion of the U.S.S.R.

The German press and radio, imitated by their Italian echoes, unashamedly repeat the tattered anti-Semitic charge that the Jews are both the capitalists and the Communists.

Throughout the world Hitler hopes to win friends for his cause — as he has in so many other instances — by arousing or creating hatred of the Jews as the lever to win support for his aims.

While the air lanes hear the raucous blaring of charges against "Jews! Jews! Jews!" it might be well for American Jews to realize that their internal unity is a prime requisite against these attacks. They might also remember that a Jew is anyone whom Hitler brands as such.

This is hardly the time for the silly differentiations which some of our pundits are making as between "religion" and "people" as the label for Jews.

How Many Jews?

Although the American Jewish Year Book has made a valiant effort every year to indicate how many Jews there are in America, no general agreement as to the accuracy of its count has been available.

In fact, many of the communities insist that they have far fewer members than they are credited — or charged — with.

Now the Federal Council of Churches of Christ, in its Yearbook, states that there are 4,641,184 Jews in the United States.

How breath-taking is its accuracy! One wonders from what hat that figure was pulled.

For many reasons, it might be helpful to know how many Jews there are in the United States. Communal responsibilities might be more clearly fixed. But at the last census the various Jewish bodies objected to Federal reference to the religious affiliation of those counted.

If those who protested had had faith in the tolerance of America, they would not have protested against compiling figures which might show there were "too many Jews in America." What responsible body, in co-operation with the communities, will undertake this census?

Lindbergh Fears Pogroms In U. S. if War is Lost

NEW YORK. — Should America enter the war and lose it, the Jews in the United States will undergo anti-Jewish outbreaks which "will surpass those in Nazi Germany." Such is the opinion of Col. Charles Lindbergh as reported in last week's issue of Life magazine by Roger Butterfield.

"Lindbergh," Mr. Butterfield writes, "has told more than one close friend that participation in the war against Hitler is sure to cause an internal explosion, a bloody revolution in America. Organized labor, he predicts, will pull in one direction and profiteering capital in the other, split-

Ask Britain to Clarify Stand on Palestine

Believe Positive Attitude Required

Weizmann Says Jews Deserve a Declaration

LONDON. — A demand that the British government adopt a more positive attitude on the policy of a Jewish National Home in Palestine, was fore-shadowed here by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, in an interview appearing in the Manchester Guardian. Stressing the fact that high official quarters in Washington share the views of the Jewish leaders on Palestine, Dr. Weizmann stated that hitherto Zionists circles had refrained from demanding a declaration on the Palestine question in order not to embarrass the British Government during the grave war crisis.

But now, said Dr. Weizmann, in view of the improved war situation and the willingness of American Jewry to "bear the brunt of the burden in alleviating the misery of countless European Jews," it has become virtually necessary that American Jews be given some indication as to where "their unfortunate brethren can go."

Stating that Britain possesses no stancher friends than the American Jews, Dr. Weizmann said that it was not surprising

Seek Names of Internees in Russia

NEW YORK. — The Jewish Labor Committee has been authorized by representatives of the Polish Government-in-exile to compile and submit lists of Polish Jews who have been interned in Soviet Russia either as war prisoners or as undesirable civilians, it was announced here by Adolph Held, chairman of the Committee.

Mr. Held disclosed that these lists will be brought to London by a Polish diplomatic courier to facilitate the release of Polish citizens under the provisions of the Russo-Polish agreement. He urged American Jews who have relatives interned in Russia as Polish citizens to forward the names and addresses of these relatives to the Committee.

Specifically, the case arose in the predominantly Roman Catholic town of Meta, and affected St. Cecilia School, a parochial institution that had been incorporated into the public school system ten years ago.

While state-prescribed texts were used, and state courses requirements met, nuns were retained as school teachers and the parish priest taught the Roman Catholic religion as a part of the curriculum. Non-Roman Catholic parents, themselves of different faiths brought the suit in protest at being forced to pay taxes in support of a religious school. A smaller public school had also been supported by the school district for non-Catholic children, but the decision intimated that circum-

with the effect such disasters would have on Jews in the U. S.

He believes Jews will be blamed

She Can Take It — Smiling

NEW YORK. — Although this young refugee girl is wearing borrowed clothes, went through the Dunkerque bombardment, lived for two weeks on a rat infested ship, endured a North African concentration camp and a yellow fever epidemic, she can still smile. She's safe now in America, and with her husband, is looking to the National Refugee Service for aid in her new way of life.

Missouri Upholds Separation Of Church and State Schools

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The public schools gained a smashing victory in Missouri when the Supreme Court unanimously ruled that public funds cannot be used to support religious schools.

In upholding the Missouri constitutional provisions requiring absolute separation of Church and State, the court sentenced to legal death the practice in many small Missouri communities of incorporating parochial schools into the public school system while allowing them to retain their religious character.

Specifically, the case arose in the predominantly Roman Catholic town of Meta, and affected St. Cecilia School, a parochial institution that had been incorporated into the public school system ten years ago. While state-prescribed texts were used, and state courses requirements met, nuns were retained as school teachers and the parish priest taught the Roman Catholic religion as a part of the curriculum.

Non-Roman Catholic parents, themselves of different faiths brought the suit in protest at being forced to pay taxes in support of a religious school. A smaller public school had also been supported by the school district for non-Catholic children, but the decision intimated that circum-

More Than Million Sent into Interior

Severe Housing Shortage Created

ANKARA. — More than 1,000,000 Jews have been evacuated into the Russian interior with the aid of Soviet authorities from the three major Russo-German war fronts, it was reported in Russian quarters here.

The Jews, streaming into Russia, were evacuated from Soviet-held Poland, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Bessarabia, northern Bukovina and from Russian cities in the path of the invading Nazi Army. In line with the Soviet "scorched earth" policy, the Jews took whatever possessions they could carry and burned the remainder, including their homes.

Russian sources here stated that the Soviet officials advised Jews to leave their villages and move into the interior as soon as it became evident that the Nazis were approaching and that the Soviet forces would not be able to defend the villages from the invaders.

These quarters admitted, however, that no advance arrangements had been made to house the refugees upon their arrival in the interior. Many cities in the interior are crowded with refugees and a severe housing shortage has been created.

"Free" Italians Publish Policy

LONDON. — Leaders of the growing "Free" Italian movement, composed of anti-Fascist and anti-Mussolini Italian elements here have issued a statement pledging restoration of all civil and political rights to Jews in a post-war Italy.

The statement stressed that the Italian people were not in sympathy with the anti-Jewish laws, which, the statement said, were forced upon the Italian people by Nazi Germany.

Synagogues Form Clearing House to Iron Out Problems

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The intercongregational committee, originally organized to achieve 100 percent synagogue membership in this community by proposing to deny religious ministrations to the unaffiliated, has been transformed into a permanent organization, known as the Louisville Conference of Synagogues and Temples, its chairman, Dr. Bernard Schneider, has announced.

The new group, embracing the city's three orthodox, one conservative and two reformed congregations, will serve as a clearing house to enable the congregations to iron out their problems jointly, the chairman said. He added that the congregations for sometime have felt the need for such an organization.

Meanwhile, the congregations are pushing their own individual membership drives, which were launched simultaneously with mailing of a letter by the intercongregational committee to all unaffiliated families in the city, asking them to join a congregation of their own choosing. A response of 2 percent was received directly by the committee, but each congregation is now following up this letter in its own way.

Demand Unseating of Parliament Member

LONDON. — Twenty thousand voters of all parties of the Peebles District, represented by Capt. A. H. Ramsay, Conservative, have signed a petition requesting that their Member in Parliament, proved to be an anti-Semite in the recent trial of a libel suit against the New York Times, be deprived of his seat in the House of Commons.

Doctors Who Said "No" are Executed

M. D.'s Refused Service
In Nazi Medical Units

ISTANBUL.—An unidentified number of Jewish doctors who refused to serve in special Nazi medical units on the Russian front has been executed by Gestapo firing squads, it was reported here. The physicians had been interned in concentration camps but were offered their freedom in return for their services on the Eastern front.

The report added that nearly 300 Jewish doctors had been released from concentration camps in Germany and dispatched to the Eastern front where the Russians were reportedly taking a tremendous toll for each foot of land seized by the Nazi army.

Nazi officials were reported to have promised the Jewish doctors that they would be accorded the same conditions and pay as the "Aryan" doctors. Despite these assurances, however, a number of doctors, including several who had been incarcerated since the early days of the Hitler regime, refused to serve with the Nazi forces. They were shot by firing squads as an example to the other Jewish physicians.

German Group Buys U. S. Bonds

NEW YORK.—The Workmen's Benefit Fund, a fraternal health insurance society founded by workers driven from Germany to the United States by Bismarck's anti-labor laws between 1878 and 1890, announced today that it had purchased $30,000 worth of U. S. defense bonds.

It is part of the Holy City Presentation that can be seen at the Rhode Island State Fair to be held at Kingston, R. I. from August 26 through September 1.

stances at times forced non-Catholic pupils to attend St. Cecelia School.

It was the first time the Missouri Supreme Court had been called to rule upon such a question in the 120-year history of the state.

The opinion, written by Judge

James M. Douglas, stated: "The constitutional policy of our state has decreed the absolute separation of Church and state, not only in governmental matters, but in educational ones as well.

"Public money, coming from taxpayers of every denomination, may not be used for the help of any religious sect in education or otherwise.

"The inclusion of St. Cecelia School in the public school system and its maintenance as a part of and as an adjunct to the parish church in its religious teachers, and where children of every faith may be compelled to attend and have attended, constitutes a denial of our guaranty of religious freedom.

"If the management of this school were approved we might next have some other church gaining control of a school board and have its pastor and teachers introduced to teach its sectarian religion.

"Our schools would soon become centers of local political battles which would be dangerous to the peace of society where there must be equal religious rights to all and special religious privileges to none.

"The faithful observance of our constitutional provisions happily makes such a condition impossible."

Blast Menaces Vichy Synagogues

VICHY, France.—An explosion occurred this week near the front door of the Vichy Synagogue in the second such anti-Semitic demonstration in unoccupied France. Three men approached the building at 3 A. M. They ran away after lighting the fuse of a small explosive. A similar explosion occurred recently in Marseille.

NOTES OF AN INNOCENT BYSTANDER:

The Wireless: One of the reasons the news from the new war zone is yes-and-no is because the transmission from Moscow is haywire. The relays hit the Axis areas, and they change the bad news or just lose it . . . Leland Stowe jeered at the alarmists who cried "Surprise!" when our troops reached Iceland. Mr. Roosevelt prepared us for it, he reminded, when he declared the emergency. Then he said: "It would be stupid to allow the enemy to get a foothold" . . . Jan Yandrich, guesting on "We, the People," reported that the people of Tobruk, where he's been, have other things besides war to murder their sleep. They've got a sister of the Hoot Sut song called "Laughing Mathilda" . . . Who's the new announcer with the divine falsetto? He can lisp words with no lisping letters in them, and he's got waiters in the saloons fluttering on tiptoe during his broadcasts . . . The way some of the brassier bands swing the classics, you'd think they were after revenge on listeners.

The Story Tellers: Bernard de Voto writes in Harper's of a certain misguided American: "Chance, the willingness of the public to let picturesque heroes pontificate, the management of smart men who were expert at publicity, the collaboration of a literary wife in the writing of a best-seller, and an immeasurable belief in his own greatness, converted (him) into a national hero and eventually into a national danger." You're wrong. He was referring to John C. Fremont, a self-styled Napoleon of another era . . . Reader's Digest insists money isn't important . . . If you don't think money is important—ask the people who haven't any.

The Front Pages: The sense of most of the communiques from the Heinie High Command seems to be: "We're licking the tar out of the Russkys, but don't quote me" . . . There are dailies on this side of the Atlantic that fit Donald Wickman's vignette (in Truth) of The London Times: "A paper which has always had a shrewd sense of the news value of looking earnestly ahead and an even shrewder sense of the political value of looking earnestly into space" . . . When Richard Boyer got back from Germany he rapped the Nazi stunt of inviting foreign correspondents to the war zone. The reporters were practically prisoners, he reported, and were steered by Goebbels' helpers to the items they wanted sent to the U. S. Well, the boys are making tours again, this time on the Russian front. Maybe they figure it's better to send back propaganda rather than no word at all.

New York News Reel: Maiden Lane which was so named because it was footpath used by lovers along a rippling brook . . . The Center Theatre which has a special ventilating system to carry off the heat produced by the 400 bulbs in the chandelier . . . The fellow at 34th Street who runs a hot dog stand and plays classical recordings on his phonograph between sales . . . The beauty parlor's warning to patrons: "Ladies should be seen and not heard" . . . The antique shop on 3rd Avenue with a sensayuma. It displays jokebooks in the window—most of which you can hear on the radio every night . . . The doors of the vaults at the Federal Reserve Bank which weigh 90 tons.

The hinterlands taking over Times Square for the week-end. Broadway on Sunday is Scranton, Pa., on Monday . . . The Columbus Circle soapboxer, talking to an audience of one—a bored cop . . . Safety sign seen near the Lido Beach Club: "Drive Slowly. Don't Be a Hearse's Neck!" . . . The down-and-outer near the City Hall fountain washing his face and drying it with a dirtier kerchief . . . The chalked lettering on Tombs Prison—"Cocler Inside."

There will be three courses both in the day and evening sessions.

British Fliers Join In "Hora" With Jewish Settlers

SAFED, Palestine. — British and Australian fliers who took part in the Syrian campaign gaily tripped the Hora, Palestine Jewish dance, joined by Jewish settlers at festivities in Kibbutz Machnaim celebrating the termination of hostilities on the Palestine-Syrian front.

Refreshments were served, and more serious side was also not ignored. The people listened to an address by one of the Jewish settlers who emphasized the Jew-

Noted Nazi Victims Find Haven Here

NEW YORK. — Down the gangplank of the Portuguese liner, Nvassa, second in a week to enter New York harbor, came a stream of 600 Jewish refugees last Saturday, most notable of them being Mrs. Paul Ehrlich, widow of the discoverer of salvarsan and one of the greatest figures in the history of medicine.

There were 690 refugees in all. Of the Jewish passengers, 200 had been brought out of the French internment camp at Casablanca, Morocco through the co-operation of the Joint Distribution Committee and the Hias.

An interesting group among the refugees were a number of Italian anti-Fascist leaders whom the Jewish Labor Committee had succeeded in bringing over. One of the internees at Casablanca said that rats as big as cats ran over the faces of the refugees at night; they all told of broiling heat by day and 10 degrees above zero at night.

Indianapolis Man To Speed Salvage

L. J. Borinstein to Have Charge of Scrap Metals

WASHINGTON. — Drafted by the federal government as a $1-a-year man, Louis J. Borinstein, Indianapolis businessman, will have charge of a national campaign to speed up the salvage of scrap iron and steel for defense needs.

The OPM in Washington has announced the appointment of Mr. Borinstein as administrator of the scrap iron and steel division of the metals and minerals section. The first Indiana man to be drafted to a $1-a-year defense job, he will direct from his office in Washington, a campaign to increase last year's collection of 19,000,000 tons of scrap iron and steel to 30,000,000 tons for 1941.

Serving this year as national president of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, Mr. Borinstein has been called to Washington numerous times in the last few months to confer with OPM officials on this phase of defense activity.

Albee Holds Film For Third Week

"Hold That Ghost," the new Abbott-Costello film has been held over at the RKO Albee Theatre for a third riotous week.

When Abbott and Costello scored their sensational success in "Buck Privates," and then equalled it in "In The Navy", surprise was generally expressed that two chaps so new to pictures should seem so familiar with the medium. The mistake in this estimate was that only one half of the team, Abbott, was unfamiliar with film methods. Costello was an old hand at Hollywood doings. He learned about the business of making motion pictures as a stunt man and bit player.

Also on the Albee's bill is "Repent at Leisure", with Kent Taylor and Wendy Barrie; Donald Duck in "The Window Washer," and Jean Bauer in an RKO sports short, with Craig Wood.

700 HELD

GENEVA. — The German authorities in Oslo have announced the arrest of 90 more Jews for "economic sabotage", bringing the total seized on that pretext to 700.

Women In The News This Week

BY MARTHA NEUMARK

When the fortunes of Empire and war brought to Western Hemispheric shores the chic Duchess of Windsor it was taken for granted that her influence on fashions for women of her native land would soon be felt to considerable degree. But when the Rumanian-Jewish junk-dealer's daughter — known to millions as the rather matronly, dumpy Magda Lupescu until her arrival revealed to ship reporters a svelte, flaming-haired, gracious king's consort who insisted that her name really was Elena — sailed past this country toward the Cuban haven awaiting King Carol and her son, no one dreamed that it was she who would make the first dent on the American fashion world.

Yet, when summer fades into fall and you begin to spot the frequent appearance of wrap-around turbans in your community, you will know that though social leaders are giving her the cold shoulder and though doors open to Carol are closed to the tall, slender, cultured, charming woman who has been "back-street" companion for over sixteen years, this new fashion note for American women will be patterned after the favorite headpiece of the trim, striking Jewess whose flashing smile has won her a warm reception from the lesser folk of her Havana refuge.

That in America one may speak out without fear of the Gestapo's vengeance came as a welcome surprise to Maria Lynn, non-Jewish Austrian film actress who had to flee her native land with her husband because she refused to renounce her marriage to the Jew Walter Strauss, son of the famous Viennese composer Oscar Strauss, who is now in Hollywood directing the screening of his light opera, "The Chocolate Soldier."

She had started to tell the story of how she had sung her way to freedom for both her husband and herself. But suddenly she stopped and cried in alarm: "I must not talk like this! I have told too much." She exhibited a very real fear that her account of the death of her father after his imprisonment in a Nazi concentration camp, into which he had been thrown because of his daughter's marriage and of the Germans' refusal to let her attend her mother's funeral unless she renounced her husband, might result even in this country in the visitation of nameless horrors on her and the young impresario. Reassured finally on this score, she nonetheless decided to let her husband tell the rest of the story how, when the Spanish guards tried to stop them on their flight from Paris, she won them to her aid by singing to them in her gloriously trained voice all their favorite songs.

Among the phenomena of the vacation season is the Vanishing American — or as the feminine mind might choose to call it — What happens to the Eligible Bachelor? . . .

He leaves town all night . . . He comes back . . . He talks about the scenery and the weather . . . Sure, he leaves town, but he doesn't seem to go anywhere . . . He wasn't on the boat, he wasn't at the ranch, he was nowhere on the mountain trails, the girls are sure, because they beat the underbrush trying to locate him . . .

And just to make matters that much more difficult to bear (who wants to buy a high-style wardrobe just to charm the birds and the bees?) a girl can pick up the paper any day and find something like this . . . We quote: "Men! . . . Get away from it all! . . . Bury your troubles at the — Camp for Men, while you toast to a handsome tan . . ."

A sorry looking situation from the girls' side of the fence . . . So we took the matter up with an expert . . . "Tut, tut, why certainly eligible bachelors go places in the summertime," our expert told us affably . . . As adviser and outfitter to swanky sportsmen he ought to know where fishermen fish, sailors sail, dude ranchers — haunted look in his eye . . .

"I'll tell you what you do, though, and maybe it'll pep things up for the girls NEXT summer . . . You just tell 'em to ask some of the men they know where —"

Thanks, we told him, for what we considered very uninformative information . . . "Don't mention it," he bowed us out . . . "Glad to oblige." . . . *

Well, anyhow, by this time most of us have fondly tucked away our summer vacations in our memory books . . . Very soon come those majestic and colorful Fall Days, during which running time Mother Nature sets the stage in more magnificent hues than any technicolor film . . . Autumn landscape, this year, will be matched in splendor by the brilliancy of milady's costumes, according to recently shown collections . . . Welcome news, it was this week, to hear that Buddy Brown is once more receiving her friends and patrons at her dress studio, 148 University, avenue where individuality is the keynote . . . And we understand the studio remains open every Wednesday nite from 7 to 9 o'clock, for those who appreciate the leisurely manner of selection evening hours provide.

Next week come back to us for a session in College fashion knowledge . . . We'll hold your seat 'till you arrive . . .

Much Ado About Nothing

Everyone's planning for the day of labor including John Public and his neighbor... The paradox is — they don't labor at all. It's just g'bye now to summer, hello to Fall...

Vacationists at Shawomet had unusual difficulties this year... After several unpleasant experiences on the beach with outspoken Anti-Semites, they found it expedient to withdraw to a summer in the country, rather than at the shore... Practically all of the synagogues have engaged new cantors for the high holidays... Morton Rosenberg, son of Albert Rosenberg of this city, has successfully passed the Maryland Bar, it was announced this week... Ed Kossove is the new major domo at the Hotel Pharmacy...

Miscellania

Phineas Byron reports that when Baron Eugene de Rothschild arrived here last winter he carried a million dollars' worth of diamonds in a paper bag... But our prize for ingenuity goes to Mrs. Barbara Podawicz, a refugee from Poland who saved her diamonds (not a million dollars' worth by any means, though) by covering them with cloth and using them as buttons for her dress... The Harold Dicks are parents of a baby son born last Monday at the Lyin-In Hospital... It was a boy at the Louis Shores', and girls at the Paul Grossmans and Irving Siegels... All three born at the Miriam Hospital this past week...

In all this talk about the rationing of petroleum products on the Eastern Seaboard, we hope someone will appoint Ickes as coordinator of after-dinner banquet speakers, whom, we feel certain, could stand gas rationing... ## Refugee Aid to Britain Praised More Than 5,000 In Pioneer Corps

LONDON.—Refugee contributions to Britain's cause have proved of great advantage and "have justified what some people considered our too open-handed hospitality in welcoming these emigres," says an article in the Evening Standard, commenting on the order that all of Britain's refugee population must register for "national civilian service."

The great majority of the refugees, the Standard writes, "are repaying our generous gesture by rendering loyal service in many fields. More than 5,000 are serving in the Pioneer Corps, scientists of international repute are giving us their specialized and creative knowledge, while the demand for refugee engineers and technicians far exceeds the supply."

Britain's refugee population, which consisted of some 80,000 to 90,000 people at the outbreak of the war, is gradually shrinking, the article also discloses, since about 20,000 have emigrated. A large number departed at the beginning of the war, while emigration continues on a minor scale in spite of shipping difficulties.

Nazi Shadows Over The Argentine

BY MRS. ARCHIBALD SILVERMAN

(With Argentine very much in the news these days, Mrs. Archibald Silverman, recently returned from a tour of South America, in the following article describes her extended visit with the Jews of Argentina.)

Is there anti-Semitism in Argentina? Of course there is! Show me a land under the sun where there is no anti-Semitism! Hitler has done his work well. Not content that he disrupted Jewish life in the lands he invaded; not content that he spread the Jew and the Jewish question over every page of every newspaper throughout the world—he has, by driving the Jew to the furthest land of the earth, made every country Jew-conscious and more or less openly anti-Semitic.

A world speaks of refugees—millions of them! And because of the Jews' two-thousand-year monopoly on that tragic word "refugee," each nation conjures up the specter of millions of Jews, all wanting to come into their land; and it becomes petrified with fright and rushes to legislative restrictive measures against this alleged menace!

The South American countries are not immune to this fear.

Of the Jews in the Argentine, 130,000 are in Buenos Aires, about 10,000 in Rosario, 5,000 in Cordoba, 7,500 in Santa Fe, 5,000 in Parana, 15,000 in the Baron de Hirsch colonies and the balance in the other cities and towns.

Despite the glowing story of government accord and co-operation there always have been evidences of anti-Semitism, and it is definitely on the increase. But, as one of the Jewish leaders put it to me: "The Jewish question as such has not yet been brought out into the open; it is not yet on the agenda for open discussion—it is still debated and disposed of in the dark."

I had a rare experience while visiting Cordoba. A meeting with the Governor of that entire district was arranged for me. He was very gracious; he greeted me most cordially and with profuse compliments. He commanded me on my work for the Jewish people and for Palestine. And then—he told me that the trouble with the Jew is that he doesn't assimilate! When I asked him what he meant by "assimilate", whether or not he considered the Jew a loyal citizen, he said: "Oh, yes, the Jew is loyal all right, but he must give up being a Jew; he must take on the religion of his land—that is assimilation!"

Spanish is the national language, yet the use of Yiddish is widespread, as is German among the recent arrivals. Hebrew, too, is studied and spoken quite a bit. Just as the press is free, so, too, are public meetings up to a certain point. While I addressed scores of well-publicized public meetings with audiences ranging from one hundred to over a thousand each, at which meeting I spoke either Yiddish or German (or even English in one instance), no special governmental permission was necessary. But on the other hand, when I spoke in one of the largest movie houses on a Sunday, and the size of the house and the audience took on the nature of a public demonstration, a government permit had to be procured.

"What efforts are the Jews of South America making in dealing with the anti-Semitic situation?" I have been asked since my return. A very fine organization calling itself Dain was created in order to discuss and handle all local and non-local Jewish problems. This splendid organization, consisting of elected representatives from all the Jewish organizations of the community, is headed by one of the leading lawyers of the city, Dr. Moises Cadoche, a member of one of the oldest Argentinian-Jewish families. He is an able man admired by Jew and non-Jew alike. The secretary is Dr. Moises Goldman, a young physician, who is also a very capable and promising young leader.

Though this organization fearlessly discusses all Jewish issues at all times, when it came to a decision on the very important matter of participation in the proposed Pan-American Conference that was to have been held in Montevideo, Uruguay, there were many who definitely argued against active participation through the sending of delegates, simply because they were afraid of bringing the Jewish question to the fore in South America! The whole attitude was one of "Let sleeping dogs lie."

Similarly, when a meeting of Jewish leaders was called by a remarkably clear-thinking person for the purpose of emulating the example of the United States by organizing a non-Jewish, Argentinian pro-Palestine Committee, political leaders were ever the fear was expressed that this, too, might prove a boomerang to the Jewish community in the event that some of the suggested political leaders were ever deposed.
