

National Labor Committee Launches Drive for $20,000

More than 200 delegates representing Jewish organizations of Providence attended the annual conference of the National Labor Committee for Palestine which was held last Sunday afternoon at the Biltmore Hotel and by acclamation decided to launch the annual campaign in this city with a quota of $20,000.

Alter Boyman greeted the conference and Dr. Ilie Berger presided. A report of last year's activities was presented by Morris W. Shoham who said that over $13,000 was raised in last year's campaign and because of the greater needs of the Pioneers in Palestine for rescue and building, he recommended, on behalf of the committee, that the goal this year be $20,000.

Isaac Hamlin, guest speaker of the conference, told of the endeavors and achievements of the Histadrut and its 142,000 pioneer membership in Palestine.

Dr. Ilie Berger announced that the annual Third Seder celebration will be held on Sunday evening, April 1, at 6:30 o'clock at the Commercial Travelers Hall, with Lt. Comm. Joshua L. Goldberg as

Announce Plans For Camp Jori

Name Leo Weiss
Camp Director

Following a meeting of the board of directors of the Jewish Children's Home and Foundation of R. I. Dr. Archie Albert, president, announced this week that Camp Jori at Point Judith will be operated this summer, and will continue its policy to provide vacations to Jewish children of low income families. He also announced with regret the resignation of Mrs. Maurice Stolelman, who had been camp director for the past several years.

Camp Jori, which was originally built for children resident at the Jewish Children's Home, has during the past three summers, extended its facilities to all Jewish children in the state who would have no other opportunity for a vacation.

There was unanimous approval by the board of directors of the appointment of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Weiss, as camp directors, and Joseph Galkin, as camp administrator.

Mr. Weiss who is in the guidance department of the Hope Street High School, has had 14 years of teaching experience in the high schools of Providence. In addition, he and Mrs. Weiss, during the past eight years, spent their summers working at camps and have experience in progressive camping principles. Mr. Weiss will be responsible for the day-to-day program and activities at the camp. Mrs. Weiss will serve in the capacity of camp mother and dietician, and will also instruct in arts and crafts work.

Roosevelt Talked About Palestine With Churchill Character of Conversations or Results Attained, Not Disclosed

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt disclosed at his press conference last Friday that he discussed the Palestine question with Prime Minister Winston Churchill. The President, however, gave no clue either to the nature and character of the conversation or to the results attained.

Although Jewish leaders both here and in New York have been displaying a marked reluctance to comment on the President's statement, two of the leading Yiddish newspapers expressed keen disappointment with the President's assertion to Congress that he had learned more about the Moslem and Jewish problem during his five-minute talk with King Ibn Saud than he "could have learned in exchange of two or three dozen (Continued on Page 6)

New York Passes First Anti-Bias Bill in Country

ALBANY — The first anti-discrimination law in the country, making racial or religious discrimination in hiring employes a prison offense, was written into New York State's statutes this week.

"By this act," said Gov. Dewey as he set his name to the Ives-Quinn bill, "the State declares the simple principle that in employment there shall be no discrimination by reason of race, creed, or national origin."

Praising members of the Temporary Commission Against Discrimination which drafted the measure,

Dewey said the law "gives living reality to the great principles of our country.....it is a reaffirmation of the great principles by which we live. It is an expression of confidence that Government is not such a clumsy thing that it cannot solve delicate problems."

Dewey emphasized that the success of the law would depend largely on the five-man commission which he will appoint to administer it. The commission is empowered to investigate and prosecute complaints of discrimination because of race or religion on the part of employers. Persons found guilty are liable to a fine or $500 or one year's imprisonment, or both.

"The law must be administered with tolerance and generosity," said Dewey. "It is far better that these evils receive open consideration and effective treatment than that they be suppressed."

Youth, 21, Wins B'nai B'rith Prize

Break Ground for Elevator Shaft at Home for Aged

In a brief ceremony in which several officers and board members participated, ground was broken last Monday morning for the construction of an elevator shaft and vestibule at the Jewish Home for Aged.

Judge Philip C. Joslin, vice-president, before turning the first shovel-full of earth expressed his pleasure at seeing the hopes and labors of so many people fulfilled. "The new structure," he said, "was the beginning of the larger expansion program which will provide for an infirmary wing, treatment rooms and facilities for 25 additional residents."

Other participants in the ceremonies included Jacob I. Felder, vice-president; Mrs. Samuel Michaelson, president of the Ladies' Association of the Home; Mrs. I. S. Low, chairman of the elevator committee; Dr. Ilie Berger, member of the building-planning committee; Herman J. Aisenberg, recording secretary; Samuel Michaelson, Mrs. Henry Weiner and Max Alexander, superintendent of the Home. Two former presidents of the original Home, Mrs. Isaac Woolf and Mrs. E. Rosen, were also present. Samuel M. Magid, president of the Home, was out-of-town.

Our Responsibility

Of this you can be sure. The American Red Cross, in discharging its world-wide responsibility, represents the United States before the citizens of other nations in a way in which no diplomat however skilled could possibly parallel.

The voluntary outpouring of American gifts to their Red Cross, the presence of Red Cross Field Directors, Hospital Workers, Recreational Workers, and other Red Cross personnel in combat areas, the great chain of services to American members of the Armed Forces, Prisoners of War, Civilian Internees and War Victims, made possible by the voluntary support of the American people all have their impact upon the thinking of the people of other nations.

Right now the United States is in a position to assume great leadership in the world. A vast Army, the greatest Navy ever to sail the seas, the world's largest air force—all bespeak the power of our Nation. It is the strong voice of might.

But the enormous job being done by the Red Cross speaks softly in terms of mercy and comfort. It is the voice of humanity ringing clear and sweet above the thunder of guns and the roar of planes. It serves to immeasurably temper the harsh ugliness of war.

Clearly it says to the world that although America, aroused, can wage war relentlessly, with skill and cunning and sledgehammer force, its people can also furnish the facilities to combat loneliness and suffering, hunger and pain and the other anguish that war brings to people, both fighting men and civilians.

And clearly, too, it says that a nation willing to pour out its money in a great humanitarian cause is worthy of world leadership, and can be trusted.

This is not the primary purpose of the American Red Cross, but it is an important by-product which is likely to play an important role in shaping world affairs of the future.

Navy Recruiting Office to be Open Evenings

Lieutenant Commander George O. Hackett, Officer in charge of the Navy Recruiting Station, New Industrial Trust Building, announced this week that the recruiting office will be open until 8 o'clock each evening, Monday through Friday, to counsel with prospective enlistees, to disseminate information, and to give parents and guardians, of 17 year old applicants, particularly those engaged in war work, the opportunity to sign consent papers without any loss of time from important war work.

"At the present time, we have a considerable number of sets of enlistment papers that are complete except for the parents' signature on the consent papers," Lt. Comdr. Hackett declared. "Inasmuch as our office is primarily a service organization to the public, we are extending our working hours beyond the requirements established by the Navy Department so that applicants and their parents or guardians will be able to call at a time that suits their convenience. If so desired by the parents, recruiters will make definite appointments to meet them at the Navy Office, in the New Industrial Trust Building, or at their homes, whenever convenient."

 Service, who will be responsible for the administration and supervision of the camp, has likewise had many years of camp experience as director of the Jewish Board of Guardians camp in New York State.

Benjamin Brier, chairman of the Camp Jori committee, stated that because of war restrictions, it will not be possible to expand the camp for the summer of 1945. The admissions policy will be essentially the same as last year, and it is planned that 160 boys and girls will have an opportunity for a two weeks' vacation at the camp during the summer of 1945. After the war, and sooner if building restrictions are relaxed, additional bungalows will be built so that a larger number of children can be accommodated. The camp is operated on a state-wide basis, and children from low income families who would have no other opportunity for a healthful vacation are eligible.

Dr. Albert announced that the Camp Jori committee consists of Mr. Brier as chairman, and Walter I. Sundlun, Alexander Rumpler, James Goldman and Max Kestelman.

Further details about the camp admissions policies and program will be released shortly.

IT TAKES THESE WIRES TO TIE A TOWN TOGETHER

FROM your telephone—from every telephone—two wires run all the way to the Central Office. Here they are interconnected at will, quick as a wink, with any other pair . . . the basis of the system which unifies every community through voice communication.
 When all "spare" wires in any neighborhood have been put in service, or all switching apparatus at a Central Office used up, the only way additional subscribers can be served is by installing more wires or Central Office equipment.
 Now we are making plans to take care of New England's telephone growth and the telephone construction interrupted by war. When materials are available and when military demands slacken, we'll be prepared.
 It's going to be a big job, but we'll be ready to go forward and provide the service that really does "tie a town together."

It called the President's statement "not much better, nor more friendly, nor more reassuring" than Churchill's assertion that the Palestine issue is to be postponed until after the war.
