Urge Unpledged To Give Now

GJC officials this week made a special plea to still unpledged potential donors for last minute contributions to the 1949 General Jewish Committee campaign, which officially terminates on January 5.

"If, for any reason, you have not as yet been approached by a fund solicitor, please phone GJC headquarters at GASpec 1-4111 and a worker will promptly list your gift and mail you an acknowledgement."

"Or, if you wish, mail your pledges directly to our office at 203 Strand Building, 77 Washington Street, Providence."

With work scheduled to begin in the immediate future on the compilation of names for this year's Roll of Honor year book, GJC officials were particularly anxious to achieve the greatest possible coverage before the January 5 deadline.

An even more important objective was the present goal of $900,000 for the 1949 campaign—which now stands at the $878,000 level.

Millionth Immigrant Enters Israel

TEL AVIV—"Yom Kibbutz Galuyoth"—"Day of the Ingathering of the Exiles"—was celebrated this week throughout Israel on the occasion of its Jewish population passing the 1,000,000 mark.

The theme of the celebration emphasized the need for preparing for the arrival here of the second million Jews.

President Chaim Weizmann in a special message, declared that the history of Jewish immigration to Israel has reached a new chapter. He said that Jews throughout the world must realize that this wave of immigration is not a transitory but a progressive stage, "since not one but many millions are imperative for the survival of our state."

In an appeal directed to Jewish communities overseas, Weizmann declared that the problem of aiding the immigration of Israeli-bound Jews must be given priority over all other problems.

The road for the second million Jews proceeding to Israel, he said, must be shorter than previous immigration paths because "no foundation exists for the security of the state with only 1,000,000 Jews."

News Deadline For Next Week

Because of the holiday Monday, the deadline for news for next week's Herald will be 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, December 27. We cannot promise to insert items received after that time.

Foreign Ministry Stays in Tel Aviv

TEL AVIV—Dr. Walter Eytan, Director General of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said this week that there was no intention of moving the Foreign Ministry to Jerusalem "at the present time." This more or less rules out the current belief that Jerusalem would suddenly be transformed into the capital of the new state.

Dr. Eytan's statement means that Jerusalem cannot be considered the working or actual capital while Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett and his staff remain in Tel Aviv. The guarded statement indicated that Israel realized the seriousness of any irrevocable defiance of the United Nations resolution to internationalize Jerusalem. By keeping the Foreign Ministry and the office of the President in Tel Aviv, foreign diplomats will be spared the embarrassing choice between staying in Tel Aviv, but out of touch with the nucleus of government, and moving to Jerusalem and thereby acquiescing in the Government's defiance of the United Nations.

Meanwhile Jerusalem housing is being taxed to capacity to accommodate the departments and their staffs. The Government took over a former German hospital of 150 rooms. The building has been used by the army and recently was promised to the Hadasah organization.

Israel Immigration Quota to U. S. 100

WASHINGTON—The United States has assigned "minimum immigration quotas" of 100 persons a year each to Israel and Transjordan. The quotas apply only to citizens of these two nations who were born in their respective countries.

Chanukah Menorah Lights Up Israeli Village GJC to Pay

The Jews of Israel, celebrating the Chanukah holiday, found inspiration in this Menorah which graced a hillside settlement near Jerusalem founded recently with contributions made by American Jews. The Menorah, fashioned of helmets used by Israeli troops in the Arab war, is near the site where Judas Maccabeus celebrated the defeat more than 2,000 years ago of the Greek Assyrians led by Antiochus.

GJC to Pay Tribute to Workers

A "Salute to Workers" celebration—marking the official close of the 1949 General Jewish Committee's fund-raising drive—will be staged Thursday evening, January 5 at the Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel ballroom.

All members of the Greater Providence Jewish community are invited to attend the affair. The program will include a business meeting, followed by entertainment, music and dancing. No admission charge will be made.

Tribute will be paid to the tremendous inspiration not shared by our hundred or so volunteer workers who despite adverse conditions were successful in building out total of a surprisingly high level, declared Arthur A. Spink, campaign chairman this week.

At the same time GJC headquarters announced that the drive's total to date has reached the $878,000 level. Officials still were hopeful the proceeds would hit the $900,000 mark before January 5 and special squads of volunteer solicitors continued to be active this week contacting for remaining 500 donors still unpledged for 1949.

Archibald Silverman, GJC president called attention this week to a special report received from United Palestine Appeal officials in Israel. The UPA is one of the three agencies supported by the United Jewish Appeal, the major beneficiary of the GJC's annual drive.

The report stated: "The past season has not been fruitful in Israel in earnest and—5 to 90,000 camp dwellers—in 60,000 tents, women and children living in tents face the constant threat of exposure and epidemics."

"Ten floors are being transformed into muddy slushy areas and the tents serve to longer afford adequate protection from rain and wind."

"Meanwhile wherever food is available the housing program is being accelerated to provide some protection against the elements."

Abdullah Says Plan Will Not Work

AMMAN, Jordan—King Abdullah in a news conference in the part of Jerusalem he holds, said this week that the United Nations resolution to internationalize that city would not work.

He said that most of the city was in Arab hands and "will remain so with God's will."

"The United Nations does not seem to know the reality of the situation," he declared and added that "neither do the Arab and Eastern states."

"We oppose the resolution because it is impracticable," he said.

Abdullah said that the Arabs respected the Holy Places of all religions.

Bar Group Moves To End Discrimination

NEWARK — Two resolutions aimed at eliminating the possibility of racial discrimination in the American Bar Association were approved this week by the New Jersey State Bar Association at its annual mid-year meeting here attended by 500 members. The organization voted to recommend the elimination of all references to race, creed or color on application blanks for membership.

A companion resolution pointing out that only 12 of the ABA's 41,000 members were Negroes recommended that its board of governors be deprived of the power of approving or rejecting membership applications.

Meiselman-Webber

The marriage of Miss Judith L. Webber, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Webber of Broad Street, to Michael S. Meiselman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meiselman of Blackstone Boulevard, took place Sunday afternoon in the parlors of the Narragansett Hotel. Rabbis

William G. Braude and Morris Schussheim performed the double ring ceremony and wedding music was played by Arthur Einstein, organist, and Benjamin Premack, violinist.

The bride was attired in blush pink slipper satin designed with a high neckline, long fitted sleeves, a bustle back and long train. Her fingertip veil of pink illusion fell from a pleated satin half hat and she carried a satin and tulle muff covered with pink gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Althea F. Weinstein of Worcester, Mass., was maid of honor and wore a green taffeta gown and pink gloves. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink flowers and Pinocchio rose buds matching her headdress.

Rudy Meiselman was best man for his brother and Dr. Banice M. Webber, brother of the bride, was head usher. Ushers were Julius C. Michaelson and Milton Stanzler.

The bride, who was graduated from Classical High School, attended the University of California. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Michigan in June, 1949.

Mr. Meiselman attended the University of Missouri and received his Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from Boston University in January, 1947. His fraternity is Tau Epsilon Phi.

After a reception in the ballroom of the hotel, the couple left on their wedding trip. They will live in Forest Hills, Cranston, upon their return.

The marriage of Miss Elaine Helene Perelman, daughter of Mrs. Clara Pepper Perelman of Houston, Texas, formerly of Providence, to Manuel I. Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Palmer of La Grange, took place at Congregation Adath Emeth, Houston, December 11, with Rabbi Max M. Landman officiating at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Max Pepper, was attired in a pink suit with a matching hat trimmed with navy veil, and her accessories were navy. She carried a white pearl Bible with a white orchid.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Arthur B. Tashnek, sister of the groom, and Dr. Tashnek was best man.

Mrs. Perelman chose a dress of aqua crepe, while the groom's mother selected a toast-colored dress. Each had a corsage of roses.

The bride attended Rhode Island State College. Mr. Palmer

Bias in Housing

Last week's announcement by the U. S. Solicitor-General Philip Perlman on discrimination in housing hardly seems to justify the wild fears of the Southern reactionaries. If the announcement represents the first step in a planned program of eliminating bias in public and publicly-assisted housing, it will indeed constitute a very significant and encouraging development. If, however, it is to be the only move in this direction, it will fall far short of what is required and will justify the cynicism of those who had pressed for more far-reaching action.

A change in the policies of the Federal Housing Administration, which insures mortgages on new housing, has long been overdue. Virtually all new large-scale construction is today covered by mortgages guaranteed by the FHA. The FHA has been under sharp attack for some time for its practice of granting mortgage insurance to builders who practice racial discrimination. The Solicitor General's announcement that this policy is being somewhat revised therefore comes as welcome news.

The full significance of that revision, however, cannot be assessed until the new regulations are issued. The text of Mr. Perlman's statement indicates that the FHA's refusal to insure mortgages on projects where discrimination is practiced will extend only to those instances where a restrictive covenant will be registered in the future. Since the Supreme Court decision last year declaring restrictive covenants unenforceable, however, very few such covenants have been registered; the chief problem has been the simple and outright refusal of builders to sell or rent to Negroes, Jews and other groups. The new regulations will do little directly to meet this problem.

The coming months will witness a determined campaign in the legislatures and the courts to make further progress in ending bias in housing. If the Solicitor-General's presence at the New York Conference and the initial step he announced constitute tacit endorsement by the President of the type campaign on which the New York Committee has embarked, there is good reason for hoping that genuine victories may be recorded this year in one of the most serious areas of social inequality.

The Study of a City -- Minneapolis

Minneapolis may not be considered the city with the most typical Jewish community in the United States. However, its 20,000 Jews total about four percent of the city's population. And this is about the same proportion which the Jews constitute in the country as a whole. This is why a study on Minneapolis Jewry is of extreme interest and importance. Such a study, in the form of an excellent book, "Jews in Transition," has now been published by the University of Minnesota press. Its author, Rabbi Albert I. Gordon, spent 16 years in gathering material for his book. And the many-sided facts which he brings out can, no doubt, be applied also to Jewish life in other areas. Of course, note must be taken of the fact that Minneapolis—as differentiated from other cities in the Middle West—is a center of anti-Semitism. Actually, Minneapolis has been stamped as "the capital of anti-Semitism in the United States." Jews are not accepted in clubs there, and until a year ago not even in the local Automobile Club. They are simply considered "outsiders" and feel as such.

Many of them may be liked personally and even considered "good fellows" by their Christian neighbors. But they are not accepted completely as equals. This, despite the fact that Jews in Minneapolis do not own the large department stores, or share in the control of the banks, mills, or local newspapers. The average Jew in the city knows that court records will support his belief that he and his children are law-abiding citizens. He believes that he maintains his home and family life in a manner that reflects credit upon his community. He contributes liberally to Jewish and non-Jewish philanthropic causes. Generally, he is either the proprietor of a small shop or a member of the white-collar class. There are some Jewish manufacturers of women's clothing, wholesale meat dealers, owners of jewelry and furniture stores, scrap iron dealers. But there are only 92 Jewish lawyers, 59 physicians, 39 dentists, 13 teachers in the public school system and five newspapermen in the whole of Minneapolis. Nevertheless, anti-Semitism is felt not only among employers, but also in local labor unions and in the churches. And even liberal clergymen do not dare to deal a militant fight in their own churches against anti-Semitism for fear that they may lose the favor of their congregations.

On the other hand, intermarriage between Jews and non-Jews is taking place in ever-increasing numbers. In nearly all cases it is the Jewish young man who marries a non-Jewish girl. And the

"One Man's Opinion"

By BERNARD SEGAL

Mrs. D. L., a good friend and a faithful reader of this page, said to me at the early part of the season:

"You are a reader of the Yiddish and the Hebrew press. Most of us either cannot read in these languages, or we just do not bother to read. Why not select some items from these newspapers and magazines and share them with readers of the Herald?"

I liked the idea and I meant to do it several times during these past months. But always there were matters of immediate interest and urgency claiming priority for the space. Now here we are at the end of 1949, and before I clear my desk of the year's clippings, I will pick a few items from the Yiddish daily newspaper "Forward".

Made in Jerusalem

How long is it since we thought of Jerusalem as the city of narrow streets, cluttered with petty shops, blocked by burdened little donkeys and camels, filled with chatter of Arab and Jewish merchants, colorful in its poverty and squalor? To a Jew of not so long ago, Jerusalem meant the Wailing Wall, the little synagogues too many to be counted, the Yeshivos whose scholars depended on charity, and homes for old folks who came to the Holy Land to be gathered to their fathers when their day on this world is ended.

Now we read of a large pharmaceutical company in Jerusalem that produces Penicillin for export to the surrounding countries and to Europe. Penicillin used in Rumania, the Balkan countries, and as far North as the Scandinavian countries is marked with the words "made in Jerusalem". This life-saving drug, so common in this country, is still a precious article in other parts of the world. The Penicillin production in Israel, as well as the medical and pharmaceutical industry generally, was developed by scientists and technicians from Germany.

We are also told of a brisk export trade in false teeth, essential oils and perfumes, wines and liquors, jewelry, candles, rain-coats, and, of all things, nylon stockings. Countries to which these products are shipped include Poland, Hungary, Sweden, the Netherlands, France, Denmark, and Australia.

From one Cop to Another

An unusual ceremony took place the other day in the City Hall of New York. In the presence of dignitaries and the president of the New York City Council, a trim, blue coated squad of New York's best stood at attention. Detective Saul Breckner stepped forward and handed a check for 10,000 dollars to the president of the council.

young generation is not much Jewish-minded.

Books of Jewish interest are rarely found except in the homes of Jews born abroad.

The author establishes that the creation of Israel added vitality to Jewish life in the city. Nevertheless, he comes to the conclusion that if anti-Semitism ceases to be a problem and a source of worry to the Minneapolis Jew, if he finds that he is completely accepted by his Gentile neighbor, the forces that now draw him closer to his fellow Jew may disintegrate. However, he also emphasizes that there are factors operating within the local Jewish community that make complete assimilation unlikely.

who in turn handed it over to I. I. Zohar, Inspector-General of the police in Israel.

This gift was part of the contribution made by the "Hashomrim", the society of Jewish policemen on the police force of Greater New York, to the annual drive of the United Jewish Appeal.

Stocks and Bonds

Please don't ask me the difference between common stock and preferred stocks, or for that matter, the difference between a share, a bond, or capital stock. I never could fathom the meaning of these terms, though they were explained to me more than once by men who know. But there is a lot of talk these days about shares being offered to the American public by the "Ampal". This name stands for American Palestine Trading Corporation, and its purpose is to establish trade relations between the two countries. Palestine needs machines and parts for its industry and agriculture. America produces them, and wants to sell them. But to buy these articles Israel needs dollars. Dollars will buy tractors, metals, pipes, ploughs, cultivators, tools, freezers, milking machines, trucks and busses, aluminum, iron, and steel, all the things needed for the building of a modern state and a sound economy. As of today "Ampal" has placed orders with American manufacturing houses to the tune of seven million dollars. All the orders are for machines and materials necessary for the development of industry and agriculture in Israel.

And here is where we come in. "Ampal" is selling shares, pays 4% dividends, and guarantees the investments. We are urged to buy shares so that Ampal can invest in trade. We help "Ampal", and we collect dividends.

Shares, by the way, are being sold in Providence now. Contact any member of the Labor Zionist group for particulars.

He Forgot

By an order of the government, proclaimed by the President, and signed by the Prime Minister, all of Israel was to turn back the clocks one hour beginning November the first. This was done in order to gain one hour of sunlight during the winter months.

And so on the morning of November the first, promptly at eight o'clock, Prime Minister Ben-Gurion drove up to the gates of the office building, as is his habit. The guards at the gates looked at each other and then they looked at their watches and shrugged their shoulders. Ben-Gurion looked at them, and he looked at his chauffeur, and when they looked at their watches, they both burst out laughing. The Prime Minister forgot to follow the order he signed and issued to his people.

Well, it happens to the best of Prime Ministers.

And before I wish you a happy New Year, may I remind you not to forget to change your calendars.

Home Residents Contribute to GJC

Residents of the Jewish Home for the Aged at 99 Hillside Avenue last week pooled their limited funds and donated the sum of $127.50 to the 1949 General Jewish Committee's fund-raising drive for the United Jewish Appeal and nearly three score other beneficiary agencies.

The contribution represented an increase over last year's gift. One of the inmates who, in his youth, had witnessed the horrors and sufferings of a pogrom of Jews in a European country now isolated behind the Iron Curtain, expressed the feelings of many of his aged colleagues at the Home when adding his month's spending allowance to the fund:

"Many of us know, only too well, the plight of the many hundreds of thousands of Jews in Europe and Africa who are anxiously awaiting admittance to Israel. "Our little gift is but a drop in the bucket, compared to Israel's actual needs, but if it can provide a few weeks food, clothing and shelter for just one heart-sick family, we will feel amply repaid."

BB Women Welcome
 New Members

Rabbi Benjamin B. Lowell, administrative secretary to Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, national director of Hillel Foundation, was guest speaker at the Roger Williams Chapter B'nai B'rith meeting Monday evening at the Churchill House. Miss Gertrude Tarnapol presided at the meeting which climaxed the recent membership drive of the group, and Elliot Goldman chanted a prayer over the Chanukah candles. Rabbi Lowell was introduced by Mrs. Thomas Goldberg, membership chairman.

New members were welcomed into the group with a pageant, presented by Mesdames Irwin Cort, George Reizen, David Litchman, Albert Coken, Mrs. Goldberg and Miss Tarnapol. Mrs. Sydney Granoff was in charge of the hostesses at the social hour following the meeting.

200 SEE PLAY

Children of the newly-organized Hebrew and Sunday School of Congregation Ahavath Shalom presented a Chanukah play and pageant Sunday afternoon for an audience of 200 persons.

Rabbi Morris G. Silk spoke of the progress of the school and staff and stressed the importance of Jewish and Hebrew education. A class for beginners has been formed and parents may register their children daily from 9:30 to 4:30 o'clock.

SYD COHEN:

Milt Hodosh of Brown

When a college football player is invited to talk things over with a professional major league team, you know he must have something on the ball besides his college clippings. When that same player has no less than five pro clubs displaying interest in him, there can be no doubt as to his ability.

Such a player is Milton Hodosh of Providence and Brown University, who during his career has been approached by representatives of the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Cardinals of the National League, and Los Angeles Dons, Baltimore Colts and New York Yankees of the American circuit.

The recent shakeup of the two leagues has killed some of those clubs, but Milt can always point to the fact that while they were in existence these five were definitely interested in him. Even the results of the forthcoming professional draft of players, which is liable to be strictly curtailed because of the merger, cannot erase the stamp of his ability.

Milt Hodosh will go down in the records as one of the finest local athletes to star on any college team. Should he go into the pro game he will, if given half a chance, be listed with the select few Providence boys who have made good in the play-for-pay ranks. High praise for a fellow who does not graduate from college until next June, yet it takes a mere look at his record to see that none of it is wasted.

A fullback of superior ability—a fine blocking back—one of the leading linemen in New England college ranks—a guard who gained national recognition by the United Press—and a javelin thrower par excellence—these statements are all true of Milt, who wound up a brilliant four year career with Brown University in that Thanksgiving Day thriller with Colgate a month ago.

On Many All-Squads

Take a look at some of the honors heaped upon him during his collegiate football career. In 1947 he was named to the All-New England first team selected by the Boston Herald. In 1948 the Boston Post paid him the same tribute. He was picked at least for honorable mention on several Eastern All-Star squads. Most significant of all—and the selection that pleases him most—was the 1949 United Press All-America poll, which listed him in its honorable mention ratings at the guard position.

How many Jewish athletes can you name who have appeared locally and gained national recognition of that sort? The last football player in that category who comes immediately to mind is Bob Chase of New York, who quarterbacked the Bruins in 1930-32. Strangely enough, that 1932 outfit had an 8-1 record similar to the '49 outfit—and no Brown team between those two years can boast of such an accomplishment.

There are others, of course—Joe Schein, Al Cornsweet, Dave Mishel, Lou Farber, etc. of an earlier Brown era. But while they are giants in stature, they are few in number—so Milt Hodosh takes his place in very select company.

Even when compared with other Brown immortals, Milt stands out.

For he was a backfield man before he played the line, and he was Brown's leading fullback candidate, as a freshman four years ago, until four days before the opening game of the season, when he was asked to switch to the line, which was weak, and where he had already gained a reputation in the service.

This past season, Hodosh played both on offense and defense, except for short rest periods, and minor injuries and games in which the Bears removed the first team so as not to run up too big a score against weaker opponents. At that, he averaged from 45 to 50 minutes of competition every game.

Javelin Champ

So far only Milt Hodosh's college football record has been discussed. But don't forget that he was also a standout at Hope High, playing the right halfback position and serving both as blocking back and ball carrier for the Blue and White. His personal scoring record in high school was just short of a touchdown a game. And his last Hope team had class, losing but two games, both of them as close as could be—to La Salle, 9-6, and to East Providence, 6-0. He was named to the All-State second team in his senior year.

Earlier, we mentioned Milt was a javelin thrower. Well, to wind up this column, just take another look at his record in that event: All-State in 1943 and 1944 (and All-State in the shotput in 1944, both indoor and outdoor); holder of the Brown freshman and varsity javelin record (198 feet); NEAAU champ, with a new record, in '46; New England intercollegiate champ in '47 and '49; second in the IC4A meet in '47.

To top it off, Hodosh won every meet in which he appeared while in the service, even to defeating the man who later became national champion and Olympic entrant after Milt hurt his arm. Milt won handily with a toss of 205 feet!

The Hodosh story will be continued in this column after a short pause for New Year comments.

“What’s that? You say it doesn’t add up”

BUT IT DOES! It does when you talk about our Jewish community. There are four basic elements which make the community: People, geography, association and a common interest. But it’s what they add up to in results that really counts. These four, under the American system of democracy—these four in voluntary association create the fifth element, a plus factor, invisible but vitally effective in the life of our community—our common aspiration. It gives us the advantage that puts us ahead, as a community, and will keep us ahead.

What is the “community” we are talking about?

Ask the woman in the corner grocery. Ask the man at the country club. Ask the girl at the hole-in-the-wall candy counter. Ask the boy on the playground. Ask your rabbi, ask your son, your daughter... Ask them... But above all, ask yourself.

The answers will be as different as the people who give them. A thousand different people with a thousand different answers... yet with one answer.

The community is what each of us—you and I and all the other thousands of people—feel we want to do and share TOGETHER for ourselves, our children, our neighbors at home and for our relatives and their friends and their children all over the earth in order to make a better community, a better nation, a better world.

Membership in the Jewish community is a decision.

One decides to join or one decides not to join. The choice is voluntary.

The decision to join, therefore, is a resounding affirmation of one’s identity as a Jew. Through this decision one becomes a participant—not a spectator—in the eternal drama of our people throughout the world, in Israel, in Europe, the United States and our own local community.

This heritage, like a river, runs through recorded time not only as a religion and a great tradition but as a way of life—a way of life, which, brought up-to-date, is the fundamental basis of our Jewish community. Our Jewish community, therefore, is the modern American expression of our pluralistic heritage as Americans and as Jews.

When a man decides, voluntarily, to become a member of the community he is deciding to live and work with his neighbor, to extend to him good fellowship and to receive from him good fellowship, to extend to him a helping hand and to receive help when he needs it.

HOW DO WE DO THIS?

By banding together, by giving our money, our time, our talents—together—we are doing it. We are the community. It’s what we—you and I and all the other Jews living here—have made it by joining, by sharing, by working together. The community is we—it’s as simple as that.

The Jewish Herald herein presents the first in a series of messages that are intended as a public service, to foster a better understanding of the community in which we live.

List Details of Torah Dedication

Because of certain omissions in the story submitted about the dedication of the 218-year-old Torah presented to Congregation Sons of Abraham last week by David Baum, the following detailed account of the ceremonies is presented:

After the Torah was received from Mr. Baum, its new mantle was put on by Herman Austern, congregation vice-president. Isadore Lazarus placed the crown on the Torah, which was then received by Louis Bedrick, who carried it into the auditorium and back to the "bima". It was then entrusted to Louis Trostonoff, who placed it in the Ark.

Vet Auxiliaries Present Gifts to Hospital

Six post auxiliaries of the Rhode Island Jewish War Veterans combined to entertain veterans at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Davis Park last week. A musical "radio show" was enacted at the

The gifts were accepted by Frank Walker, special service officer, on behalf of the hospital administration.

The entertainment which followed the presentations was under the direction of Jack Schreiber of Brown University. Participants included Schreiber, dancing and singing by the Woolf twins, impersonations by Mrs. Eunice Kalver, and a magic show by Robert Kinder of Brown. BETH-ISRAEL BOWLING

by Saul Hodosh

Some strange madness pervades the Casino Alleys these past few weeks and manifests itself in the scores of the so-called "nochshleppers". Nat Ginsberg, who struggled for 8 weeks to get up to an 86 average, now is disconsolate with a 95 string after hitting 126, and last week he tossed in a sheet of 337. Harvey Asher hits 124; Eddie Berger bowls 301; Larry Solomon is alleged to have hit 110 and even your scribe has had the temerity to go over 300 for 3 consecutive weeks. Of course Maurice Russian managed to keep his sense of proportion and turn in a sheet of 227 which included a delectable piece of craftsmanship as he managed to avoid hitting even one pin in the box; truly a feat of heroic proportions.

In step with the times Oscar Dressler's Brownies went completely wild as they turned in team high single of 672 and then team high three of 1917, and in the course of these festivities they took Brandeis 3-1, knocking them into third place. Columbia took advantage of this situation and humbled Cornell 3-1 to grab first place by one game.

The Dresslers—Oscar and Jerry—hung up high three for the night with 340. Others in the hit parade were Len Summer 336, J. Epstein 335, A. Raisner and Charlie Winkelman 326 and Max Levy 328. Jerry Dressler rang up high single of 133, followed by Harold Berman 130, Len Summer 129 and Hy Fishbein 126.

BETH-EL BOWLING

by Joe Gutterball

In order to give all members of the Temple Beth-El Brotherhood Bowling League the opportunity to be on a team—all spares have been placed on teams.

The squads now consist of six men. But the scores of only five bowlers count. The team member with the lowest three-string score bowls the following week as a spare.

Leo Kopit's Keen Keglers split four points last week, but remain on top by a three-point margin. Jack Bilow's Burly Bowlers are second. An 87-bowler on Bilow's team—Bob Klein—rolled a 120-string.

Julie Bloom racked up a high single of 138 and three-string total of 345. High-three-string for the night was turned in by Summer Pomerant with 348. Len Cherkack rolled 342.

FINEMAN-TRINKEL BOWLING

by Jerry Fry

Hay Cohen's five blasted the Gene Silverman combine 4-0 and moved eight points out in front of the league. Doc Goldberg's team split 2 for 2. Lenny Summer's club took 3 for 1 from Feldman to move into the first division, and Les Friedman's quintet bowled Stu Steingold's sluggers, losing 3-1.

Sid Brown showed what he could do by getting a 145 single and a 352 total and Lenny Summer had 118 and 333. Jud Robinson had a hot 131 for a 320 total, while Charlie Steingold had a 321

Bowling Columns Knock Us Off Pins

None of the Herald's readers would need more than a casual glance at any issue to realize that bowling is at present our most popular indoor sport activity. We have lost track ourselves of the number of bowling columns that are submitted each week. And it seems that each week there are two or three new ones.

In self defense, and in order to make sure that neither bowling nor regular news items are omitted any week, the Herald this week inaugurates a new kегling policy.

From now on all bowling columns will be printed in one column under one general heading, and since this requires a special deadline, we hereby request all bowling correspondents to get their columns in no later than 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. We cannot promise to insert those columns that arrive after that time.

with singles of 121 and 115. Les Friedman had a good 123 string. Datz 121, Milt Dubinsky 123, Don Cohen 113 and Max Cohen 111.

CRANSTON BOWLING

by Dr. Hayvis Woolf

Morris Filler beat out Hubby Woolf's 133 to get high single for the night of 136, and he also took high three with 377, while Max Broomfield bowled way over his head for a 101.

Don't know how they do it, but the guest spares make us look pretty bad sometimes. Both of them last week bowled well over 100. Hats off to Doc Jack Dreyfuss and Moe Kessler.

Plans are underway for the mid-year get-together to be held January 17 at Lindy's. Doc Dan Kouffman named the following nominating committee: Morris Filler, Joe Kurtz, Irv Rubin and Archie Kapstein.

Sam Gaber, for the first time this season, was welcomed in the 90-club by getting a 91 on his second string, and Ed Charon must have been inspired, cause he got a 101. Morris Filler and Ed Lang tied for high single with 129, Morris taking high three, too, with 358.

Dave Sugarman is back with the regular spares, Doc Jack Dreyfuss and Moe Kessler, and Milt Bleeden was guest spare.

EMANUEL BOWLING

by Joe Primack

The Browns took over first place again by winning 3 points, while the Tigers dropped 4 to the fourth-place Pirates. The rest of the teams are bunched within 9 points of the top.

High threes were bowled by Henry Marko 376, Charlie Blackman 337, Dick Platkin, a sub, 352, Lou Chase 370, Mal Paynor 350, S. Miller 345, Bill Goralnick 349, Joe Chernick 333, Sherm Price 332 and Joe Primack 328.

Mal still holds high average for the season with 112 while Izzy Chase has high three of 389. Sherm Price and Mike Miller both have high single of 159.

High team single is held by the Cards with 585 and the high team three is the Athletics, 1649.

OLYMPIC BOWLING

by Howard Cohen

It's still a four-team race with the H. Cohens leading by 4 points, Rodyn second, followed by the I Levines one point behind them, and Joe Schwartz's team in fourth.

The Rodyns took a 3-1 win from the H. Cohen's, Rodyn taking the honors with 137. Hersh Golden's 107 and Bernstein's 114 also helped. Sid Boren hit a 303 triple. Litwin's 109 and Teitelman's 115 saved one point for Cohen.

The I. Levines beat the last place Leonards 3-1. Ira Stone led the group with a 116 single and 307 triple, while Winn 120, I. Levine 110 and 313 triple, kinda helped, too. Shining lights for the losers were Leonard 113, Aven 125 and Mandell 106.

Reeve Zatlhoff continues to be big man for the B. Cohens, helping his team to a 2-2 split with the Joe Schwartzes. Jack Jacobson got 115 and Sid Green got 103. Joe toted up 330 and Jim Hochman got 311.

Other good scores: J. Schwartz 330, R. Zatlhoff 336, Rodyn 334, H. Cohen 330.

DAUGHTERHOOD BOWLING

by Ruth Tanenbaum

Captain Bida of the Pin-Ups rolled 112, 80 and 86 against the Pin-Downs while Kay Jagolinzer rolled 91, 93 and 97 and Bert Boslovitz had a couple of good strings, 93 and 84.

Capt. Preblud rolled 106 but that was her only good string, and Bea Botvin didn't get over an 86 all night.

Dotty Graubart went on a rampage, ending up with high for the evening of 135. Her average for the night was 110.

Other good scores were Lil Tarsky 96, 93 and 97, Betty Wexler 102, Freida Shapiro 94.

A. E. PI BOWLING

The Himelfarbs repelled the second-place Feinsteins, 4 to 0. The Freiberg team gained two points, although held to a 2 to 2 tie by the Cohens.

The Cohens have added a new man to their roster in the person of Al "Cannonball" Jacobs, recently returned from Illinois.

Again the star of the evening was consistent Art Flink with a 336 triple. Art had the second-best single of 125, two less than Burt Himelfarb.

Weegi Feldman rolled up a 321, while Smiley Geller had 309, Himelfarb 308 and Charlie Cohn 304. Geller boasted a 122 single, which was followed by Feldman's 118, Flink's 117, and George Pollette's 111.

The league will be idle the next two holiday Monday nights and will reconvene on January 9th.

OLYMPIC AUXILIARY

by Tedi Green

Louise Boren's gals regained the high team single with a 481, while Shirley Levin took over high three with 316. Dot Leonard and Co. are still tied for first with the Borens.

Lou copped high single for the night with 110, and Esther Miller, whose group lost 3 to Lou's gang, bowled 106, while Harriette Zarchen got 105.

June Winn's five lost 3 to the Dotty Leonards, with June the only one on her team bowling 100. Dotty got 104 single, and 286 triple; Elsie Zipkin 104 and 288, and Estelle Cohen 100 and 285.

Other good scores were T. Green 101, Rita Levin 97, Elaine Aiken 95 and Mimi Rodyn 98.

WINS TOURNAMENT

Larry Wagner was winner of the Roger Williams Junior AZA checker tournament held recently. Second and third place winners were Melvin Landesburg and Harold Silverman.

DEMONSTRATE LIE-DETECTOR

A regular meeting of the Fineman-Trinkel Auxiliary 439, JWV, was held at Temple Emanuel Monday evening. After the business portion, Lieutenant Franklin of the Providence Police Department demonstrated the lie-detector, with Gerald Kent and Maida Horvitz being tested. Refreshments were served.
