Ben Gurion Raps

U. S. Orthodox Jewry

Jerusalem—The American Jewish Religious Bloc was sharply rebuked last week by Israel Premier David Ben Gurion.

He objected to their intervening in the internal affairs of the Jewish state by taking sides in the conflict about religious education for children in Israel's immigrant camps.

He said if they didn't like the way things were being run in Israel, they could come to Israel and change them.

"You have issued sentence before you have heard the accused; this is against the law of Moses," Ben Gurion declared.

The Bloc includes the Agudas Israel, the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America, and other religious groups in the United States.

Mr. Ben Gurion told it in a cable last week that nobody in Israel wants to deprive any Jew in the world of the right to voice an opinion or criticism regarding the Jewish state.

East Europe Opens Anti-Zionist Drive

Tel Aviv—A series of resolutions aimed at intensifying the fight against Zionism was adopted at a conference of Jewish Communist leaders from East European countries held early in January in Marienbad, Czechoslovakia, it was learned here today.

The conference, which lasted five days, was attended by experts on Jewish affairs from Moscow, headed by Professor V. B. Lutzky, notorious for the attacks in the Soviet press and at public lectures in the U. S. S. R.

The resolutions adopted urged the gaging of a "bitter war to the end" against Zionism in all Communist countries.

Rabbi Carol Klein To Spend 3 Months In South America For World Mizrahi

A Bon Voyage party in honor of Rabbi Carol Klein, who leaves Monday for a three month lecture tour through South America under the auspices of the Merkaz Olami Shel Hamizrachi of Jerusalem (World Mizrahi Organization), will be given by members of Congregation Sons of Jacob, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the synagogue.

Prominent local religious and civic leaders, including Gov. John O. Pastore, and Mayor Dennis J. Roberts, will be present. Guest speaker for the evening will be Dr. Avigdor of New York City, well known in Mizrahi circles. Maurice Winograd will serve as chairman of the evening.

Rabbi Klein, who will visit Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile and Uruguay on behalf of Mizrahi, will also lay the foundations of educational institutions on the pattern of the American Hebrew Day Schools and will organize the Kashruth system.

Refreshments will be served by the Sisterhood. The public is invited to attend.

Arms to Arabs Worries Israel

London—The Israel government has handed U. S. Ambassador James G. McDonald a memorandum outlining its reasons for anxiety over British arms shipments to Egypt and other Arab states, it was reported here today.

The note is said to present a full analysis of the significance of the Arab rearmament program, particularly Egyptian plans for equipping and training an armored division within three years.

Israel Adopts New Immigration Policy

Mounting Debt Forces Decision

A "pay as you go" policy for immigration to Israel, envisaging an immigration of 12,000 monthly instead of the 20,000 last year, but subject to modification at three-month intervals, has been adopted by the Jewish Agency, it was announced this week.

Dr. Nahum Goldmann, chairman of the American Section of the Jewish Agency, declared on his return from Jerusalem that the decision was made because of the mounting debt incurred in financing the large immigration of the past and was based on calculated income for 1950.

In the event of an emergency, however, such as the possible lifting by a country such as Rumania of its ban on immigration to Israel, the limit would be waived. It would also be waived, he said, if more funds are available from America.

Dr. Goldmann emphasized also that the decision in no way altered the principle of unlimited immigration. Any Jew who can finance his own way will be admitted to Israel, he said.

Cabinet Rejects Garreau Proposal

Jerusalem — The Israel Cabinet rejected last week the modified plan for Jerusalem presented to the U. N. Trusteeship Council in Geneva by Roger Garreau, Council president.

However, the Foreign Minister will send a delegation to Geneva with limited credentials to explain Israel's attitude toward the plan to members of the Trusteeship Council.

Amman reports indicated that King Abdullah of Jordan would break off his peace talks with Israel if the Jewish state should agree to the Garreau plan. The plan, it was indicated, would place Jordan in a disadvantageous position since the bulk of the Holy Places which M. Garreau proposes be put under U. N. jurisdiction in territory now held by Jordan.

Clarify Status of Israel Schools

JERUSALEM—Clarifying previous reports of the merger of the Hebrew University and the Weizmann Institute of Science in Israel, top officials of both bodies pointed out that the merger covers only joint fund-raising for both institutions.

"Restitution" Policy Arouses Germans

LONDON — Anti-Semitic incidents in West Germany, directed particularly against Jews returning from overseas to reclaim their property under the restitution legislation, are increasing, it was reported from Munich. The Germans claim that the restitution and indemnification claims by persons who suffered under the Nazi regime "are forcing the taxpayers to commit suicide." The Bavarian Commissioner for persecutees termed this statement "incorrect" and pointed out that taxpayers' money is not being used for any restitution and indemnification purposes.

"Unique" Is the Word for Their Tea Bazaar

The exciting background of two of Providence's newest residents—Maurice and Ruby Baumgarten—has all the ingredients of an action-packed Hollywood scenario.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Baumgarten are aware of this fact—they were approached in India last year by a British motion picture outfit for permission to do their "life story"—but neither one is interested in anything but becoming "good American citizens" and teaching the American public to "enjoy and prepare good tea."

Recently they opened a tea bazaar in downtown Providence where potential customers are invited to taste, before buying, an unusual brand of tea imported from India and sold exclusively by the Baumgartens at their rather unique tea center.

The descriptive phrase—"rather unique"—was applied to their establishment by their first customers, a middle-aged man who acknowledged that he was a "connoisseur of tea" but who seemed as much impressed by the bazaar's decorations as he was by the cup of freshly brewed tea handed him by Mrs. Baumgarten, attired in her Indian sari.

To look at Maurice Baumgarten, a portly man in his early forties, one would hardly suspect that big game hunting was his favorite pastime—other than tea planting—until a few months ago when he left Calcutta to settle in America.

Yet the handsome leopard skin in the bazaar's window, as well as the several skins that make up an attractive coat worn by Mrs. Baumgarten these wintry days, are from animals he shot himself last year in the Nilgiri hills of India.

It is in these hills that their plantation is located—some 6,000 feet above sea level—where the bazaar's featured tea is grown.

"The higher the sea level of the tea plantations, the more fragrant the flavor of the tea grown," says Mr. Baumgarten. He attributes the "freshness" of his product to the fact that the tea is picked, processed and packed right at the gardens.

Mr. Baumgarten's parents were natives of France but spent most of their time traveling about the Near and Middle East as archeology researchers attached to various expeditions financed by museums and private foundations.

Then followed two years of active service with the French Army in Indo-China. After being demobilized, Mr. Baumgarten journeyed to Shanghai where he established a flourishing export-import business.

Several of his principal accounts were in India and he was in Calcutta on business on December 7, 1941, when the attack on Pearl Harbor was made.

Mr. Baumgarten never returned to Shanghai. He established another export-import business with headquarters at Calcutta. Meanwhile, he had become interested in the planting, processing and packaging of tea and eventually bought an interest in one of India's most famous tea plantations.

It was in Calcutta that he met Mrs. Baumgarten, the former Ruby Bonner, whose family has lived there for centuries. A visit to this country in 1946 had convinced Mrs. Baumgarten that America was that nation she wanted for her new homeland. She arrived here a year ago and began making business preparations for Mr. Baumgarten's arrival some three months ago.

Mrs. Baumgarten, who speaks several languages fluently, including English, says she feels like a "native" already. Mr. Baumgarten admits pronunciation difficulties but agrees with his wife that English, as spoken in America, is "one of the most beautiful languages in the world."

And if it weren't for Mrs. Baumgarten's dark complexion and the sari she wears in the bazaar—and her husband's accent—a casual passerby would judge them as "just another couple of citizens"—which is exactly what they want to be.

Battle of New London

Dear Editor:

I have read with a great deal of interest the article by Sid Klein about Rabbi Benjamin Kreitman's single-handed fight to combat Rear Adm. James Fife's ugly insinuations. I believe that Rabbi Kreitman deserves our highest commendation for his stand and should receive the support of all of us.

It is astonishing that such a high officer of the U. S. Navy should have embarked on such undemocratic talk, especially naming Prof. Albert Einstein in his remarks to illustrate his point. During Hitler's rise to power, the Nazis attack upon Einstein in Germany was understandable, but in our blessed America we are aware of the help this same Einstein has given us to develop the Atomic bomb, which ended the war.

A rabble-rouser like Gerald Smith or Pelly could be tolerated and excused, but a Rear Admiral is a thousand-fold more dangerous in his utterances and must be combated with our full strength. There is work for the Anti-Defamation League.

Correction in Ted

Williams Column

Syd Cohen's sport column on Page 16, devoted this week to a discussion about Ted Williams, contains a typographical omission that was not corrected until after the second section of the Herald had gone to press.

Readers are asked to check the fifth paragraph in the second column, which should read as follows: "Came the opportunity to fly with the Pensacolas, and the army boys jumped at the chance. First, however, they inquired as to who were the best flyers. About Kennedy they were told: 'He's reckless and carefree, doesn't care what he does up there.' About Williams: 'He's good to fly with. He wants to come down.'" strated and taught barn dances to the group, after which a full course supper, prepared by Messrs. Ira Stone, Herman Weinstein, Larry Prince, Eugene Troberman and Joseph Marowitz, was served. Four new couples were welcomed into the club, which is primarily interested in bringing together newcomers to Providence.

Leviton-Werner

The marriage of Miss Miriam Werner, daughter of Rabbi and Mrs. Joshua Werner of Blackstone Street, to Rabbi Joseph Leviton, son of Mrs. Masha Leviton of Brooklyn, took place at a candlelight ceremony, February 5 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Narragansett Hotel.

The bride was gowned in a white satin gown trimmed with sequins, styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt ending in a long train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a heart-shaped crown of seed pearls.

The Misses Joan Krefman and Rynah Mayberg were the bride's only attendants.

More than 800 persons attended the ceremony and 400 the dinner following. Guests from New York, Detroit, Chicago and Providence were present.

The bride attended the Teacher's Beth Jacob Seminary in Brooklyn. Mr. Leviton, ordained at the Mesivta Torah Vadath Rabbinical Seminary of Brooklyn, was recently selected as advisor and consultant in Talmudic and cognate subjects at this institution.

The scalloped hem of the lace skirt and the bertha at the portrait neckline were embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. A crown of matching sequin-embroidered lace held her fingertip veil of silk illusion, and she carried a spray of Philenopsis orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Rasha Kary Logan, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor chose a gown of white nylon net and lace. Her headpiece and bouquet of gardenias and stock were tinted turquoise to match her slippers.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Roberta Abisch and Anna Rossi, were gowned in identical white gowns of nylon net with bengaline jackets. Their caps and bouquets were tinted rose to match their slippers.

Donald Alpert, cousin of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Bennett Alpert, Burton Alpert, Wesley Alpert, Kopel H. Cohen, Marvin Levin, Robert Levenson, Daniel Shapiro, Marvin Smith, Morris Twersky and Arnold Wolfson.

Activities of Brownie Troop 6

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Weiss instructed Girl Scout Troop 60 and Brownie Troop 6, Ohawe Sholom, Pawtucket, in square dancing at a meeting held last week. Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Edith Boren, Helene Young, Rhoda Boren and Marcia Dimond.

The group recently visited the State House, on the invitation of Gov. John O. Pastore, who addressed the girls there. Accompanying the troops were Mesdames I. Weiner and G. Dann, leaders of Troop 6; H. Dimond, leader of Troop 60; B. Jacobson, H. Gershman and S. Rantz, and Mr. James Jenkins, commander of the Reback-Winston Post, JWV, Pawtucket.

With The Bowling Leagues

EMANUEL BOWLING

by Joe Primack
The red hot Yankees, captained by Al Chase, climbed within two games of the leading Browns by winning three games as the Browns blew three. Right now five teams are within five games of the top rung.
Frank Goldstein had high three for the night with 363 followed closely by Dick Plackin, Jr., with 360. Other good three included Leo Miller 359, Sam Gordon 356, Jack Broadman 355, Jake Orchoff 350, Sherm Price 349, Morris Kramer 335, and Ben Zacks and Murray Freedman 331 each.
Jack Broadman had high single with 149. Close behind were Jake Orchoff 141, Sam Gordon 135 and Sherm Price 133.

BETH-ISRAEL BOWLING

by Saul Hodosh
The second half competition has produced a new team to beat in Esmond Lovett's Pennsylvanians who now lead the league by two games over Beanie Feldman's Connecticut Keglers.
The end is a long way off and the battle is still wide open so Barney Coken has a lot of weeks to go to hold his crown as Worry Champion.
High three for the week went to John Wyner with 340, but he was closely pressed by Sam Segal 337 and B. Coken 335. Joe Agar turned in a string of 142 for high single with J. Wyner 133 and Arnold Lovett 129 showing to advantage also.

BETH-EL BOWLING

by Joe Gutterball
The committee is already considering the awards to be presented at the annual bowling banquet, which will be held in May. As the line-up reads now, Eddie Soforenko's team is leading the pack by a fairly comfortable margin.
Julie Bloom holds the individual high-three and high-single marks, while Murray Trinkle is on top in individual averages.

At last week's session Phil Shaulson received the award for getting the first double-strike of the night. He probably was inspired by the surprise visit to the alleys of the former by-liner of Beth El Bowling notes—Jack Applebaum.
Don Zion's team still clings to the cellar position, but it apparently has no particular liking for the spot. Don's boys knocked off the former cellar dwellers, Walter Strauss' team, for four points last week.

CRANSTON BOWLING

by Dr. Hayvis Woolf
Al Sydney's Dodgers and Ben Woolf's Braves are tied for first place, but the teams are not too far ahead of the Yanks, Red Sox, Cards or Indians, on the ladder in that order.
High single so far this season is Moe Kessler with 135, and Moe Filler holds high three with 377. High team single goes to the Indians with 360 and high team three to the Braves with 1697.
Sandy Phillips took high single for the night with 131.
Guest spares present this week were Aaron Davis, Leo Sackin,

OLYMPIC BOWLING

by Howard Cohen
For the first time this season the H. Cohen's are out of first place, displaced by the Joe Schwartz team. The Levines helped turn the trick by taking a 3-1 win from the former league-leaders. Even without their captain they got good scores: Greenberg 129 single and 310 three, and Winn with a 106 single to help his average. H. Cohen was the only high man on his side.
The Schwartz men, also without their captain, creamed the Leonards 4-0 and moved into first by two points. Nat Schwartz with 125 and 337 and J. Hochman with

Men's Club Plans "Hi-Lites" Review

"Hi-Lites of the Fabulous '30's", the first annual variety review sponsored by the Men's Club of Congregation Ahavath Sholom, will be presented on Sunday evening, February 26 in the auditorium of the Synagogue, corner of Rochambeau Avenue and Camp Street. Curtain time will be at 8 o'clock.

Elaborate plans for the review have been completed by the arrangements committee, which has lined up the finest possible entertainment, including Frankie Carpenter, popular young dancing master of ceremonies. Among the entertainers are Will Gill (ventriloquist) and Rusty (his dummy), and stars of radio and television.

A special group of Men's Club players will present several "hilarious and entertaining" skits. Directed by Al Abelson, the players include Percy Lewis, Herbert Goldis, Nat Linder, Morton Gilstein, and Robert Fields.
Abelson and Lewis are co-chairmen of the affair, assisted by Dr. Irving Kaplan, ticket chairman; Israel Moses and all men's club members. The committee urges that tickets be purchased in advance, since tickets will not be sold at the door.

the night with 325, with Kitzes and Seltzer close behind with 314 each. H. Wagner is still top man in the average column with 110, and Schectman still holds high single record of 158.

SONS OF JACOB MEN'S CLUB

by S. Max Rosenberg
Joey Matzner's crew nosed out Buzzie Labush's team, while Jack Glantz's group beat out Charlie Lecht's gang.
A newcomer, Max Rose, started off with a single of 109, to grab the high single honors for the evening, and followed this with a single of 104. Other good singles were Joey Matzner 104, Sammy Kopel 102, and Jack Glantz 96, Harry Stairman, with singles of 96 and 94, brought his average up a few points.
In the race for high average, Joey Matzner is tied with Buzzie Labush at 97.

FINEMAN-TRINKLE BOWLING

by Jerry Freiberg
The Shaulsons moved into a tie for first place with the Cohens by blanking the Steingolds, while Goldberg's Giant Killers were tying the Cohens.
The Summer quintet remained in serious contention by salvaging a tie with the Friedmans, and the Feldmans jumped from sixth to fourth by shutting out the Silvermans.
Don Cohen bowled the night's high single of 145 and high three of 346. Phil Shaulson blasted a 125 single and a 335 triple. Gene 111 and 315, led the way. Haskell Wallick was big gun for his team with a 306.

The B. Cohen's upset the Rodyn five 3-1 and went into a tie for second place. Reeve Zatlloff continues his fine bowling with 334 total and 106, 111 and 118 singles. Bob Rose did 96, 145 and 86 for 327. Moe Bernstein 310 and Rodyn helped salvage one point for their side.

OLYMPIC AUXILIARY

by Tedi Green
Dotty Leonard's team took over first place by taking a three-point win from Lou Boren's girls. Elsie Zipkin combines 90, 101 and 102 for a 293, and Rita Levine helped with 105. For the losers, Mimi Rodyn had high single for the night, 108, and high three of 298. Tedi Green had 106.
Esther Miller and her girls finally got out of the cellar winning 3-1 against June Winn's team. Esther had a good single of 107 while Fay Malatt had 103. Fan Rodinsky had a 106.
Other good strings were Dot Strashnick 100, Esther Blonder 94, and Estelle Cohen 90.

A. E. PI BOWLING

Beans Feinstein's bombardiers took over first place by defeating the faltering Himelfarbs, 3-1. Ray Gertz paced the Feinstein victory with a 335 triple, tops for the night, and singles of 121 and 119.
Don Cohen's improved combo swept four points from the Freibergs. Cohen, himself, featured this win with the night's high single of 136 and a trio of 334.
Sid Dressler, a new member of the league, rolled 324, while a brace of old standbys, Irv Kelman and Burt Himelfarb, bowled 317 and 315 respectively.
Good singles were scored by Himelfarb 112, Irv Silverman 112, George Polette 111, and Jerry Freiberg 110.

PROVIDENCE FRATERNAL BOWLING

by Ben Medwin
Prosperity, captained by Kaplan, secured its hold on first place by taking four games from H. Wagner's second place Liberty. But the race is still on, with only 12 games separating the first and the sixth teams.
Good scores include Goldenberg 130, Kaplan 122, Singer 122, Jaffa 120, Strumfeld 119, Seltzer 119, Medwin 118, David 117, Sklaroff 116, Labush 116 and Glantz 115.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK FEBRUARY 19-26

BUILDING BROTHERHOOD!

Washington's Birthday

On Washington's birthday, an American's thoughts turn naturally to the foundations of our republic and to the great work wrought by the Founding Fathers.

Throughout a large part of today's world people cower in terror of secret police, political judges, and summary "justice". A few words laid end to end in the "wrong" order may cost a man his head; a political misstep can wipe out a whole village.

We Americans enjoy the priceless protections of due process of law. Our Fathers had the wisdom to guarantee us "certain inalienable rights", and to root these rights in the equal creation of all men by the unchangeable God.

"All men are created equal", they said, and "are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, (and) among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness".

If this be not true—wholly and entirely and literally true—our liberties rest indeed on shifting sands. Let us remember this during Brotherhood Week (Feb. 19-26). Remember it! Practice it!

"One Man's Opinion"

Spring Festival

By BERNARD SEGAL

About two years ago I sat in the auditorium of the Jewish Home for the Aged listening to reports by the various committees before the annual gathering of the members. Among those called upon to report was a young lady whom the chairman introduced as the president of the Ladies Association. An eager applause greeted her, and an even longer and livelier round of hand claps rewarded her for her detailed account of a year's work.

What was it about her that impressed us so? Was it her youthfulness? Was it her enthusiasm? Was it her well organized report presented in a pleasing manner? Or was it the novelty of the ideas outlined in the paper?

I have listened to Pearl Singer Sherwin on many occasions since that time, and I am always impressed by her passionate crusading for the Home, and by the depth of feeling she has for the organization. To her the Home is a source of enthusiasm, and she is eager to talk of it to all who care to listen.

And I was a willing listener the other day as she spoke of the forthcoming Spring Festival of the Ladies Association. This is the annual affair that helps the organization to provide the things that make the home on Hillside Avenue a Home instead of an institution.

Here is how the ladies define their work:

The Home provides for the old folks food and shelter and the care they need. This is obvious. This is the fundamental function of the Home. But there are the intangible things that are just as important, though not as generally known.

There are the little moments of warmth and affection that come into the Home through friendly visits, through rides through parks and to the seashore, through hours of play and recreation together through evenings of fun with the residents, by celebrating holidays and birthdays with them. The companionship of younger people has an invaluable effect.

These are the things which are performed week in and week out by these loyal and devoted women of the association.

But even more concrete services are rendered by them. It was the association that started the Home? Did you know that this which goes the life membership dues. The comfortable furniture in the sun room and on the lawn are the contribution of the ladies. Did you ever use the elevator at the Home? Did you know that this piece of equipment which can be driven with ease and safety was the gift of the ladies? A new kitchen stove now being installed, is also out of the funds provided by the Ladies Association.

These things, the president is very anxious that people know, now, on the eve of the great annual affair of the association.

And the president is also anxious that two more things about the Home be clearly understood. These two things she has found coming up again and again whenever the Home is discussed, and they are often the source of unfounded criticism. Here is the way she put it in her address given before the members of the Ladies Association:

"A question often encountered is, 'Why give money to the Home? They have plenty of money!'"

"This is misleading and inaccurate. It is true that the value of the land, property and equipment exceeds $300,000. However, bricks, mortar and land do not pay for the upkeep of a Home. It costs over $80,000 a year to operate the Home and to care for the 80 aged and infirm people now living there.

"Another misconception often voiced is that people of means get preference in being admitted to the Home.

"This, too, is a rumor which is entirely unfounded. Each application is thoroughly investigated and discussed in detail by the admissions committee. The Board has the final vote on whether or not the applicant should be admitted. Primary consideration is given to the applicant's need for a Home and the possibility of his or her adjustment in the Home. The Board is not influenced by the amount of money available; on the contrary, the sympathy of the Board goes out to those without means and resources.

"However, there are many circumstances when an applicant with means or with well-to-do children is in need of Home placement. Often such applicants are unhappy in the homes of their children or they are living with strangers where they cannot get the care and attention needed. Are they to be penalized and refused admission to the Home because of their financial position?"

"Among our residents fully 80 percent are partially or entirely supported by the Home, and only 20 percent can afford to pay for their care. While we give preference to the needy, the Home also feels that the aged person who has well-to-do children should not be deprived of the services of the Home."

All this I quote from the address prepared by the president of the Ladies Association. The arguments are convincing enough on paper, but they are even more forceful when you hear her talk.

To me, however, the best reply to criticism and complaint about the Home for the Aged is a visit to the Home. Here is a communal institution that not only welcomes but invites visitors. At all the meetings of the Home I have attended so far, the officers have never failed to point out that the Home is open to all, and that it is therefore the concern of all in the community.

Sun Life of Canada Increases Dividends to Policyholders

1949 was a good year for Sun Life. Organization in strong position with nearly 50% of entire assets invested in United States. Total benefits paid last year $114 million.

With $18 million — a substantial increase over 1949 — allotted for policyholders' dividends to be paid during the current year, the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada enters its 80th year of public service with a promising outlook for 1950. The Sun Life has been active in the United States for over half a century and today maintains branch office and agency service in 40 states from coast to coast. During the year just past, the total amount of life insurance which policyholders purchased from the Sun Life exceeded $372 millions, continuing the unbroken record of selling more new life insurance per annum than any other Canadian life company. Insurance in force with the Sun Life now amounts to $4,187,000,000, an all-time high. Total income of the Company in 1949 was $238,000,000.

The 79th Annual Report of the Sun Life of Canada just issued indicates the Company's faith in the United States where more than 48% of its assets are invested and where $1,690,000,000 or 40% of its total business is in force. Benefits paid to Sun Life policyholders and beneficiaries since the Company's first policy was issued in 1871 have now reached $2,240,000,000. Last year alone over $114,000,000 was paid out in benefits.

At the Annual Meeting held at the Head Office of the Company, the President, Arthur B. Wood, reviewed the remarkable progress of life insurance over the last 50 years. In 1900, with a population of 76 millions, the United States had life insurance in force of some $7 billions, or about $90 per capita. Today the population has almost doubled but life insurance in force has risen to $215 billions, or $1430 per head. The Sun Life's own business has more than kept pace with this increase, today's total in force of $4,187 millions comparing with only $53 millions in force at the beginning of the century. During these 50 years, too, Sun Life policy provisions and privileges have been broadened, available options increased and many new benefits introduced. Even before 1900 the Company was the first to introduce the "unconditional" policy, following later with the popular Sun Life non-medical insurance plan. The Company also issued the first Group Pension policy written anywhere in North America, an epoch-marking event in the history of life insurance.

One of the outstanding features of Sun Life operations during 1949 was the pronounced increase in the Company's Group business. Hundreds of thousands of office, factory and other employees in business and industry throughout North America are today protected by the generous terms of Sun Life Group insurance and annuity plans. The Company's experience and service in this particular field is unsurpassed. Today, the importance of Group Insurance is recognized by all those concerned with the encouragement and maintenance of good relations between management and labor, and the welfare and social security of the individual employee.

The Sun Life story for 1949, including the President's address as delivered at the Annual Meeting, is contained in the Report to Policyholders now on the press. Copies may be obtained on request from any of the branch, group or mortgage offices of the Company.

February Is Henry Monksy Month!

If Henry Monksy had lived, he would have been 60 years old this month. The great President of B'nai B'rith (from 1938 to 1947) was born on Feb. 2, 1890.

It is only fitting that February should be designated as Henry Monksy Month, in memory of this unforgettable Jewish leader. He served our people in countless causes locally, nationally, and internationally, thus raising our stature and filling our needs. He showed the world what heights Jewish leadership could reach. In doing so, he sacrificed his own personal interests, and ultimately his health.

He worked primarily through B'nai B'rith. In a very real sense, he made B'nai B'rith into the great Jewish service agency that it is today.

The B'nai B'rith-Henry Monksy Foundation will be a living memorial to this man to whom we all owe so much. It will support a program for a fuller Jewish life for all of us. It merits the support of all of us—men and women alike.

Printing Plant Sent to Israel

NEW YORK CITY—Al Tisch, owner of the well-known hotel, "Laurel-in-the-Pines," in Lakewood, N. J., was talking with his friend, Dudley Levitt, of the Cap Screw and Nut Co., of New York. The two were talking about their businesses, and Mr. Tisch casually mentioned the fact that he had decided to give up the printing plant he had maintained in his hotel. He had received a substantial offer for it from another hotel operator, and was about ready to sell the printing plant.

Mr. Levitt pricked up his ears. He happened to be familiar with a project of Franklin Lodge, in the Bronx. There is a keen shortage of printing equipment in Israel, and Franklin Lodge has undertaken to develop centers of instruction there in the graphic arts. The lodge project is known as "Printing Equipment for Educational Projects in Israel," and it is headed by Sam Shear.

Mr. Levitt put Mr. Tisch in touch with Mr. Shear, and in no time at all Mr. Tisch, upon learning more about the project, was delighted to turn his printing plant over to Franklin Lodge, instead of selling it. Mr. Shear immediately made arrangements for the Women's Mizrahi Organization of America to handle the transportation of the printing plant to a children's village in

Walden, popular local sports broadcaster, as master of ceremonies, and the introduction in turn by Walden of Roger Williams Lodge's guests of the evening: two boxing exhibitions and a wrestling match; a talk by the featured guest, Mel Allen; a pause for refreshments, and then the matter of the distribution of the gifts to the lucky youngsters.

Gov. John O. Pastore, Mayor Dennis J. Roberts, Chief of Police Charles A. Higgins and Jack Cronin, former football coach at La Salle Academy and at present recreational director of the City of Providence, will head the civic delegation.

Sports Celebrities

Among the sports figures to be introduced will be Coach Terry Reardon, Jack McGill and Art Michaluk of the American Hockey League Champion Providence Reds; H. Webster (Webb) Youlden, director of sports promotions at the Providence Journal-Bulletin, and Dick Reynolds of the J-B sports staff; Charles (Rip) Engle, football coach at Brown University, and Milton Hodosh, star guard on the Bruins' outstanding 1949 eleven, and Rocky Marciano, the heavyweight slugger from Brockton who is rapidly moving up in the fist world and who is scheduled to appear in the feature bout at New York's Madison Square Garden on March 24.

Not to be forgotten among the guests is Warren Walden, play-by-play broadcaster of the Reds' home games during the hockey season. Walden, who last year was made an honorary member of B'nai B'rith, will be in his accustomed annual role as master of ceremonies. Walden has continually contributed freely of his time to assist various groups to stage successful sports nights.

Allen Feature Speaker

Mel Allen, principal speaker, is known to baseball fans everywhere as the man who sits behind the microphone at all the games of the New York Yankees. His rapid-fire, accurate and intimate broadcasts have won him a host of admirers, as well as fans for the Yankees. He is especially popular in Providence, hot-bed of Red Sox and Yankee rivalry, and admits having received considerable fan mail from this city during the exciting 1949 season.

Allen, who has occupied the mike at Yankee Stadium since 1939, except for his years of war service, was recently voted by the Sporting News as the American League's outstanding baseball announcer for the fourth successive year. He was the first broadcaster to travel with his team. This year, he will join the Yankees in St. Petersburg, Florida on March 10, the day before the official start of the major league exhibition season.

Popular with players and managers throughout the big leagues, Mel can tell stories and anecdotes about practically every major league ball player, and can present analyses of players and teams through the eyes of the players and coaches and managers themselves. He also has a fund of humorous tales that portray the lighter side of baseball.

Allen has participated in several World Series broadcasts and is the Yankees' official master of ceremonies at all special events in the Stadium.

In addition to his baseball duties, Allen also broadcasts several top football games each year, plus a bowl game, is the sports voice for Movietone News, conducts his own radio show and is active in several charitable enterprises.

Zannelli vs Soares

Prior to Allen's talk will come the boxing and wrestling matches. In one bout, Zannelli, New England middleweight champion, who is credited with "bringing back" boxing in this state, is scheduled to appear in Eddie Soares. Charley Angle will be on hand in case either of the principals is for some reason unable to perform.

The second bout will pit Araujo, 18-year-old featherweight sensation, against young Bobby Goldstein, who has appeared several times in bouts at R. I. Auditorium. Sharkey Buonnano will fill his customary role of referee.

And the Gifts

Listed among the gifts to be distributed next Tuesday night are fishing poles, luggage, radios, baseball gloves, basketballs, punching bags, croquet sets, watches, tennis rackets, etc. And that's not all. Each boy will receive a door gift, among them a

SYD COHEN:

The All Around Man

We were sitting around discussing baseball one night last week when Gene Silverman raised the old and familiar argument of the respective greatness of Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams (or Williams and DiMaggio, if you like it better that way).

Gene, a devout Red Sox fan in addition to being top kegger in the Fineman-Trinkel JWV Post bowling league, sided with the Splinter and figured that Ted, not Joe, is the greatest. The usual arguments prevailed.

The ever-puzzling question as to why Ted has never become the leader of his team and why his mates don't treat him with the genuine affection that marks the Yankees' attitude toward the Clipper then came up. And it was Harry Platt who had the best answer to that.

Harry spoke with as much authority as anyone could, for he came into close personal contact with the Splinter during the war and Ted was friendlier toward him than he has been to most of those who know him. So Platt is worth listening to when he talks of Williams.

It was at Gulfport, Miss. Army Air Base that Harry Platt, because of his renown as an athlete and his position as one of the heads of the athletic department, found himself on the welcoming committee when Ted Williams, Bob Kennedy (of the Cleveland Indians) and a group of naval airmen from nearby Pensacola Field dropped in for a two day visit which included, naturally enough, a ball game.

Williams, at that time a Marine flight instructor, was taken on a fishing trip by Harry the first day and the two thereupon became buddies. So much so that they were together most of the time Ted was in camp.

Ted did not want to play ball, strange as it may seem now. He had taken a terrific beating from the press around the American League during his rather brief career and apparently figured he would be accused of dogging it if word got around that he was playing baseball during the war. Other major leaguers did it, including DiMaggio, but Ted didn't relish the idea.

Military assignments being what they are, Williams found himself under orders to make the trip and play in the game. Not having his heart in it he lifted three foul pops to Platt at first base, then flied deep to right—all this against a "so-so" pitcher. He was booed by the fans present.

Personally, however, the Thumper was friendly with everyone, and Platt found him to be a nice guy, to use the vernacular.

Five months later the Army boys traveled to Pensacola to play basketball. Ted came over to see Harry and the pair renewed their friendship. As before, Ted was friendly.

Came the opportunity to fly with the Pensacolans, and the army boys jumped at the chance. First, however, they inquired as to who were the best flyers. About Kennedy they were told: "He's reckless and carefree doesn't care what he does up there." "He's good to fly with. He wants to come down."

So Harry Platt flew with Ted Williams as the marine squadron went through a series of intricate maneuvers. Unfamiliar with Navy techniques and equipment, Harry did not properly fasten his safety belt—and when it came undone in mid-air, he was subjected to a rough ride, bouncing in and out of his seat as the plane rolled over, under, up, down and sideways.

But Ted Williams did not leave this base runner stranded. Glancing around, he saw Platt's predicament and greenness of hue, and he promptly leveled off and put an end to the unpleasant situation.

Where does all this lead us? For one thing, it shows that Ted can be pleasant, friendly, co-operative and sympathetic, that he does think of others besides himself. It makes him out as a good man to have around. And the opinion held of his flying ability by his mates is a tribute to his level-headedness and dependability.

Yet, Harry admits that there was something about Ted the Thumper that kept other men away. Some indefinable reserve that did not permit many to come close, to penetrate through the thin veil of stand-offishness that sometimes has surrounded with Ted.

Williams liked to be alone. Harry recalls; that could account for it. Possibly he was wary of the motives of those who would be his friends, and let this quirk of his personality rob him of the chance to become the genuinely friendly guy he would like to be. It may even have been his shyness which built up that forbidding wall.

Thinking of Ted in this way it is easy to see why he clammed up early in his career when the writers and the fans alike gave him the business. It is easy to imagine that as the reason why his teammates have never really accepted him as their leader, why they do not wait at home plate to greet him when he hits a homer, why he does not enjoy the popularity and recognition of Joe DiMaggio.

It is even easier to imagine what would happen to the other seven teams in the American League if that thin wall ever were broken down and Ted were accepted as Mr. Red Sox. There probably would not be any last day pennant races.

At any rate, Ted Williams still has his supporters—thousands of them. One of them, a lithographer at the Herald's printing plant, says that the Thumper goes Joe DiMaggio one better in the "All-" department. Joe may be the greatest all-around player in the sports world, but Ted—great at hitting, fielding, throwing, fishing, flying—is the greatest all-around man.
