GJC Leisure Time Committee Meets

The study of Jewish leisure time activities and needs in the greater Providence area made significant progress last week with the organization of a Citizens' Self-Study Committee under the sponsorship of the General Jewish Committee of Providence, Inc.

At the same time, it was announced by Max Winograd, chairman of the GJC's over-all Planning Committee, that key Jewish leaders in both Pawtucket and Cranston had agreed to join in the survey, thus providing the basis for a three-community study.

The newly appointed Self-Study Committee will be composed of approximately 100 members, representing all economic and social levels.

Basic purposes of the self-survey, as announced this week by Winograd, are:

- 1) To determine the location of the Jewish population and current trends in growth.
- 2) To define the over-all leisure time services and programs in which Jewish people now participate.
- 3) To classify the leisure time needs of the Jewish community of greater Providence.
- 4) To outline a long range as well as immediate plan for a Jewish Center program to meet those needs.

In a move to expedite accumulation of the background data required before tangible decisions can be made, several sub-committees were set up within the framework of the Self-Study Committee.

These sub-groups and their chairmen include: Pre-School (children under five years), Dr. Clara Smith; Children's Activities (under 12 years), chairman to be announced later; Youth Activities (under 18 years), Mrs. Albert Pilavin; Young Adults, David Chernack; Adults, Irving Brodsky; Older Adults, Aaron Roitman, and Physical Education, George Katz.

Personnel to fill the sub-committees are now being appointed, Winograd said, and it is anticipated that, by early Fall, each group will be actively engaged in carrying out its assignment.

Myron Blanchard, head of the National Jewish Welfare Board's research department, is serving as consultant to the survey. It was this organization that recommended that the audit be conducted essentially on a self-study basis.

Blanchard will assist in the obtaining of factual data, drawing up of worksheets for all committees and sub-committees, and drafting of final reports.

Statistical data, dealing with the concentration of Jewish population in Providence, is being com-

Honor FDR For FEPC Enactment 10 Years Ago

Heralding the start of a nationwide campaign to enact an emergency Fair Employment Practices Commission, representatives of liberal, civic and labor groups paid homage to the late President Roosevelt at Hyde Park on the 10th anniversary of FDR's executive order creating the previous FEPC. Major Jewish organizations are participating in the drive. Pictured left to right, are: A. Philip Randolph, co-chairman of the National Committee for a permanent FEPC; Mrs. Herman E. Levine, National Council of Jewish Women; Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; Walter White, Nat'l. Ass'n. for the Advancement of Colored People, and Rev. Gary Oniki, Protestant Interracial Church. Quads Born To Jewish Parents

BAYONNE, N. J. (AJP) — A near-exhausted 40-year-old war veteran and his calm 32-year-old attractive brunette wife became the second known American Jewish parents of quadruplets this week with the birth of the first set of quadruplets (one died) ever born in Bayonne hospital.

The event left Irving Kronenberg, who runs a small variety store here, breathless with excitement. Mrs. Kronenberg, who gave birth to the quads six weeks ahead of schedule, was in excellent condition. She and her babies—two girls and one boy—were expected home in the next two weeks. One little girl was born dead.

Kronenberg told the American Jewish Press that offers of gifts and assistance were reaching the couple by early mail. The vet said he was especially thankful for one helping hand: an offer of free and unlimited diaper service.

The businessman said he and his wife had moved recently to a four-room house in nearby Lyndhurst.

"We haven't signed up with a synagogue or temple out here—we only just arrived," Kronenberg said, "but once we're settled, well—" The couple has a son, Martin, age 6.

Another set of Jewish quads, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zareif recently marked their seventh birthday. Zareif is the musical director of the Columbia Broadcasting system.

Pro-Irgun Author To Remain In U. S.

WASHINGTON (AJP) — The Senate voted this week to allow author Arthur Koestler, who reportedly renounced his Judaism last year, to remain in the United States. Koestler, an admitted former Communist who later renounced the party, faced a ban under provisions of recently enacted subversive-control legislation.

Koestler attacks Communism in his latest novel, "Darkness at Noon." A Broadway adaption of the novel is currently a New York hit play.

The author reportedly renounced Judaism last year following the appearance of his controversial book, "Promise and Fulfillment."

Appoint 8 as UJA Bond Overseers

NEW YORK (AJP)—Eight national figures prominent in the United Jewish Appeal campaign and the $500,000,000 Israel Bond Drive were appointed members of a committee to coordinate activities on behalf of the two groups this week.

The coordinating committee's organization followed an announcement two weeks ago by Eliezer Kaplan, Finance Minister of Israel, that such a body would be established.

Designated as members of the coordinating body were Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Edward M. M. Warburg, Rudolph G. Sonnenborn, Dr. Nahum Goldmann, Henry Montor, Dr. Joseph J. Schwartz, Julian B. Venezky, and Morris Berinstein.

An announcement by the group said the initial meeting held last week was "devoted to organizational purposes." It concluded with "it was decided to hold regular meetings at which time matters of common interest for the two enterprises would be discussed."

KATZ TO LEAVE E.A.C.

WASHINGTON (AJP) — A prominent Jewish statesman, Milton Katz, Ambassador-at-Large for the Economic Co-operation Administration in Europe, is scheduled to resign his post sometime in mid-August to join the Ford Foundation, it was learned here this week.

News Deadline

Because of the July 4 holiday, the news deadline for next week's newspaper has been advanced to Monday noon, July 2. We cannot promise to publish any items submitted after that time.

Postpone Action on Education Survey

The survey of Jewish education—sponsored last year by the General Jewish Committee of Providence and now completed in report form—will be acted upon by the GJC's board of directors at a meeting in the early Fall, Alvin A. Sopkin, GJC President, announced this week.

A 60-page report of the findings of the self-study committee, prepared by Dr. Uriah Z. Engelman who has been acting as survey consultant, was presented to the board at its meeting last week.

Because only 23 board members were present, Joseph W. Resch, chairman of the GJC's Jewish Education Study Committee, moved that action by the board be withheld until a larger attendance was present at the next meeting.

Resch pointed out that the report represents "a vitally important step in community planning and will entail the expenditure of community funds" and that, consequently, the findings should be reviewed by a majority of Board members before definite action is authorized. There was unanimous agreement on this procedure.

In an informal appearance before the board, Dr. Engelman—who is director of research for the American Association for Jewish Education—discussed the results of similar surveys in communities comparable to Providence.

He suggested that the basic purpose of Jewish education should be to transmit to the younger generation a greater knowledge of their heritage in culture, religion and education.

The first in a series of articles summarizing, in highlight form, the findings of the survey will appear in the Herald in the near future.

Bandits Hijack 6½ Tons of Kosher Beef

NEW YORK (AJP)—The hijacking of a 13,000-pound carload of kosher beef valued at more than $10,000 here late this week by three armed bandits was seen by police as an indication that a black market may exist here.

(An official of the Kosher Butchers' Association, Inc., hinted the existence of a black market to an American Jewish Press reporter two weeks ago. He reported some kosher butchers were experiencing "a feeling of overpayment on the wholesale end" in the wake of newly-imposed Office of Price Stabilization ceilings.)

The bandits also stole the eight-ton truck in which the meat was being transported and kidnapped the driver after threatening to kill him. They released him in a secluded suburban Long

Hijack Meat

Island community hours later. The truck was not recovered.

One of the first of its type in New York in several years, the hijacking occurred in late afternoon as the truck driver, Hyman Feibush, 35, prepared to deliver the meat to retail outlets.

A gray sedan pulled up beside the truck at a red light and two armed men boarded the truck warning, "Be quiet or we'll kill you." Feibush was ordered off the truck and into the bandits' car. One of the men took over the wheel of the meat truck and drove off.

Value of the kosher beef was placed at $10,000, but officials estimated its worth was considerably more than that in the retail black market.

piled by the GJC as an aid to the study.

The group work and leisure time study follows on the heels of the educational survey launched by the GJC last year as part of that group's function as the community's primary planning agency.

Findings of the study will be summarized in a series of articles beginning in next week's Herald.

Alvin A. Sopkin, GJC president, this week declared that "these two significant audits provide the basis of a program of both short-term and long-range planning that will play a vital role in the future health, happiness and educational enlightenment of our greater Providence Jewish community."

Broader programs, elimination of duplicating activity, wiser expenditures of funds and greater community service will result from the actions taken as a result of the findings taken from both surveys, he predicted.

Obituary

MRS. HARRIET EICHELBAUM

Funeral services for Mrs. Harriet (Gregerman) Eichelbaum of 183 Somerset Street, wife of Felix S. Eichelbaum, were held at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home last week. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Eichelbaum died at the Rhode Island Hospital after a prolonged illness.

She is survived by her husband; her father, Samuel Gregerman; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Kaufman and Mrs. Stanley Kaplan; two brothers, Sydney and Milton Gregerman and an aunt, Mrs. Annie Miller, all of Providence.

BERNARD GREENSTEIN

Funeral services for Bernard Greenstein, husband of Dora (Greenberg) Greenstein, of 143 Prairie Avenue, were held Wednesday of last week at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Mr. Greenstein, a former clothing manufacturer, was a member of the Roumanian Ahavath Sholom Congregation and the R. I. Jewish Fraternal Association.

He is survived by his wife; a brother, Morris Greenstein; two sons, Dr. J. E. and Maurice H. Greenstein; two daughters, Evelyn B. Greenstein and Mrs. Aaron A. Bilgor, all of Providence; and another daughter, Mrs. Abraham Levenson of Boston.

MRS. IDA PARIS

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Paris, wife of the late Joseph Paris of 249 Willard Avenue, who died last Friday evening at Miriam Hospital, were held last Sunday at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery. Rabbi Morris G. Silk officiated.

Born in Kiev, Russia in 1881, Mrs. Paris came to Providence in 1900, where she was a member of Tyferes Israel Synagogue.

Surviving are two sons, Benjamin and Samuel H. Paris, both of Providence, two grandchildren and two nieces.

MRS. ALICE BROADMAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Broadman, 50, widow of Dr. Harry Broadman, of 84 Eaton Street, were held last Tuesday afternoon at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

A lifelong resident of this city, she was born June 26, 1901, a daughter of Mrs. Mamie Broadman and the late Rachmiel Broadman. She was a graduate of Hope High School and the R. I. College of Pharmacy.

She was a member of B'nai B'rith, the auxiliary of the Miriam Hospital Association, the Rhode Island Foundation of Tuberculosis and the Council of Jewish Women.

Besides her mother she is survived by a son, Richard Broadman of this city; three brothers, Harry Broadman of New York City, Sydney Broadman of Brooklyn and Jack Broadman of Providence; three sisters, Mrs. Tillie Feinman of Newport, Mrs. Mollie Shapiro of Providence and Mrs. Lillian Rotenberg of Attleboro.

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE

Natorc vs Richards at Richard-son Park; M & F Insurance vs Broadway Auto Sales at Hopkins Park; Mathewson Toggery vs Waldorf Tuxedo at Roger Williams Park; Lincoln Woods Dairy vs Arden's at Sessions Street.

After dropping the first game decision to Waldorf Tuxedo 7-3, Richards Clothing finally broke the league leaders' victory string with a 5-3 win in the noon contest. In the first game both teams played sound ball, but Lefty Bernie Davidson's hurling was the major factor in Waldorf's win. Bill DelVecchio all but brought the game into Brown's Aldrich Field with a tremendous home run that cleared an unsuspecting UER bus on Elmgrove Avenue. Erwin Summer and Jay Krazner belted in most of the runs as Richards bounced back to capture a well-played nightcap.

Mathewson Toggery was lifted into undisputed possession of fourth place with a double win over Lincoln Woods Dairy. Reliever Ralph Winn put down a Dairyman sixth inning bases loaded threat, with the aid of Jim Baron's great outfield catch. Mathewson came from behind with two in the sixth to tie and won out in the seventh.

It was Mathewson all the way in the nightcap. Homers by Fred Zisquit and Ralph Winn afforded fine support to the steady twirling of Gerry Gordon. First baseman Harvey Stein stood out for Lincoln Woods.

At Hopkins Park Arden's Jewelry took a morning win from M & F to the tune of 8-7, overcoming an M & F 7-2 lead in the last of the seventh inning. Nate Snyder homered in three of the tallies and Carl Lefkowitz singled, advanced to third and scored the winning run on a wild pitch. The second game went to Arden's by forfeit.

Broadway Auto Sales and Natorc split at Roger Williams Park. Natorc took an early lead in the opener and made it hold up for the 5-2 win, Harv Pollack going the route. Irwin Lieberman took several hits away from Broadway batters with his play at third base. In the nightcap Broadway Auto took a quick lead that was almost overcome by a fighting Natorc club. Buzzy Labush came over from second base to assist in a rundown play and then picked off a second Broadway runner attempting to advance on the play. Bill Goldis' big bat paced the winners.

This Sunday will end flag play for the July break. Games will resume on Sunday, August 5.

Annual Homecoming Dance
Due to the response to the College Homecoming Dance, held at Churchill House last week by the Jewish students of greater Providence, the affair will become an annual event.

Ziers Have Son
Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Zier of Burnside Street, Cranston, announce the birth of a son, Richard Allen, the first week in June. Mrs. Zier is the former Shirley Ableman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob F. Ableman. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Zier.

Gold-Traugott
Miss Harriet Sylvia Gold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gold of Lancaster Street, became the bride of Peter Traugott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franz Traugott of Providence at the Congregation Ahavath Sholom last week.

The bride, dressed in a gown of French Clogue with a lace Dutch cap and finger tip veil, carried a white Bible trimmed with an orchid of the same shade and a cascade of stephanotis.

Mrs. Nathan Lury, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore pink embroidered organdy and a pink lace hat. Matching roses completed her ensemble.

Flower girl Eileen Weber, niece of the groom, was attired in yellow organdy. Her cousin, Kenneth Weber, was ring bearer.

Nathan Lury was best man. Bronze beading and beige lace made up the dress of the bride's mother, while the mother of the groom chose rose lace.

Guests were present from Brazil, New York, North Adams and Springfield, Mass. After a motor trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Traugott will reside at 146 East 44th Street, New York City.

Charron-Walzer
Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Walzer of New York City, announce the marriage of their daughter, Peggy, to Stanley Charron, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Charron, of 457 Morris Avenue.

The bride is a graduate of Connecticut College for Women, while Mr. Charron was graduated from Brown University and the graduate school of Harvard.

After a trip to Nantucket, the couple will reside in Providence.

A Daughter To Solomons
Mr. and Mrs. Louis I. Solomonson of 196 Montgomery Avenue, Edgewood, announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Susan Fran, Tuesday May 8.

Rouslin-Schwartz
At four o'clock last Sunday afternoon, Joan Roberta Rouslin was married to Benjamin L. Schwartz at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rouslin, 21 Eames Street. Rabbi William G. Braude officiated. A reception in the garden followed the ceremony.

The bride, a graduate of the R. I. School of Design, wore egg-shell cotton lace with a lace mantilla in the Spanish tradition.

She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Samuel Rouslin, who wore beige cotton lace.

Major Shalom Ralph was best man. A novel note was introduced by substituting Grieg's "Wedding Day at Troldboer" for the usual recessional march after the exchanged vows.

Following a wedding dinner at Wayland Manor, the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Mexico. After the honeymoon the couple will reside in Pittsburgh, Pa., where Mr. Schwartz, a graduate of Carnegie Institute of Technology, teaches at Duquesne University.

Kornsteins Have Son
Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Kornstein of 18 Forest Street announce the birth of their first child, a son, Alan Evan, on June 6. Mrs. Kornstein is the former Miss Beatrice Teverow, daughter of Philip Teverow and the late Lena Teverow.

Sweet Sixteen Party
Mrs. Matthew S. Golden of 150 Home Avenue, gave a sweet sixteen birthday party last Saturday, for her daughter Sandra Joan. Buffet supper was served to eight couples.

Bassings Have Daughter
Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bassing, 5715 Deane Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif., announce the birth of a daughter, Sheila Joy, on May 17, 1951.

Wins Jr. High Medals
Miss Marilyn Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Baker of 456 Chalkstone Avenue, was graduated June 22 from Nathaniel Greene Junior High School where she received both the Anthony Medal and a gold medal award in a recent spelling contest. Miss Baker will enter Classical High School in the fall.

Mittleman-Goldberg
Miss Shirley Leah Goldberg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Goldberg of 69 Lancaster Street, became the bride of Dr. Joseph J. Mittleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Mittleman, at Churchill House recently. Rabbi Morton Berkowitz officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of satin with a sweetheart neckline adorned with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and orchids.

Miss Nettie Simon, maid of honor, chose aquamarine lace. Her bouquet was of red roses. Barbara Goldberg, niece of the groom, was flower girl.

Harry Mittleman, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers included Harvey A. Goldberg, Dr. Harvey Mandell, Joseph Teverow, Israel Moses, Irving Mittleman and Harry Fleishman.

AN EVERLASTING MEMORIAL

No substance known to man is more suitable for memorial purposes than bronze. That is why imperishable bronze, with its rich, traditional beauty and permanency, is chosen to memorialize the departed at Sharon Memorial Park.

Bronze tablets endure forever, and never deteriorate to become a source of worry and expense to future generations. The small cost for a bronze tablet is only a fraction of the price of the average tombstone.

From the inspired teaching of the Old Testament, all the departed are equal . . . there are no rich and no poor, no wise and no simple, no mighty and no lowly . . . all rest in beautiful equality and democracy. What better symbol could there be for a memorial than a living park where life renews itself every year to a new beginning.

To know that beautiful Sharon Memorial Park provides never-ending perpetual care with each lot is a source of comfort. This makes it unnecessary to pass down burdens and obligations of upkeep to our children and children's children.

Only when you come and see the beauty of Sharon Memorial Park, the first all-Jewish garden cemetery in New England, can you appreciate its high purpose in serving Jewish families. Why not drive out this Sunday?

Care is an expression of love. The man who really cares, prepares.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Sheinberg of Sargent Avenue announce the marriage of their daughter Miriam to Saul Fine, son of Mrs. Ida Fine of Fourth Street. The ceremony took place at the Temple Emanuel, Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen officiating.

The bride wore a white satin gown, en train, with a scalloped neckline which cut into a fitted bodice with long tight sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from an imported crown trimmed in beads and pearls, and she carried a Bible trimmed with an orchid and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Fine of Wisconsin, brother and sister-in-law of the groom.

Mrs. Kitty Marbar of Brockton was matron of honor. Miriam Marks of New York, formerly of Providence, acted as maid of honor, while Ellen Epstein, niece of the groom, was flower girl.

Richard Sheinberg, brother of the bride, was best man for the double ring ceremony.

Rabbi Goldin, Max Richter Differ On Waad Hakashruth, Mashgiach Dispute

Conflicting statements concerning the dispute between the rabbis of the Waad Hakashruth and the Narragansett Hotel were aired this week, with internal policies within the Waad Hakashruth continuing to dominate the issue.

Officers of the religious body reportedly were backing the Narragansett Hotel in its refusal to meet what it considers excessive salary demands by the mashgiach.

The rabbis, on the other hand, were said to insist that the dismissed official must be reinstated and that at no time will they allow the hiring of any other man.

Max Richter, a member of the Waad Hakashruth, disagreed sharply with an article in last week's Herald. Richter's statement was in the form of a letter to the editors, and is reproduced elsewhere on this page.

In his letter, Richter defended the rabbis' stand. He claimed that those who oppose the rabbis comprise but a small minority of the Waad Hakashruth membership, and that, contrary to the statement of the "leading official" quoted in last week's article, the stand taken by the four religious leaders has the endorsement and backing of the kashruth organization.

He pointed out that two men appointed as mashgiach following the resignation of the original mashgiach refused to accept the post because of the rabbis' disapproval.

Rabbi Goldin Is Mediator

Rabbi Aaron Goldin of Pawtucket entered the picture in an interview this week with the Herald. Rabbi Goldin, who is not affiliated with either party to the dispute, described his actions in the role of mediator to avoid possible misunderstanding and "to help in bringing about a peaceful solution."

Tracing the background of the present squabble, Rabbi Goldin recalled that he was called in as a mediator by both sides when a similar argument, involving the same mashgiach, broke out two years ago. The matter was settled then to the mutual satisfaction of both sides, he said, although at a personal sacrifice to Max Zinn of the hotel management.

Then as now, Rabbi Goldin added, the issue was not over a violation of the rules of kashruth, but rather over a strictly financial matter between the mashgiach, the hotel and the rabbis of the Waad Hakashruth.

Rabbi Goldin stated that he entered the present dispute as mediator at the invitation of the hotel and the officers of the Waad Hakashruth. He conferred at length with the rabbis, the hotel management, the mashgiach and the officers of the kashruth body. About two weeks ago, he said, he submitted a detailed report of his findings before the complete membership of the Waad Hakashruth, including the rabbis.

While declining to reveal the nature of these findings, Rabbi Goldin did observe that up to this time there has been no charge levied by the rabbis of the Waad Hakashruth against the operation of the kosher kitchen of the Narragansett Hotel.

List Recommendations

From other sources the Herald learned that Rabbi Goldin's report contained the following recommendations:

1. Every step possible should be taken to obtain reduced rates in kashruth catering, minimizing the difference in cost between kosher and "traife" catering, in order that those who would normally prefer to have kosher affairs might not be driven away by the added expense.

2. Financial arrangements must be in the hands of the laymen of the Waad Hakashruth. The rabbis should have authority only in religious matters. It was noted that the current dispute is strictly a business, not a religious, matter.

3. Kashruth is not a monopoly, and the Jewish public should be invited and encouraged to participate in kosher matters. "Kashruth is a basic part of the Jewish pattern of life, the same as the Sabbath and Jewish education," the Pawtucket rabbi stated.

Rabbi Goldin also was said to feel that since the Narragansett Hotel is willing to co-operate with Jewish officials in order that there may be a dignified place where kosher Jewish functions may be held, it should be assisted and encouraged in the continuation of this policy. In matters relating to kashruth, he said, the Narragansett should be considered a public institution.

While no vote actually has been taken within the Waad Hakashruth, officers of that organization continued to side with the hotel. They argued that while the rabbis have full authority in any religious matter regarding kashruth, financial disputes are political in nature and should be handled by the lay membership. The personality of the mashgiach, they added, is not a religious matter.

Following is the text, in part, of Mr. Richter's letter:

Dear Editor:

In the issue of June 22, the headline reads: "Waad Hacashruth Backs Hotel in Mashgiach Dispute with Rabbis." ... let me state as a member of the Executive Board of the Waad Hacashruth, no such decision has been reached at any general or even Executive meeting. It is, therefore, completely fallacious and entirely misleading to issue such a statement.

In this blessed country where democracy reigns supreme, a majority vote must be had to speak on behalf of an entire body or organization. I most emphatically emphasize that the consensus of opinion is certainly in favor of the opinion and decision taken by our Rabbis of the Waad Hacashruth. It is literally but a handful of people who have taken liberties and acted in a manner not befitting their repute, nor the offices they hold. But certainly such a minority has no authority to speak in the name of the entire body.

The article continues on to state that the Meshgiach was dismissed because he "allegedly was not fulfilling all the duties inherent in his position."

The Meshgiach was indeed a person imbued with religious zeal and fervor. He worked diligently and faithfully, serving the hotel and our people loyally during the past three years. His dismissal was due only to the fact that the management of the hotel did not keep its promise to three Rabbis of the Waad Hacashruth.

A series of negotiations began to take place, and I, as a layman, made every effort to alleviate the difficulties. With the consent of the Rabbis I acted as a liaison re-

Engaged

YVETTE ETHLYN MENCOFF

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mencoff of Providence, Bonnet Shores and Miami, announce the engagement of their daughter, Yvette Ethlyn, to Harvey Jordon Eugene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Eugene of Providence and Narragansett.

Miss Mencoff attended the Mary Burnham School for Girls and the Vesper George School of Art. Her fiancé attended Borden town Military Institute and Bryant College, where he was a member of Sigma Lambda Pi Fraternity.

An engagement party for the couple was held last week in the ballroom of the Narragansett Hotel.

representative for both parties. Negotiations were going on at a rapid pace and a satisfactory settlement could have been attained.

Unfortunately, at this point the Waad Hacashruth was betrayed and a different Meshgiach was recommended for the position, by this same handful of people. Then another, and then a third, was recommended. The first two declined, for they would not go against the wishes of the Rabbis. The present supervisor bears no endorsement from the Rabbis, for they do not consider him to be the proper person to shoulder the responsibility of a Meshgiach. He is by no means a native American, contrary to what the article states. I would also like to make our readers cognizant of the fact that in regard to Kashruth there cannot be any justifiable expression such as "European Jewish Standards." Either a food is Kosher or it is not. Our traditional Code of Laws interpreted by our Rabbis is the only source of authority, whether here or abroad.

In conclusion I would like to clarify one more point. The Waad Hacashruth is comprised of laymen and Rabbis. Our constitution urges the officers and delegates of the Waad Hacashruth to leave all religious matters and problems of Kashruth for the Rabbis. They are the ones who have the authority, as well as the knowledge and scholastic ability, to speak on such matters. When our officers or any laymen intervene, and act not in accordance with their constitutional rights, they not only are not serving properly, but are committing a disloyal act to those who have delegated them as representatives, to serve our entire Jewish populace of Providence.

True, this is a harsh accusation, but the misdemeanor of the people concerned warrants harsh measures.

Center Names New Playschool Director

Appointment of Miss Ruth Reiner as director of the Jewish Community Center's summer Playschool, to be held at the Sessions Street fieldhouse, was announced this week.

Miss Reiner, a graduate of the Boston Nursery Training School, has been affiliated for several years with the Brookline Community Center Nursery.

The new director will work with a corps of trained teachers in setting up a creative nursery program for children between three and five years of age. The summer Playschool will begin on Monday, July 2 and will continue through Friday, August 24, from 1 to 4:30 P. M. daily. Transportation facilities to bring the children to and from the Sessions Street site are now being developed, Miss Reiner said.

Registration of children may be made for the full eight week season or for either of the two four week periods. Parents interested in registering their children or learning further details are invited to call the Center, DE 1-6730 or DE 1-6175.

PRESENTS RESOLUTION

At the annual meeting of the Miriam Hospital, held June 15 at the Narragansett Hotel, the resolution honoring Samuel Temkin for his long service as secretary was presented by Joseph Smith, not by Judge Philip C. Joslin, as reported last week. Judge Joslin made a presentation at the testimonial dinner which immediately preceded the annual meeting.

Marilyn Clair Mellion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Mellion, 6 Alumni Avenue, became the bride of Daniel Lecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lecht, 57 Radcliffe Avenue on Sunday, June 24 at the Sunset Lodge, Sharon, Mass. Rabbi Morton Berkowitz officiated at the ceremony which took place in the garden of the hotel.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents wore a champagne gown, designed with a yoke of French illusion. Her double tiered veil of illusion fell from an heirloom lace cap. She carried a white Bible with orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Mel London, matron of honor, was attired in a pink gown and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers with green streamers. Rita Handler, maid of honor, chose a sea green gown. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers with pink streamers.

Leon Lecht was best man.

The mother of the bride chose a beige lace cocktail dress and the mother of the groom wore aqua lace, also cocktail style.

After a reception at the hotel, the couple left for a wedding trip to the Adirondacks. On their return they will reside at 6 Alumni Avenue.
