Students Censor Secret Group

HARTFORD (AJP)—The Student Senate at the University of Connecticut this week withdrew its recognition of a key secret men's society at the school after charges of anti-Semitic activity were lodged against the group.

Under fire was the Druids, a group chosen each year at the university's Junior Prom from candidates enrolled in the Junior Class. Their names are made public at the following year's prom.

The campus bombshell exploded last week when three members of the Student Senate charged the Druids with anti-Jewish activity. The members based their attack upon what they said were secret minutes of Druid meetings.

Maintaining its policy of secrecy, the Druids refused to answer the charges.

The Student Senate also instructed student publications to cease all mention of the society after this week.

reiterated its opposition "to the establishment of an over-riding authoritarian body in the community relations field."

The sharp reiterations to a division of responsibilities on the American Jewish scene by two key groups within the National Community Relations Advisory Council structure was seen as heralding the start of a new, intense opposition to the much-discussed recommendations submitted by Prof. Robert MacIver.

The B'nai B'rith stand voted at last week's meeting in large measure followed the pattern of the AJC resolution. Both said they hoped the NCRAC program adopted last November in Atlantic

Last Ditch U.S. Stand To Reopen Reparations Issue Defeated

A last ditch stand in the United States to reopen the issue of direct negotiations with Western Germany over reparations failed this week as the beginning of discussions over Jewish claims moved a bit closer after riding out a series of explosive reports, including an alleged alibi that Bonn could not afford to make restitution.

Proponents of a move urging the Israel Knesset to reconsider its favorable action on direct negotiations lost by defeat before the powerful National Administrative Council of the Zionist Organization of America meeting in Philadelphia. A resolution favoring a reconsideration of the issue and introduced by attorney Harry Torczyner was defeated 20-14.

Ever while Torczyner pleaded his case, Jewish Agency officials in the U. S. hastened to smooth-over the excitement which followed last week's explosive report that Bonn "circles" were willing to make payment on Jewish claims. Another bombshell aspect of the New York Times story—later picked up and highlighted in the Yiddish press—was a claim that Dr. Nachum Goldman, chairman of the Jewish American sections, and the key figure in reparations discussions, would lead a delegation comprised of Israelis and other Jewish leaders to Bonn for talks with the Germans.

Jewish Agency spokesmen in New York City told the American

B'nai B'rith Backs Up ADL Opposition To MacIver Proposals

The controversial MacIver Report simmered at the boiling point again late this week with a disclosure that the Executive Committee of B'nai B'rith had formally backed up the stand of its Anti-Defamation League in rejecting "any agreements or actions which affect the autonomy" of the Jewish defense organization.

Voted in Washington last week at an annual meeting of the national executive committee of B'nai B'rith, the stand came on the heels of a similar resolution adopted by the American Jewish Committee, another foe of key proposals advanced by the MacIver Report, in which the AJC

Temple Refuses Hall for Rally After ADL Protest

CHICAGO (AJP)—A Reform congregation here reportedly acting on the advice of its rabbi and a regional leader of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith this week barred use of its facilities to a leftwing political party for a rally to protest the death penalty for atom bomb spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The incident, according to the Jewish Sentinel, of Chicago, provoked the resignation of Temple Judea's president and split the congregation's Board of Trustees. The president later withdrew his resignation, the paper added.

The temple was to be used as one of three sites for rallies in support of the Rosenbergs. The Sentinel reported that officials of the Progressive Party of Illinois approached the temple's president and rented the hall for the meeting.

Later, the Board of Trustees of Temple Judea withdrew the permit, reportedly on the advice of Rabbi Karl Weiner, the congregation's spiritual leader, and the Anti-Defamation League. The ADL, according to the Sentinel, admitted its role in the incident, pointing out that "it was a poor thing to have a Jewish institution connected with the Progressive party."

Jewish GI Marks First Bar-Mitzvah In Korean History

The first Bar-Mitzvah ever celebrated in Korean history ends with the presentation of a Bible to Pfc. Bennie Schatz (right), 19, by Chaplain Meir Engel, one of the 78 full-time Jewish chaplains certified and serviced by the National Jewish Welfare Board. After the traditional affirmation of faith in a tent on the central front, Chaplain Engel explained: "Schatz' belated Bar-Mitzvah indicates that the moral force of religion is effective at all ages." ## ZOA President Scored for Mixing In Nat'l Politics

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—Zionist president Benjamin Brodsky, a key figure in last week's political maneuver which ranked as one of President Truman's top pranks in the eyes of White House newsmen, found himself in hot water on a similar count three months ago at a Chicago conference of top Zionist Organization of America leadership, it was learned this week.

The latest episode occurred last week when Brodsky told newsmen following a meeting with President Truman that the Chief Executive would likely seek reelection and that he would announce his intention within a week or ten days. Traveling about the country, Brodsky said he told Truman, he had found considerable support for the President's return to office. Further, he urged the President to seek reelection, Brodsky said.

The Brodsky comment was still on the wires when another visitor to the President told newsmen the exact opposite. He maintained that President Truman had told him that he had yet to make up

Center Warns Clubs On Meeting Space

Clubs and other organizations seeking information about the availability of meeting space at the new Jewish Community Center were cautioned this week to make their needs and intentions known as quickly as possible "to assure themselves of a meeting room in their community home."

Many requests already have been received on the subject, Morris Kritzman, Center executive director, said. He pointed to the new Center regulations, as approved by the Board of Directors and already made public, whereby clubs will be granted meeting privileges without any charge, and other groups will pay only minimum service charges resulting from use of additional Center facilities.

The Center is open, he added, to all groups, regardless of whether they are affiliated with the Center.

spine and the nerves in the muscles controlling the legs, was never definitely established, it is believed he had contracted the ailment by exposing himself for years to the emanations of the powerful and destructive rays of X-ray and radium.

Dr. Gerber was one of the first X-ray specialists in Providence and was well known throughout this country and abroad for his research work and his unerring judgment in the reading and interpretation of x-ray pictures.

His research work in the taking of x-ray pictures of mastoids and the gall bladder and x-ray and radium treatment of cancer was well known in medical circles, and he had written extensively on roentgenological subjects in medical publications. He also was widely known as a pioneer in the use of X-ray not only for obtaining photographs of internal organs for diagnostic purposes but for treatment of disease, and was one of the first men to introduce high-voltage x-ray treatment.

Honored by Lectureship

Although his disease naturally restricted his movements and he confined his work largely to his office on Waterman Street, Dr. Gerber was consulting roentgenologist for virtually every hospital in the state.

In 1948 the Miriam Hospital Association established the Gerber Oration, to be given annually. He was the only Rhode Island doctor, and one of the few in the United States, to be acclaimed during his lifetime with the establishment under his name of a permanent medical lectureship, customarily a post mortem honor.

Dr. Gerber was born in Boston on May 11, 1885, the son of Jacob and Ida Gerber. He was educated in the Boston public schools and was graduated with high honors from Harvard University in 1907 and from Harvard Medical School in 1910.

After a year's internship at Boston City Hospital he married the former Miss Rose Albert of Malden, Mass., and the couple then went abroad, where he continued his studies at Stuttgart, Germany, Berlin and Vienna.

Dr. Gerber returned from Europe to Boston in 1913 and went into private practice in that city with another physician who was known as an x-ray pioneer. He moved to Providence in 1914 and shortly afterwards became head of the x-ray department at Rhode Island Hospital, a post which he held until 1920.

Dr. Gerber was a member of many scientific organizations. He was former president of the New England Roentgen Ray Society and a member of the American College of Physicians, the American Board of Radiology, the American College of Radiology, the American Roentgen Ray Society, the Radiological Society of North America, the American Radium Society, the Rhode Island Medical Society and the Providence Medical Association

Dr. Gerber assisted in developing plans for the X-Ray department of the new Miriam Hospital, now nearing completion.

He is survived by his wife, who was a member of the old State Welfare Commission; a daughter, Mrs. Helen G. Bloom of Hartford; two sisters, Mrs. Abraham Yamins of Fall River and Mrs. Julius J. Cohen of Newton, and two grandchildren.

DAVID SCHAFFER

He was the widower of Dora (Feldman) Schaffer.

Born in Romania, April 28, 1878, a son of the late Bernard and Rose (Zisman) Schaffer, Mr. Schaffer had been a resident of Pawtucket for the past 50 years.

He was a member of the Jenks Lodge of Masons, the Zionist Organization of America, and Congregation Ohawe Sholom of Pawtucket.

Survivors include two sons, Joseph and Philip Schaffer; two daughters, Mrs. Nathan Zisman and Mrs. Elmer M. Blstein, all of Pawtucket; and two grandchildren.

MRS. SOPHIE SHORE

Funeral services for Mrs. Sophie Shore, widow of Max Shore, of 123 Pratt Street, who died Monday at Rhode Island Hospital after a short illness, were held the following day at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Born in Russia, a daughter of the late Solomon and Rachel Garfinkel, she had been a resident of Providence for 43 years.

She was a member of the R. I. Founders Tuberculosis League, Sisterhood of Congregation Ahavath Sholom and Telshe Yeshiva.

Survivors include two sons, Benjamin Winicour and Abraham Shore; a daughter, Mrs. Robert Gertner, all of this city, and two grandchildren.

SAUL S. GROSSMAN

Funeral services for Saul S. Grossman, a retired wholesale grocery salesman, of 258 Cypress Street, were held last Wednesday at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Born in Providence, March 23, 1902, a son of Sarah (Feinberg) Grossman and the late Jacob David Grossman, he had been a lifelong resident of Providence.

Mr. Grossman was a member of the Commercial Travelers, the Touro Fraternal Association and Temple Emanuel.

Besides his mother and wife, Mrs. Jeannette (Fain) Grossman, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Gerold Cherniack and Miss Ina Grossman; two sisters, Mrs. Irving I. Fain and Mrs. Abraham Kampner, all of Providence, and a brother, Arthur Grossman of Buffalo, N. Y.

400 Volunteers Needed on 'Big Day'

Providence men and women volunteers for BIG DAY, on Sunday, March 9, will be eligible for scores of valuable prizes, it was disclosed this week at the second planning meeting for the city-wide one-day canvass for State of Israel Bond purchasers.

Saul Abrams, Providence Marshal for BIG DAY, said that the many prizes—including luggage, electrical appliances, hosiery, jewelry, candy, free dinners, newspaper subscriptions, and radios—have been donated by merchants, manufacturers and other business men.

Co-Marshal for BIG DAY here is Mrs. Bertram L. Bernhardt.

Approximately 400 volunteers, representing most of the city's Jewish organizations, are expected to report at a breakfast, on the 15th floor foyer at the Sheraton-Biltmore at 9:30 A. M. on March 9. They will receive assignment cards at that time.

The volunteers, operating in teams of two, will call on only six Israel Bond prospects—those who have not already bought Bonds.

At this week's meeting, the several score who braved icy streets to attend saw the stirring technicolor movie, "Wanderers' Return," describing the building-up of the new state.

Those at the meeting included: Leroy Aarons, Abrams, Mrs. Anna Adelman, Mrs. Ethel Ballon, Rabbi Morton Berkowitz, Max Berman, Harry Blank, Mrs. Alter Boyman, Henry Brill, Harry Chaet, Mrs. Anna Chaet, Mrs. Y. Discuss Role of Center Board

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Jewish Community Center, together with Myron Blanchard of the Jewish Welfare Board, who conducted the General Jewish Committee's recent group work study in Providence, was held Tuesday evening at the Center.

The meeting, according to officials who attended, was concerned with "an intensive self-survey of the Center's board structure, with a view toward developing that body as an effective instrument of Center membership in administering the increasingly important role of the Center."

SUN OF CANADA CUTS COST OF INSURANCE
Canada's leading life company again increases policyholders' dividends

With 47% of its assets invested in the United States and announcing a further increase in policy dividends, reducing insurance costs, the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada has just released its 81st Annual Report revealing the largest volume of new life insurance issued by any Canadian company in 1951—over $461 million; an all-time high in benefits paid, and an increase in the interest rate earned on the assets last year.

George W. Bourke, President, in announcing 1951 figures for Canada's leading life company, stated that total Sun Life insurance in force now stands at $4,801,000,000, an increase during the year of $340 million. Annuities in force provide immediate or future payments to the amount of $104 million per annum. Group insurance in force now totals $1,254 million, an increase of $168 million (15.5%) during 1951. The rate of interest earned on the assets last year was 3.70% as compared with 3.61% in 1950; 3.48% in 1949 and 3.30% in 1948.

The Sun Life, a leading international life company with policyholder-service branches from coast to coast, last year paid out to policyholders and beneficiaries the all-time record sum of $125 million. $35 million was paid to beneficiaries of deceased policyholders, $16 million under annuity contracts, $36 million for maturing endowments, and the balance in dividends to policyholders, disability benefits, etc. Since the first Sun Life policy was issued in 1871, total benefits paid to policyholders and beneficiaries have amounted to $2,486 million. While the Company operates in 20 countries, 90% of the business originates in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Ravin-Silverman
 At a candlelight ceremony held Sunday afternoon at Temple Emanuel, Dr. Mary Anna Silverman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Silverman of 94 Carr Street, became the bride of Dr. Herbert Allan Ravin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Ravin of Winthrop, Mass.

The 4 o'clock double ring ceremony was conducted by Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen, who was assisted by Cantor Jacob Hohenemser. Organ music was played by Prof.

Arthur Einstein, Mrs. James Lipet, soloist, sang "Because" and "At Dawning." A reception followed in the temple vestry.

The wedding was attended by 125 guests, many of whom came from Boston and metropolitan area, Hartford, New York, Chicago, Newport and Brazil.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina-length, ice-blue gown of nylon tulle and lace with ice-blue satin slippers. Her ice-blue illusion veil fell from a pearl tiara. She carried a white orchid surrounded by violets and bound in white ribbon.

Dr. Liuba Rozemberg of Bahia, Brazil, was maid of honor. Her ballerina-length gown was of slate blue taffeta and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Eugene Silverman, sister-in-law of the bride, matron of honor, selected a ballerina-length gown of violet iridescent silk shantung with a navy half-veil. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses.

David M. Pearl of Boston, uncle of the groom, was best man. Ushers included Eugene Silverman, brother of the bride; David Hodosh, cousin of the bride; Dr. Melvin Klayman of Boston and Dr. Richard A. Portis of Chicago, friends of the bride and groom. Stephen Douglas Silverman was junior usher, and Peter Howard Silverman was ring bearer. Both are nephews of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a gray chiffon, street-length gown, and the mother of the bridegroom chose a street-length gown of rose lace. Each wore a white orchid.

The couple left for a honeymoon at Acapulco, Mexico and Mexico City, following which they will reside at 53 Thorndike Street, Brookline.

Both are now serving at Beth-Israel Hospital, Boston, where the groom is doing government research and the bride is a resident physician. He is a graduate of Tufts College and Harvard Medical School. She was graduated from R. I. University and Tufts Medical School.

The main ballroom was transformed into a southern garden of blush pink flowers. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rabbi Samuel S. Ruderman of Temple Beth El, Fall River, assisted by Cantor Marcus Gerlich, and took place beneath a bower of pink calla lilies and orange blossoms, with a background of pink satin lined with pink baby orchids.

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—A widespread crackdown by the Federal Bureau of Investigation against the Ku Klux Klan was urged here this week by a leading daily newspaper which asserted that the federal law enforcers could not engage in a more worthwhile crusade than stamping out the hooded haters.

The New York Herald-Tribune, commenting editorially on the arrests of 10 Klansmen in North Carolina, pointed out that action attempted in the past by local authorities to end Klan terror usually failed.

"The seizing of this group may well open a new chapter in the protection of human and civil rights throughout the areas where the Klan operates," the paper said, adding, "the F.B.I. could not be engaged in a better fight nor in one that will have so wholehearted an endorsement from every right-thinking citizen of this country."

Heroic Jewish Chaplain Offers Blood

A heroic Jewish chaplain, who, although not a doctor, assisted in the administration of "hundreds" of transfusions to wounded GIs in Korea, responded to appeals here for blood. Reporting to a Brooklyn Red Cross blood bank, however, Rabbi Elihu Rickel, USNR, is informed by a nurse that because he has been taking atabrine within recent months his offer must be rejected. Chaplain Rickel was upset over the lag in blood contributions to aid the war effort.

Labor Zionist Show Sunday

When the "$64 Question" man made the transition from stage to radio he brought with him the same originality of approach that had characterized his vaudeville work.

By asking the $64 Question—it later became virtually a part of the language, turning up in Senate speeches, news headlines and everyday talk—Phil Baker established his program as the nation's most popular quiz show.

Groups affiliated with the Labor Zionists of Providence include Poale Zion, Farband Labor Zionist Order, Branch 41; Pioneer Women; Henry Burt Chapter, Poale Zion; and Ben Gurion Branch, Farband Labor Zionist.

Admission to the program, according to Council chairman Alter Boyman, is without charge.

In extending an invitation to the entire community, Mr. Boyman declared: "Come and hear the '$64 Answer' to the Israel Bond question—by the '$64 Question Man.'"

B'nai B'rith Backs ADL on Mac Iver

City, N. J., and which set June as a time when principles embodied in MacIver's Report would again be discussed and acted upon, would be realized, but warned that they would refuse to accept any "coercive" measures intended to alter the voluntary nature of the program.

And like the AJC resolution, too, the B'nai B'rith stand taken last week sharply rapped the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds for a resolution adopted at its Chicago meeting last December. The AJC edict charged that any implementation of the CJFWF would "have the effect if followed of turning the NCRAC into an authoritarian agency."

The role of the NCRAC was stressed in a section of the B'nai B'rith six point resolution. Termining any proposal for the establishment of a single community relations agency on the American Jewish scene "a threat to democratic Jewish life," the B'nai B'rith's top leadership urged the NCRAC to remain a coordinating agency.

Tangling with the CJFWF resolution of last December, the ADL's parent body took this stand:

"B'nai B'rith deplors the coercive implications of the CJFWF resolutions . . . these resolutions would substitute conformance to the CJFWF concept of unification of the community relations field for competence and performance of work in that field as the test in allocations of funds."

As in the earlier days of debate surrounding the 10 month-long study undertaken by the eminent

Columbia University sociologist, the sharpest clashes centered around division of responsibility and duplication of effort. Touching on the issue of duplication of effort, the B'nai B'rith national executive committee stated that it sought "to reduce waste and inefficiency, if any exist, and to avoid duplication" in activities and fund raising but in so doing it would "violate" the rights of its membership.

"Proposals for the dismemberment of the ADL," another section of the resolution stated "will affect adversely the whole Jewish community . . . to lessen or destroy B'nai B'rith capacity to pursue this program would do irreparable harm to the Jewish community."

Defeat Last Ditch Stand on Reparations

Jewish Press that a check by them had shown neither report had any basis. They said it was out of the question that Goldman would go to Bonn; that talks between Jews and Germans would take place in a neutral land, possibly Belgium; the Netherlands or Switzerland.

Strengthening arguments against any attempts by the Germans to plead poverty in an effort to avoid payment of reparations, or as a bargaining point, were these factors, the AJP learned:

First, the 1951 harvest in West Germany was considered by agricultural experts as the best in seven years.

Second, for the first time since the close of World War II, West Germany's warehouses are full with a surplus of exports; she is exporting more goods than are imported into what was once Hitler's citadel.

his mind on whether to seek office again when Americans go to the polls next year.

Later, the President's press secretary eased off both statements with the remark that the callers may have confused their own enthusiasm with that of the President's.

Reaction to the incident here included the disclosure that Browdy's political strings drew fire last November at a meeting of the National Administrative Council of the ZOA in Chicago.

There, at a private meeting, one leading Zionist charged that Browdy had sent out large mailings to ZOA members under his signature urging support for Truman and the Democratic Party.

Enraged, Browdy said that he had taken the action only as an individual and not as the leader of American Zionists. He defended his right to choose a role on the American political scene. Several other members of the NAC defended the ZOA president at the time, it was learned.

Set Up Special Committee To Implement Educational Report

The special committee set up by the Board of Directors of the General Jewish Committee of Providence to implement recommendations contained in the recently approved report on Jewish educational needs held its first meeting this week and announced the following developments:

1) Max Winograd was named to draft a set of by-laws detailing the structure of the community-wide Jewish educational bureau proposed by the study.

2) Preliminary soundings have been made toward determining the availability of an experienced director for the bureau.

3) Arrangements are being made to check with other cities of a size and composition comparable to Providence—where similar Jewish educational surveys have resulted in overall coordinating bureaus—to insure that "a sound foundation be provided" for the program recommended for this area.

Joseph W. Ress, chairman of the implementation committee, disclosed this week that his group intended to hold a number of meetings of its own, calling in for advice the local Rabbis and other interested individuals and groups, before reporting back to the GJC's Board of Directors with a set of proposals blueprinting the pattern of the new educational agency.

"Numerous recommendations were included in the report approved last month by the GJC," Ress stressed. "Our objective is to create an educational framework in which all interested elements in the community can function effectively. At the same time, we must have a sensitive appreciation of the right to a reasonable difference of ideology on the part of all these groups. To fuse their views and facilities into a smooth-functioning, well-rounded Jewish educational system is the task that confronts us."

"For example, the director of the proposed bureau must be a person of top-notch calibre, of broad experience, of proved ability and knowledge in the field of Jewish education, and one who can work well with all organizations and individuals. Such a person, backed by an interested and representative Board of Directors, along with a revitalized interest on the part of the entire community, will help to insure a sound foundation for an improved Jewish education system in Providence."

"The 60-page report adopted by the GJC roughly was divided equally between findings and recommendations. The findings were important because they pinpointed the important weakness of the Jewish school system in Providence as it exists today.

"The recommendations were even more significant because they contained a host of proposals for correcting these failings. The success of the central educational bureau will be determined by the care with which these recommendations are implemented. Our committee is determined to present to the GJC constructive suggestions designed to make the study group's report a full fledged reality as rapidly as possible, without sacrificing strength in its foundation."

Serving with Ress and Winograd on the implementation committee are Max Berman, Alter Boyman, Benjamin Brier and Paul Chernov.

STATE OF ISRAEL $500,000,000 INDEPENDENCE BOND ISSUE

The State of Israel $500,000,000 Bond Issue is intended to promote the economic development of the State. The proceeds of the Bond Issue are to be used for the purchase of machinery, raw materials, equipment and other items designed to increase the country's productive facilities so that it may earn and save foreign currency. Of the total amount, $205,000,000 is to be allocated for investment in the fields of industry and power. The sum of $130,000,000 has been designated for agricultural projects; $40,000,000 for the development of harbors, shipping and railroads; $45,000,000 for trade and services including the development of the tourist industry; and $30,000,000 for the establishment of a government mortgage bank for housing.

The balance, after payment of the expenses of the issue, is to serve as a reserve for unanticipated projects or for increased expenditures for the designated projects.

The Government's economic development program involves a total project expenditure of $1,500,000,000, of which $500,000,000 is to be provided by Israel and other countries, and the balance is to be obtained in the United States. The $500,000,000 State of Israel Bond Issue is the largest single source of funds for this program.

With immigration proceeding at the rate of 200,000 a year, Israel requires capital imports to meet the large investment necessary to create permanent employment opportunities and housing for the newcomers. A balanced and mature economy will as a rule produce enough to cover the consumptive needs of its population and to provide for some further investment to increase productivity. But under the best conditions, current production cannot begin to supply the huge capital needs of a population that is increasing at the enormous rate experienced by Israel. Palestine and Israel, therefore, have always had an adverse trade balance—like many young countries facing immigration and development tasks, including the United States, Australia and New Zealand. As immigration increased, so did the adverse trade balance. The import surplus served to meet the investment needs of the economy. For 1949 receipts on current account were (expressed in Israel Pounds, I.L.) I.L. 20,600,000 and payments, I.L. 94,100,000. For 1950 receipts on current account were I.L. 23,800,000 and payments, I.L. 113,400,000.

It is one of the major purposes of the Bond Issue to improve Israel's balance of trade through the establishment of new industrial and agricultural enterprises and through the expansion of production for export as well as for home consumption.

As of December 31, 1950, the funded debt was I.L. 114,200,000 and the floating debt, I.L. 1,300,000. The figures do not include any Treasury Bills, because of their relationship to the Special Defense Budget which has not been disclosed for security reasons.

Israel has never at any time defaulted upon the payment of principal or interest on any debt.

The budgets of the Government reflect the objectives of the State of Israel to provide for the immigration and absorption of a large number of Jews. From May 15, 1948 to March 31, 1949, receipts were I.L. 28,885,000 and expenditures, I.L. 27,529,000. From April 1, 1949 to March 31, 1950, receipts were I.L. 92,876,000 and expenditures I.L. 93,800,000. From April 1, 1950 to January 31, 1951, receipts were I.L. 113,473,000 and expenditures I.L. 112,087,000. These figures do not include Special Defense Budget expenditures or receipts from internal loans financing same.

The American Financial and Development Corporation for Israel with headquarters at 120 Broadway, New York 5, New York, is the principal underwriter for the State of Israel Bond Issue. The commissions or discounts are not to exceed 3½%.

Brotherhood Is Teamwork

"Unless free people work together as a team—and that takes teaching and practice—there will be no lasting peace," says President Truman.

The President refers to the observance of Brotherhood Week Feb. 17-24, a week dedicated, under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, to giving people the opportunity to pledge themselves anew to the basic ideals of respect for others and respect for the human rights so essential to decency in life.

It is specially important in this era, when new forces of aggression and tyranny threaten the world, that brotherhood be fostered and the fundamental truth it represents be reaffirmed.

Brotherhood Week helps to dramatize a set of attitudes which should be so deeply implanted within us that they will guide and influence our conduct, not just for a week, but always—essentially, the recognition of the fact, as Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill has put it that "Brotherhood means a faith in God as the Father of all and a resulting charity, for we are brothers one of another."

It's Music Time

The works of Jewish composers of music, old and new, afford enjoyment to performers and listeners the year 'round. Why, then, a Jewish Music Festival, such as is to be held this year between Feb. 9 and March 9?

Simply so that more and more music lovers, Jewish and non-Jewish, may have the opportunity during a dedicated period to hear and learn more of those works, so that their year-round pleasure may be amplified and their tastes broadened.

For it is true that since the Jewish Music Festivals were started some seven years ago, more and more communities throughout the country have become participants; and as public interest mounts, so is there mounting incentive for Jewish musical genius to seek expression.

The music of our fathers and of our contemporaries is ample testimony to the richness of this genius; it is for us to derive the benefit that will accrue from hearing or performing it. Music festival time is an occasion for each of us to enrich our lives by extending our acquaintance with the compositions of musicians of Jewish upbringing whose accomplishments have benefitted the whole world.

"One Man's Opinion"

A Home to be Proud of

BY BERYL SEGAL

Last summer we had a visitor from out-of-town. In his own city, my friend is associated with communal work, and it was only natural that our conversation should turn around such subjects as funds, campaigns, homes for the aged and the orphans, hospitals, and similar community welfare agencies. As we drove around town in the early hours of a bright Sunday morning, my visitor said:

"How far are we from your hospital? Let's drive over. I would like to see it."

I thought of the modern Jewish hospital in the city of my visitor, of its fine school for nurses, of its famed research laboratories, and I was anxious to change the subject:

"As a matter of fact, we are far from the hospital. It is on the opposite end of the town. But look up right ahead of us. That white wooden church. See it? This is the oldest church in town. It was founded in the year . . ."

After a while my visitor came back to embarrass me, when he said:

"You mentioned the Community Center. Is that somewhere near by? How about driving over to the Center?"

This time I was in a tough spot. The Community Center was only a few blocks away, and I could not deny it without blushing. But I remembered the Center I saw in the city of my visitor—the impressive building, the busy beehive of activity, the concerts given there, the lectures, the art exhibits, and yes, the swimming pool and the shower rooms—and I changed the subject again. I distracted the attention of my friend by pointing out the dome of the state Capitol glistening in the sun light.

But as we drove along North Main Street toward the city limits, it was I who spoke first:

"Now, if you turn right on the next street and go up the hill awhile, I will show you something fine."

And we turned right, and we climbed up Hillside Avenue, and we came upon the Home for the Aged. It was, as I said, a bright summer morning, and the red brick walls looked fresh and clean, and the lawns around the Home were neat and inviting, and the water sprinklers were swirling in all directions, and on the lawn chairs men and women relaxed and conversed softly.

My visitor stood a full minute in silence, and then he whispered:

"This is a fine Home. As fine a Home as I ever saw."

Egyptian police, the Interior Minister of Egypt had delivered an order of the day to the entrapped Egyptian gendarmes reading—"Fight To The End—Meet Force With Force."

Going on, the dispatch said—"The Egyptian Interior Minister personally led the Egyptian resistance—BY TELEPHONE."

On Broadway, a chorus girl's credo of life is this: "Wink—Drink—Don't Think—and Mink." . . . Sam Katzman's forthcoming Columbia movie serial, "Blackhawk," will be about international spies . . . London's Jews are in for a treat when Berta Gersten the famed Jewish actress from New York, stars in three Yiddish plays there shortly, not simultaneously, but consecutively, of course . . . Irving Jaffee, former Olympic speed skating champ, and now Sports Director at the Grossinger Country Club, is keeping an eagle eye on National and North American figure-skating champion Sonya Klopfer of Brooklyn, who has begun training there for the sixth winter Olympics . . . Short Short Story:

A feature of the New Miriam Hospital will be seven modern laboratories with the latest scientific equipment.

At that moment I felt like a little boy who shows off with his favorite toy.

But the Home on Hillside Avenue is more than a communal toy. I like to think of it as the home of people I know and like. People with names, and pasts, and thoughts, and day dreams like you and I.

Whenever I go up the steps to the front door of the Home, I think of it as the home of a scholarly gentleman who lost his eyesight. I knew him these past twenty-odd years. Many were the talks we had on political issues, on social values, on literature, on philosophies of living.

I remember him when he attended conferences and meetings, lectures and debates, in the halls of the Workmen's Circle building on Benefit Street, when the world—our world—was young, and idealism was in the air. Now he is making his home on Hillside Avenue. And it is good to know that in his affliction my friend found a comfortable dwelling place.

To me the Home is the home of a lady who has transformed her room into a workshop. Though bed-ridden most of the time now, she is constantly busy with her knitting needles, making colorful tray covers, attractive glass holders, and other bits of knitting which she displays proudly like an artist exhibiting his creative efforts.

Into her knitting this lady spins her dreams and her memories. Once upon a time she was on the membership lists of many a charitable society in the city. Her name appears on the charter of the Home which is now her home and her shop. This is not an institution to her. She is at home.

And what does this lady do with the proceeds from her knitting? Regularly she turns over to the funds of the Home a sum of money, the profits of her little enterprise. It is good, then, that this fine lady finds a comfortable, friendly home, in the days of her need, at 99 Hillside Avenue.

Every time I go up to the third floor of the Home I expect to find a little lady with the brightest twinkle in her eyes, sitting on the bench near the elevator reading her newspaper. If she is not there to welcome me with her smile and hand shake, I am disappointed.

Here is a lady who in her active days held responsible positions with one of Rhode Island's great business houses. She has a long Israel Rosenberg's new Yiddish comedy drama, "Wild Youth," which stars Max Kletzer, the romantic singer, at The Parkway Theatre, in Brooklyn, an interest-arrester . . . span of life behind her, but her mind is as keen, and her memory as fresh, as that of a younger woman. She keeps in touch with local and national developments, and her observations and comments on people and events are always striking.

She is a store house of information about a Providence of a past era, and she speaks of family histories and relationships of our earliest settlers as if they happened only yesterday. How often do I regret that I have not the time to sit with her and listen to her recollections! They are invaluable to an understanding of the growth of our city.

But every time I see her on the bench near the elevator with that ready smile, I am glad that she found the peace and warmth and the shelter of a home at the Home on Hillside Avenue.

There are others, your friends and mine, whose address is 99 Hillside. Every one of them is a complete world, and that world is safe and protected within the walls of the Home. We want them to feel safe and comfortable and wanted.

I thought of all this when the president of the Ladies Association of the Home called to remind me of the Spring Festival. I was glad to add my mite, helping in the program, as I did these past few years.

The annual Festival of the Association is for a good purpose, and merits your attention. Look up the date and the place, and plan to be there. You will help the Ladies Association bring that comfort and home-like warmth to your friends and mine at the Home. This the ladies did excellently in the past. Let them continue to do so.

JFCS Guidance Is Instrumental In 'Reuniting' Youngster, Parents

This is the second in a series by the Jewish Family and Children's Service. The agency provides family counselling, foster home placement and adoption service. It is a Red Feather agency and receives its entire budget from the Providence Community Fund. Questions, pertaining to any of the material presented or for further information regarding the services offered by the Jewish Family and Children's Service, may be directed to the editor.

We first learned about Johnny six months ago. He was doing poorly in school—so poorly that his teacher feared he would not pass. His teacher, being a warm, sensitive person, was upset by Johnny's behavior because she saw him change from a well-mannered, good student to a surly, unhappy child. Rather than push him aside as a troublemaker, she called in his mother.

Johnny's mother welcomed the opportunity to talk to the teacher for she too could not comprehend what had taken place in her son. The result of the parent-teacher conference was that the Jewish Family and Children's Service was called upon for service. Perhaps to many in the community, there might be question as to the ability of the Jewish Family and Children's Service to be of help in a situation involving emotional difficulties. We hope that this presentation will be informative to those who are not acquainted with the counselling services offered by the agency.

At the first appointment, a social worker outlined to Johnny's mother just how the agency operates. For example, Johnny's mother learned that weekly interviews would be arranged wherein she and Johnny would come into the agency to talk matters over and in that way gain some understanding about the drastic changes of behavior that were taking place with Johnny.

For the first three weeks, Johnny did not talk to his social worker about himself or his relationship with his family. Instead, he utilized the playroom as a sort of testing ground to outwit his opponent. As the social worker put it, "... Johnny seemed to be watching for false moves." One day, Johnny deliberately destroyed a toy, then proceeded to smash his fist through a finger painting which he had just completed. He did this for no apparent reason. When the case worker did not react, Johnny was really upset. He was ready for battle, but nothing happened. After a prolonged silence, Johnny finally broke down and smiled and said "You're a pretty tough guy, aren't you? You are different from a lot of people I know." From that point on, his relationship was no longer strained. Johnny told without hesitation what he was experiencing at home. He felt bewildered, as he was no longer close to his parents. They seemed to be impatient and irritable with him, making him feel as if he were in their way. These attitudes were new to Johnny because he always felt wanted. He could not tell his parents these things because now he felt that they were distant. He knew that his behavior at school was bad, but there was something in him that made him act that way.

Johnny's case worker was a good listener and he realized all along that Johnny's folks were basically good and honest. With this in mind, he had to clearly establish with Johnny that his parents were perhaps experiencing difficulties themselves and didn't know how their attitudes were affecting their son. Johnny gradually began to realize that now both his mother and father were coming to the agency to discuss the very thing that Johnny was.

It was only a matter of weeks before Mr. and Mrs. Axt (a fictitious name) went through the same process as Johnny. Initially, they had feared that they would be criticized and condemned for being poor parents. They soon realized that their case workers were objective in their attitudes. In fact, they were both told that their interest, which was being demonstrated by coming to the agency, indicated that they wanted to do something about their situation.

Both parents opened their hearts to the worker and told what was causing the friction between them. It seemed different when they both faced it openly. In the interviewing offices, they began to see things in an unbiased fashion. Their source of irritability was soon resolved.

Actually the worker had not given any interpretations. Mr. and Mrs. Axt had gained understanding through the experience of their relationship with the agency and they, themselves, realized where they had erred. Prior to contacting the agency, they had lost their ability to share things freely and openly. Instead, they began to repress and keep down the source of their difficulties. Now they realized they could not sit on this energy. It was healthy to talk things over in the good old-fashioned way.

Johnny immediately sensed a change in his parents. There was no need for explanations because now all three accepted each other. The Jewish Family and Children's Service was a helpful medium for the Axts. Now they are together again, living harmoniously and ready to face family problems together, frankly and honestly, rather than attempting to hide the facts.

About six months after the Axt family stopped coming to the agency, they sent a letter to the

Israeli Night Club Bankrupt

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—The nation's only Israeli night club, last week filed a petition declaring bankruptcy, the first step in a reorganization plan which may bring Jewish dietary observance to the Habibi Cafe here.

Co-owners of the Habibi and their wives, Leo and Max Nemiroff, estimated liabilities at $46,914 in their statement of bankruptcy. An arbitrary figure of $5,525 was cited as comprising assets.

A spokesman for the cafe, a maiden attempt to transplant Israeli night life to the U. S., told the American Jewish Press that the filing of the petition of bankruptcy under the Chandler Act did not mean the club would cease operation.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "we're planning an expansion. First, however, we want to clean up liabilities and make certain that the operation of the club remains in the hands of the present owners."

One of the chief beefs in the club's operation—its non-kosher kitchen—might possibly face an overhauling in the "new plans." It was learned that Zionist groups have urged the cafe to expand its facilities to include several dining and meeting halls serving kosher meals in an Israeli atmosphere.

In retrospect, the case workers feel that they have prevented a family breakdown. Johnny could easily have become a juvenile delinquent or a very disturbed individual if he had not been referred by an understanding teacher to the agency. His parents would have suffered. From this early referral case work help was effective. This would apply to any illness, for we know that early detection brings results.

The Jewish Family and Children's Service is a community agency, ready to serve all groups or individuals with problems similar to the one that the Axt family experienced. Anyone desiring information regarding appointments for counselling may telephone DE 1-1244.

WE APPEAL

to YOU to assist us in our drive to educate our children in the principles of Judaism

This Sunday Morning, Feb. 24th

we shall inaugurate a campaign to solicit funds to complete our TALMUD TORAH classrooms, and also to provide for text books and teachers.

Our committee of volunteer workers IS NOT large enough to call on every Jewish family. Therefore, we are appealing to you to make your donation for this worthy cause by mailing your contribution to the General Chairman of the Beth-David Talmud Torah Committee.

Our Bible tells us that the MOST WORTHY of all charities is Talmud Torah.

REMEMBER—The children of today will be the Leaders of Tomorrow.

Please help us to provide facilities for their education.

Very fine, sifted dry bread crumbs may be used instead of potato flour. Taste gravy before removing from fire to make sure no taste of raw flour remains.

Groucho's Grumpy,
Bigots Get Brushoff
In Real-Life Drama

NEW YORK CITY (AJP)—A top Jewish comedian's real-life encounter with bigotry and the comic's double-barrelled retort was rated here this week by showman Eddie Cantor as the top impromptu witticism cracked in his 40 years in show business.

Cantor, speaking before 1,900 guests at the $1,000-per-plate Israel Bond birthday party tendered in his honor, dubbed funnyman Groucho Marx the dispenser of his favorite trigger retort.

Marx, according to Cantor, was motoring with his family near Santa Monica on a vacation last summer and stopped off at a swank country club in search of lodgings and a swim in the place's pool. Hurried whispers between the hostel's managers and Marx was told that a "select clientele" policy was maintained by the club.

"Well," came back Marx without the slightest hesitation, "I'm Jewish, but my wife isn't. That makes my kids only half Jewish. Can't they go into the water up to their knees?"

With that, Marx and his family walked out.

The last time you picked up your telephone, where did you call? The drugstore? Office? Grocer? Garage? Hairdresser? A friend?

Your call, to any one of these local places, cost you only a few cents, yet it saved you time, steps, or a possible trip in the car.

A BIGGER VALUE THAN EVER

Your telephone is one of the outstanding conveniences of our modern way of life. Today, it's a bigger value than ever.

As in all businesses, rising costs have meant higher rates, yet today, with the increases in costs of so many things greater than telephone rate increases, the average telephone bill actually takes a smaller part of the family budget than it did 10 years ago.

by Louis Sacarovitz
Aaron Siegal rolled high for the week with 103 and 100. Kotlen bowled 111 and Sam Jacobs 109. Team No. 2 won two games out of three from Team No. 1 which puts them two games behind Team No. 1. Team No. 3 also took two games out of three from Team No. 4.
Kotlen and Siegal are still tied for second place with a 93 individual average. Ben Swerling and Bert Reffkin are also tied for fourth place with an 87 individual average. Another tie for sixth place is between Millman and Jacobs with an 84 individual average.

FINEMAN-TRINKLE
by Jack Jacobson
"Every (Under) Dog Has Its Day," and this was especially true this past week as almost every lower team pulled an upset by defeating the favored first division teams.
Don Cohen (359) and Murray Gordon (344) have been the mainstays throughout the season for the Tigers and all they ever needed was a little more help from a third team member; this week they seemed to have found it in the person of Morris Satioff who put together 127-110-120 for a 357 total. This exceptional score came at a most opportune time as it was the main factor in setting a new league high team three of 1646.

In the American league Harold Golden's White Sox still lead and in the National league Lou Millen's Phillies and Harry Goldberg's Reds are tied for first but the race is now so unexpectedly bunched that no more than 11 points separate the teams in each division.
Better 3 string totals: Mort Klbanoff 332, Gene Aronson and Arnold Kleinman 326, Lew Kaplan and Harold Golden 322, Max Cohen Jr. 317, Les Friedman 314, Marty Zawatsky and Sam Feldman 312, Billy Edelman, Art Pivnick and Irv Schaeffer 310, Reeve Zatliff and Mel Wasserman 307, Harry Shore 305, Gerry Kent 303, Harvey Stein, Morris Factor, Cookie White and Charlie Steingold 301.

Higher single strings were: Phil Feldman, Alan Silverman and Phil Shaulson 112, Norm Bernstein and Jerry Ruben 110, Norm The New Miriam Hospital will have electric dumb waiters from service areas to patients' areas, assuring quick delivery of equipment.

Gordon 108, Sam Miller, George Feldman and Gene Silverman 106, Nate Gordon and Len Summer 104, Murray Zuckerman, Lenney Levin and Joe Fishbein 103.

BETH-EL BOWLING
by Joe Gutterball
Kegling quintets captained by Lou Feldman and Mal Mickler continued to set the pace after last week's session.
In the race for high average, Vin DeCesaris, Allie Shatkin and Murray Trinkle remained at the top. DeCesaris rolled high single and three, 148 and 396. Trinkle turned in a 354 pinfall with a 127 single. Shatkin came up with a 338 score and a high string of 123.

Other high scores were Nat Alterman 344, Herby Pierstone 331, Manny Fishbein and Elliot Olevson 329, Dick Barber 326, Dr. Bud Lewis 325, and Perry Shatkin 323.

CRANSTON MEN'S
by Phil Chopak
Charlie Strauss' Dodgers suffered their first shutout of the season, at the hands of Ben Lerner's Giants, and lost their long hold on first place. Seymour Kriss' Pirates lost a 3-1 decision to Ed Berman's Phils but managed to squeeze into first place on the lone win, while Moe Bernstein's Tigers dropped another four-punter to Ben Mellion's Indians and dropped back to third place in a tie with Joe Potemkin's Yanks who took an easy 4-0 verdict from Walt Schwartz' Cubs.
Harold Warren set a new three string record of 389, as he rolled strings of 140, 118 and 131 to better his old mark by three pins. Al Samdperil's 356 enabled Bob Baker's Red Sox to split with Joe Agar's Athletics, while Moe Filler, with 341, was top man for Al Silverstein's Senators as they took a 3-1 match from Sam Feingold's Cards. Moe Kessler was high man for the losers with 325. Joe Potemkin collected 326, Al Levy 325, Nate Schwartz 324, and Bernie Wexler 320. Moe Cofman rolled 319, Ben Mellion 317, and Henry Stampel, Max Levy and Ed Feinberg 315.

Max Broomfield rolled a single of 131, Moe Bernstein 121, Ed Lang 116, Dan Kouffman and Irv Berenbaum 113, Bill Deitch and Nate Honig 114, and Dave Hoffman 112. Jim Abeshaus and Hal Aven rolled double strikes and each posted 111 for that string. Phil Chopak scored 110, Ira Davis 108, Ernie Namerow and Ben Lerner 107, Ken Sacket and Art Seigel 106.

EMANUEL BOWLING
By Sid Green

The Pirates took the Yanks 4-0 as Nussenfeld paced his team with a 118 single and 325 triple. Al A. Chase was the Yank leader with 111 and 313. Henry Markoff broke the high three record with 139, 132 and 130 for a fine 401 as the Cards finally broke their slump and won 4-0 over the Braves. Freedman's 116 and 305 and Blazar's 112 and 305 helped Henry to the win.

In a close match the Giants beat the Browns 3-1. Frank Goldstein had 117 and 336 followed by Jagoliner 125 and 326 and Wintman 120 and 312. Howie Cohen again led the Brownie attack with 125 and 328. Faber 312 and Dave Ettine 311 led the losers.
Sherman Price had another fine night with 129, 122, 120 for 371 as the Indians boosted their regained lead to 4 points over the Brownies. Joe Waldman rolled 108, 117, 125 for 350. Len Waldman helped the cause along with a 126 single. The skin twins of the Cubs helped salvage the one point in the 1-3 loss as Leo (without hair) Miller rolled a 140 single and 356 three and Dick (Curly-head) Chase rolled 127, 115, 111 for 353.

Myles Goldberg 123, 127 and 350, and Milt Price 119, 121 and 329 led the Reds to a 4-0 win over the White Sox. Abe Press posted 111 and 322 for the White Sox.

rolled 134 and 346 and was helped by Simons' single of 119 and trio of 307. The Red Sox leader was Solmer with 114 and 309. Chernak 307 and Al Chase 306 had exercise.
Noah Miller paced the third place Athletics to a 3-1 win over the luckless Dodgers with 112 and 324. Babe Chase had 127 and 316, Paynor 129 and 311 and Murray Davis 111 and 314. Jerry Miller 117 and 117 and 327 led the Dodger captain Bill Gorainick to a 122 and 331 in a losing cause.

Lazarus with 346 and B. Labush with 345, of fifth place Liberty, knocked off top team Loyalty for four games, and put them only two games over second place Unity. Security took three from Justice and is only one game behind for third spot.

A few high threes were Katz 316, Smith 307, Jaffa 306 and Kitze 305. Singles were Sklaroff 112, Levins 122, Gladstone 111, J. Connis 102 and Mayberg 101.

Kayla Jagoliner bowled a triple spare on her last string to run up a score of 122. Gert Charon and Selma Dubey each bowled a strike on a spare, Gert for a total of 110 and Selma 90.

This week is notable for a large number of high scores. Doris Kirshenbaum rolled 116. Sippy Kessler 113, Charlotte Cofman 108, Jeanette Silverstein 105, Bertha Davis 101, Bea Sydney 100, Charlotte White 99, Elayne Chopak 98, Norma Baker, Irene Messing, Fran Sadler and Cookie Schwartz 97, Isabel David and Sally Levy 96, Lil Silverman 95, Jo Berger, Hope Mellion, Fran Rodinsky, and Ethel Rose 93, Belle Feinberg, Gert Lang and Sylvia Sackett 91, Elaine Silk, Ruth Winkler and Harriet Zeidel 90.

Sports In Israel

We hear so much of the economic and individual hardships that are being endured by the people of Israel that it is both a relief and a source of satisfaction to note that an athletic and sports program is being conducted on the eastern shores of the Mediterranean Sea, even if it is limited, according to American standards.

Such a report came across this desk this week, and I pass it on as a matter of common interest. The story comes from the Hapoel Sports Organization—I was not aware Israel had any sports body of any kind—and reports that a sports festival will be held in Tel Aviv during the Passover holidays, April 11-18.

The program of events is divided in two parts, the first of which includes a "mobile gymnastic unit," mass calisthenics exercises at newly constructed Ramat Gan stadium, and folk dances performed by more than 800 dancers.

But wait! Before you wonder in disgust whether folk dancing is considered part of the sport program of the Hapoel, read on to the second part of the festival, and you find an encouraging list of competitive games that we all understand.

There are football (soccer) matches and basketball and light athletic contests, with several foreign countries sending teams for the competition. There will be championship battles in boxing, table tennis, gymnastics, bicycling and motorcycling.

In any case, this planned sports show represents progress for the Israelis in the field of athletics. We in the U. S. must remember that football as we play it is not popular in Europe and Asia. You may recall that a couple of squads of outstanding football players put on a demonstration game in France a few years ago before a large and very attentive audience. At the end of the game, the Frenchmen shrugged and left. They couldn't understand it. And they showed no interest in it.

Baseball is creeping up on the other continents. But it is still relatively new, the equipment is scarce, and nations like Israel can hardly be expected to show sufficient aptitude at it to include our national game on their sports curriculum.

The Israelis have it all over us, though, when they mention bike racing and motorcycling. Those of us who are old enough to remember when the bike races were held at the Cycledrome, where the drive-in theater now stands on North Main Street—and prior to that, at the Cranston oval, where Cranston Stadium is today—can attest that bike racing is hardly a sissy game.

The memories of the Cycledrome are flooding loose now. Those were the days when Francis Madonna and George Chapman and Alfred Letourneau and another host of now-forgotten names whirled around that track at a mad pace. The bike riders used to reel off better than 40 miles in the one-hour feature race on the weekly card.

Anybody around here who can challenge that today? The only exercise most of us get is pushing the gas and brake and clutch pedals of a car, and automatic drives are gradually eliminating even these mild leg muscle exercises.

Next time you take in a hockey game, look at the bulging hulk of linesman Art Lesieur, and try to imagine that here was one of the finest motor pacers of his day. Maybe that term is strange to you, but Dad ought to know it.

The motor pacers were motorcyclists who roared around the track while a bike race feature was getting started. As the bicyclists (with no braking gadgets on their pedals, incidentally) picked up sufficient speed, the motorcyclists would slow down, pick up their men and practically attach themselves to the bike's front wheel.

In that position—a motorcycle and a bicycle seemingly attached like two railroad cars—the race went on. The motorist paced his bike rider and led him around the track. The bike rider just bowed his head and pumped his legs, relying entirely on his escort for direction and, in part, rate of speed.

The rider merely stayed at the motorcycle's rear wheel. It was a thrill to see pacer and rider coordinate their efforts so flawlessly that no space appeared between them during the entire race. Altogether it was a fascinating spectacle, one that filled the Cycledrome every Friday night for many years.

So, if Israel has bike racing, that nation is ahead of us in at least one field of competitive endeavor.

Women's Bowling

Some time ago, this column mentioned that it would be willing to sponsor a women's bowling tournament along the lines of the annual men's affairs. Two leagues have expressed interest in the idea, and if these are the only outfits with sufficiently large bowling organizations to enter the competition, then they will fight it out for the championship. Meanwhile, the offer is still open to others, and a planning meeting will be held early in March in the Herald office.

Why not tell the little woman about it—unless you think she ought to be home to tell you where the can opener is once in a while.

Hospital Women Workers to Meet

Workers for the Miriam Hospital Women's Association Pediatric Equipment and Linen Shower will meet at the home of Mrs. Raymond T. Laurans, 482 Lloyd Avenue, Wednesday, Feb. 27 at 1:30 P. M.

Mrs. Daniel Miller, chairman, announces that plans for the shower will be completed at that time.

The organization has scheduled the event at the Narragansett Hotel, April 1, at 12:30 P. M.

There will be installed in the New Miriam Hospital thousands of feet of stainless steel counters and cabinets in treatment rooms, surgical areas, X-ray rooms, and laboratories.
