Brooklyn Hero, 22, Receives Posthumous Award of DSC

NEW YORK—America's second highest military award for bravery against the enemy was posthumously bestowed on the late Pfc. Lawrence Goldstein, 22-year-old infantryman, in ceremonies at Governor's Island here. The decoration, a Distinguished Service Cross, was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Goldstein of Brooklyn, parents of the hero, by Lieut. Gen. Willis Crittenden, First Army commanding general.

The Bureau of War Records of the National Jewish Welfare Board (JWB) reported that the late Pfc. Goldstein's DSC is the highest award conferred on a Jewish serviceman in the course of the Korean conflict. The DSC is second only to the Congressional Medal of Honor as an award for combat heroism.

Pfc. Goldstein's "extraordinary heroism in action," according to the citation which accompanied the award, took place last October at Heartbreak Ridge. Serving as point man in his unit's assault against heavily fortified enemy positions, he encountered and slew two hostile soldiers. They were manning a listening post and Goldstein eliminated them before they could give an alarm. Nearing the objective, however, he was gravely wounded, the sound of the fire alerting the foe. This resulted in a concentration of small arms and grenade fire on Goldstein's unit which was forced to withdraw.

Although rendered helpless by his wounds, the citation goes on, Goldstein roused himself to warn his comrades and point out the exact location of concealed enemy positions. He died while being moved to an aid station. "The heroic conduct and indomitable spirit of this outstanding soldier," the citation concludes, "will be an inspiration to those who knew him best."

Anti-Semites Name MacArthur

ST. LOUIS—The name of General Douglas MacArthur will be entered as a Presidential candidate in at least 19 states by Gerald L. K. Smith's anti-Semitic Christian Nationalist Party, it was announced here. So far General MacArthur has refused to repudiate the Party or its leader. The Party made known that it has already filed a slate of electors for the MacArthur ticket in Texas and Missouri. It is working now to put them on the ballot in other western and southern states.

Minister Raises Funds For UAHC

FORT SMITH, ARKANSAS—Rev. J. Harold Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has presented a check to Rabbi M. P. Mann of the United Hebrew Congregations here, the result of a one-man campaign he undertook among his co-religionists for contributions for the Hebrew Union College and the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

'Miss America' at Canal Fete in '86 Lives in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO — Sixty-six years ago, Dora Levy DeSola, then five years old, represented the United States at an historic ceremony. It was when Ferdinand de Lesseps visited Panama for ceremonies marking France's decision to build the Panama Canal, and a parade was held to mark the occasion.

The Levy family was the only United States family living in the area at the time, so Dora represented the United States in the parade. The noise, the bustle and the people alarmed the child and she shrank back. De Lesseps picked her up and held her in his arms.

Twenty years later, Mrs. DeSola, visiting an exhibition in New York, saw a waxworks portrait of the scene—Count de Lesseps holding up a little Miss America. Today that Miss America, now 71, is a resident of the Hebrew Home for the Aged Disabled here.

Israel to Receive 822 Million Damage

JERUSALEM — The Israeli Cabinet decided this week to accept about $822,000,000 damages from West Germany for Jewish losses and suffering at Nazi hands.

The Cabinet acted after receiving news that the West German Cabinet also had endorsed the agreement. Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett is expected to fly to Luxembourg at once to sign it with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany.

West Germany agreed to pay Israel about $715,000,000 in goods during the next twelve years. Some $107,000,000 worth in addition will be delivered to cover separate claims put forward on behalf of world Jews.

The type of goods selected for delivery includes prefabricated houses and equipment for farms and irrigation.

The full terms of the agreement have not yet been published.

Chaim Weizman Bedridden 9 Months

REHOVOT, Israel—Israel's President Chaim Weizmann has been making a valiant fight for his life from his home here overlooking the stately Judean hills. He has not left his room since he was stricken by pneumonia last November.

The London Jewish Chronicle correspondent Golda Zimmerman reports that President Weizmann is mainly confined to bed, dozing from weakness at long periods.

He is, by his own desire, kept fully informed of events in the State and again and again shows his deep concern for the future, and his full understanding of the knotty problems which must be unraveled.

Keen Humor
When he is fully conscious his humor is as keen, his charm as undimmed, and his courtesy as unflinching as ever they were in the past.

His sight does not permit him to read, even at such short times as his strength would make it possible. So his wife, Vera, reads to him from newspapers and books. She rarely goes out of their house nowadays and leaves her husband's bedside only to receive official visitors or old friends. Only she, her sister and brother-in-law, the President's sister, his doctor, and attendants are allowed in his room; he must be kept as quiet as possible and no risk may be taken that a chance remark from a visitor will in some way excite him.

Deal With Jews
Someone wishing to encourage him pointed out that Mr. Winston Churchill had also had pneumonia recently and fully recovered from it. Whereupon Dr. Weizmann replied: "Ah, yes, but I have had to deal with Jews all these years." Truly a stiff-necked people take greater toll of one's strength!

Hadassah Transfers Medical Facilities

JERUSALEM—Part of Hadassah's preventive medicine establishments was transferred this week to the Israel Government in a ceremony attended by the Minister of Health, Dr. Joseph Burg, and representatives of Hadassah. The women's organization will now have a greater area for clinical and medical school activities in Israel.

Woman Surgeon Conquers Handicap To Continue Career

NEW YORK — A 65-year-old woman surgeon who overcame the handicap of losing a leg, told of her fight to continue her career only because she wanted "to give some other handicapped person the courage to go back to work."

Dr. Emma Aronson lost her leg two years ago as a result of a thrombosis. Today, using a specially constructed chair, she is conducting a normal office practice and is performing surgery at the New York Infirmary. She is an attending gynecologist there.

A grandmother, Dr. Aronson keeps daily office hours. She has designed a special revolving chair with a seat that can be raised or lowered, an airplane strap and a back support that she uses while performing operations. Dr. Aronson is a native New Yorker. Her husband was a prominent neurologist.

Zionist Leaders Freed In Hungary

JERUSALEM — A number of Zionist leaders in Hungary, who had been sentenced to imprisonment two years ago, were released there last week after serving their prison terms, it was learned here. The release included Dr. Alexander Kertis and Irneh Frankfurter, leaders of the Mapam group in Hungary; Dr. Denish Bellah, a leader of the Mapai in Budapest; and Miriam Weiss and Menanem Peled.

Naguib Denies Egyptian War Plans

LONDON—General Mohammed Naguib, Egypt's military dictator, this week denied reports that the Egyptian Army wishes to launch another war against Israel and thereby avenge its defeat by the Israeli Army in 1948.

B'nai B'rith, AJC Delegates To Recommend Withdrawal

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—After seventeen hours of debate and caucusing that ended at 2:45 A. M., delegates to the tenth national assembly of the National Community Relations Advisory Council voted overwhelmingly for a redivision of responsibilities among Jewish groups and their community relations activities.

At the same time, leaders of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith announced that they would recommend to their respective bodies withdrawal from the council.

The recommendations, which will be made by Jacob Blaustein of Baltimore, president of the American Jewish Committee, and Frank Goldman of Lowell, Mass., president of B'nai B'rith, are tantamount to withdrawal. Executive groups of both organizations have indicated that they will support the recommendations.

Through the long debate the committee and the league had protested against a plan that they contended would curb their activities in the fields of civil rights, labor, veterans, inter-religious and intercultural programs, and would expand the community relations council from an advisory and coordinating body to a functional group in charge of program planning.

Fund-Raising an Issue

It was explained that the final action brought into sharp focus the question of fund-raising and that American Jewish communities would face the question of which group to support. The American Jewish Committee and the league, through its fund-raising arm, the Joint Defense Appeal, conduct campaigns in New York and Chicago but receive support from welfare funds throughout the country.

The council, which ended its assembly this afternoon, is the advisory body of six major Jewish national organizations and twenty-seven local groups. The six are the American Jewish Committee, Anti-Defamation League, Jewish War Veterans of the United States, American Jewish Congress, Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Jewish Labor Committee.

In a strong appeal for the American Jewish Committee and the league to remain within the community relations council, Irving Kane of Cleveland, re-elected council chairman, emphasized that it would continue to function. The delegates overwhelmingly approved a resolution calling for the creation of more Jewish community councils and for bringing these groups within the national council.

Calls for 'Common Sense'

Speaking directly to the delegations of the American Jewish Committee and the league after many hours of argument, Mr. Kane said:

"You are escaping from the only instrument that the American Jewish community has ever forged which has some possibility for bringing about some degree of common sense in the field of work, the only instrument which we have that provides for some degree of fellowship in this field of work and the only instrument which preserves, and yes, protects your autonomy."

The revised edition of the original evaluative studies report, calling for reallocation of functions, was approved by a vote of 54 to 17, with six abstentions. Of the six major national groups, only the American Jewish Committee and the league voted against the recommendation.

To prevent duplication, the report had called for redivision of functions. This report recommended that the American Jewish Committee and the league yield their labor program to the Jewish Labor Committee, religious activities to Jewish religious groups, veterans' projects to the Jewish War Veterans, and legislative work in civil liberties to the American Jewish Congress.

Supervision Proposed

Under the revised plan, drawn by Joseph Barr of the Jewish War Veterans, the American Jewish Committee and the league would have been permitted to carry on their activities but in cooperation with other groups and within the framework of the Community Relations Council.

Mr. Blaustein said the revised plan, in essence, followed the lines of the evaluative studies report and termed it "unsatisfactory." He said that the plan "violates our principles and infringes on the autonomy of this organization."

In the names of their respective organizations, rejection of the plan was announced by Mr. Blaustein of the American Jewish Committee and Mr. Goldman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Both agencies presented counter-proposals to create joint operating committees working outside the jurisdiction of the community relations council. These proposals were rejected by the conference.

The approved evaluative studies report, designed to prevent duplication of activities, was prepared in 1951 by Prof. Robert M. MacIver, Columbia University sociologist.

Re-elected at the council's closing sessions were Sidney Hollander, Baltimore, and Bernard H. Trager, Bridgeport, Conn., vice-chairmen; Julian A. Kaisre, Indianapolis, secretary; David L. Ullman, Philadelphia, treasurer, and Isalah M. Minkoff, New York, executive director.

Senatorial Rivals To Appear on B'nai B'rith Program

Roger Williams Lodge, B'nai B'rith will open his program season with the rival candidates for election to the U. S. Senate, Democratic Sen. John O. Pastore and Republican Rep. Bayard Rustin, as principal speakers.

The program will take place on Thursday, Oct. 16 at Plantations Club auditorium.

Abraham Belllove, vice-president and program chairman of the Lodge, who made the announcement, pointed out that the appearance of the two candidates will occur barely three weeks before election. Belllove added that it is thought that the B'nai B'rith program will mark the only time during the political campaign that Sen. Pastore and Rep. Rustin will appear on the same platform on the same evening.

Israeli War Hero Dies At 62

JERUSALEM—One of Israel's greatest war heroes, Brigadier General Itzhak Sadeh, died in Petach Tikva last Wednesday after a long illness. He was 62 years old. General Sadeh, who was one of the leaders of the underground Haganah and founder of the striking force Palmah, achieved his greatest triumphs in Israel's war with the Arabs when he relieved the small settlement of Mishmar Haemek in the plain of Armageddon, which was besieged by superior Arab forces in 1948, and the capture of Lydda Airport at the head of an armored column.

Condones Amnesty

VIENNA — The United States Government does not object to Austrian amnesty measures for Nazis as such but insists that compensation must first be paid to Nazi victims. This was the reply given by Acting United States Commissioner Walter Dowling this week to a delegation of the League of Independents, a neo-Nazi group, who argued strongly in favor of the pro-Nazi amnesty laws passed recently by the Austrian parliament to the detriment of Jewish victims of Nazism.

Agency to Promote Vocational Placement

PHILADELPHIA—A campaign to encourage employers in the area to make greater use of the Jewish Employment and Vocational Service's placement department will be launched here this fall.

Employers need to be informed that the limitations and handicaps of some agency clients have no effect on their employability, Robert T. Cutler, vice president of the board, said here. Benjamin S. Loewenstein, board president, said that as long as there was need, the community had to maintain social services. He pointed out that the costs were reduced when individuals become self-supporting in jobs.

The major difficulty currently is not in the placement of skilled help, but in promoting more jobs at the unskilled and trainee level, Saul S. Leshner, executive director of the vocational service, reported. He said the big task was to find "beginning jobs in a variety of fields and enable willing and able people to gain a foothold in the work world."

The campaign will be conducted by a volunteer organization active in several industries, aided by a women's volunteer corps to do field work.

Knesset Backs Israel Government

JERUSALEM—A Mapam-Communist move to discredit the Israel Government in the Knesset this week worked in reverse and resulted in a resounding vote of confidence in the Government on its Western alignment. The Mapam-Communist group moved non-confidence in the Government "because of their obligations to the United States." Government moves to obtain arms in the United States, the leftist bloc charged, would put Israel in the anti-Soviet camp.

Simon-Rosenfield

Miss Anna Rosenfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Rosenfield of Ruggles Street, became the bride of Joseph B. Simon, son of Mrs. Goldie Simon of Gay Street, Aug. 24 at Congregation Beth-David. Rabbi George B. Schwartz performed the candlelight ceremony. A reception and buffet luncheon followed. Guests were present from New York, New Jersey, Waltham, Lynn, Lawrence and Swampscott, Mass.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white satin gown en train. Her veil fell from a cap studded with pearls. She carried a white Bible decorated with a white orchid and streamers of stephanotis.

Mrs. Milton L. Sherman, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue nylon tulle. Miss Sarah Simon, sister of the groom, maid of honor, was dressed in a gown of shrimp net. Both carried cascades of matching flowers. Ann Silver of New York was flower girl. She wore pink taffeta and carried a miniature cascade.

Milton L. Sherman, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Gerald S. Sherman, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a blue nylon gown with lace and pearl-studded neckline. The mother of the groom was attired in navy blue lace over fuscina taffeta. Both wore orchids.

After a wedding trip to Montreal the couple will reside at 133 Radcliffe Avenue.

Epstein-Wenkart

Miss Henny Wenkart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herman Wenkart of Corinth Street, became the bride of Henry David Epstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Epstein of Larch Street, Sunday evening at Temple Beth El.

Rabbi William G. Braude and

Eli A. Bohnen performed the 8:30 P. M. ceremony, assisted by Cantor Jacob Hohenemser. A reception followed.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace and nylon net over satin. Her veil, attached to a lace Dutch cap, ended in a lace and net train. She carried a cascade of roses and stephanotis.

Miss Eleanor Wenkart, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. William G. Braude was matron of honor.

Sheldon Heller was best man. Ushers were Fred Barr, George Berstein, Martin Fiderer, Ernest Greenberg, Irving Silverman, Edward Spindell, Dr. Lloyd Spindell and Bruno Stein.

After a wedding trip to Quebec and the Gaspe Peninsula, the couple will reside at 456 Beacon Street, Boston.

Kopits Have Son

Returns from Europe

Miss Fredlyn Kovitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kovitch of 41 Verndale Avenue recently returned from a three months tour in France, Italy and England. She will resume her position with the English Department of Brown University.

Applebaum-Schwartz

Miss Rosalyn Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Z. Schwartz of Chester Avenue, became the bride of Maurice J. Applebaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Applebaum of Angell Street, on Aug. 31 at the Church Hill House. Rabbi Morris Schussheim officiated at the candlelight ceremony, which was followed by a reception.

The bride was attired in a white Chantilly lace gown with bouffant skirt en train and a cowl neckline decorated with lace petals and rhinestones. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a Bible marked with an orchid and stephanotis streamers.

Matrons of honor were Mrs. Elliot Revkin and Mrs. Leonard Levin, the bride's sisters. Elaine and Barbara Revkin, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

Charles Friedman, cousin of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Dr. Abraham Schwartz and Morris Schwartz, brothers of the bride; Leonard Levin, Herbert Frank, Arnold Schaffer, Howard Goldblatt, Sanford Cohen, Bertram Forman, Bernard Wasserman and Morton Gross.

After a wedding trip to upper New York State, the couple will reside at 29 Chester Avenue.

Rosenfield-Genser
In a double-ring candlelight ceremony, Miss Sandra Janeth Genser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Genser of Elmway Street, became the bride of Alvin Rosenfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rosenfield of Sargent Avenue, on Sunday, Aug. 31. Rabbi Morton Berkowitz performed the ceremony in the Indian Room of the Narragansett Hotel. A reception and dinner followed.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a white ballerina gown, styled with an imported lace bodice, basque waist and nylon tulle skirt. Her veil was caught to a nylon tulle crown embroidered with pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book marked with orchids and stephanotis streamers.

Mrs. Sidney Nulman, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was light green and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Barbara Rosenfield, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a red tulle gown and carried red roses. Miss Abbye Sheila Zitserman, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Her gown was light blue and her bouquet was of mixed roses.

The mother of the bride was gowned in ice-blue satin, and the mother of the groom chose a rose gown. Both wore orchids.

Tommy Rosenfield was best man for his brother.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside on Adelaide Avenue.

Klansmen Now Are "Confederate Army"

RICHMOND, Va.—The Richmond "Times-Dispatch" reported this week that the Ku-Klux-Klan is about to emerge in Virginia under a new name, that of the "American Confederate Army."

Klansmen will discard the traditional masks and robes and hoods for confederate caps and neckties bearing the flag of the Confederacy. Bill Hendrix, Grand Dragon of the Florida Klan, said he abandoned plans to re-activate the Klan in Virginia because of "all that trouble in North Carolina" (where Klansmen were prosecuted under a Federal indictment). A number of confederate "colonels" have already been enlisted in Virginia and activation will be under way shortly, Hendrix stated.

Celebrate Silver Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. MORRIS LECHT of 57 Radcliffe Avenue, who were honored at a 25th wedding anniversary party given by their children Sunday, August 31 at Congregation Sons of Jacob. Guests were present from New York, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Sons of Abraham Holiday Services

Congregation Sons of Abraham will inaugurate the High Holy Day season with Selichoth services tomorrow at midnight. Rabbi Abraham Chill will deliver the sermon on "A Book of Life and What It Means."

Services for Rosh Hashanah will begin next Friday evening at 6:45 P. M. On Saturday and Sunday services will begin at 7 A. M. Rabbi Chill's sermon Saturday will be on "The Jew Looks at the World Problem and Offers A Solution;" and on Sunday his topic will be "Long Years or Long Life—There Is A Difference." Both sermons will be at 9:30 A. M.

The Congregation will hold separate Junior Congregation services during the Holidays for children from 10 to 14 years of age. These services will be held in the chapel, under the direction of Bernard Barasch, newly engaged Sunday School principal.

Blame Jews For Atom Bomb Spying

BOSTON—Jewish scientists who were connected with the Manhattan Project which produced the atom bomb and a "Jewish-ridden Board governing the Atomic Energy Commission for three treasonable years" were responsible for the atomic spy activity, according to a pamphlet which is being widely distributed in the Boston area by the Gerald L. K. Smith organization and by other anti-Semitic groups. The pamphlet, "Atom Treason," is by Frank Britton, former University of California student.

Auerbach Witness Guilty of Perjury

BONN—A Munich architect, Karl Diekow, whose testimony was instrumental in the conviction and sentencing of the late Philip Auerbach for embezzling funds of the Bavarian State Restitutions Office, was sentenced this week to one year's imprisonment for perjury in another case. During the Auerbach trial Dr. J. Klibansky, Auerbach's lawyer, had drawn to the attention of the prosecutors that a perjury case was pending against one of the principal prosecution witnesses. The prosecutors, however, preferred not to advise the judges about it.

HUNGARIAN JEWS SUFFER TEL AVIV — Middle-class elements find it almost impossible to live in Hungary today, 112 Hungarian Jews reported on their arrival here. The new arrivals said that 70 per cent of the 100,000 Jews remaining in Hungary had applied for Israel visas.

EXPANDS RESEARCH SAN FRANCISCO—An extended program of surgical research will be undertaken by Mt. Sinai Hospital here, it was announced this week. The hospital board has voted funds to expand the hospital's research facilities and the U. S. Public Health Service has granted a further $10,800 for research in cardiac surgery at the hospital by Dr. Sanford Leeds. The federal agency has so far made grants of $35,000 for work on a "mechanical heart" by Dr. Leeds.

Protest Austrian Pro-Nazi Laws

OTTAWA—In a protest against the pro-Nazi laws passed recently in Austria at the expense of Jewish victims of Nazism, the Canadian Jewish Congress has urged the Canadian Government to use its good office with members of the Allied Council in Austria, requesting them to withhold their consent to these laws. A similar memorandum was submitted this week in Buenos Aires to the Argentine Government by a delegation of the DAIA, central representative body of Argentine Jewry.

RABBI MORRIS COHEN

Rabbi Cohen will officiate at the High Holy Days services at Congregation Ahavath Sholom, Samuel H. Orenstein, president, announced this week.

Rabbi Cohen, of Brooklyn, N. Y., received his Rabbinic ordination in June 1951 from Yeshiva University, and is now working toward a doctorate degree at Yeshiva Graduate School.

Holiday Services

At Temple Emanuel

Rosh Hashanah Services at Temple Emanuel will begin Friday evening, Sept. 19, at 6:45 P. M. This will be a joint service of the three Holyday congregations within Temple Emanuel. Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen will speak on "The Real Approach." Cantor Jacob Hohenemser will chant the services, assisted by the choir under the direction of Arthur Einstein.

On Saturday and Sunday mornings, services will be conducted in the Main Synagogue, the Temple Vestry, and at Froebel Hall, beginning at 8:30 A. M.

In the Main Synagogue on Saturday morning Rabbi Bohnen will preach on "When Words Fail." In the Vestry Rabbi Saul Kraft will preach on "The Will To Learn." Rabbi Samuel H. Dresner will be the preacher at Froebel Hall, speaking on "God's Judgment."

On Tuesday morning Rabbi Bohnen will speak in the Vestry on "The Old Fashioned View." Rabbi Kraft will be the preacher in the Main Synagogue on "America's Lost Virtue—The Freedom to be Free." Rabbi Dresner will again occupy the pulpit at Froebel Hall speaking on "Israel."

Cantor Hohenemser will chant all the Services in the Main Synagogue, assisted by the Choir. Cantor Louis Ainsberg will officiate in the Vestry, and at Froebel Hall Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen will chant the services with Mrs. Sherwin J. Kapstein at the organ.

The Herald's deadline for news items is Tuesday noon. We cannot guarantee to insert stories received after that time.

At Froebel Hall

RABBI SAMUEL H. DRESNER
Rabbi Dresner will conduct Temple Emanuel High Holiday services at Froebel Hall with Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen. He is director of Hillel activities at the College of the City of New York.

Classrooms Open

Rhode Island's Hebrew and Sunday Schools are once again opening their doors to our area's children, many of whom continued their studies this past summer on a part-time basis in camps or through informal education programs here.

For the most part, however, the doors will open on classrooms that have remained silent for many months and that will take up with the gusto of new experience the voices of students mumbling their lessons. It is fitting that these opening sessions should be timed with the celebration of Jewish Education Month, the observance of which began this week.

The celebration concerns itself with the most vital aspect of American Jewry's progressive existence—the manner and means of educating Jewish youth, the phalanx of tomorrow's community. The problem of such education takes precedence over every other. In the face of what has been recognized as a general trend toward Judaization, Jewish parents ought doubly regard the necessity of making their young a religiously-conscious people able to find a spiritual harbor in an increasingly complex world.

There may be legitimate argument over the varying methods employed to carry on the tradition of our ancient Jewish heritage. But there can be no cause for dispute over the value of Jewish education, as such. The confusion of method and necessity must never be permitted to lead to ethical-religious sterility.

We welcome the opening of their doors and the ringing of their classroom bells. We hail, simultaneously, Jewish Education Month and the ideals it seeks to advance.

Broadway Tales

By BEN FEINGOLD

WAR RAGES ON BROADWAY

Broadway all agog over the savage feud going on between Walter Winchell and the controversial radio broadcaster, Barry (Bernard Green) Gray. Winchell blasted Barry's restaurant sponsor for an alleged OPS violation seven days in a row. Gray, on his first day back from vacation, leveled a forty-minute blast at Winchell that fairly sizzled the ears of listeners.

If Winchell were listening his ears must have turned redder than a beet suffering from high blood pressure.

JEWISH-NAMED CHAMP ITALIAN

Add Broadway Truisms: "Early to bed—and early to rise—and your gal goes out with the other guys" . . . The square tags of the comedy team of Al Kelly and Joey Adams are: Albert Kalish and Joey Abrams, respectively . . . Remember Sammy Mandell the former lightweight champion? A lot of folks thought he was Jewish, but he wasn't. He was of Italian descent, his correct name being Sammy Mondello . . . Dr. Edward Schindler is a well-known Brooklyn podiatrist, but not many folks know he fought under the name of Eddie Shannon three decades ago, meeting, among others, Johnny Kilbane, Benny Leonard and Rocky Kansas . . . Sunday nite, we overheard a Broadway chorine bragging to a friend—"I'm really going places. I've got something on the ball—and something on the boss."

NON-JEW SINGS KOL NIDRE

Thoughts to Remember: When we can't make light of our troubles—we should keep them in the dark . . . The new Israeli film—"Two Thousand and Three," stars Mical Geri, daughter of Yaacob Geri, Israel's Minister of Trade & Industry . . . Pianist Hazel Scott, scheduled for a tour of Israel in the fall. This time she'll play her solo pieces and also front a band . . . Vittorio Gassman, Shelley Winters' husband, played the lead in the superb Italian film drama five years ago, titled: "The Wandering Jew" . . . In the forthcoming flicker, "The Jazz Singer," you'll hear Danny Thomas sing Kol Nidre in sensational fashion. Danny is a devout Roman Catholic . . . Abe Cohen, the Delancey Street sage, notes that opportunity knocks once, the postman twice—and the critic all the time!

Truman May Attend JWB Conclave

WASHINGTON—President Truman indicated this week that he may address the Jewish Welfare Board's Second Annual Leadership Mobilization for GIs and Community Service which opens in Washington on Oct. 17. He told this to JWB leaders who called at the White House.

Sam Gershovitz, JWB executive vice-president, reported that the President had said he would be "very happy" to accept the invitation, provided his commitments "as a man in the ranks of the Democratic Party" in pre-election activity would permit him to do so. Gershovitz and Phil Schiff, JWB's Washington representative, talked with the President for about 15 minutes. They discussed the work of the JWB in its widespread program of morale and spiritual services.

"One Man's Opinion"

BY BERYL SEGAL

The Teacher, the Strip-Tease Dancer, and We

In my teaching days I have known a goodly number of teachers. Even now, though no longer giving my full time to teaching, I feel at home among the members of the profession. As I think of my colleagues, the teachers, I can't recall any one with a family to support and children to bring up, who could get along on school wages. All of the younger men and most of the older ones did some extra work for a little extra income. They had to. These extra jobs ranged all the way from writing detective stories to selling ladies' shoes. The most natural source of a few extra dollars has always been teaching Sunday School and counseling at summer camps. But I knew one teacher who rigged up a little shop in his cellar where he repaired radios, vacuum cleaners, and electric toasters for the neighbors. He was good, too, and like most teachers, underestimated his work, and charged little. Another teacher had a week-end job in a candy store, selling penny bubble gum and poptops to kids. These were his happiest two days of the week, he once told me. All the rest of the week he burdens the children with reading and writing which they are not particularly anxious to buy. But on these two days these same children flock to him, and love the things he offers them.

The B Brothers

But none of these pedagogues had the enterprising spirit of the two B Brothers from Johnston. You may remember how in the heat and humidity of a mid-summer night a reporter discovered that these two brother educators, one a principal and the other a vice-principal, were part owners of a Johnston night club where the gentle art of the strip-tease is offered to attract the customers. That's what you call extra-curricular activity. None of your small stuff, you poor teachers of little imagination.

Little Objection

Now, there is nothing wrong with nite-clubbing and strip-teasing. At least the two brothers did not think so. What is more, neither did the members of the school board of Johnston see anything objectionable to that nighttime activity of their two top educators. Look here, if these two teachers were to do the strip-tease themselves, there might be a cause for alarm. But the reporter could not make that claim. The teacher-brothers merely serve as president and treasurer of the strip-tease establishment. Nothing wrong with that, really. Just good business, sound promotion. The reporter is a trouble maker. Probably jealous. Wishes he could do the same. All is well with public school education in Johnston.

Role of Strip-Teasing

You must admit that nowhere in the text books on education will you find the slightest hint of an objection to teachers engaging in this kind of work. In fact you will look in vain for a single paragraph discussing the role of strip-teasing in the education of the young. Nor is there a clause in the contracts between school board and teachers forbidding this practice, not even in the finest print.

All this is true. But it is also a symptom of a watering down, a lowering of standards, a contempt for codes of conduct when educators see no discrepancy between their calling and the vulgarity of the strip-tease entertainer, and when school boards do not get alarmed at this strange combination. Several years ago we all hung our heads in shame when a national survey gave the public school system of Rhode Island a rating a little higher than that of Alabama. Now we see why. The very fact that a principal and a vice-principal of two schools pass off the whole matter as a joke, and a school board disclaims any interest in what the teachers do after school hours, proves that all is not well in the Johnston school or in any town or city where a similar practice fails to arouse the public.

It is impossible to tell a teacher what extra job, if he must have one, is proper and which is improper for a man of his calling. He must consult his own heart and make his own choice. But it is exactly this choice that reveals the heart of the man. By the choice he makes after careful consultation with his conscience, a man in any walk of life reveals his tastes, his ethics, and his principles.

There is nothing wrong with prize fighting. But you would not Race track betting is legal. Yet we are shocked to find some of our duly elected state legislators behind the windows at the race track offices taking bets.

Saloons are a familiar sight on every corner. But there is something unsavory when the mayor of the town is also the proprietor of the beer and gin place.

Why? It is not easy to explain. There are unwritten laws, and unspoken codes of conduct. When these laws and codes are broken, the offense to our sensitivities is as great as when written laws and statutes are brazenly disregarded.

By these same unwritten laws and unspoken codes of conduct we know that somehow teachers and strip-tease artists make strange bed fellows.

It is offensive to our nostrils.

Maybe it is our own fault. Maybe we are old fashioned. We still have high regard for the profession of teaching. We still consider teaching a calling, a mission, a process of molding the tastes and the character of a nation. The men and women who choose to be teachers, we still hold as idealists, as people of culture and refined tastes.

We prefer to be old fashioned. We prefer to believe that all this is still true, and that the case of the B Brothers is the exception rather than a general trend.

DISTINCTIVE
 ... yet not expensive!

One big reason for the popularity of custom-made upholstered furniture is the distinctiveness of each individual piece. No two are alike. Chairs, sofas, love seats, sectional pieces can all be made to your exact requirements of style and color, reflecting your own individual good taste.

And yet, custom-made upholstered furniture doesn't need to be expensive! It is a fact that many of our custom-made pieces are priced less than you pay for similar styles of ordinary upholstered furniture.

Let us prove these price claims for you. Visit our showroom displaying a wide selection of beautifully tailored pieces—made in our own workrooms. You'll love what you see ... and the prices too!

Temple Beth-Israel New Year Services

Temple Beth Israel New Year services will begin Saturday at midnight with the musical "Selichos" service conducted by Rabbi Morris Schussheim. Cantor Lengyel will lead the choir.

The opening service for Rosh Hashanah will take place Friday evening, Sept. 19 in the auditorium, held jointly with the auxiliary service in the main synagogue. Services will be conducted by Rabbi H. L. Horwitz of the Jewish Theological Seminary.

Services will commence at 8:30 on Saturday and Sunday mornings in both the synagogue and the auditorium. Herbert Cohen will conduct the Shofar service for the auditorium congregation.

Beth El Choral Society To Begin Rehearsals

The Temple Beth El Choral Society will open its season with a meeting at the home of its chairman, Mrs. Seebert J. Goldowsky, next Monday evening. Election of officers will be held and a drive for enlarging the group and bringing in male voices will be launched. Programming for the current season will also be outlined.

Regular weekly rehearsals will be resumed on Monday evening, October 6, at 8 P. M., in the vestry of the Temple and will continue to be held there every Monday evening thereafter at the same time. Members of the Congregation, Sisterhood and Brotherhood are invited to join.

Benjamin Premack is director of the Choral Society and Miss Violette B. Marks is accompanist.

Ahavath Sholom Service Schedule

The schedule for the high holy days at Congregation Ahavath Sholom is as follows: Friday, Sept. 19, evening service at 6:30 P. M.; Saturday, Sept. 20, morning service at 9 o'clock with the rabbi's sermon at 10:30. The evening service will commence at 6:30 P. M. For Sunday, Sept. 21, the schedule will be the same as for Saturday.

The Kol Nidre at 5:15 P. M. on Sunday, Sept. 28 will be the opening Yom Kippur service. On Monday, Sept. 29, the morning service will be held at 9 o'clock.

BETH-EL BOWLING

The Temple Beth El Brotherhood Bowling League opens its 16th season next Thursday night at the Casino Alleys on Pine Street. Regular bowlers and those who wish to join the league are requested to be at the alleys at 8:30 P. M. League president Nat Alterman says 14 teams will compete in two divisions for prizes.

Marshall Marcus heads a committee in charge of the auxiliary service.

Yom Kippur services will commence on Sunday, Sept. 28 at sunset and continue till sunset the next day. A Yom Kippur service will be broadcast over radio station WEAN on Sept. 25 at 8 P. M.

Rabbi Schussheim will conduct a service for the Jewish inmates of the State Institution at Howard on Thursday, Sept. 18.

Cranston Softballers In Charity Game

The Cranston Jewish Center softball team, which currently holds first place in the Jewish Softball League, will meet the Glenlyon Print team, winners of the Rhode Island Class B softball tourney, in a special charity game Sunday at 2 P. M. at Cranston Stadium. Proceeds will go to the Jimmy Fund, Harold Warren, Cranston's manager, revealed. A cup will be presented to the winner.

The game has aroused considerable speculation, since the two clubs previously were booked to meet for the Class B title. Cranston won its two preliminary games to qualify for the finals, but both games were later forfeited because of a protest that Cranston had used an ineligible player. Cranston denied the charge, but was disqualified, anyway. Team officials now are buzzing over the possible significance of the belated invitation to meet the champions.

B'nai B'rith Girls Meet Tuesday

B'nai B'rith Girls, Narragansett Chapter, will hold their first meeting of the season Tuesday at 8 P. M. at the Jewish Community Center. Election of unfilled offices will be held and plans for the year will be discussed. Girls of high school age interested in joining are invited to attend.

Officers are Sandra Frank, president; Adele Sheffres, vice-president; Rhoda Levy, secretary, and Barbara Halpern, treasurer. Club supervisor is Mrs. David Litchman.

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE

Playoffs start at Bucklin Park, Field A and B. Round Robin double headers. First games—M&F Insurance vs Technoprint, Waldorf Tuxedo vs Broadway Auto.

Technoprint took two from luckless Natcor by scores of 15-2 and 14-13. In the opener, 8 hits in a row built a 7-run inning and enough margin to let Ralph Winn ease to a 7-hit pitching win. The 19-hit barrage was led by Winn with 4 hits, and Rifkin 3.

Natcor jumped off to a big 12-4 lead after 4 innings of the nightcap, but Technoprint found the range in the last three frames to squeeze out the win. Three in the fifth, four in the sixth and three in the last of the seventh on clutch hits by George Karembeles, Rifkin and Dostoglos, plus an outfield error, won the game. Dostoglos

Our Younger Set

MARILYN LENORE HOLLAND, six months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Holland of 57 Warrington Street. Hope Home Portraits hit a home run, while George Karembeles had 5-for-5. Winn, in relief of Levin, picked up his second win of the day. For Natcor, Kopel had 4-for-4, Connis and Labush three hits each.

Cranston JCC held its one game edge over Waldorf for the league lead by splitting their twin bill. The Tuxedomen took the first game 18-8 and the Cranston Center the second, 8-7. The opener was batting practice for Waldorf as every man slugged the ball hard and often. Billy Holt with 4-for-4 and Billy DeVecchio and Tetreault led the attack. Mickler and Warren hit well for Cranston.

The nightcap was a squeaker, with the lead changing hands every inning. Rappoport's pinch hit drove in three runs that eventually won the game as Waldorf's 3-run seventh inning rally fell a run short. Levy, Samdperil and Stepak were Cranston's best hitters, while Weintraub and Leonard starred for the losers.

Broadway Auto and M & F Insurance also split, M & F

taking the opener 9-4 and Broadway the second 11-8. Nate Ludman won the first one on the mound, while Jack Steiner went the route twice for the Automen.

SYD COHEN:

"Green Like His Name . . ."

While conducting an end-of-summer file clearing, I came across a little item I had clipped for future reference several months ago. It concerns a letter written in 1930 by a minor league ball player who apparently was having some trouble establishing himself in the baseball sun.

This fellow, whose name charitably will not be printed, was on the roster of the Hartford club in the Eastern League when he wrote the letter to a friend. It is necessary, for full enjoyment of the tale, to note that the "Greenberg" he refers to throughout the missive bears the first name of Henry—better known in the baseball trade as Hank. Hank Greenberg managed to make himself a few bucks during his rather lengthy career; but hold off on that until you read the letter, which here goes:

"Dear Bert—Just a few lines to let you know that I did not forget you. I am still holding on here but not doing any playing as they have Greenberg here and he is rotten. But you know how it is with him, with all that publicity and the $9,000 he got for signing. That is why he is in there instead of me. I think they will send me down to the South Atlantic League on option. To tell the truth, I don't think Greenberg will stay with Hartford if he don't start hitting the ball. Also, he is green around the bag just like his name. If he don't get going they will recall me back to take his place. He has been getting hits but you know the kind. He has hit only one ball out of the infield since he has been here . . ."

From future events, it would appear that this kid Greenberg held on to the first base job at Hartford only for 17 games, during which time he batted .214. His opponent hit the nail on the head as far as Hartford was concerned. However, transferred to another league for 122 games, Hank did a good job of .314, and just three years later he started a string of eight consecutive 300 seasons with the Detroit Tigers that was broken only when he was drafted into military service.

Tabulating his career, Greenberg batted .313 for his lifetime, with .318 for four World Series. He smashed 331 home runs in regular season competition and five more in Series play.

The writer of the letter, a look at the Baseball Encyclopedia reveals, got up to the major leagues long enough to play first base in eight games and pinch hit in one.

Ralph Winn's)

Ralph Winn, first baseman, outfielder and pitcher who is toiling this year under the Technoprint banner in the Jewish Softball League, is fast becoming a squire in sports circles in Attleboro. Winn, a fiery competitor who tries to live up to his name, became the manager of one of the four teams in a Pony League (baseball for boys 13-15, a step above Little League) that was organized this year in that town.

The setup was ideal. The four managers got together and divided all the youthful talent. Ralph was a complete stranger to all his boys. In addition, the rival managers included two former minor leaguers and a junior high school coach.

Well, let's get to the point already. Winn's team did win the championship, with a sparkling record of 11-1, and it wasn't because of a Wheaties diet or chlorophyll injections. Ralph had the kids play straight baseball. No gambling. In a league dominated by pitching, where no team ever succeeded in scoring more than five runs a game, Winn kept his team in front by a liberal use of the bunt, playing for one run at a time. It worked. His Ponies took it like alfalfa—winning 11 out of 12 is nary any hay.

Social Item

If you notice Bert Summer doing any shadow boxing these days prior to September 28, don't blame it on Bert—or the weather. Summer is basking in the glow of a letter written by his personal friend, Rocky Marciano, in which the heavyweight contender has promised to pay him a visit on the day after "the fight." Summer, of course, figures to be entertaining the heavyweight champ of the world, a mantle that should sit as well as one of Bert's suits.

Two That Got Away

Now for a fishing note, and a local one, at that. The daily papers this week carried a story about how Michael Kuhn and his son, Philip, were rescued from the hurricane-harried surf at Pt. Judith on Sunday. It made quite a story—father and son fishing in a boat off the point, and unable to make their way back to safety until the Coast Guard put out after them.

Quite a story—except it wasn't true, says Mr. Kuhn, who in the business world is known as Michel of Strong's Furs. First off, his son's name is Ralph, not Philip. Second, how could they be rescued from the water when they already were on land?

Here's the whole tale about the two fishermen who "got away." Michel and his son went down to the Point with intentions to catch a few. Their motor conked out, however, so they beached the boat, took out the motor and asked for help in dragging the boat up on the beach to avoid its being smashed by the surf.

The boat already was high and dry (with the assistance of other fishermen) by the time the Coast Guard got to the scene.

Next thing Michel knew he was reading and hearing (on all the local radio stations) how he and son "Philip" had been dragged from the water and pulled to safety.

Now, the frustrated angler wants to know, who's telling those fish stories?
