

Cleveland Temple Wins Court Fight

CLEVELAND—A judge in Common Pleas Court here issued an order directing the officials of Beechwood village to grant a permit to the Euclid Avenue Temple to construct a new synagogue in the village.

The village authorities had refused the congregation's application for building permit last January holding that the structure would violate the zoning regulations and would not be in the best interests of the village. Attorneys for the temple accused the village authorities of bias and termed their action restraint of freedom of worship.

The court held that the zoning regulation was arbitrarily and unreasonably applied in this case and found "discriminatory use" of the ordinance. It held that the temple would not depreciate property values or injure rural atmosphere of the village and that reasons cited for denying the permit were not valid reasons.

Favorable Rates In Bond Conversion

NEW YORK—A more favorable rate of exchange for the conversion of Israel dollar bonds to Israel pounds has been announced by the Israel Treasury through the American Financial and Development Corporation for Israel, underwriter for state of Israel bonds.

The new regulations are intended to facilitate conversion to pounds for those bondholders who wish to visit Israel, to invest in Israel industries, or to contribute to philanthropic agencies in Israel. The rates set up for Israel bond conversions for these purposes are as follows:

1. For approved investments of Israel bonds in Israel industries, the rate of exchange is one Israel pound for one dollar.

2. For tourists converting their Israel bonds while in Israel, the rate of exchange is also one Israel pound for one dollar.

3. For contributions of Israel bonds to philanthropic agencies in Israel, the rate of exchange is $1.40 for one Israel pound.

Ordinarily, Israel bonds are neither transferable nor redeemable prior to May 1, 1954. However, the redemption in Israel pounds described in the Treasury regulations can take place at any time.

Brooklyn Officer Recommended for Medal of Honor

NEW YORK — Captain Melvin Garten, a decorated veteran of World War II, has been recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor for extraordinary heroism in the Korean fighting, it was learned this week by the Bureau of War Records of the National Jewish Welfare Board (JWB). Word of the event was received from the infantry officer by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Garten, of 1610 Avenue P, Brooklyn.

The Medal of Honor is America's supreme award for bravery in action against the foe; if it comes through for Captain Garten he will be the first Jewish serviceman in the Korean war to earn that exalted decoration. Captain Garten, 32, is the father of two sons: Jeffery, 6, and Allen, 2. His

GJC Seeks to End Campaign Quickly

Drive Total Now $590,000

General Jewish Committee officials made it quite clear this week that the top order of business on the local welfare agency's agenda is prompt completion of the current UJA fund-raising drive.

Toward that end, the following announcements this week stemmed from GJC headquarters in the Strand Building:

1) Workers with unsolicited pledge cards still in their possession were flatly being asked to complete "coverage" within the week—or return all cards to headquarters for re-assignment to a special "clean up" squad of solicitors.

2) Members of the greater Providence Jewish community—who have not been approached yet by the solicitor assigned their card—were asked to directly contact GJC headquarters by phone or in person and list their pledges there.

3) With more than 7400 pledges wife and children live in Florida.

The action in which the Brooklyn infantry officer performed the deed that earned him a recommendation for the Medal of Honor took place on Monday, Oct. 27, 1952, on a hill in Korea. Just ten yards from an enemy bunker, a detachment of U. S. infantrymen—a remnant of a company from the 7th Division's 31st Regiment—lay pinned down, in momentary danger of annihilation. Captain Garten, ignoring a superior officer's orders not to lead a relief effort personally, set out to rescue the beleaguered troops, pausing only to snatch a box of ammunition and a supply of grenades.

He reached the men, gave them heart, and using a machine gun he'd picked up en route, led them in a sudden, furious assault that mowed down several trenchfuls of Chinese Reds and finally enabled the American fighters to get back to their lines.

Describing the fierce three-day battle in the course of which his exploit took place, the veteran warrior told a war correspondent: "It was the most concentrated enemy fire I have ever seen. I had a paratroop company in the Pacific in the last war—went through the Leyte campaign and others for 18 months, but this was the bloodiest mess and the roughest fighting I have ever seen."

Captain Garten, a member of the boxing and lacrosse teams at or cash contributions received to date, the campaign total was approximately $10,000 short of the $600,000 total. Henry J. Hassenfeld, drive chairman, emphasized, however, that "complete coverage by our workers of the outstanding cards, together with generous contributions by donors, can push the final total close to the $640,000 amount raised last year."

Other officials, including Joseph Galkin, executive director, and Alvin A. Sopkin, GJC president, were contacting unpledged donors in person or by telephone.

All key campaign leaders were in agreement that the drive must be brought to a speedy close. They pointed out that, to avoid conflict with the R. I. Community Chest appeal last October, they had postponed its opening until early November.

The Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday seasons further slowed activities on some fronts. As a result, the drive was carried over to 1953 with some 650 potential donors still not listed on the GJC "Honor Roll."

These were the factors that led to this decision to go "all out" in a determined effort to close the books as promptly as possible on the current drive. With a number of other activities pending on the local community level, it was felt that a deadline must be established for solicitors who have been tardy in covering cards.

Arms For Arabs Threat To Peace, Israel Warns

Introduce Bills To Alter Immigration Naturalization Law

WASHINGTON — Two bills aimed at rewriting or repealing the new Immigration and Naturalization Law which became effective two weeks ago were introduced at the opening of the new Congress. One, submitted by Representative William A. Barret, Pennsylvania Democrat, asks for the repeal of the law known as the McCarran-Walter Act and for return to the immigration statutes in force before the measure was passed by the last Congress. The other bill, introduced by Representative Jacob Javits, Republican Liberal of New York, asks the House to order the rewriting of the law.

No real change in the spirit of the McCarran-Walter Act was foreseen by sources close to the President's Commission on Immigration and Naturalization. These sources predicted that the Republican Administration would seek to modify some administrative technicalities so that the Act might be more effectively implemented, but that its racist features and general nature would remain unchanged.

Southern Democrats have already indicated that they will side with conservative Republicans in defense of the 1952 Act. Senator Willis Smith, of North Carolina, openly predicted that Congress would make no "material changes in the law because there is nothing materially wrong with it."

Pittsburgh Launches Population Survey

PITTSBURGH—A study of the Jewish population of Pittsburgh aimed at establishing the number of Jews in the city, how they are distributed throughout the city, the number of Jewish aged and the number of Jewish children, as well as other pertinent information, was launched here by the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies.

Forces Country Into Arms Race

TEL AVIV — The Western Powers, by supplying arms to the Arab states, are "inevitably" forcing Israel into a ruinous arms race which is a threat to peace, an Israel Foreign Ministry spokesman declared here in reply to a British Foreign Office statement insisting on Britain's right to supply the Arab states and Israel with jet planes and other armaments.

The Israeli spokesman, who pointed out that the Western Powers are specifically pledged to prevent an arms race in the tripartite declaration on May, 1951, demanded that these powers suspend arms deliveries to the Arab states until the latter change their hostile attitude toward the Jewish State. If arms must be supplied to the states in the Middle East, he added, they should be provided on the realistic basis that the Arab states are allied against Israel. He also questioned whether the delivery of arms to the Arabs was a "safe investment."

Since the Western Powers deny Egypt's claims to belligerency against Israel, they must either prevail upon Egypt to give up that status or must "draw the logical conclusions" from the situation and hold back arms, the Israeli spokesman continued. The present situation is "paradoxical," he asserted, since the Arabs refuse to make peace with Israel or to shoulder responsibility for regional defense and yet the West is supplying them with weapons. These arms are intended for use against Israel, not for regional defense, the spokesman charged, and they represent a threat to her security and to world peace.

Turning to the specific British statement on arms for the Arabs, the spokesman rejected the British explanation that weapons were being supplied to Egypt under an Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1935. Firstly, the Israeli spokesman stressed, the Egyptians have denounced the treaty. Secondly, the British themselves cut off the supply of arms to Egypt last year during the Anglo-Egyptian crisis, when delivery was not to Britain's interests. This proved that Britain feels that it need not supply arms under treaties when considerations of peace and stability make such deliveries inadvisable, he said.

AJC Reports Civil Rights Progress

NEW YORK — "Unprecedented progress in civil rights" has been achieved in the five-year period 1948-53, by the people themselves, the American Jewish Committee declared on the 161st anniversary of Bill of Rights Day and the fifth anniversary of the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights. The fields with considerable advances in respect for the rights of the individual include the armed services, athletics, citizenship, education, employment, housing, public accommodation, and professional, business, fraternal and religious societies.

Mrs. Pilavin Writes of JDC Work

From not-so-romantic Casablanca in North Africa this week, GJC headquarters received a message from Mrs. Albert Pilavin, Providence GJC official, who, as the newly elected national chairman of the United Jewish Appeal Women's Division, is in the midst of a European-Africa-Israel inspection tour of UJA relief and rehabilitation activities on these widely-separated fronts.

Of Morocco, she wrote: "The job that the Joint Distribution Committee is doing here to eradicate disease, filth and ignorance is one of unbelievable dimensions—but still small in comparison to the overwhelming needs. A miracle literally has been accomplished with the aid of the American Jewry and the French government.

"I wish I could go into detail about the JDC dispensaries and what they are doing for several thousand children suffering from tuberculosis, typhoid and trachoma. This great life-saving work has to be seen to be truly appreciated."

The situation in France, Mrs. Pilavin said, "is a heartening one. The JDC is gradually training the distressed—and turning over to the community the responsibility which should rightfully be theirs now that these unfortunates are getting on their feet. In about three years this operation should be a 'fait accompli'."

In company with a small group of other UJA Women's Division leaders, Mrs. Pilavin has been "on the go from early morning to early the next morning" since arriving in France and flying to North Africa, prior to visiting Israel itself.

A wistful footnote to her letter read: "Would love to get some news from home. Will be at the King David hotel in Jerusalem by Jan. 18. Please explain to my friends why they haven't heard from me."

See New Violence In Soviet Arrests

A new wave of violence against Jews, comparable to the infamous Nazi persecutions, was foreseen by Jewish leaders this week in the wake of Soviet Russia's latest action in arresting nine doctors, most of them Jews, on charges that they killed Russian leaders and plotted the death of others through faulty treatment.

The national and international leaders bluntly charged that Russia was embarking on a deliberate anti-Semitic campaign, based in part on the Kremlin's "hate America" drive.

Senator Herbert H. Lehman solemnly expressed the fear that the arrests precluded possible new pogroms, and liquidation of Jews.

Dr. Israel Goldstein, president of the American Jewish Congress, said the new Soviet evil "will take great human toll," while the American Jewish Committee asserted "the Kremlin is using the fantastic big lie of anti-Semitism as a weapon of state policy, and aims at destroying all religious, racial and ethnic minorities."

The opinion that "Stalin seems intent on genocide against the Jews" was expressed by Henry E. Schultz, head of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Schultz traced the current hate campaign to forged anti-Semitic documents that were widely distributed throughout Russia in Czarist times.

Dr. Louis H. Bauer, secretary general of the World Medical Association, and president of the American Medical Association, termed the recent arrests "a flagrant smear on the medical profession, (and) another well-calculated move in Moscow's deliberate 'hate America' campaign."

Silverman Named to Released Time Group

Archibald Silverman, local civic and Jewish leader, this week accepted appointment as one of seven members on the advisory committee for released time in Providence schools appointed by Superintendent of Schools James L. Hanley.

Among his other activities, Silverman is a member of the state board of education. He is the sole Jewish member of the new committee.

JCC Parents Assn. To Present Actress

Parents Association of the Jewish Community Center will present Selma Burnett Snyder, actress, humorist and creative story-teller, presenting "Memoirs Of My People," a dramatization of Leo W. Schwarz's anthology of Jewish self-portraits, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 3 at 8:15 P. M., it was announced this week.

Miss Snyder has become known for her radio and stage work through her dramatic re-creations of books and stories in which she enacts all the characters and dialogue.

Mrs. Henry Jacober, chairman of the evening, will be assisted by Mesdames George Cossack, Bernard Podrat, Irving Brodsky, Harold Braunstein, Elwin Rosenbaum, Morris Kritzman, Harold Chase and Benjamin Lewis, ex-officio.

Contract Renewed

MORRIS KRITZMAN

Following a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Community Center Wednesday night, Saul E. R. Feinberg, president, announced that the contract of Morris Kritzman, executive director, has been renewed through June 30, 1954.

Recommended for Medal of Honor

C.C.N.Y., has been in the Army since his graduation in 1941. He holds the Silver Star, the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart with three Oakleaf Clusters—for four wounds received in World War II—and a Presidential Unit Citation. His name appears in Volume II of the JWB-published "American Jews in World War II." In a letter to his parents, the intrepid infantryman gave them this word of comfort: "Don't worry about me. This outfit is taking good care of me—they are determined that I not get the Medal of Honor posthumously."

In World War II there were two Jewish Medal of Honor winners—Lieutenant Raymond Zussman of Cleveland and Staff Sgt. Isadore S. Jachman of Baltimore—both of whom were granted the award posthumously.

Obituary

MRS. MORRIS JEWETT

Funeral services for Mrs. Sheba (Goldman) Jewett of 176 Willard Avenue, who died last Thursday at Rhode Island Hospital after a short illness, were held the next day at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Jewett came to this country 30 years ago from Russia. She was a member of the South Providence Hebrew Congregation, South Providence Ladies Aid Society and Pioneer Women.

Survivors include her husband, Morris Jewett; two sons, David of Providence and Abraham of Venice, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Gussie Goldman and Mrs. Samuel Metz, both of Providence; two brothers, James Goldman and J. Samuel Goldman; a sister, Mrs. Chonnie Rosenstein; 16 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

MRS. SAMUEL GOLDIN

Funeral services for Mrs. Celia M. (Chambers) Goldin, wife of Samuel Goldin of 274 New York Avenue, who died last week in Jane Brown Hospital after a long illness, were held the next day at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home.

Temple Emanuel Plans Carnival

With its new School Building gradually nearing completion, Temple Emanuel, under the joint sponsorship of its Men's Club and Sisterhood, is now making plans for a "Carnival for Education" to be held in the Temple Vestry next Spring.

The affair, which is to run for three nights: Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, May 12, 13, and 14, is planned to raise funds for the maintenance of the new building.

At a meeting held at the home of its chairman, Simon S. Greenberg, on January 8, the steering committee for this event laid the groundwork for what they promise will be "Three nights of Fun, Frolic, and Enjoyment for young and old." Their plans call for an old fashioned midway with its familiar booths and barkers and their colorful wares.

Burial was in Beth El Cemetery.

Born in New York City, Nov. 12, 1892, she was a daughter of the late Ephraim and Bella Chambers. She was a member of Temple Beth El.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Goldin leaves three daughters, Mrs. J. Joslyn Presser of Warwick, Mrs. Harry J. Rosen of Worcester and Mrs. Norman H. Miller of Providence; a son, Edward S. Goldin of Providence; a brother, Moe Chambers, and a sister, Mrs. Morris Peltz, both of New York City, and six grandchildren.

ROSE GOLDSTEIN

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Goldstein, 80, widow of the late Mendel Goldstein, who died Monday at the Jewish Home for the Aged after a short illness, were held the next day at the Max Sugarman Funeral Home. Burial was in Lincoln Park Cemetery.

A resident of Providence for the past 62 years, she was a member of the Miriam Hospital Women's Association, Pioneer Women and Jewish Consumptive Relief Society; and as a pioneer member of the Ladies Hebrew Union Aid Association, signed the charter of the Home for the Aged in 1912.

She was the sister of the late Leo Logan, and is survived by a cousin, Mrs. Morris Marrus of New York.

MIAMI MARKS OPENING OF FIRST ISRAEL EXPOSITION TO TOUR U.S.

More than 2,500 persons (above) this week gathered in Miami to witness the outdoor inauguration of the first Israel Exposition to tour the United States since Israel was established almost five years ago, and to hear many prominent speakers, including Vice Mayor Burnett Roth, who appeared on behalf of Miami's Mayor D. Lee Powell, extol Israel as an important ally in the economic and democratic development of the Middle East. Sponsored by the State of Israel Bond organization, the Exposition houses more than 1,100 products reflecting a wide range of progress in Israel industry and agriculture. At the lower left, Mrs. Joseph Cherner cuts the tape which marked the formal opening of the Israel Exposition, while Joseph M. Rose (left), Chairman of the Greater Miami Committee for State of Israel Bonds and Mr. Cherner, Chairman of the Exposition Committee, witness the ceremony.

Home Ladies Plan Spring Festival

The annual spring Festival of the Jewish Home for the Aged will be launched at a combined meeting of the executive board and committee members next Wednesday afternoon at the Home. The Festival will be held this year on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 10 and 11 at the Narragansett Hotel.

Additional plans were made at a luncheon meeting held at the home of the general chairman, Mrs. Thomas H. Goldberg of Elm-grove Avenue, with Mrs. Ephraim Feingold, program; Mrs. Jules Goldsmith, printing; Mrs. Ben Poulten, publicity, and Mrs. Samuel Schneider, ex-officio.

Play School Lists Mid-Winter Period

The Jewish Community Center's mid-winter period of Play School will begin Jan. 26 and continue until March 20, a period of eight weeks, it was announced this week.

The school is operated in two sessions, the morning class running from 9-12 A. M. and the afternoon class from 1-4 P. M. Two professional staff members are on duty at each of the sessions. They include Mrs. Lester Millman, Mrs. David Goldberg and Mrs. Casper Sutton, acting director.

Miss Deirdre Meadow of the Center's professional staff will devote some time each week to teach rhythmic to the youngsters.

Children who attend Play School are provided with pleasant surroundings for group experience; activities include simple arts and crafts, music and story-telling.

Philharmonic Concert To Feature Piazza

Marguerite Piazza, glamorous Metropolitan Opera and TV star, will be featured soloist in the second concert of the Rhode Island Philharmonic Orchestra winter series on Jan. 27 at Veterans Memorial Auditorium. Francis Madeira will conduct.

Miss Piazza will perform a number of well-known arias and the orchestra will be heard in Mozart's 41st Symphony, The Jupiter Symphony.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained at the Philharmonic offices, 49 Westminster Street, and Avery's and Axelrod's music stores.

JCRS BOARD MEETING

Foods To Remember

by LEAH W. LEONARD
(Author of "Jewish Cookery")

Jewish cuisine has been augmented through the centuries when our people lived in various countries over the face of the globe. For instance, the Jewish home-makers in the Balkan countries added a special dish made of Carp Roe that is served as an appetizer or a canape spread. A recipe for this "ap-peteaser" as well as the home-made French Onion Soup was requested by Cantor Simon Bernman of Cleveland, Ohio. Here are the recipes:

ROMANIAN FRESH CAVIAR
(Icere de Carp)
1/2 lb. carp roe
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup salad oil
6 tablespoons lemon juice
A dash of garlic salt
A dash of white pepper (optional)
Salt the fresh carp roe and let stand two hours. Rinse in cold water and remove the membrane with a fork. Beat with a fork in a deep bowl, adding oil and lemon juice alternately, a little at a time while beating. The membrane which clings to the fork can be removed from time to time. The mixture should be of mayonnaise consistency, stiff enough to hold a peak. Add the garlic salt and pepper, if used, and chill in the refrigerator. Use for topping crackers, rounds of toast, or fingers of sliced rye or pumpernickel. Excellent canape spread!

FRENCH ONION SOUP
2 cups finely diced onion
4 tablespoons chicken schmaltz (or vegetable shortening)
4 tablespoons sifted flour or fine cracker crumbs
4 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
A dash of garlic powder
CROUTONS
Minced parsley for garnish
Cook the diced onion in hot melted fat till the onion turns a light brown, stirring to prevent scorching. Sift the flour or crumbs over the mixture and stir in boiling water. Cook 5 minutes over moderate heat. Add salt, garlic powder to taste. Serve hot with croutons floating on top of each plateful. Add bits of parsley for color.
Serves 4.
Variation: Substitute butter for other fat. Butter the croutons and top each serving with grated cheese.

FLUFFY HUBBARD SQUASH
2 pounds Hubbard Squash
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg
A dash of cinnamon or nutmeg
1 tablespoons butter or substitute
This type of squash may be purchased by the pound, cut from a large whole squash. Cut it into convenient size pieces then pare away the hard outer skin. Cut into dice or smaller wedges, cover with cold water and add salt. Cook 10 minutes or till tender enough to pierce with a fork. Drain and mash while hot. Beat the egg and fold in, adding cinnamon or nutmeg and the butter or other fat. Turn into a shallow pan or casserole and bake at 375 degrees F. until lightly browned on top.

Serves 4.
Variation: Sprinkle the top of a mashed squash with finely chopped Brazil nuts mixed with sugar and cinnamon and slip under the broiler flame for a few minutes.

YELLOW TURNIP SALAD
(Uncooked)
2 cups tightly packed grated raw yellow turnips
1 large tart apple, pared and grated
A dash of salt
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
Lettuce
Green pepper strips for garnish
Mix the grated turnip, grated apple, salt and mayonnaise as lightly as possible, using a fork. Serve on lettuce and garnish with strips of green pepper.
Serves 4.

Variation: To serve with fish or cheese dishes, add a tablespoon of sour cream to the salad dressing and a dash of sugar and cinnamon.

Sees More Interest in Second Kinsey Report To Be Out Soon

There will be more interest in the second "Kinsey Report," dealing with sex behavior in the human female, and more "surprises," Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, zoologist and author, said in an interview this week at Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass.

Dr. Kinsey, co-author of "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male," stopped in the middle of a two-day seminar at Brandeis where he was a lecturer under the University's General Education S. course, for a press conference attended by newsmen from the major Boston papers.

"I see more interest being shown in this second book, 'Sex Behavior in the Human Female,' for obvious reasons. Certainly the men will show more interest in this one," he said. "There will be more surprises in this book too for many people, I think."

Dr. Kinsey said that the new volume will be out "within 12 months." Working as co-authors on the latest "report" were Wardell B. Pomeroy, clinical psychologist; Clyde E. Martin, statistician; and Paul Gebhard, anthropologist.

The new book will deal with females between the ages of two and 90 years. Interviews gotten from the youngest group deal with attitudes toward sex, Dr. Kinsey said.

The author-lecturer said that the volume dealing with women included about 6,000 sample cases—more than that gathered for the book on sex behavior in males, Dr. Kinsey said that the women were no more and no less talkative about their habits and, as with the men, no interviews were taken from those with criminal records.

Pointing out that no cases involving prostitutes were used in order to obtain a better general picture, Dr. Kinsey said that the new book dealt heavily with comparisons between male and female behavior in a search for similarities and differences.

"I believe that many people will be surprised to learn that there are few major differences between male and female behavior," the author said.

Dr. Kinsey said that over 700 paired interviews, that is interviews which included husband and wife, are used in the new book and there was an amazing degree of agreement between the two sexes regarding behavior and their marriage. "I do not consider the sexual factor as the top factor in the success or failure of marriages today but rather the determination to make a marriage hold," he said. "It is true, however, that the sexual factor appeared in approximately three-fourths of recent divorces."

After saying that the new book will deal extensively with husband-wife relationships, he pointed out that the book does not go beyond the sex angle into the financial and psychological phases that cause marriages to break up.

Delving into the future, Dr. Kinsey said that a third book is in the process of being compiled which will deal with sex laws and sex offenders—one of his favorite subjects. "Many legislators still believe that the cure-all for any difficulty is a new law or the increasing of penalties. That of course, is ignorance. Actually 95 per cent of those convicted for sex offenses do not differ greatly in behavior from the usual behavior of the majority of the population," he said. "A person is punished for a sex offense only after being arrested and legally convicted. The thing is to find out how many others have been involved in sex offenses who have not been apprehended."

Dr. Kinsey said that 21 states have changed their sex laws within the past three years and some of these changes have been influenced by his first book. He said that states are still experimenting with sex laws and that he expects to see sex laws changed in a large number of states in the near future.

The man whose first book sold 250,000 copies at last count (with sales still continuing) said that the students at Brandeis asked "plenty" of questions but no more and no different from those asked by students in other schools.

Story of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Great Statesman and Mediator

J. Alvin Kugelmass became deeply interested in the career of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche while editing copy for a Washington newspaper. He commenced to study the life and activities of the great Negro leader and the result is his new book, "Ralph J. Bunche, Fighter for Peace," published by Julian Messner (8 W. 40th, NY 18).

It is a deeply moving story. Powerful as an interesting page of current history, it is a touching document that should go farther than a hundred meetings in advancing good will and in removing prejudice. It is the record of the life of the grandson of an ex-slave whose genius has defied and defeated bigotry.

Actually, Kugelmass' biography of Bunche is a rebuke to bigots and a repudiation of the medieval doctrine of "race supremacy" which, unfortunately, continues to keep Dr. Bunche out of Washington. Kugelmass relates how Dr. Bunche was compelled while living in Washington to drive his children many miles to a school to which they were admitted, before going to his office in the State Department. When he was offered the post of Assistant Secretary of State recently he turned it down, refusing again to undergo this humiliation.

The most interesting character in this biography is Bunche's grandmother, Anna Johnson. From his youth in Detroit—he was born here at McComb and Orleans Sts.—through his college career in California, Grandma Johnson was his guide. A strong personality, she was determined that Ralph should acquire an education and make something of himself. Even her great confidence in him as known, was surpassed. It was after his graduation from U.C.L.A., before going on to Harvard on a scholarship, that she passed away. "Grandma's strength, trial, perseverance and humor stayed with him while he was shaping history."

Much space is devoted in the book to Bunche's role as UN mediator in the Arab-Jewish war. Some of the aspects of that issue are handled rather superficially, but in the main Kugelmass gives a fairly good account of what had happened. Especially valuable is his review of Bunche's career on the island of Rhodes and the manner in which he got the Jewish and Arab emissaries to get together and to sign an armistice. One wishes that he could continue his work in that area in order to attain a lasting peace.

Among the more interesting episodes in the book is the story about a woman from Georgia who sat next to him at the dinner in Oslo, Norway, after he had been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. She kept on ranting about Negroes and asked him whether he would have his daughter marry a Negro. When he finally got his few words in edgewise he told her:

"Perhaps you don't read the newspapers carefully. I'm Ralph Bunche, a Negro. This dinner is being given in honor of me because I just won the Nobel Prize. And you're sitting right next to a nigger."

Actually, Bunche has taught many such lessons to many people by his triumphs in many fields, by having won scores of honors, by holding more honorary degrees than have been awarded to any President. Kugelmass' fine biography tells the entire story about this great man, about whom Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett said: his "herculean efforts . . . put an end to the fighting in Palestine," and in tribute to whom General—now President—elect—Eisenhower said: "Ralph J. Bunche is one of the greatest statesmen this country has ever produced."

Europe Laughs

While current politics still has first rating as a joke-producer abroad, these examples gathered by correspondents include more or less witty comments on general conditions. And there are always the old gags in new dresses.

LONDON

BRITAIN'S housing shortage has produced this recent advertisement: "Required: a furnished house or flat, large enough to stop wife from going home to mother, small enough to stop mother from coming home to wife."

Winston Spencer Churchill has been the subject of many a piquant anecdote based on his personality, robust wit and felicity of phrase. The story is being told of his encounter with a politically minded lady who, after failing to shake him in an argument, broke off with the petulant remark, "Oh, if you were my husband, I'd put poison in your tea." "Madame," Winston responded, "if I were, I'd drink it with pleasure."

A British woman, long conditioned to rationing, was visiting friends in the United States. One morning her hostess began complaining bitterly about the price of eggs—they were 90 cents a dozen. Soothingly the British visitor replied, "But, really, dear, that isn't too bad. What's 90 cents spread over three months?"

At a Labor party conference Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was upholding the thesis that all Russia's peace proposals were insincere. "But, Mr. Secretary," an angry member exploded, "would you still rebuff the U.S.S.R. if her acts proved that she stands for a peaceful solution of all problems?" And before the Foreign Secretary could answer, a voice was raised in the back of the hall: "Bevin would scream that he'd been stabbed in the back with an olive branch!"

WARSAW

"How are you making out under the new reciprocal trade agreement with the Soviet Union?" a Polish parliamentarian was asked. "Fine, fine," he replied. "We send them our grain and they take our coal."

A poor fisherman returned home, his creel empty, after a hard day's work. "What, no fish!" his wife demanded. "I can't help it," sighed the poor man. "Ever since the Russians liberated us, even the fish don't dare open their mouths."

"Oh, just some of those who violated safety rules. . . . We want your picture in case we need honor your memory."

ABERDEEN

A traveling salesman, with headquarters in this old city so celebrated for its parsimonious natives, was held up in the Shetland Islands by a severe wintry gale. He telegraphed his office: "Marooned by storm. Wire instructions." The reply: "Commence summer vacation as of yesterday"

BERLIN

An elderly musical comedy soubrette sighed, recalling triumphs long past, as she sipped her glass of wine in a cafe. "In my day," she said, "the young men in the audience unharnessed the horses from my carriage and pulled it through the streets." "That's nothing," sighed her 1949 counterpart. "Last night they took the tires off my car."

PARIS

With reference to the succession of French political crises, a cafe waiter told, the other day, about his American tourist acquaintance who "went over to London to watch the changing of the Guards and then came back to Paris to watch the changing of the Cabinets."

NUREMBERG

An American visitor being shown around the city was deploring the destruction of countless historic medieval structures, the wiping out of so much of the beautiful old town. "Don't be so distressed," said his German guide. "We Germans are always ten years ahead of the rest of the world. We're having our ruins now."

"Mrs. Blake, I'm not interested in how other psychiatrists work."

ROME

At the Cafe Aragno, resort of Rome's wits and pundits, this profound analysis of Italy's current situation was handed down the other day: "Italo-American relations are good. Italo-British relations are fair. Italo-Italian relations are definitely bad."

Pro-American Premier Alcide De Gasperi and Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti met one another in front of Italy's Chamber of Deputies. De Gasperi politely raised his hat, but the other remained covered, and remarked, "I don't greet the servant of a foreign power." Imperturbably, the Premier replied, "I do—even twice!" And again he lifted his hat to Togliatti.

BERLIN

"Is it true," a visiting correspondent asked a resident of the Soviet zone, "that, as the Russian-licensed press says, 95 per cent of the population is behind Marshal Sokolovskiy?" "Certainly," whispered the German. "Ninety per cent behind Marshall and 5 per cent behind Sokolovskiy."

"Is that yours, Karl?" the office manager asked the office boy, pointing to a cigarette butt on the floor. "No, Sir," the boy replied, "you saw it first."

A Norwegian in Berlin watched a German picking up his weekly bread ration. "In Norway," he mildly observed, "we don't get as much as that." The German was infuriated. "How dare you compare your situation with ours?" he thundered. "We lost the war!"

A high functionary in the Soviet zone had an accident

"Gad, Sir! Women and children first!"

and was taken to a hospital where a Catholic supplied the blood needed for a transfusion. To the horror of the functionary's comrade by the bedside, on waking, he began singing religious chants. A second transfusion was instantly made, this time the donor being the most radical and fervent adherent of the Soviets who could be found. When the sleeper awaked again, it is reported, he sang the Horst Wessel Lied.

LONDON

After a meeting of a commission of the United Nations, a newspaper man approached a British delegate and asked a pointed question. Evading an answer, the diplomat demanded, "Are you from Tass?" The reporter said no, adding that he represented a Polish paper. "Oh," sniffed the Englishman. "Demi-tass."

The story goes of the old clothes man who just before clothing restrictions were lightened in Britain offered to buy some from a Londoner. "But I haven't any to sell," the man said.

"That's impossible," the tradesman replied. "You must do something with your old clothes."

"Too true," said the Londoner. "I hang them up carefully at night and put them on again in the morning."

The British Conservative party headquarters, so the report goes, flatly denies that after the Labor Government launched its bill to nationalize public houses, Tories were instructed to campaign against their Socialist rivals with the slogan, "Ale and Farewell!"

BOWLING

CRANSTON PLAIDS

by Elaine Chopak

This week's double striker was Bea Sydney who rolled them in the last string for a total of 104, but the opposing team took the point for the string thanks to Harriet Bomzer's strike and spare. The Browns now hold top place, having taken four points from Green, despite the fact that Brown captain Esther Wasserman was the only member of her team bowling.

High scores were rolled by Dot Alcott 112, Rae Abrams 108, Norma Baker 107, Rose Murray and Charlotte White 106, Irene Messing and Elaine Chopak 104, Rosalind Herman 102, Fan Bloom 100, Harriet Bomzer 99, Renee Dreyfuss 98, Barbara Berman, Jeanette Broomfield, Betty Block and Estelle Friedman 97, Sippy Kessler 96, Adele Brynes and Ann Snow 95, Phyllis Grebstein and Esther Wasserman 94, Evelyn Goldberg, Mollie Silver and Cookie Schwartz 93, Jeanette Silverstein 92, Shirley White 91, Sema Davis, Evelyn Lerner, Rosella Lovett and Fran Rodinsky 90.

EMANUEL BOWLING

by Herman Selya

The Cardinals now have company at the top of the heap because of a couple of interesting developments—the first when Jack Broadman and his kieglers found only Harry Chase and Henry Markoff on hand to roll for the Browns. Both Chase and Markoff rolled over their heads and carried three dummy scores to take three tremendous points from the Cards. The second reason was the clean sweep the Dodgers had over the White Sox despite an 11 point handicap. Murray Davis improved his average 2 points and rolled 117, 109, 108-334 to lead the Dodgers into a tie for first place.

The Indians and Tigers are now tied for third place as the Tigers took all four points from the Cubs. Serm Price celebrated his return to the lineup with a high three for the night of 113, 139, 125-337, and that and Al Alter's 324 were all the steam needed to snow under the Cubs. The Indians took three from the Braves with Ben Gollis and Mel Paynor rolling high for the Indians and Paul Litwin high for the Braves.

It looked like a snap for the Reds to take four from the Red Sox until L. Mann got red hot in the third string for a sizzling 147 with an assist by Jack Chaiken's 128 just on time to save two big points for the Red Sox. The Giants took three from the Pirates with M. Goldberg's 92, 146, 115-351 providing the pep.

The league-leading Yankees of old have now dropped to about 10th place after dropping three points to the Athletics. Lefty Goralnick 100, 108, 120-328, Dick Platkin 95, 115, 107-320 and M. Ross 121, 111, 103-335 had too much steam for the Yanks, despite Irv Solmer's 122, 104, 127-353.

BETH ISRAEL WOMEN

Ruth Robrish's Pembroke took all four points from Etta Abrams' Smith to put them in second place. Bess Bromson's Wellesley took three to put themselves one point behind in third place. Jean Levy's Radcliffe remains in the top spot.

Selma Solomon rolled a record-breaking 316. Mildred Millman beat her own high three with 310. Ruth Myrow rolled 306. Betty Frye 284. Selma Nasberg 283. Charlotte Mushnick 279 and Faye Malatt 276.

High singles were Mildred Millman 115, Ina Cramer 114, Selma Solomon 113, Ruth Myrow 113, Betty Frye 108, Selma Nasberg 102, Charlotte Mushnick 102, Rose Galkin 99, Ann Steinberg 98, Pearl Kampner 97, Irene Bloom 96, Faye Malat 95, and Freda Rosenberg, Rose Lovett, Shirley Cramer, Vera Susman and Sylvia Schoenberg 90.

Erwin Summer's bowlers took three of four points from the Olevson five, with Dick Spangler setting the pace with 332. Norm Tilles rolled 319 for the losers. But other top teams in the division also lost. Mac Morgan's second place team dropped four points to Will Smith's bowlers. Al Gordon paced the winners with 377. Joe Altman rolled 350 and Gus Newman 324. Joe Schwartz rolled 361 for Morgan's men. Vin DeCesaris led his team to a 3-to-1 victory over Eli Rodin's squad with 334. Joe Levine helped with 310. Allie Shatkin turned in a 355 score for Rodin's rollers.

Lou Feldman's team maintained its first place spot in the National Division with a 3-to-1 victory over Percy Newman's keepers. Lou rolled 359, while his brother Sam, rolled 320. George Dann registered 322 for three strings. Frank Supnick rolled 349 for the losers.

Irwin Silverstein's team rolled a first string of 601 against Leo Kouffman's bowlers, with Jack Bilow leading the way with 155. Both figures are the second highest registered in the league this year. Bilow had 360 for three strings and Howie Fain 342. For Kouffman's team, Mike Silverstein rolled 334 and Dick Barber 337. The teams split four points.

Dave Ettine led Milt Weisman's team to a four-point victory over B 111 Matzner's bowlers. Dave rolled 356, Weisman 331. For the Matzner squad, Harry Gordon had 326, Murray Trinkle 335 and Matzner 319. Howie Nelson's team came up with a four-point victory over Jack Applebaum's bowlers. In that contest, Ben Adler rolled 313, Lou Gordon 316, George Bressler 329 and Applebaum 314.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS
by Ben Feld

With Harold Case rolling 342 and Harold Dubin 328 Pythias swept four games from Monitor and retained first place. The losers' best bowling came from "Doc" Markowitz 354 and Joe Matzner 118 and Bert Pickar 111. Senator picked up three games from Damon behind Hy Ladow's 335 and Len Goldman's 304. Harry Wasserman's 121 and Mike Shulkin's 110 were high for the losers. Friendship knocked off Prelate three games. Lew Snyder 110, Saul Miller 109, Sid Matzner 105 and Bob Berlinsky 104 paced the winners. Prelate's top men were Brown 118 and Aron 105.

Other good singles were Harold

FINEMAN-TRINKEL POST

At the completion of the first half of the season the following bowlers have a 100-plus average: Burt Himmelfarb 111, Mort Klibanoff and Merlyn Rodyn 110, Donald Cohen 109, Sam Miller 108, Gene Silverman and Murray Gordon 107, Les Friedman, Reeve Zatloff, Jimmy Hochman, Jack Jacobson and Dave Allen 105, Charlie Steingold, Sam Feldman and Nate Gordon 103, Phil Shaulson, Harry Shore, Gene Aaronson and George Feldman 103, Harold Golden, Morris Zatloff, Art Pivnick, Speed Kessler and Irving Datz 102, Archie Greenberg, Lou Millen, Justin Robinson, Irving Schaeffer, Sam Tapper and Lenny Levine 101; Max Chen, Stuie Steingold, Arnold Kleinman, Benton Goldblatt and Jerry Rubin 100.

High individual single: Arnold Kleinman and Phil Shaulson 157, Benton Goldblatt 156, and Jack Jacobson 155.

High individual three: Mort Klibanoff 440, Harry Shore 404, and Donald Cohen 383.

High Team Single: Tigers 592 (Team members are Norm Goldberg, Irv Kaplan, Jimmy Hochman, Harry Shore, Gene Silverman); Athletics 571 (Mel Wasserman, Ben Goldblatt, Archie Greenberg, Lou Lerner, Les Friedman); Reds 570 (Sam Miller, Ernie Krasner, Murray Zuckerman, Harold Levine, Speed Kessler).

High Team Three: Tigers 1644, Athletics 1638, White Sox 1597, (Norm Tilles, Len Summer, Phil Feldman, Burt Himmelfarb, Nate Gordon).

The White Sox lead the league, with the Yankees second and the Dodgers third.

A.E. Pi BOWLING

The league-leading Barons eked out two points, winning the second string with the aid of a handicap, by 2 pins, and the third string by only one pin. Leading the Barons were Owen Kwasha 325, Al Jacobs 304 and Si Nemzow 300. Don Cohen 317 and Marv Geller paced the Bears. The second place Flyers took 4 from the Bisons and now trail by only two points. Babe Gertz with high for the night 358 (121, 127, 110) led the Flyers. He was ably assisted by Art Flink's 329 and Jack Temkin's 309. Jerry Port 337 and Merrill Temkin 308 were high for the losers. Jerry Freiberg with 339 (115, 113, 113) and Ruby Plushner 312 led the Eagles to a 3-1 victory over the Indians despite the fine individual effort of Saul Feinstein with 356 (96, 127, 133). Warren Fish's 309 for the Indians couldn't turn the tide. The Mohawks vacated last place as they defeated the seventh-place Hornets 3-1. Murray Hahn and Leon Temkin with 320's and Howie La Pidus 304 made the difference. Walt Weisman 334, Charlie Cohn 305 and Len Lazarus 303 paced the Hornets.

Good singles were Owen Kwasha 129, Leon Temkin and Jerry Port 127, Murray Hahn 124, Don Cohen 122, Charlie Cohn and Howie LaPidus 119, Ruby Plushner 118, Walt Weisman and Art Flink with identical 117 and 111's. Also Lloyd Turoff 116, Warren Fish 115, Len Lazarus 113, Mitch Geller 112, Al Jacobs and Sid Dressler 110's.

Senator Lehman A Paradox in Politics

By JOSEPH BRAINAN
(From Opinion)

Senator Herbert Lehman was hailed by Dr. Israel Goldstein, A.J. Congress president, who praised him as "a man who has sparked and inspired the fight for more humane, more American immigration laws."

Herbert H. Lehman is a paradox in American politics. When, at the age of 42, he jumped into the political chariot of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, he was a senior partner in Lehman Brothers, one of the world's mightiest banking firms. Once in the arena, notwithstanding his background of big business, he rapidly developed into one of America's outstanding spokesmen for liberalism.

There was never anything remotely flashy about Lehman. He is a prudent politician with no particular knack for self-promotion or phrase-coining, yet he is acknowledged one of the country's most spectacular vote-getters.

Liberal Fighter

Today, at 74, Herbert Lehman is battling with youthful vigor for liberal legislation in the U. S. Senate. When he rises to speak he is always well armed with facts and documents. He presents his case fairly and soberly, without indulging in ornamental flourishes. He substitutes simple logic and unshakable conviction for intellectual acrobatics.

Three High Offices

Senator Lehman is the first New Yorker in a century to have served his state in its three highest elective offices—twice as Lieutenant-Governor (1928-32), four times as Governor (1932-42) and twice as U. S. Senator, having been elected in 1949 and 1950. From 1943 to 1946 he held the post of Director-General of UNRRA (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration). A remarkable career.

FDR-Lehman Team

The Roosevelt-Lehman team made history in Albany.

Roosevelt, not slow to appreciate the thoroughness and enthusiasm of his "right arm," delegated many important tasks to him. During Roosevelt's absences Lehman, as Acting Governor, gave evidence of not only administrative ability but great moral courage. On one occasion he ordered the State Police and National Guard to storm the State Prison at Auburn to restore law and order.

When the 1929 depression struck and a number of important financial institutions collapsed, he virtually singlehandedly persuaded the solvent banks to pitch in and thus save the holdings of countless small depositors.

The Lehman era in Albany is one of the most brilliant in the annals of the Democratic party. Governor Lehman administered the affairs of the state for four full terms, writing new history by his efficient and creative statesmanship.

When he became Governor, in 1933, Lehman was faced with a deficit of $100,000,000. When he retired from the governorship ten years later he had wiped out the deficit and left his successor an $80,000,000 surplus. What is more, during that period he substantially reduced taxes, especially the personal income tax.

Liberal Program

Lehman's record as Governor of New York includes, among other things: a revitalized Workmen's Compensation Law, State Labor Relations and Mediation Boards, a great social security program that included assistance to the blind, aid to dependent children, maternal and child welfare assistance, and to crippled children, and a multitude of public health projects.

Lehman's administration must also be credited with the greatest public housing and slum clearance program ever attempted by a state.

UNRRA Director

When Lehman launched UNRRA in 1943 he was a man of 65, an age when men usually think of retiring. Yet he brought to UNRRA an enthusiasm and energy that younger men could hardly have equaled. During the war years of his UNRRA work he traveled halfway around the world, crossing the submarine-infested Atlantic eight times, personally checking UNRRA operations in the devastated areas. He recognized from the outset the potential international good will of an effective UNRRA, and spent himself to the exhaustion point, bringing to bear on each of the many phases of this global operation his genius for business, his creative statesmanship, his personal charm and diplomatic savoir faire.

B'nai B'rith Girls To Install Sunday

The Narragansett Chapter of B'nai B'rith Girls will install the following officers Sunday at the Narragansett Hotel: Sandra Frank, president; Adele Sheffres, vice-president; Rhoda Levy, secretary; Barbara Halpern, treasurer, and Roberta Miller, corresponding secretary.

The group is completing plans for the New England B'nai B'rith Girls Convention to be held here in February.

BOWLING

CRANSTON MEN BOWLING

by Phil Chopak

Moe Cofman's Indians remained in first position at the season's half-way mark by virtue of their 3-1 victory over Sid Fox's Browns. Moe Bernstein 321 and Fred Kaffrissen 317 took top honors for their respective teams. The second place Red Sox, piloted by Doc Woolf, provided a thrill-a-minute in an uphill fight against Sam Jacobs' Pirates as they gained a split verdict. Harold Warren, who hit a top single of 155 and a 388 triple, and Ben Lerner 322 were best for the Buccs, with Moe Kessler providing 320 for the Sox. The Pirates set a new high single mark for a team with 563.

Jim Shocket's Cubs gained 3 points from Irv Beranbaum's Braves, with Moe Filler 311 as their big gun. Bill Deitch 326 had the heavy artillery for the Braves. Al Samdperil's White Sox triumphed in 3 games against Mike Miller's Dodgers; Al rolled 330 and Max Fershtman 319 for the losers.

Other 300 men included Nate Honig 333, Ed Lane 328, Irv Rubin 317, Julian Holland 306.

The outstanding single strings were Mel Shanfield 123, Warren Foster 119, Art Siegel 116, Marv Rodinsky and Sam Rose 114, Seymour Kriss, Sam Feingold and Al Silverstein 112, Ed Berman 120, Bob Goldberg 110, Ken Sackett 108, Sam Berger 107, Harold Aven 109, Wally Shwartz 106, Dan Kouffman 106, Bernie Wexler and Dave Hoffman 104, Joe Agar 103, Lou Gladstone and Burt Litchman 102, Izzie Press 101.

PROVIDENCE FRATERNAL BOWLING

by Ben Medwin

Throwing four strikes and one spare, Jack Smith bowled 149 and broke single for the league. With a 91 and 111 for a total of 351, Smith could do no better than help Fraternity take only one game from Security, who had to bowl the last string of 632 to pull three games out of the match. Kitzes' 130, Gladstone's 128 and Jaffa's 104 did the trick. Bottom team Justice finally won four games, and dropped Loyalty to third spot. Delerson's score of 105-124-103 for 332 helped the winners. G. Labush's 122 single paced the losers. Unity took three from top team Liberty and pulled into second place only four games behind. For Unity it was Chaiken for 313. Other high threes were Kitzes 329 and Gladstone 324.

Some singles were Paul 108, Seltzer 106, Zwetckhenbaum and Diamond 105 and Lisker 104.

THE SUNNYSIDE DEBS

by Florence Delerson

Esther Miller rolled high single of 115 and Millie Tragar 294 for high three. Other good scores were Elsie Zipkin 110, Dottie Leonard 103, Millie Tragar 102, Mimi Rodyn 96, Evelyn Wasser 94, Florence Cohen 92, Marie Silverman 91 and Natalie Bloomberg 90.

Team D remains in first place with 30 points and Team B has 25 points.

"Traitors in the News"

(Excerpt from a sermon by Rabbi Eli A. Bohnen of Temple Emanuel)

"I rebel against the thought that I or any other Jew is supposed to feel responsible for the treason or other crimes of anyone of Jewish ancestry. For one thing, it is a fact that these traitors and criminals became traitors to Judaism long before their treachery was directed into other channels. I am well aware of the principle that 'All Israelites are responsible for one another'. But this means only that I am to come to the aid of my fellows when they need my help.

"The time has come for us to stop adopting everyone of Jewish ancestry just because he has achieved fame, whether he be a movie star, an atom scientist, or a baseball player. By the same token we need not feel responsible for those who have earned notoriety through their misdeeds. Jews will earn the right to be considered mature when they are prepared to take credit only for those achievements of others in which they have played some vital part, and when they refuse to consider themselves involved in the wrongdoing of others unless they have been real accomplices. To act or think otherwise is to live in a mental ghetto which is much more confining than those in which our ancestors suffered."

Mutual Return Of Sailing Vessels

TEL AVIV—Two Syrian sailing vessels captured in Israeli territorial waters into which they drifted recently during a spell of bad weather will shortly be returned to the Syrian authorities, it was announced here. Israel and Syria have concluded an agreement providing for the return of each other's vessels which have violated territorial waters as a result of storms or engine trouble.

Arab League Meets On UN Proposal

LONDON—The Arab League has issued a call for a meeting of its seven member nations in Cairo to discuss the opposition of the Arab states to the United Nations resolution urging direct Arab-Israeli peace talks, it was reported from Cairo. The report said that the Egyptian press bitterly criticizes the United Nations resolution. It added that Egyptian Government leaders are of the opinion that peace talks cannot be started with Israel until the Arab refugee problem is solved.

Urge Truman To Keep Out Nazis

WASHINGTON—President Truman has been urged by Jesse Moss, National Commander of the Jewish War Veterans, to do everything in his power to keep Nazis from being admitted to the United States under terms of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act. In a White House visit, Mr. Moss told President Truman the JWW favored the barring of Communists and considered Nazis "equally obnoxious and undesirable."

US Embassy Issues Citizen Proof

TEL AVIV—The American Embassy here has begun issuing certificates of proof of United States citizenship to all American nationals living in this country. The Embassy has also begun listing Americans serving in the Israel Army who do not desire to withdraw from the Army. The Embassy's activities are in connection with the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Naturalization Act, which went into effect Wednesday and provides that Americans serving in foreign armies on that date will forfeit their citizenship.

"One Man's Opinion"

BY BERYL SEGAL

The Battle of the Bagels

"It's your turn now," readers keep reminding me.

They mean, of course, that it is my move now in the controversy over the Bagels and Yoz affair with the president of the Cranston Jewish Center.

No, I do not intend to continue the battle of the Bagels. When I place the insults leveled at me by my critics on one scale, and the encouraging hand shake of a man like Rabbi Eli Bohnen on the other scale, I feel more than rewarded. To reply to the open letter as phrased by the president of the Cranston Center, one must reply in kind, and that I do not choose to do.

I wrote what I wrote about the show and the sponsors of the show, because I believe it is the duty and the privilege of a newspaper writer to point out foibles in communal life, just as it is the duty and the privilege of Rabbis, teachers and public speakers to do so. My remarks were made in good faith, without axes to grind and without favors to expect in return. If they were misinterpreted, that reflects on those who did the interpretations rather than on me. In the future I will continue to encourage the worth while in our communal life, and to condemn all that is sham and vulgar according to the dictates of my conscience.

I recall a similar case some three years ago. We will call it the case of the Hallow'en party. One night as I entered the auditorium of a temple, I saw the walls and ceilings decorated in the traditional Hallow'en style. Witches, and goblins, and skeletons dangled from every nook and corner. Very frightening. Upon inquiry I learned that the Hallow'en party and dance was being sponsored by the youth chapter of the local Labor Zionist group. My column on that week began with a mock Good Yomtov to my young friends, and I pointed out to them the impropriety of their sponsorship of a dance and party of that nature. Mind you, this club of young people needed the funds, and for a very good purpose, too, a purpose close to my heart, and they wanted to have fun. But no letters of protest came to the editor, and the telephone wires did not blush with insulting messages. No one accused me of being a self-appointed moralist and censor. No one pitied me for being incapable of having fun and laughing. No one cried about deliberate attempts to damage a fund-raising project.

Instead, the chairman of the club, Joseph Teverov, admitted that I was right, and I am enjoying his friendship to this day. I have been invited to speak at gatherings of the club on several occasions. I did so gladly, and I came out undamaged.

So, you see, it all depends on who the chairman or president happens to be.

Therefore, I say, I am not continuing the Bagels and Yoz discussion with the Cranston Center president. If I do come back to the show, it is to correct the notion that all Jewish shows and programs are more or less on the same level as the Bagel show. This is implied in several letters addressed to me, and it was stated in conversations on the subject. Nothing is further from the truth.

Fortunately, you do not have to take my word for it. Nor do you have to travel to New York for a sample of a good program of Jewish entertainment, the kind any communal organization or agency can be proud to present to the public. We will have a chance to compare the sham with the real thing this week-end, right here at home.

Now that you have seen Bagels and Yoz, go to see the Theater Caravan presented by the Poale Zion — Farband organizations of Providence. This Sunday night, at the School of Design, on Market Square, a program will be given that is worthy of the name Jewish theater art. Not Burlesque. Not Vaudeville. Jewish dramatic art, music and humor at its best.

How do I know it? Why am I so sure that the program will be good? I feel safe in promising you an evening of good drama, good music, and good laughter, because the names of the artists stand for all these things.

Jacob Ben Ami and Bertha Gersten of the Yiddish Art Theater, Ahuva Tzadok the Yeminite singer, Nahum Nardi the famous composer, Al Harris the seasoned humorist—these names stand for all that is fine, and real, and unadulterated in the Jewish theater.

And believe me, my friends, contrary to the insinuations, I am nobody's press agent, and I am not a promoter for any show. I am merely a newspaper columnist doing his duty and fulfilling his mission as I see it.

(The author of this column is given the widest latitude. The views expressed herein are not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

bodies. He was the ambassador of American Jewry, and one of its foremost creative personalities.

He was a distinguished American, particularly active in academic and intellectual circles. For a time, he was the second highest professional officer of the Smithsonian Institute in Washington.

When President Franklin D. Roosevelt created a commission of representatives of American religious opinion to help in the preparation of post-war peace plans he selected Cyrus Adler to represent the Jewish community.

During the three years of the Adler administration as president of the United Synagogue the number of affiliated synagogues increased. Measures were discussed and enacted intended to implement the projected practical procedures whose purpose was to give character, color and form to the congregation.

In the field of education, a survey of the religious schools of affiliated congregations was completed, studied and analyzed. A uniform curriculum for these schools was projected. The problem of trained teachers attracted eager attention; a plan for the education of personnel in the various localities was prepared and put into effect. Initial steps were taken to prepare textbooks of consequence.

Besides, vital questions of finance, organization and propaganda had to be heeded and answered because the very life of the institution depended upon competent and salutary action in these respects. These formative years were exciting and fruitful, dotted with achievements.

Cyrus Adler has a definite and secure place in the story of the Conservative movement and in that of Jewish history. His life has refuted the idea that it is incompatible for an American gentleman to be an observant Jew. He was a distinguished American gentleman and a distinguished Jew, observant and pious. His wisdom and industry, his convictions and his faith are part of the imperishable structure of the Conservative movement.

YOUNG ADULT DISCUSSION GP

The Young Adult Discussion Group of the Jewish Community Center will hear a discussion of ballroom dancing by a staff member of the Arthur Murray Dance Studios Sunday at 8:30 P. M. at the Center. A committee meeting will precede the discussion. Dancing will complete the program and refreshments will be served.

Native American Leads in Growth of Conservatism

by RABBI HERBERT PARZEN

In the portrait gallery of the Conservative Movement, Dr. Cyrus Adler occupies a prominent place. He was associated in various capacities with the Seminary and its ancillary institutions, from 1887 to 1940, their initial and formative periods. At the same time, he was the architect, the engineer and the administrator of institutions and organizations that are the foundations of the Jewish community in this country.

Born in Arkansas, in 1863, he received his Jewish and general education and training in Philadelphia and Baltimore. His association with Conservative Judaism began when he served as instructor in Biblical archeology at the old Seminary and as counselor to Dr. Sabato Morais, his rabbi, and the founder-president of the institution. His work was decisive in its reorganization on sound financial foundations and in bringing Solomon Schechter to preside and guide it.

He functioned as the executive officer of the institution and played a role, second only to Solomon Schechter, in its growth. He succeeded Dr. Schechter, in 1914, as president of the United Synagogue, until his resignation in 1917. He remained his constant friend throughout his life. When Solomon Schechter died, in 1915, he was elected acting-president of the Seminary, and in 1924 he became president and served until his death in 1940.

He helped to found and direct a series of additional institutions and organizations that have become the bulwark of the Jewish community: Jewish Publication Society, the American Jewish Historical Society, Dropsie College, the Jewish Quarterly Review, the Jewish Welfare Board, are the cultural organs, the American Jewish Committee, the Joint Distribution Committee, the Jewish Agency for Palestine, are some of the significant social and political

SYD COHEN:

The Bowling Congress Sponsors A Tourney

If you are the kind of person who is interested in famous firsts, then you won't mind having your attention drawn to a bowling tournament to be held this coming Sunday at the Casino Alleys. This one will mark the first effort of the newly formed Rhode Island Jewish Bowling Congress. And it merits mention on that count, as well as for the charity that will benefit from the event.

No less than ten leagues and 200 individual keglers will be on hand for Sunday's tournament, which constitutes an all-time record for Jewish bowling in Rhode Island, unless this small patch of newsprint is entirely wet.

From the size of the entry list alone, you can tell that the committee in charge of the event has had its hands full making adequate plans to insure that all details are handled competently and smoothly. And Cranston's Ed Lang, chairman, can prove that this is the case. Read along a while and see if you don't agree.

To begin with, the March of Dimes will be the biggest winner from Sunday's tourney. The polo fund drive will benefit to the extent of one dollar from each contestant, in addition to whatever loose change may be picked up from spectators along the sidelines. Each bowler will be assessed two dollars in all, but the other buck goes for the usual bowling fees involved in tourneys of this sort.

Let it be hastily added that not a dime will be taken home by the R.I.J.B.C.

Obviously, 200 bowlers at one time would tax the capacity of any alleys; so Lang and his committee have devised a unique plan to handle the crowd. The tourney has been divided into two sections. The first group, consisting of the top 20 of Temples Beth El, Beth Israel and Emanuel, Cranston Jewish Center and Fineman-Trinkel Post, Jewish War Veterans, will be ready to start bowling at 1 o'clock sharp. Exactly two hours later, the men of Beth-David, Knights of Pythias, JWV Post 23, Providence Fraternal and A E Pi Fraternity will move to the lines.

The committee emphasizes that the action must start at 1 o'clock and 3 o'clock, depending on which group is involved. That means the bowlers must be on hand and ready to go at the times specified. Arrival at the alleys 15 minutes early will be wise.

The tournament will be settled by total pinfall—that is, the league whose 20 men compile the highest score will be adjudged the winner. And a silver loving cup will be the reward—except that the cup will not be presented until the first annual banquet to be sponsored by the Jewish Bowling Congress later this year.

This division has the five biggest leagues (in terms of membership) bowling together, and the five smaller ones rolling simultaneously. However, every league has the same chance to win, since a handicap system will be in effect. The handicaps have been worked out according to the official records of the individual leagues; so it is actually pinfall plus handicap that will settle the issue.

A giant scoresheet has been devised, and all scores will be posted for everyone to see as they are recorded. There will be no need to cluster around the scorers' table to determine which league is the winner.

Nor will there be confusion as the keglers enter the alleys. According to Lang, alleys have been assigned to various leagues, so that immediately upon arrival, the boys will be able to move directly to their proper firing lines.

And no time will be lost waiting for some early and ambitious birds to complete their practice sessions. There will be no pre-tourney warmup strings. Each kegler will get three practice balls with which to loosen his arm and warm up for the big task.

Also, each bowler will roll just one box at a time, not the customary two. Each pair of alleys will be shared by representatives of two different leagues; and upon rolling his box, the individual kegler will move to the next alley for his next box. Completing that, he will move back to his original position and wait his next turn.

Incidentally, each league is advised to send along three or four spares. The afternoon will be hectic and busy without any delays while a league waits for the last few men to show up. If they do not appear on time, the spares will be available to take over.

Working on this strict timetable, the committee figures that the tournament should be over by around 5 o'clock. The results will be known very shortly thereafter.

Now it is easy to tell how much preparation has gone into the planning of this first tournament of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress. There will be other match contests, of course, but the point is that this one is the first one, and therefore a vital one. It is the tourney that will set the precedent for all the others.

Up to now, the enthusiasm engendered by the new congress is running high. May it continue to grow in spirit and participation! And may the March of Dimes campaign realize a very sizable contribution from this ten-league match.

Big League Little Talk

The American League has won six straight World Series, a string never before matched by either major league. The longest previous winning streak was also by the Americans—five years—from 1935 through 1939... But no club, major or minor, can match the record of the Baltimore Orioles of the 1920's, who copped seven pennants in a row.

The Chicago White Sox pitching staff was in many ways the best hurling unit in the American League last year. Pale Hose chuckers held their combined enemy batters to an average of .238. This is three points better than the record compiled by the Indians, and 13 better than the World Champ Yanks.

The White Sox also struck out 774 American Leaguers, 72 better than the Tigers, 103 higher than Cleveland and 108 over the Yanks. Chicago pitchers yielded 86 home runs, the Yanks and Indians 94. If you're looking for a long shot for the pennant, what more could you ask for?

BOWLING

R. I. J. F. A. BOWLING

by L. Sacarovitz

Hy Kravitz helped the Red Sox take first place in winning three games from the Indians by scoring 97, 126, 115 for a new high three of 338. The Indians dropped to second place. Bert Reffkin of the Dodgers came in for high single, helping his team defeat the Yankees in their three games.

Other high scores were made by S. Millman 106, 108, A. Klar 100, L. Russian 111 and L. Sacarovitz 101.

BETH ISRAEL BOWLING

by Sam Eisenberg

Spearheaded by Capt. Sam Segal who rolled 123, 113, 143 for 378, and Donald Bernstein with 102, 122, 112 for 336, Brandeis overwhelmed Army 4-0, piling up 1585 pins to tie the season's team high. Cornell took Yale 4-0 as Max Susman rolled 114, 128, 100 for 342. Sy Aron's 109, 122, 114 for 345 for Yale failing to prevent the defeat. With Al Abrams totalling 329 and Oscar Zarchen 318, Rhode Island tripped Brown 3-1. B. Levine's 314 being best for the losers. Pennsylvania bested Syracuse 3-1, riding on the excellent rolling of Sid Cantoff, 104, 127, 125 for 356.

In other games matching Connecticut with Harvard, Navy with Dartmouth and Princeton with Columbia, each team split as Marshall Marcus bowled 333, Charlie Winkelman 332, Irving Levine 326, Sam Osterman 324 and Harold Fishman 317. Best single went to Sam Segal at 143.

FINEMAN-TRINKEL AUX.

by Sylvia Krasner

High threes were Anita Weitzner 310 and Sylvia Krasner 307. Commendable single strings were by Arline Slack 107, Sylvia Price 106, Jeanne Alterman and Besse Platt 105, Millie Pivnick 103, Myk Resnick 102, Phyllis Sholovitz 100, Charlotte Miller 97, Sheila Halpern 96, Hope Himelfarb 95, Charlotte Goldberg and Hindy Lozov 93, Sally Summer 92, Ruth Haft and Sally Ludman 91, Ann Steingold and Rita Levine 90.

N. T. CLUB BOWLING

by Mark Weinberg

Capt. Bernie Kahn's two 114 strings and 305 total led his last place Browns to a 3 to 1 victory of the Red Sox and into a tie for third place. Red Soaker Max Tetelbaum broke out of his prolonged slump for scores of 125, 105, 96 for 325. Capt. Jake Orlick and his Indians chalked up a 3 to 1 victory over the Yanks. Jake's 106 and 112, Phil Zimberg's 100, 108, 110 dominated the play.

Highs for the night were Hermie Rosenberg 122, Mark Weinberg 116, Victor Gold 112, Hy Weinberg 105, George Weinberg 104. Apologies to Hank Jacober for omitting listing his high of 339 in last week's bowling resume.

BETH-DAVID BOWLING

By Milton Miller

Joe Brososky's 311 helped guide the last-place Cranes to two out of three over the Eagles. Miller's 129, Stan Tippe's 116 and Sam Kopel's 110 all helped. Al Greenberg's 130 helped salvage one game. The high-flying Hawks, minus their leading bowler, Joel Pressman, eked out three over the Falcons. Harv Pollock's 111 helped in the wins. Dutch Behlove's 116 was in vain. Lew Weinstein's high for the night, 135, 119, 117 for 371, was good enough to lead the Vultures to three over the Swans. Al Snell's 124 was another reason for victory.

Other good singles were by Ken Resnick 116, Ernie Chermack and Marty Goldshine 109 and Mel Greenberg 108.

NIFTY SPEAKER

Senior Nifty will have Rabbi William G. Braude as guest speaker at a meeting at 7:30 P. M. Sunday at Temple Beth El. His topic will be "A Preview of Tomorrow's Telecast" and will be followed by a question and answer period.

Convalescent Home Elects Officers

The following officers were elected at a recent board meeting of the Jewish Convalescent Home of Rhode Island, at the home of Mrs. M. Eisenstadt, Somerset Street: Mesdames Archie Baker, president; David Friedman, vice-president; M. Gold, corresponding secretary; M. Eisenstadt, treasurer; David Weisman and D. Schechter, trustees, and David Spivack, honorary president.

The next board meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Friedman.

Jewish Altar To Be Dedicated

B'nai Brith will dedicate the Jewish altar at the interfaith Chapel of Four Chaplains in Philadelphia, which it donated in memory of Chaplain Alexander D. Goode, at public Sabbath services on Friday evening, Jan. 30. B'nai Brith officials announced this week. The Protestant and Catholic altars have already been dedicated.

The occasion will mark the tenth anniversary of the sinking of the USS Dorchester on Feb. 3, 1943, when the now-legendary four chaplains lost their lives.

BOWLING FINEMAN-TRINKEL
by Jack Jacobson

The White Sox moved back into top spot as they dealt a stinging defeat to Danny Saltzman's Braves. Rolling 345, Burt Himelfarb once again moved back into first place for the best average in his nip and tuck battle with Mort Klibanoff and Merlyn Rodyn. Nate Gordon rolled 335 but it was the 106, 108 and 118 for 332 total by Norm Tillis which gave the White Sox their margin of victory. The Indians bowled 1591 which ordinarily should be good for at least 2 or 3 points, yet lost the entire 4 points as the A's went wild with 1638—519, 571 and 548. For the Athletics Les Friedman had 358, Benton Goldblatt 353, Archie Greenberg 338, Mel Wasserman 322; and for the Indians Murray Gordon rolled 358, Morris Satloff 356 and Abe Lobel 315.

The Cubs split with the Dodgers as Irving Schaeffer had 348, Max Cohen 335 and George Feldman 314; all the Dodgers had at least 300 — Sid Brown and Harold Golden 310, Marv Greenberg 309, Sam Feldman 307 and Jerry Resnick 300.

Stuie Steingold rolled strikes in the last box of each string to give him 359 and the Giants a 3-1 victory over the Reds as Speed Kessler with 345 and Sam Miller with 334 were best in a losing battle.

Jack Jacobson's Red Sox defeated the Senators and this tied the two teams for 7th place. Donald Cohen had 134, 122 and 125 for 381. Harvey Stein rolled 330, Billy Edelman 327, Reeve Zatloff 326, Arky Burrows 318 and Justin Robinson 311.

Other leading totals were Merlyn Rodyn 325, Jimmy Hochman 323, Sherman Greenus 318, Al Resnick 317, Leo Schwartz 313, Irving Datz 306, Allan Silverman 303, Dave Allen, Murray Zuckerman and Al Gordon 302, Phil Feldman and Jack Jacobson 300.

HABONIM BOWLING PARTY

The Macabees, Habonim chapter, held a bowling party at the Hamlet Bowlway last week. Top bowlers were Edith Harriet, Roberta Gordon and Rona Feldman. The group is planning a theater party for tomorrow.
