Plan Dedication Week for Center's South Side Branch

Completion of the Providence Jewish Community Center's South Side Branch building will be marked by special programs for all age groups during Dedication Week, which has been set for December 10-17, according to Peter H. Bardach, Center president.

"Chanukah Week will have special significance to us this year in Providence, for this is the week chosen to dedicate Providence Jewry's newest communal structure" said Mr. Bardach. Completion of this fine Center in the South Side of our city, with increased opportunity for our children and adults, will be hailed by all. For the community, it represents an additional aid in making Providence a better place in which to live.

"Concretely, what does the new Center edifice, dedicated to the highest Jewish ideals, symbolize for us? It epitomizes, we think, the faith of our community and its leaders in the future and underlines their concern with the development of a well-equipped Jewish youth and a secure, harmonious community. For the Centers of our nation stress individual personality and integrity, and significant group experience. Hence, they are splendid instruments working for a finer democracy and a more fruitful life for Jewry.

"As Jews we have cause for rejoicing that our Center is rededicating itself this Chanukah to develop programs for the attainment of an informed Jewish community, able to participate intelligently in our society.

"The new building and facilities mean that the Center leadership and staff can plan more intensively for adult and youth activities along recreational and educational lines and that it can provide more adequately for programs connected with the Jewish festivals, social functions, and such community-wide types of programs as Jewish Book and Music Month.

"Finally, our new Center building will enable us to offer to the Jewish community additional facilities that will draw to Center all segments of our Jewish community, and further strengthen our Center as the cultural, recreational and social hub of our community."

YAD Initial Gifts Dinner Shows One Third Increase in Pledges

Young Adults of the Greater Providence area gathered last Sunday evening at the Ledgemont Country Club to hold their annual initial gifts dinner. The total amount of money raised was one-third more than last year and is evidence that Young Adults in the area are cognizant of their responsibility to their community and to Israel.

Feature speaker of the evening was Leo Lania, editor of World

Magazine.

Oscar Goldstein was the feature entertainer of the evening. Sidney Rabinowitz represented the General Jewish Committee and explained the function of many of the local agencies that benefit from GJC funds.

Martin Dittelman, chairman of the affair and Lewis Goldstein, Young Adult Division chairman, stated they were pleased with the fine attendance.

Seized in Hiding of Orphan Girl

THE HAGUE—A nun and another Roman Catholic woman convicted by a Dutch court of preventing a 14-year-old Jewish girl from joining her legal guardians have been arrested at Brussels, Belgium, the Dutch Foreign Ministry announced today. Their extradition to this country is being sought.

The nun is Dutch-born Mother Superior Verspeck, of the Belgian convent of Walmeer who was sentenced in absentia to six months imprisonment by an Amsterdam court on Oct. 24. She was charged with hiding orphaned Anna Henriette Beekman in the convent in spite of a demand by Dutch authorities that the girl be turned over to guardians of the Jewish faith.

The other woman also sentenced in absentia, is Gertrude Landendijk-Van Moorst, who looked after the girl during the German occupation of this country and was also found guilty, by the same court, of defying the Dutch guardianship order.

Say Israel Stand Won't Kill Eden Plan

LONDON—The British government expressed regret over Israel's "uncompromising attitude" toward new Middle East peace proposals made by Prime Minister Eden. But there was no indication that a combined Anglo-American drive to arrange an Israeli-Egyptian settlement would be deterred by the Israeli reaction to Sir Anthony's major policy speech Wednesday night.

American Ambassador Winthrop W. Aldrich called on Sir Anthony this morning. Officials said it could be assumed that the principal reason for the meeting was the common interest of both governments in the re-establishment of order in the Middle East.

One obvious aim of American and British policies at the moment is to patch up the quarrel between Israel and the Arab states and thus interrupt the Soviet Union's new attempt to establish itself in the Middle East.

Sir Anthony Eden's settlement proposal is that Israel and Egypt start negotiations, with Great Britain as a mediator. Sir Anthony said a compromise could be found between the 1947 resolution on boundaries and the 1949 Palestine armistice lines.

Jewish Groups Charge Infringement of Rights

NEW YORK — Forty-three Jewish organizations charged this week that serious infringements of constitutional provisions guaranteeing religious freedom and the separation of church and state are taking place in four "major areas" of American life.

These four areas were described in a letter to the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights by the Synagogue Council of America and the National Community Relations Advisory Council as follows:

1. Involvement of the public school in religious instruction and observance.
2. Grant of tax-raised funds for religious education and use of government property by religious organizations for religious purposes.
3. Enforcement of compulsory Sunday laws against persons observing the seventh day as the Sabbath.
4. Restrictions on the erection of houses of worship and religious organizations for residential communities.

Letter Filed With Senators

The letter of the J. A. C. was filed with the Senate subcommittee with expressions of regret that the latter had canceled a scheduled hearing on the status of religious freedom in this country." The J. A. C. represents national synagogal and rabbinic organizations as well as regional and local civic Jewish groups, including the American Jewish Congress, the Central Conference of American Rabbis, the Rabbinical Assembly of America, and others.

Signed by Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman, president of the Synagogue Council of America, and Mortimer Brenner, a New York communal leader and attorney, the statement said in part that Jewish organizations today are finding a "most serious threat" to the principle of religious freedom and separation of church and state because of "ever increasing pressure to introduce religious instruction and practices into the public schools."

Miriam to Open Heart Lab Service

A new cardio-pulmonary laboratory service, the first of its kind in Rhode Island, will be inaugurated by Miriam Hospital on Monday, Nov. 28.

Designed to fill an important gap in the investigation of heart disease in this state, the new lab service will be conducted with new X-Ray and electrocardiographic equipment and necessary chemistry laboratory facilities already installed by the Miriam.

Exercises incident to the opening of the service will include a program of heart surgery that will feature lectures by two nationally prominent heart specialists, Dr. John B. Grow and Dr. Herbert Harned. These exercises will be held on Nov. 28.

Complete details on the Miriam's new community service will be listed in next week's Herald.

Captains Meet To Plan D-Day

D-Day captains met last Tuesday night to formulate plans for the one-day solicitation for the 1955 campaign of the General Jewish Committee on Sunday, December 4.

The D-Day drive will open with a breakfast at the Narragansett Hotel where headquarters will be set up for the day.

More than 300 men are expected to volunteer this year for the D-Day effort.

"Cruel Sea" to Open JCC Film Series

A series of eight foreign and American films will be presented by the Jewish Community Center during its 1955-1956 "Film Classics Series," which will begin on Sunday evening, Nov. 27, at the South Side Branch building, 45 Hamilton Street, and continue at three-week intervals thereafter, alternately at the Sessions Street building.

Milton Stanzler and Dr. Richard Deutch, chairmen of the Film Classics committee, announced that "The Cruel Sea" will be the opening feature.

Other films to be seen in the series include Alfred Hitchcock's "The Lady Vanishes," "The Maltese Falcon," "State Fair," "Bicycle Thief," "Carnival in Flanders," "Children of Paradise" and "Open City."

Arrest Pro-Peron Argentine Jews

NEW YORK—A number of Argentine Jews are among the pro-Peronists who have been arrested recently in Argentina, according to information received by the World Jewish Congress. Those arrested include Pablo Manguel, first Argentine Minister to Israel. In the view of Dr. M. L. Perlzweig, Political Director (New York) of the World Jewish Congress, no Jewish significance attaches to these arrests according to information available, and the situation, as far as the Jewish community is concerned, is calm.

From other sources the World Jewish Congress learns that a number of young Argentine Jews were among the forces that took part in the first unsuccessful revolt against Peron earlier this summer. The men were interned in Uruguay when their aircraft and ships sought refuge at Montevideo.

TO SHOW CANCER FILM

A lecturer from the Rhode Island Cancer Society will show films and present general information at a meeting of the Lt. Leonard Bloom Auxillary No. 284, to be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock at Congregation Sons of Abraham. Mrs. Eleanor Israel is in charge of refreshments. The meeting is open to the public.

Jerry Ross
 Dies; Writer
 Of Hit Songs

NEW YORK — Jerry Ross, 29, who with Richard Adler wrote the scores for the musicals "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," died last week at Lenox Hill Hospital of a chronic lung infection. He lived in New Rochelle, N. Y.

Mr. Ross had been suffering from the lung infection, chronic bronchiectasis, since his high school days when his desire to continue his education and pursue a career as a boy star in the Yiddish theater cost him so much sleep that a physician forced him to choose between the two. He chose school.

Mr. Ross was born in the Bronx as Jerold Rosenberg, the son of Jack and Lena Rosenberg, who had migrated here from Russia. His father was an embroidery machine operator until his son, after the success of "The Pajama Game," persuaded him to retire and fulfill a long ambition to be a painter.

T. and I. Report Luncheon Tuesday

A report luncheon next Tuesday, November 22, at noon at the Narragansett Hotel will climax a 10-day intensive fund-raising drive by the Trades and Industry Division of the 1955 campaign of the General Jewish Committee.

Joseph K. Levy, division chairman, said that with a streamlined program in effect this year, all cards are expected to be covered before the report luncheon. He pointed out that increased solicitation with a goal of increased contributions is being stressed during this 10-day period known as Trades and Industry Week.

Irving J. Fain is co-chairman of the division.

"This is a critical time in the life of Israel and the urgency of this year's campaign has been impressed on all the workers," Levy said. "Everyone in the Trades and Industry Division is making an extra effort this year to make the 1955 campaign successful so that we may render all possible assistance to Israel and our needy brethren in other parts of the world."

The drive of this division of the GJC campaign got off to an auspicious start last Sunday at the Trades and Industry Breakfast at the Ledgemont Country Club. More than 100 enthusiastic workers attended the affair which replaced separate trade dinners as held in the past.

As a result of a large turnout, each worker was given fewer cards than usual to solicit. Levy, who presided at the breakfast meeting, pointed out that this would facilitate the coverage of cards. Levy stresses the importance of soliciting all prospects during the 10-day period prior to the report luncheon.

Others who spoke briefly at the breakfast meeting were Henry J. Hassenfeld, General Jewish Committee president; Fain; Frank Licht, Initial Gifts chairman; Archibald Silverman, honorary president of the GJC, and Joseph Galkin, executive director of the GJC.

List Export Regulations For Israel Gift Parcels

U. S. export control regulations regarding the shipment of gift parcels abroad, were outlined in an announcement received here last week from the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Regulations regarding Israel shipments in particular included the following classifications:

"Gifts under $111 in aggregate value may be sent to Israel without an import license, provided that: (a) they are intended for the personal use of the recipient; (b) any one family does not receive more than one such gift shipment every three months; and (c) they do not include any of the following items: radios (except portable radios), refrigerators, washing machines, electric stoves, electric hot plates, motor vehicles, tires (except for tractors), intoxicating beverages, postage stamps.

The packaging of the shipments in reference to size, weight, etc., come under the following regulations:

"Maximum dimensions for parcels to Israel are 22 pounds gross weight: 42 inches in length, or 72 inches in length and girth combined."

The sending of commodities as gifts is also subject to the regulations of the receiving country.

The Thanksgiving Menu had been under discussion in the Foible home for more than a week, at least.

"No longer is it up to you to hunt the forest glade to shoot us a turkey like a Pilgrim," Mrs. F. pointed out to her husband, "and no longer is it necessary for me to dedicate weeks of my life to bringing this meal to fruition". She meant cook it.

"We'll start with an EGG NOG," she wrote on her pad. Mr. F. immediately glowed pleasantly and they whizzed through the rest of the menu in nothing flat.

You've never tasted an EGG NOG like ours. Proud of it, we are, and that's the truth.

Well, we should be, too. Luscious and creamy.. made with REAL EGGS and flecked with a whisper of nutmeg.

We've heard that some folks may add a dram of something slightly potent, but we can't see why. Our EGG NOG is utterly delicious in itself.

Try a quart or two. A phone call will cause one of our Driver-Salesmen to stop at your door. Smiling, of course!

Thunder Over Gaza

A FEW days ago there was a thunderstorm over the Gaza region, that Egyptian-held strip of Mediterranean coast thrusting northward into Israel. At the first flashes of lightning, many Israelis in near-by settlements jumped with apprehension. They feared that war had started—and the fear was undoubtedly duplicated on the other side of the deep-plowed furrow that marks the troubled border. With raids flaring both in the Gaza sector and in the El Auja "demilitarized" zone to the south, the danger of war is real. It produces constant tension—and scenes like these.

CEASE-FIRE HUT—In this bullet-ridled corrugated steel shed, some twenty yards inside the bleak Gaza strip, U. N. truce supervisors meet with the combatants when new flareups occur.

Talks here in early September led to almost two months of relative quiet in the Gaza strip (while attention shifted to the El Auja area) but then the Gaza shooting began again.

PRISONER OF "WAR"—Officially, the skirmishes and raids aren't war—but to this blindfolded Israeli, flanked by two Egyptian guards, it all must seem like the real thing.

LIGHT MOMENT—These Egyptian infantrymen have found something to laugh about—but their guns are at hand. Egyptian posts generally are about 500 yards back from the line.

THE REFUGEES—Burning with hatred toward the Israelis, who now hold their former homes and lands, 120,000 Palestinian Arab refugees crowd the U. N. camps in the strip where most of them have now been provided with solid huts like these. About 97,000 more refugees room with permanent residents of the disputed area or camp out in tents and lean-tos.

ISRAELI MANEUVER—Close to the frontier, infantry and armor train for battle. With Egypt getting arms from the Soviet bloc, Israelis fear the balance will tip against them.

WHAT'S NEW?—In an Israeli cafe at a road junction near the strip, police, soldiers and civilians earnestly study newspapers for the latest word on the recurring conflict.

STEPHEN ALEXANDER KOFFLER, son of Mrs. Irving Koffler of 270 Cole Avenue and the late Mr. Koffler, who became Bar Mitzvah on Oct. 22 at Temple Beth Shalom. A reception followed.

Cote to Address Joint Services

The members of two Cranston congregations, the Woodridge Congregational Church and the Cranston Jewish Center, will join together in a Thanksgiving Service on Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the Cranston Center.

Armand H. Cote, Secretary of State in Rhode Island, will read the Governor's Thanksgiving Proclamation. The Woodridge Choir, along with Cantor Samuel Berditch of the Cranston Center, will present a number of selections. Rabbi Julius Goldberg will deliver the sermon.

People of all faiths are invited to attend this fourth annual united service. Refreshments will be served following the services.

Tween Girls Elect Officers, Chairmen

Members of the Jewish Community Center's Tween Girls Group have elected the following officers and committee personnel to serve during the current season:

Miss Susan Mazo, president; Miss Leslie Borad, vice-president; Miss Brenda Sarrat, secretary; and Miss Lois Zitkin, treasurer.

The educational committee includes Miss Joan Gorslnik, chairman; Miss Carol Lessler and Miss Elaine Phillips, Social committee; Miss Linda Cantoff, chairman; Miss Gail Perlov and Miss Marla Pearson, Community service committee; Miss Fermet Field, chairman; Miss Leslie Stanzler and Miss Enid Gorodetsky, Athletic committee; Miss Carol Cohen, chairman; Miss Judy Ann Eisenstein and Miss Laurie Bernstein.

The junior high school girls' group meets weekly at the Sessions Street building on Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock. Weekly programs, co-sponsored with the JCC Tween Boys, are conducted on Sunday afternoons, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Moshe Sharett

The tempo and nature of events within the past few weeks sharpens interest in the visit of Israel's Foreign Minister, Moshe Sharett. Beyond question history will accord him distinction as one of the principal architects of the modern State of Israel. Future generations may also regard him with admiration and gratitude for his part in alerting the Western world to the international implications of what Mr. Sharett himself has described as Israel's "supreme emergency."

His mission to Geneva, while he was still Prime Minister, did not succeed in halting the shipment of communist arms to Egypt. This, however, must be viewed in relation to what he did accomplish: the attraction of world attention to the fact that while the Western powers have been afflicted with a strange somnolence in regard to certain basic realities in the Middle East, the Soviets have, in effect, moved in.

The nightmare vision of Russian-manned submarines monitoring the Suez while flying Egypt's flag, the prospect of the dreaded, age-old Russian imperialist drive-to-the-east becoming successful under its latter-day guise of "people's democracies," the danger of complete loss of hope that the backward lands in this area might make reasonable progress towards a democratic and productive way of life, the threat of liquidation of the one State there, Israel, that is intellectually, spiritually and morally linked with the West — these are some of the larger perils of which Mr. Sharett gave eloquent warning. At this point, we can only hope that this man's clarity of vision and presentation will be matched by appropriate action on the part of the democracies to ensure that their one reliable ally in the Middle East will be powerful enough to defeat all assaults on her integrity.

"One Man's Opinion"

Wolfson of Harvard

By BERYL SEGAL

On more than one occasion I have heard Rabbi William G. Braude declare publicly that the one person he calls "Moree Verabee," my guide and my teacher, is Dr. Harry A. Wolfson of Harvard University. Now, this title, "Moree Verabee," is not used lightly in the world of Jewish scholarship. He who is the recipient of this title must stand head and shoulders above the scholars of his generation, and he must have earned a "Yad Veshem," a stronghold and fame in the world of learning. He who confers this title "Moree Verabee" proclaims a spiritual and intellectual indebtedness to a great master.

And yet, if you were to mention Harry A. Wolfson to your friends, the name would convey hardly anything to them, and I confess that I, myself, know deplorably little of his writings and ideas. It is a commentary on our times that we are quite familiar with the names of tycoons of industry, wizards of finance, and stars of screen and television, but know not the names of contemporary giants in the world of thought.

But at Harvard, and in the halls of learning of America, and in the societies of scholars in many lands across the seas, the name of Harry A. Wolfson stands for one of America's great sons.

The Learned Know

We are told, for instance, that when the Ministry of Education of India prepared a series of books on the "Philosophies of the Western World," the work of Wolfson on Spinoza was translated and included in the series. It is that authoritative.

We learn that Harry A. Wolfson is the only person to hold honorary degrees from every Jewish school of higher learning in America. The orthodox Yeshiva University, the Conservative Jewish Theological Seminary, and the Reform Hebrew Union College, all have conferred honors upon him for his contribution to Hebrew thought and letters.

The newstands across the nation are now distributing the November issue of Holiday magazine. In it is a story on the Ivy League colleges. The only photograph of a member of the faculty of any of these schools included in this story is that of Dr. Wolfson. The legend underneath the photograph reads:

"A professor in the great Ivy League tradition is Harvard's Harry A. Wolfson, professor of Philosophy and Hebrew Literature. Famed for his studies of Spinoza, he is now at work on a monumental 12 volume inquiry into systems of philosophy from Plato to Spinoza."

A Landmark

Part of this monumental inquiry is a two volume study of the philosophy of the Church Fathers. The completion of this study was the occasion of a unique ceremony at Harvard on November 2. In the presence of 200 invited guests Dr. Wolfson presented the first bound copy of "The Fathers" to the library of Harvard. Among the guests were representatives of the Roman Catholic, the Greek Orthodox, the Episcopal and the Jewish faiths. In accepting the two volumes for the library, the Dean of the Harvard Divinity School said that this work is a "landmark in almost 2,000 years of Judeo-Christian relations." It was said further about this study that:

"For the first time, the philosophy of the Fathers has been analyzed and ordered as an epoch in the history of religious and philosophical thought."

In case you wonder why this study awaited the labors of a Jewish scholar, let me remind you that another Harvard scholar, a teacher of Harry Wolfson, Dr. George Foot Moore, wrote a fundamental analysis of Judaic thought and principles in a three-volume work called "Judaism." Dr. Moore was a Christian. Such are the ways of study and research on the upper rungs.

Who Is He?

Who, then, is this man Harry A. Wolfson, of whom we know so little, but whom Harvard values so much?

His life story could be entitled "From Slobodka to Harvard," or "From Yeshiva Bochur to Professor of Philosophy."

Born in a little town near Vilno, of old Poland, Wolfson came to live and to study in the famous Slobodka Yeshiva, a seat of learning of great renown in the Jewish world of Eastern Europe, until the destruction of that world in the years of the Second World War. A Slobodka Yeshiva student sat at the feet of great scholars and drank from the wells of Torah.

In 1903, at the age of 16, Wolfson came to the United States and resumed his study of Torah in Yeshiva Reb Yetzehok Elchanan in New York. Fate brought Wolfson to Scranton where he was a teacher at the Talmud Torah and a student at the local high school. He was 21 when he received his high school diploma, and together with it a one year scholarship to Harvard, awarded by the Harvard Club of Scranton to the outstanding graduate.

One Grows To 40

Harry A. Wolfson came to Harvard on a one-year scholarship and has stayed there ever since. Degrees followed in rapid succession. Bachelor in 1911, Master in 1914, Ph. D. in 1915. Then came appointments to the faculty. For forty years now Harry A. Wolfson walks the paths of the Harvard campus, and literally dwells among the stacks of Harvard's library.

A profile of the man and scholar appeared last May in the Harvard Crimson, the University's daily newspaper, part of which reads:

"With an enthusiasm unabated today by 40 years of research and teaching, Wolfson works as nearly around the clock as he can at Widener B-45, a study crammed to utter confusion with books, pamphlets, and papers that fill up the ceiling-high shelves on three sides of the room, overflow the mammoth desk in the middle and encumber every available chair with piles of envelopes."

One story has it that Wolfson keeps books in the icebox of his bachelor apartment.

The profile goes on to say that:

"After a lifetime of research he is considered today the outstanding Judaic scholar in the United States."

But What To Us?

But you might ask, what does Harry A. Wolfson say to us? You and I who are neither students of philosophy nor readers of theological tomes, what words of relevance does he speak to us?

I glance at the two Wolfson volumes on my shelves treating of "Philo, the Jewish Philosopher of Alexandria." I nibble at a paragraph here and there, now and then, but I doubt that in them will I find the answer to this question.

At my elbow now is another Wolfson book, "Crescas' Critique of Aristotle," a translation and analysis of the writings of a 15th century Jewish philosopher, Crescas. I strain my eyes on its pages often now, but in it will I hardly find the answer to the question of "Wolfson and We. What does he teach us?"

The Essays Tell

The answer lies in his essays. Fortunately we have a few Wolfson essays on matters of immediate concern to the American Jew. These we may read with ease and with profit. These I hope to discuss at some other time.

In the meantime, it is good to know of a man named Wolfson in our times, even though we may not have the patience nor the capacity to read his writings, or, reading them, to understand them well. Our fathers and grandfathers knew the scholars and the great spirits of their times, though they did not always understand them fully, and they spoke their names with reverence and awe.

In Jewish tradition, reverence for the scholar is as great and as meritorious as the study of the Torah. For through reverence we are brought closer to study.

It is a tradition worth renewing in our times as well.

SYD COHEN:

The $64,000 Question

Attention, baseball fans in general, and Red Sox fans in particular! This is for you.

Would you—if you were in the shoes of Mrs. Myrt Powers have dared to try for the $64,000 question on that fabulous give-away show?

Well, decide for yourselves, all of you, after absorbing what is said to have been the question that would have been asked of Mrs. Powers had she chosen to go all the way.

Now pretend you are up on the stage, with no assistance possible, with $64,000 your reward for success; a miserable, insignificant Cadillac the booby prize if you lose. And here is the question:

Give all the details concerning the play that won the 1946 World Series. But I said ALL the details. Who was the pitcher at the time, and the hitter, etc. If you cannot give the entire story, you are a has-been who would be reduced to riding in Cadillacs if you had made the show.

I'm not going to give the answer here right now, of course. Want you to think about it, and see how much you really know about the play in question. Maybe I'll list the information at the end of this column, maybe I'll save it for next week. Get the old thinking caps on, and see what you can do.

First Jewish Manager?
If the current trend of picking major league managers from the minors continues in vogue for several more years, it may be that one day soon some big league club will be announcing the hiring of the first Jewish manager in big league history.

Assuming for the moment that all this comes to pass, the manager's name will be Cohen—Andy Cohen, that is; and the promotion will mark the climax of a long climb to the heights from the very depths of the minors. For Andy probably never dreamed he would make the grade.

This Andy Cohen is the same one who was John J. McGraw's last Jewish hope back in the 1920's. That is, McGraw desperately wanted an outstanding Jewish ball player to bolster the New York gate. Andy got a tremendous buildup, a buildup of such overwhelming proportions that he was unable to fulfill it.

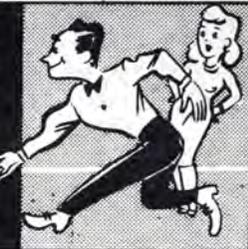

Cohen lasted just a few years in the big time as a player, then drifted to one lower minor league after another . . . and eventually dwelled in obscurity.

Three or four years ago, I came across his name again, as the manager of a team in the Cuban League. In order to learn his trade properly, and because this was the only way he could continue to stay active in the game he loved, Andy took any manager's job anywhere. The

RHODE ISLAND JEWISH BOWLING CONGRESS

Alley Gossip

By Joe Gutterball

"Bowling style and form are as individual as fingerprints and handwriting," Ben Bloch reports of Cranston bowlers.

Johnny Kaufman is tops in using speed to get boundbacks that change chops to strikes. Moishe Filler can start a ball on the right and hit a pin on the left, while Moishe Bernstein can duplicate that from the southpaw side. Ed Lang, who has a knack of sliding pins effectively, has a slight faunlike leap. Art Siegel's ballet form netted him a 323-121 last week. Doc Fershtman's unorthodox stance is no detriment to his 106 average. Moe Cofman pushes rather than throws the ball, while Ben Mellion resembles a twin-bladed windmill. Bill Deitch's slow roller creates much action among the pins, and Ed Berman appears to curtsy at the foul line.

A big salute to Sam Gordon, a Beth El stalwart, for his untiring and unselfish efforts in giving bowling instructions to the blind. His volunteer efforts in helping blind men find recreation that normally is limited to those who can see is a tribute to a great bowler and a fine sportsman.

Harry Fellman of Independents got a head start on the Florida vacationers. We understand he is in the midst of a two-week sojourn in the Southland.

Sam Osterman, the Beth Israel correspondent, likes to give credit where credit is due, aside from the bowling scores. He says Donald Bernstein is one who has bowled for years, takes the sport seriously, is well liked and is Osterman's candidate for the bowler of the week.

There is a report from Providence Fraternal that Lou Shectman has dropped his nick-name "Bet-a-Buck" after checking his latest scores and now wants to be known as "Bet-a-Penny and what's the odds?"

Nat Alterman, congress president, and Murray Trinkle, first president of the congress, crossed the state line to visit the Kavodians. The report is that Nat and Murray were warmly welcomed.

"There's hope for all of us," Jack Appelbaum, the Beth El scrivener, writes in his weekly report as he records a 327 by Saul Haas.

TURKEY TOURNAMENT THIS SUNDAY

Around the Leagues . . .

CRANSTON

By Ben Bloch

Moe Cofman fashioned three steady strings for 366, top effort of the night, while Ben Mellion rolled 344 with the aid of a 131 string. Three men, Phil Chopak, Irv Bierenbaum and Mike Miller, rolled 339.

The league's top bowler, Ed Lang (115 av.), had a 133 single, but tapered off. Team-wise, the All-Stars with 1541 and the Athletics with a 535 single recorded the best marks.

SACKIN-SHOCKET

By Sid Jacobson

After Coast Guard had won the first two strings, Navy came back to take the third and also knock off total pinfall to earn a split on the strength of Jerry Waksler's 352 and a 149 single. Other Navy "destroyers" were Sam Jarcho with 341, including strings of 125 and 123; Joe Epstein 315 and Al Spater, who boosted his 84 average with a 103 string.

Jordy Hoffman hit a 123 twice, finishing with 339, and Morty Fine rolled 106 to pace Army to a 3-1 victory over the Seabees. Hotzje Strelow rolled 333 and Larry Koffler had 302 for the Seabees.

Jim Weiss posted 123, Irwin Covinsky and Norm Bader 110.

BETH DAVID

By Joel Zarum

Two bowlers penetrated the upper strata of the league's season records. Izzy Yamuder rolled 366, with strings of 113, 131 and 122, the second best triple, while Ken Resnick recorded a new second high single of 144 while rolling 364.

Joel Orchoff rolled a neat 140 while totaling 336. Al Snell came up with 131. Sam Kopel was welcomed back to the league after a two years' absence. After he got the kinks out of his joints, Sam rolled 80, 84 and 111. Sam was made to feel at home by the league members.

The league-leading White Sox maintained first place with the three men present rolling as follows: Leon Nachbar 315, Leon Kaplan 291 and George Peddle 307.

The Red Sox boasted the night's top efforts of 582 and 1552.

A special meeting of delegates to the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress has been called for 9 o'clock Sunday morning at the Legion Bowladrome on Park Ave., Cranston, by Nat Alterman of Beth El, congress president.

It is hoped that ratification of the congress by-laws will be completed at the meeting.

cap tournament, which was the feature of last week's session. Al had 319 plus a handicap of 102 to give him the winning 421 total.

The best single of the night was 144 by Sol Trieff, while Nat Goldman scored 370 with a 139 single. William Lurie came up with 355, and Ruby Lipson hit 354. Among the better singles was Phil Ostroff's 131.

Sam Ratner is pacing the league with a 127 average, followed by Lipson 125, Harry Weisberg 119, Goldman and Selig Levine 118, and Joe Stern and Ostroff 117.

WARWICK

By Irving Zaidman

Team Aleph set a new league single of 551, sparked by Al Rodin's 140 and aided by the efforts of Marv Baron, Ben Pearlman, Bob Fields and Sam Katz. Rodin totaled 335.

Still, Team Gimel was able to wrest two points from Aleph, with Si Aron rolling 333 with a 120, and good singles of 122 by Jules Kotecan and 110 by Bernie Silver.

Meri Rodyn, pinning 324 with a string of 120, doubled up with Jack Chaiken, who rolled 332, to pull their team out of the cellar.

PROV. FRATERNAL

By Nathan Miller

Climbing into average high spot by a narrow margin, Leo Lazarus rolled 334. Moe Seltzer still has his 105, a few pins behind Lazarus.

George Diamond broke 300 for a total of 314 with a string of 115. Cy Goldenberg also rolled 314 with his best single a 120. Larry Zeidel hit 121.

"Rosy" Rosenfield continued his streak and is now 12th in average standing. Al Gladstone, whose average is better left unmentioned, says he will try throwing left-handed next week.

Early Starting Time for Contest Meets With Bowlers' Approval

The earlier starting time of the annual Turkey Tournament of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress is meeting with all-around approval among bowlers who feel they may participate, yet have their afternoon this coming Sunday free for their families.

Just a reminder: The tournament opens at 11:30 A. M. at the Legion Bowladrome on Park Avenue in Cranston. The committee headed by Sam Segal of Beth Israel hopes the final bowlers will toe the line by 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Foul judges will work the alleys where bowlers in the Open and A classes will compete.

Open bowlers, those with averages 108 and over, will bowl from scratch, but bowlers in the other classes, A for bowlers with averages at the end of last season of 97 to 107, and B for bowlers with averages 96 and under, will be given ¼ handicaps, based on the average of the top bowler in each category.

The entry fee is $2 for the three strings.

Turkeys will be awarded for the top three totals and the high single in each class, and the high total in each class also will receive a trophy.

Remind Bowlers of Next Sweepstakes

Interest is running high in the second monthly sweepstakes tournament of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress to be held on the regular bowling nights of member-leagues, Nov. 28, 29 and 30, and Dec. 1.

Congress officials are pleased with the better than two-thirds response of the bowlers in the initial tournament, in which 638 keggers took part.

Also of interest was the fact that all the winners were in the so-called Class A (97-107) category, with many bowlers in the low 90's and upper 80's showing well on the strength of the full handicap to a 120 average, which is given in the sweepstakes.

Once again, bowlers are reminded to deposit their 25-cent entry fees with their league representatives prior to the start of bowling. Results will be tabulated at the Dec. 4 congress delegates' meeting and will be announced in this section, Dec. 9.

Good luck and good bowling!

The entire R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress joins members of the Independent League in mourning the death last Friday of Harold I. Bloom and extend condolences to his family.

A veteran of World War II, he bowled with Post 23 and joined the Independent League when it was formed this season.

He was 36 years old and resided with his wife, Irene F. (Labush) Bloom, and their son, Arthur, at 131 Cass St., Providence.

As a mark of respect to his memory, the Independents cancelled last Tuesday night's bowling session.

ers rolled 508 and 1430. Green's total was 328.

Irving Kotlen, aided his 83 average with a string of 114.

Arden Klar's Yankees and the Red Sox, captained by Lenny Varga, are tied for second place.

BETH EL

By Jack Appelbaum

A pair of 134's and a 129 gave Bert Himmelfarb a total of 397, the best league triple to date. Nat Alterman posted a 377 including a single of 140, and Frank Supnick rolled 373.

League president Alie Shatkin had the night's best single of 142 and George Goldman racked up strings of 137 and 136. Dewey Shatkin rolled 135, Warren Foster, Joe Schwartz 128, Myer Jarcho 127 and Joel Orchoff 125.

Gene Brown's team, including Eliot Slack, Gus Newman, Hook Silverstein and Mal Mickler established a dubious distinction when it lost four points by total pinfall of 160 pins. The victors were Al Hurwitz's team, with Bill Botvin, Harry Gordon, Dewey Shatkin and Joe Schwartz. Hurwitz's team rolled 1597 and 558.

Joel Orchoff's quintet had a single of 569 and total of 1589. The teammates included Milt Weisman, Cy Berkehammer, Supnick and Ben Trinkle.

FINEMAN-TRINKEL

By Barrie and Cherlen

Five strings of 116 were pinned by bowlers of the Cubs and the White Sox in a match that saw the Cubs come up with a 1553 total, including a string of 557.

Max Cohen got two of the 116's, while the others were made by Seymour Golden, Willie Edelman and George Feldman. Cohen also had the best total of the night, 365, including a 133. This from a 96 bowler.

Sid Pulner gave his 89 average a giant leap forward with 346, including strings of 110, 128 and 108. Merl Rodyn maintained his 115 average with 343. Len Decof had a 138, top single of the night. Murray Gordon found time between his duties as president to roll 329, while Bob Barrie hit 323.

OHAWE SHOLOM

By Leonard I. Levin

Ed Visnick, bowling in the league for the first time, fired strings of 136, 92 and 136, sweeping single and three string honors for the night.

Visnick's teammates, taking their cue from him, turned in an outstanding effort and swept four games. Milt Rosen pinned a 126 string for 334 and Jim Jenkin rolled 313 with a single of 132.

Other high strings were Leon Resnick 122, Rob Robin 119, Marshall Ritch 119 and 114, Hank Solomon 116, Frank Horowitz 115 and Dave Kaminsky 114.

Horowitz has the highest average of 108.

AEP1

By Jerry Freiberg

League-leading Murray Hahn bolstered his 114 average with 354, including a string of 137.

Don Decof also rolled a 137 to finish with 345, and Bob Luber had a total of 342 with a single of 134. Beans Feinstein pinned 352 and 123 and Jerry Freiberg recorded 353 with strings of 133 and 123.

The first-place Flyers, with 1574, took pinfall by two pins from the Mohawks in a no-handicap match.

Gerry Coken jumped to sixth place from 13th among the averages with the help of his 341 and 130.

Inspired rolling included scores by Noah Temkin 338 and 126, Sid Dressler 328 and 123, Bob Gittleman 326 and 132, Don Cohen 325 and 131, and Roy Kessler 349 and

126. Harry Fellman rolled 323, Howie LaPibus 130 and Shelley Summer 123.

INDEPENDENTS

By Harry Fellman

A bowler of a 92 average, Julius Nasberg, rolled the best triple of the night, 349, including strings of 122, 123 and 104.

Air Force set new team records of 1561 and 557, including totals of 299 by Doc Lyons, 270 by Art Rothstein, Maurice Greenstein's 336, Ernie Elnhorn's 327 and 329 by Harold Weisel. Incidentally, the previous records were bettered by the Reserves, who rolled 1531 and 541.

Good scores were posted by Harry Fellman who rolled 340 with a 122 string, Mo Cohen and Charlie Stern 321. Greenstein had the best single of the night, 131, followed by Ted Nasberg with 130.

BETH ISRAEL

By Sam Osterman

Si Aron rolled 376 with strings of 143 and 127 to pace the night's bowling. Al Abrams pinned the evening's best single of 148.

Dave Resnick maintained his 113 average with 345 and a solo of 144 and Sam Osterman pinned 360 with strings of 131 and 122. Bernie Kraus posted 354 including a 122.

Other good scores were by Charles Miller, 342 and 132, Max Levy 327 and 115, Barney Coken 335 and 114, Irving Zenofsky 328 and 124, Nate Millman 322 and 128, Wolf Myrow 129, Shelly Summer 334 and 135.

Also Harry Steinberg 319 and 124, Al Abrams 331, Marty Buckler 127, Herbert Fain 339 and 124, Bob Kraus 334, Art Levin 132 and Sayre Summer 328 and 118.

Syracuse rolled 1873 to insure their grip on third team total.

Harry Frehof and Charles Miller knocked double strikes only to see their team lose.

result—a vast storehouse of knowledge, and a fine ability to handle teams.

It took years deep in the bush for recognition to come; but finally, Andy made it into the Southern Association with New Orleans. The Southern Association is Class AA in rating, which means it is pretty good. Andy was coming up in the world.

Now Cohen is one of the two leading candidates for the manager's vacancy at Hollywood, a vacancy caused by the promotion of Bobby Bragan to take over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Should Andy gain this job, he will be treading the same path that brought men like Casey Stengel, Buck Harris, Bragan, Chuck Dressen, and Freddie Hutchinson back to the big leagues.

So it will be interesting from now on to see what happens to Andy Cohen. If he gets the Hollywood post, of course, he will be in an excellent spot to display his ability. If not, he undoubtedly will stay with New Orleans.

In any event, his stature as a major league managerial prospect is growing. He could yet be the first Jewish big league manager.

THE $64,000 QUESTION

Well, let's get to that $64,000 question again, now that you have had time to mull over the question mentioned at the start of this column. And here is the background for it, in case you are wondering how in heck this column "knows" the big query. Oscar Ruhl, a columnist of the Sporting News, is the source. He claims that this question of the 1946 World Series is the one. He does not give his source. Right or wrong, it certainly is a hot question, with the many parts that have to be answered correctly.

Before writing this column, I took a poll of the baseball fans in the Herald plant, and there are a lot of them. Not a single one of them answered the question entirely, although most recalled the highlights of the play. Neither did I. The names of all but the two main principals had long since escaped me, and that is what makes this a loaded question. It isn't just a simple matter of naming some long-established baseball record that you can check in the record books.

So, here we go. The question again—Give all the details involving the decisive play of the 1946 World Series.

The reason I specified at the beginning that Red Sox fans should be particularly interested was because the Sox were involved in that World Series—they and the St. Louis Cardinals — and that is the first part of the question.

Next part—In what game did this decisive play occur? The answer is the seventh. In what inning did it occur? Answer—the eighth.

Describe the play itself (I am breaking it down myself into the various parts, all of which, according to Ruhl, made up the complete correct answer)—Enos Slaughter was on first base with two out and the score tied. On a single to the outfield, Slaughter raced around second and steamed easily to third.

But Enos did not stop there. He had gotten a good jump, and the ball had been well hit, and since there was no play on him at third, Slaughter took a gamble on catching the Red Sox defense napping. He did just that. Johnny Pesky, Boston's shortstop, took the relay, and never imagining that the old war-horse would dare to go home, he held the ball a moment. When he did throw, the throw was hurried and high, and Slaughter scored with the run that won the World Series for the Cardinals.

As far as the $64,000 question is concerned, all you would have had to know, of course, was that Slaughter scored from first base on a single when Pesky held the ball—but you also would have had to furnish a little additional information, such as the name of the pitcher, the name of the hitter who singled, and the name of the outfielder who threw the ball to Pesky. That is where this one hurt.

The pitcher was Bob Klinger, the hitter Harry Walker, the outfielder Leon Culberson.

Come clean now—Would you have won the $64,000 if that question had been put?

ELECT SCHOOL COUNCIL

Bernard S. Barasch, principal of the Congregation Sons of Abraham Sunday School, announced this week that the following students have been elected to the Student Council:

Robert Baker, Robert Cohen, Gerald Cooperman, Samuel Finn, Gerald Grossberg, Beverly Levinson, Beth Rosen and Robert Weiner.

COUSIN CLUB MEETS

Plans for the annual Chanukah dinner party were discussed at a meeting of the Koplan-Silverman Cousins Club held on Oct. 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Mayberg of Elm Grove Avenue. A coffee and social hour followed the meeting. Mrs. Joseph Koplan and Mrs. Anna Weber were hostesses who assisted Mrs. Mayberg.

JCC Men's Group Breakfast on Sunday

Men's Association of the Jewish Community Center will conduct its second Sunday morning breakfast meeting of the current season on Sunday at 10 A. M. in the South Side Branch Center building, 45 Hamilton Street, it was announced today by Abraham Beaken, MA president.

Open to all adult men at no admission charge, the breakfast program will include a morning breakfast snack, followed by an address by Henry A. "Hank" Soar, American League umpire and sports figure. Soar's subject will be "Calling 'Em As I See 'Em."

Isadore Wolf will serve as chairman for the morning's program. He will be assisted by Albert Benharris and Martin Duchin.

Men's Association is also planning for a major entertainment-dance, to be conducted during Thanksgiving weekend, on Saturday evening, Nov. 26, at the Main Center building at Sessions Street. The event will feature dancing, along with entertainment by Lou Shor, comedian, who has appeared before audiences from coast to coast with his impersonations and Jewish humor. Maxwell Phenex is general chairman of the dance event.
