Immigrating Soviet Jews Meet UJA Head

UNITED STATES

The spirit of Chanukah, Liberty and Freedom, is the theme of the new UN commemorative stamp marking Human Rights Day which, significantly, falls this year on the first Day of Chanukah, December 10. Issued erev Hanukkah, Friday, December 9, the UN stamp shows a hand holding a flaming torch.

Many well-known UN delegates and Secretariat officials attended the Weizmann Institute of Science Dinner at the Waldorf the night of December 1 in the hope of greeting Pierre Mendes-France who, because of the fall of the French Government, couldn't appear. The $250-a-plate dinner resulted in raising $375,000 for the support of the Institute at Rehovoth.

Despite scepticism from many quarters, Lincoln White, State Department Near East expert, was sure of a new trend. Said he: "We are confident that with goodwill on both sides a solution can be found and that our main objective—peace in the area—can be accomplished. Meanwhile, the Soviet-Egyptian "marriage" is worrying both the British and U. S. leaders. The British fear the Soviets are using Egypt as the starting-point for a campaign of Communist infiltration and subversion in Africa. At the UN a Russian release contained in the latest Soviet Kit reports the following under the heading "Tass Denial": "Reports which recently appeared in the foreign press allege that the Soviet Union intends to offer arms to Israel. These reports are based on a statement made by Suydam, a spokesman for the U. S. State Department, alleging that the U. S. State Department possessed information that the Soviet bloc had taken steps to offer delivery of arms to Israel. Tass is authorized to state that these reports are a pure figment of the imagination and obviously designed to mislead."

The American Jewish Congress has asked the U. S. Senate to broaden the eligibility requirements of a proposed bill which is designed to compensate Americans up to a maximum of $10,000 for losses sustained as a result of German military action during World War II.

PEOPLE

Paul Muni, who had come out of retirement to star in the famous "Inherit the Wind," and then was forced to withdraw because of an eye ailment, returned to the courtroom drama last week.

Zionist District Told of Projects

Herschel Auerbach, former executive director of the Zionist Organization of America, delivered a brief talk on the current situation in Israel at the first board dinner meeting of the Zionist District held on Monday evening at the Narragansett Hotel. A question and answer period followed his talk.

Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen, president of the District, outlined the projects recommended by the steering committee. Among the proposals are a memorial to the late George Pullman, veteran Zionist and JNF chairman; and the planting of a forest in Israel in honor of Governor Roberts, "in recognition of his consistent devotion and help to the Zionist cause."

Rabbi Morris Schussheim, past president of the Providence Zionist District, brought greetings and a "bon voyage" to Dr. and Mrs. He Berger, who will leave next month for Israel.

Soviets to End Arms Delivery

WASHINGTON — The Soviet bloc is speeding up its arms shipments to Egypt in an attempt to complete delivery by the end of this year, according to reports reaching here last week.

It is understood that among the arms already in Egypt are MIG 15 jet fighters, tanks, artillery and small arms. It is believed that small coastal submarines are included in the order, although there is, as yet, no indication that they have been delivered.

The Washington bureau of Newsweek magazine reports that the Israel request for arms is receiving "serious attention" in the respective government offices.

Military Expert Calls for Action

WASHINGTON—Major George Fielding Eliot, a leading military expert, called this week for armed U. S. action in the Middle East to prevent the Soviet bloc from establishing a Red military base in "a Soviet Egypt." Writing in "Army Times," a non-official U. S. military publication, Major Eliot stressed that he made the suggestion not for the sake of Israel but because "this is the time for the Western powers, still in full command of the situation, to stand up and be counted, not for Israel's blue eyes, and not on the ground of this treaty or that, but on the firm hard principle that self-preservation is the first law of nature."

Finds Author In Soviet Camp

VIENNA — Ezekiel Dobrushin, noted Yiddish author and literary critic, who is 70 years old and who "disappeared" several years ago from Moscow together with other prominent Jewish writers and cultural leaders, is being held in the Soviet camp at Abes, in the Arctic Circle, it was reported in a Vienna newspaper Wednesday.

The report comes from Dr. Raphael Spann, of Vienna, who returned a few weeks ago from Abes, where he discovered Dobrushin in the camp hospital suffering from a heart ailment and from an advanced case of tuberculosis of the bone. Writing in "Die Wochen-Presse" of Vienna, Dr. Spann relates:

"We heard, sometimes with amazement, sometimes, with indignation, the detailed reports of the scholarly Dobrushin about the systematic persecutions of Jews in the Soviet Union.

"The first example is Dobrushin himself. For decades he was an enthusiastic Communist. He was, with Ilya Ehrenberg, among the leaders of the Jewish anti-fascist Communists who sought to win the Jews outside of the USSR for the cause of Communism. In a vitriolic article he once damned "the American hate-mongering journalists" and their reports about anti-Jewish persecutions in Russia. A few days after the article was published he was seized by agents of the NKVD because he was a Jew."

DEDICATE CEMETERY

BERLIN — The first Jewish cemetery in the Western sectors of this divided city was dedicated here by the Chief Rabbi of Hesse, Dr. Emil Litchigfeld. The new burial site was purchased from the Berlin municipality. It is located off Heerstrasse, in the Charlottenburg section.

United Fund Head Is Guest Speaker

Dedication day ceremonies for the Jewish Community Center's new South Side Branch building at 45 Hamilton Street will be held this Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, touching off a full week's dedication activities in the new Center.

The entire community is invited to attend the dedication program and to enjoy the refreshments and the open house program which follows the formal ceremonies.

The afternoon program will include addresses by many prominent local figures, best wishes as expressed by officials of the United Fund and the General Jewish Committee, and the dedication of special building areas in the name of the late Samuel H. Workman and Mayor Walter Reynolds.

An Area Facility

The ceremonies mark the culmination of many month's effort by Center leaders, staff, Board, and Membership committees to provide a facility which would more adequately serve, in a neighborhood setting, Center members from South Providence, Washington Park, Edgewood, Cranston, and Warwick areas. This additional Center facility includes a nursery school, gymnasium, locker and shower rooms, auditorium, kitchen, lounge, library, game rooms, and a variety of meeting rooms which are expected to be in full service soon, meeting the recreation and educational needs of Center membership groups of all ages.

To Pay Tribute

Julius C. Michaelson, past president of the JCC, will serve as chairman of the afternoon's dedication program. Tribute to Mayor Reynolds in recognition of his many services to the Jewish Community Center and the Jewish community will be paid by councilman Edmund Wexler, member of the Center Board. Saul Abrams, past president of the JCC, will dedicate the new building's auditorium section to the late Samuel H. Workman, one of the Center's former presidents and a moving figure in the development of Center.

List Speakers

Other speakers on the program include Peter H. Bardach, Center president; William Edwards, president of the United Fund; Senator Frank Licht, vice-president of the General Jewish Committee; Maurice Share, chairman of the South Providence building committee, and Morris Kritzman, Center executive director.

A schedule of activities to be conducted during dedication week will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. Fred Spiegel
190 Willard Avenue
Providence, Rhode Island

Dear Fred:

Congratulations on your purchase of "Prize Winning Cattle" sent to you today. Also on the fine selection you made.

No doubt you are giving careful thought to the preparation of displaying these outstanding cattle of the 1955 International Live Stock Exposition to your discriminating customers.

The thought has come to us that your trade may desire some information regarding the breed of these animals. They are known as Aberdeen Angus and have won more honors in beef competition than any other breed. This breed is uniformly black with a short head, a compact low-set body, and is naturally hornless. It was imported into America about 1873 from Eastern Scotland and it has found the most favor in this country by people of discriminating taste, because of the fine texture and quality of these cattle.

We are enclosing a Blue Ribbon certifying that the meat you have purchased from us came from the International Live Stock Exposition held at Chicago.

Permit us to thank you for your order and to hope that you will feel free to call upon us about any matter in which we may be of service to you.

Very truly yours,

Louis Levine

Answer To IRVING I. MITTLEMAN

In reply to our announcement in which we stated our withdrawal of kosher supervision from Irving Mittleman's butcher store, Mr. Mittleman simultaneously published a long tirade villifying the Vaad Hakashruth. It is our opinion that his statements were in poor taste; unfounded; and misleading. When a member of our Jewish community, in referring to the Vaad Hakashruth which is comprised of Rabbis and prominent laymen, can employ such derogatory terms as "intimidate" and "blackmail", we feel it imperative to issue a statement of clarification of the entire matter.

1—As evidence that Mr. Mittleman's purchases from the Broadway Poultry Co. of Boston are unquestionably kosher, he states that the Broadway Poultry Co. is under the supervision of Rabbi Soloveitchik and prints a photostatic letter to that effect. The truth of the matter is that anyone who read the letter carefully saw that the letter does not state that the Broadway Poultry Company is under the supervision of Rabbi Soloveitchik. In fact, Rabbi Soloveitchik stated to us unequivocally that the Broadway Poultry is not under his supervision, nor is it under any Rabbinical supervision whatsoever.

2—Mr. Mittleman further claims that his sole concern in bringing in poultry from elsewhere is merely to provide his customers with "quality" merchandise and not with any "inferior" grade. Is it not absurd to assume that all other butchers, who certainly are equally concerned with the satisfaction of their customers, and are slaughtering their poultry in Providence—are not serving their customers with comparable "quality" poultry? Mr. Mittleman also buys small quantities of poultry from local dealers. To which of his customers does he serve this "inferior" poultry?

3—Mr. Mittleman further argues his point by drawing a comparison between the poultry and meat supervision and asks why we permit meat from outside and prohibit poultry from outside. The answer is obvious. In the case of meat there are indelible seals on every quarter beef indicating that there has been Federal inspection and constant Rabbinic supervision from the time the cattle was ritually slaughtered in the abattoir until the time it reaches the consumer. In the case of poultry, however, there is no seal of Federal inspection nor constant Rabbinic supervision and therefore we cannot sanction the kosher of outside poultry.

4—The height of absurdity is reached in his suggestion to have one of our local shochtim travel to Boston to slaughter his poultry there. Is there anything more unreasonable than a suggestion of that nature? Would it not be more logical and practical to bring his live poultry to Providence and have it slaughtered locally? This we suggested to Mr. Mittleman and it was rejected by him.

5—We exceedingly regret that Mr. Mittleman has made an attempt to publicly disgrace a Board of Clergymen of his own faith by stating in the public press that methods of "blackmail" and "intimidation" were used to coerce him to abide by our Kashrus laws.

We are confident that Providence Jewry will fully support the stand of the Rabbis and respect their judgment in the case of Irving Mittleman.

Foods to Remember

CARROT COOKIES

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup vegetable shortening creamed with 1 egg and 1/2 cup honey and 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup quick cooking oatmeal
- 1/2 cup finely grated raw carrots, tightly packed
- 1/2 cup finely cut seeded raisins
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together the first three dry ingredients into a mixing bowl. Cream the shortening, egg, honey and baking soda in another bowl. Combine the two mixtures, adding the oatmeal, raw carrot bits and raisins while mixing. Add flavoring last. Drop from the tip of a teaspoon onto a well greased or aluminum lined cookie sheet and flatten each with the tines of a fork. Bake in a pre-heated oven 12 minutes at 350 deg. F. or till lightly browned. Can be stored for weeks, too. Yields approximately 50 cookies.

Variations: 1/4 cup chopped nuts may be added to the dry mixture before combining with the rest of the ingredients.

CHESTNUT - CRANBERRY CONSERVE

- 1 pound chestnuts, in the shell
- 4 cups cranberries
- 1 cup water
- 2 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon and ginger

Cut into each chestnut with the point of a paring knife. Cover with cold water and cook over moderate heat for 25 to 30 minutes, or till tender. Drain and remove shells and dark skins, as soon as cool enough to handle. Wash cranberries and drain well. Cook with the cup of cold water in a well covered saucepan over moderate heat only till the skins begin to pop. Put through a strainer or fruit press. Add shelled chestnuts to cranberries in the press if you prefer. Be sure to place a bowl underneath to catch the liquid. Mix well and add sugar, fruit juice and grated rind, and spices. Simmer the mixture 15 minutes over low heat. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and let cool before sealing and storing in a cool place. Yields approximately 6 6-ounce glassfuls.

Intermarriage Rate Rises In Canada

MONTREAL — The peril of intermarriage to the survival of the Jewish people in the Western world was spotlighted here by Louis Rosenberg, noted economist, in a statistical study of mixed marriages in Canada published by the research bureau of the Canadian Jewish Congress.

"Although the rate of intermarriage in Canada is far lower than among Jews in the United States, about one out of eight marriages in which Jews take part is a mixed marriage. In other words, for every 88 marriages performed in Canada in 1953 in which both the brides and grooms were Jews, there were 12 marriages in which a Jewish girl married a non-Jew, or more likely, a Jewish man married a non-Jewish girl.

"Another fact now come to light is that out of all households with Jewish men or women at the head, some 10 percent have a non-Jewish man or woman also at the head," Rosenberg stated.

The intermarriage rate has risen in Canada from less than five percent in 1926-30 to over 12 percent in 1953. The rate has been growing steadily except for a drop in the period 1944-45, but after that date the increase resumed and by 1952 had again reached the previous peak of 11.1 percent marked in 1944. Jewish men figure in intermarriage more than twice as often as Jewish women.

Cite Community Services

The figures indicate that intermarriages are less frequent in urban centers where educational, social and recreational services are provided by the Jewish communities than in smaller centers where there are fewer such facilities and where social contacts between Jews and non-Jews are more frequent.

"The rate of intermarriage is a function of the acculturation of the Jewish citizens with the other residents of the community," Rosenberg pointed out.

"That boy, Alladin," quoth Mrs. Morton B. Jasmine," had quite a gismo in that magic lamp of his. Wouldst I had a genii or two around this house."

Her wish was brought on as she looked at a big bag of oranges she was due to put thru the squeezer for the beloved of her household.

"Why", inquired the lord of the manor (meaning her well-intentioned husband) "don't you just order TROPICANA from our milkman and cut out this squeezing?"

Why not, indeed?

TROPICANA is real, pure, fresh, lively juice squeezed from tree-ripened oranges right in Florida. It's shipped to you under refrigeration.

You don't have to fuss adding water. There's no "can taste". Just pure, FRESH orange juice.

We might add that many hostesses use it at cocktail parties. Solves the orange juice problem nicely. Like for Screwdrivers.

Ask our man for the one-and-only TROPICANA. Quite inexpensive -- and perfectly delicious!

Final Speaker

MRS. MORRIS SHOHAM

"The Role of the Jewish Woman - Fact and Fiction" will be the last subject to be discussed in the first Adult Institute of Jewish Studies of the Cranston Jewish Center. The lecturer, Mrs. Morris Shoham, resides in Sharon, Mass., where she is on the teaching staff of the Temple Israel Hebrew School and is a member of the New England Youth Commission of the United Synagogue of America.

The community is invited to attend the lecture on Thursday evening at 8:30 P. M. at the Cranston Jewish Center.

Indoor Golf Driving Range Now Open

A new theory about golf that is not well understood by many leading pros is being used at the R. I. Golf Center, whose indoor driving range is now open for winter golf instruction.

Eddie Zaretsky and Les Kennedy, who conduct the center, are conducting group instruction for beginners, as well as high and low handicap players. Their indoor range is said to be the largest in the East.

The Zartesky-Kennedy teaching technique places the emphasis on the clubhead, the hands and the feet. The object is to get the golfer to relax. If a man is overly conscious of all the mechanics, they say, he will tend to become tense, and to tighten up. So in their system the clubhead is the most important element — more important than the head — since "it's the only thing you're permitted to hit the ball with."

So intriguing is the new theory to Kennedy that he quit the tournament circuit to join forces with Zaretsky.

The R. I. Golf Center is located at 567 Mineral Spring Avenue, Pawtucket, next to the Lorraine Mill Outlet. Reservations may be made by calling PA 2-7631.

Beck Calls Felder

'Man of the Year'

In a tribute to Jacob I. Felder, who was honored last Tuesday at the Ledgemont Country Club, Harry S. Beck described Felder as "the man of the year," a humanitarian, "born that way, not made."

Beck, listing Felder's activities, states that in each of his affiliations with several cultural, philanthropic and religious groups, "he started working at the bottom—soliciting funds, initiating new members, selling tickets, running carnivals—but each organization recognized his value and he is now an officer not only at the Jewish Home for the Aged, but in Temple Emanuel, at the Jewish Family and Children's Service, the General Jewish Committee, and many other organizations."

Felder's hope concerning the Home for the Aged, Beck stated, "is that each resident be treated as an individual, that there should be no regimentation. He has always taken a personal interest in the old folks."

Present Gift to Felders

GJC Praises D-Day Workers

Undeterred by the rainy weather, 300 volunteer men turned out last Sunday for the annual D-day of the 1955 campaign of the General Jewish Committee.

GJC officials praised the workers, "for the enthusiasm displayed" and their successful solicitation in the one-day house-to-house canvass in the fund-raising drive for 52 local, overseas and Israel agencies.

Benjamin Ruttenberg, D-Day chairman, said it was "a very successful day," and described the workers as perhaps one of the most determined group of solicitors in this year's campaign. "I am very pleased with the results of the one-day solicitation and wish to thank each and every person who volunteered his services and made possible the success of this phase of the 1955 campaign," Ruttenberg declared.

In addition to Ruttenberg, inspiring talks were given by the workers by Alter Boyman, General Jewish Committee treasurer and veteran campaign worker; Archibald Silverman, honorary president of the GJC, and Frank Licht, chairman of Initial Gifts.

Ruttenberg said that many persons were not at home last Sunday during the drive in the Greater Providence area. These persons, he said, will be solicited during the next 10-day period by 100 volunteer workers. These solicitors are urged to report the cards to GJC headquarters at the Strand Building in Providence, as soon as the prospects are contacted.

At the same time, Jerome Fish, chairman of Cranston D-Day, reported an equally successful drive for that city by some 100 volunteer workers. He said that the solicitation went off as anticipated.

CARD PARTY

A dessert card party sponsored by the Cranston Chapter of the American Medical Center was held Tuesday at 8 P. M. at Tuoro Hall, 88 Mathewson Street. Proceeds will go to the Tuberculosis and Cancer Hospital at Denver.

Jews In America

The recent piece in Look Magazine on the position of Jews in America today is a revealing study though its factual disclosures are by no means surprising. Revealing because William Attwood, author and Look's national affairs editor, had the courage to draw conclusions which might perhaps have escaped a Jewish writer. Coming from a Non-Jew it is really encouraging to hear that anti-Semitism is rapidly waning as a problem for American Jews. Of course, the facts as gathered, may not be 100 per cent but they "are the best that an inquisitive Gentile reporter could pry out of his fellow Americans," as Mr. Attwood says.

Of course the Jewish picture in America appears bright from every point of view. But it must be recognized that if the Jew has progressed more rapidly than any other contemporary immigrant group it was not alone because he was more industrious but because the urge to rise is greater in an area of impediments. It is true Jewish individual income is substantially greater than the national individual aggregate, but here again the explanation is to be found in the fact that most Jews reside in large cities and areas of the country where earnings are highest.

However, the most encouraging aspect of the Look study is the positive picture it paints of Jewish life in America. Thus, Mr. Attwood notes that the existence of Israel has made Jews even better Americans. At the same time he reports lack of sharp divisiveness in the Jewish community as there existed a generation ago. He finds a plethora of Jewish organizations, but he ascribes this development to the Jew as highly individualistic. Yet he notices that despite their myriad associations, American Jews are not well organized, except in the field of philanthropy.

Mr. Attwood does not underestimate the anti-Semitic facet in American life, but he finds American Jews having more than an even chance of living full, productive lives without being frustrated by discrimination. He admits, however, that it will take time for Gentiles to extirpate the last vestiges of prejudice from their attitudes. His booming negative to the question whether Jews will ever become so completely integrated in America as to lose their identity as Jews is a sane conclusion and most expressive of the Jewish mood.

"One Man's Opinion"

The Dedicated People

By BERYL SEGAL

Chanukah is lighting of candles, singing of songs, and remembering miracles. Chanukah is latkes, and gifts, and festivities for children. Is it all this; but above all Chanukah is a festival that speaks of dedication and the rewards of dedication.

The Maccabees of old, they who gave us Chanukah, were dedicated to the deliverance of the land from the hands of oppressors. The unnamed men who followed them in battle against great odds were dedicated to the preservation of the tongue and faith and way of life of their fathers.

That was long, long ago, in a distant land. Two thousand, one hundred and twenty years ago in the hills of Judea; and the story of their dedicated struggle, and the miracles that rewarded their labors, are told to this day on Chanukah.

But this is not a Once Upon A Time story of Long Ago. It is a never-ending pattern of dedication, and its rewards come in every age, in all lands, even in our days.

The Spirit of Chanukah

We have them among us here today. Men and women who are dedicated to an ideal, and in the strength of their belief in that ideal are battling against odds, against indifference, against obstacles. Wherever we find such men and women, there also we find the spirit of Chanukah, of dedication, alive.

Tonight by the tiny flame of the Chanukah candles, I like to think of some people in our own town who keep the faith with the spirit of Chanukah, and whom we call dedicated.

Less than a month ago some of us paid tribute to a dedicated man in our midst. Some 20 years ago, Jacob I. Felder, then in his active busy years, head of a thriving firm, fell under the spell of an ideal and functioning of the school. The registration is growing every year. There is no place for new students, the building on Waterman Street is too small, and we must build a new building, in order to give an opportunity for the many children, who are eager to be accepted in our school. Time has proved the necessity of such a school in Jewish life and it has been accepted in all circles.

The leaders of the school now have the strength and courage to go on with their plans for a junior high next year.

I would like to take this opportunity to express our sincerest thanks and appreciation to all who stood at the cradle of the Providence Hebrew Day School and to all those who are helping to spread the "Light of Torah" and "Idishkeit" in our community.

FRATERNAL PARTY

R. I. Jewish Fraternal Association will hold a Chanukah party for members, their families and friends on Thursday at 8 P. M. at Sons of Abraham Synagogue. Refreshments will be served.

followed it faithfully through fair and lean years.

The ideal was of two parts: Part one, to make the life of the aged as pleasant and comfortable as is humanly possible. Part two, to provide these pleasures and comforts to all ages in need of a home. A Home for All Aged.

The ALL is important, because Felder soon learned that the need of a home is not limited to the poor alone. Many an aged, not necessarily in financial straits, may under certain circumstances be in greater need of the warmth and security of the Home than the poverty stricken.

To this twofold ideal, Jacob Felder dedicated twenty years, as a member of the board, as a worker on committees, and for nine years as president of the Home for the Aged of Rhode Island. During that time he saw the Home grow from a 40 bed building to a modern, spacious, well appointed Home for 150 aged men and women from all walks of life.

Growth alone is no reward. Together with the additions of rooms and equipment, and comforts, the policy of fair and just admissions also became firmly established at the Home. And Felder was the guardian of that policy.

Home For All Aged

He never tired of repeating and restating his firm conviction that in considering the applications for admission to the Home, the financial status of the applicant is not to be taken into consideration.

The rich are not favored nor penalized because of his money, and neither is the poor favored or penalized for his poverty. The urgency of the need for a Home is the only consideration, and that alone tips the scale in favor of one applicant against the other. Neither the promise of revenue, nor the influence of relatives, even less so the pressures from important people, may prevail against this just policy. The aged who are in greater need of the security and companionship afforded by the Home is the first to be admitted.

The growth of the Home is proof of the justice of this principle, and the fairness with which this policy was pursued. A dedicated man like Jacob I. Felder has been well rewarded for twenty years of dedicated work.

Dedicated Women

And I like to think of dedicated women in our midst whose work I observe every day. They are the Volunteers of Miriam Hospital. Theirs is a dedication to the sick and to the hospital that cares for them.

Caring for the sick is finding the causes of the sickness, healing the sickness, nursing the sick, keeping them in good spirits. The Volunteers have their part to play in this health restoring process.

There is little glory in their tasks, and it is not for the glory of it that so many of the Volunteers leave their comfortable homes, deny themselves certain leisure hours, and come to carry trays, go on errands, water flowers, or do waitress work at the snack bar in the coffee shop and sales-girls' duty at the gift shop.

They come on days when the outdoors beckons, as on days when the weather is not so inviting to come out of the warmth and the comfort of the home. They come on Sundays and Holidays.

I know many of the Volunteers, and I often ask myself why does this or that young woman choose to spend the better part of a Sunday at the bedside of the sick or behind the cash register of the gift shop?

Dedicated people do not always give answers. They might not know the answer. But their reward is certain. The Miriam Hospital to which these Volunteers are dedicated has grown not only in size but also in stature among the houses of healing in our community, a trail blazer and a pathfinder in the art of healing. And the volunteers who played their humble part in this growth find reward in it for their labors.

Numbers To Increase

Now these women want to increase their numbers. They are looking for more women willing to dedicate part of their time to the hospital, to the care of the sick. During this week of Chanukah the Women's Association of the hospital is seeking more members. You will be asked to carry some of the burden, and also share in the rewards that come from dedication to a worthwhile cause.

On the nights of Chanukah we light candles, we sing songs, we give and receive gifts, and we think of dedication to an ideal, and the rewards that come with it.

For this is the real sense of Chanukah.

The history of the Providence Hebrew Day School is a significant one. It is the fulfillment of a dream of a small group of parents and friends of Torah education. Eight years ago a small group of parents and friends of Jewish learning gathered and made plans for an educational institution where Jewish children would get a well-rounded Jewish education along with a general education.

Out of that gathering grew the Torah institution which is now known as the Providence Hebrew Day School.

The planners and organizers were undaunted by the numerous difficulties confronting them. Now after eight years the school stands firm and rooted in the heart of Jewish Providence. The school has grown spiritually and materially and is recognized as one of the best educational institutions in New England.

The opposition has become quiet; many of the former opponents became friends and are playing an important part in the man, financial secretary; Albert Rosen and Frank Licht, assistant financial secretaries; Max Siegal, auditor, and Louis I. Kramer, honorary president.

Mrs. Benjamin Brier, Mrs. Howard Schneider and Mrs. Goldowsky are new members of the executive committee. Being added to the board of directors are Mesdames Morris Pritsker, Max Kestenman, Herman Fanger, David Meyers, David Cohen, John Sapsinsley, Edmund Waldman, Manuel Horwitz, Reitman, Max Alperin, Louis Fain and Ellis Rosenthal.

The meeting will be called to order at 1:30 P. M. by Mrs. Brier, retiring president.

SYD COHEN:

Special Awards Are In Order

Pretty soon now, the nation's sports pages and radio broadcasts will be overflowing with the results of the various year-end polls. The greatest performers and other personalities of 1955 will be named, and honored.

Rhode Island has its own version of this form of balloting, in the annual awards made by Words Unlimited, our sportswriting and broadcasting fraternity.

I wish there could be an award for the sports personalities who did the most for this state in 1955. Not the best performers, you understand, but the men who helped to improve the sports picture here.

There are men who — in my mind, at least — deserve special mention for their contributions of this year. And while the end of the year is still some weeks away, I am impelled to speak up now, for reasons which will become clear as the theme develops.

The three men are Hal Kopp, Terry Reardon and Lou Pieri.

Let's take Kopp first, since his season has just ended, and college football here thus is ready to be packed away in the moth balls.

Hal Kopp is obvious that Kopp will be named Rhode Island's coach of the year for his tremendous feat of leading the URI Rams through an unbeaten season and into a bowl game. A fabulous achievement, when you consider that he lost the likes of Pat Abbruzzi, Canada's outstanding pro player this year, and Henry Brenner, and others of that caliber.

Yet, it is not for that reason that I bring up his name now.

Hal Kopp is one of the greatest things that ever happened to this state. We all know he is a great coach; but that is incidental to the fact that he is a truly great guy. The man has made a definite mark on sports around here. And the results of his earnest efforts will be felt a long time after he is gone.

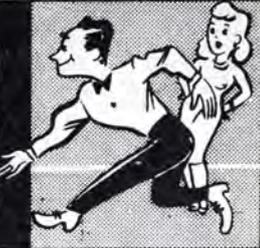

Kopp is a wonderful after-dinner speaker. I have heard him often, have come away more and more impressed each time. He has a wonderfully warm personality, a sincere and easy delivery, and a delightful sense of humor. None of this routine "glad-to-be-here, thank-you-very-much" stuff for Hal. He just takes over at the podium, with hilarious anecdotes and jokes, and still manages to sandwich in an effective message or two for his listeners to remember.

Nobody told the story of Henry Brenner, for example, as well as Kopp. And Hal took pleasure in telling that heroic story. He traveled the banquet circuit with Henry tirelessly, and somehow seemed to be in other places, too, at the same time.

Hal Kopp, the football coach, relentlessly has urged Rhode Island residents to send their sons and brothers to the King- (Continued on Page 20)

Alley Gossip

By Joe Gutterball

Doubling up — that's the best recipe we know of to give your pinfall a tremendous lift. We heard of a bowler who had 61 in the seventh frame, came up with a double strike and a spare with eight to finish with 126. That's more than doubling the total in the last three boxes.

Each weekly report from Cranston is well salted with the name Miller. The league enjoys having the three brothers whose bowling skill has earned them positions on lists of high records. Mike has the second high triple, Leo is second among the triples, while Mike and Sam rate among the 10 high averages, with 111 and 106, respectively.

Here's another one of those spurts that pay off. Jacob Hoffman of Beth Israel rolled three spares in his last three boxes and filled in the final box with a strike to give his team, Navy, a four-point victory. At the other end of the line was a third string by Harvard in the same league with scores reading thusly: Phil Diamond 83, Saul Hodosh, 80, Sid Cantoff 86, Al Abrams 83, Marty Buckler 85 and the 83 average of Swerling, who was absent.

We're wondering why anyone (including our correspondent, Nathan Miller) should feel it's a wonder when Lou Schechtman of Providence Fraternal gets two spares in one night.

The Independent League has voted to change its name to the Harold Bloom League in memory of a fellow-bowler who died last month.

Charity Tournament Set for January

The first charity tournament of the current bowling season will be held under the sponsorship of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress during January.

Tentative dates of Jan. 22 or 29 were announced at last Sunday's meeting of congress delegates at which Nat Alterman of Beth El, president, presided. A final date will be made public soon.

The leagues will be divided into two categories, one group rolling at 1 p. m., the other at 3 p. m.

Leagues will be notified when they must report.

Each league will be represented by 15 bowlers on three teams. Lists of eligible bowlers and their averages, as of Dec. 31, must be turned in at the next congress meeting, Jan. 8.

Alterman also announced that in the coming month he will appoint one bowler from each of the 16 member-leagues to serve on the congress tournament committee, headed by Sam Segal of Beth Israel, and a like number for the banquet committee, headed by Sam Feldman of Fineman-Trinkel.

Editorial

Who is the modern day "wandering Jew?"

He may be the refugee from Europe, but so far as the member-leagues of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress are concerned, he is any one of some 900 bowlers.

Many bowlers have registered complaints—and they have been heard over the years—that bowlers tend to wander off from the vicinity of the alley at which their team is bowling.

Sometimes it is the soda fountain or the pinball machine or a visit to a friend "down the line."

Now, no one wants to injure the business of the bowling alley proprietors by asking bowlers not to patronize the soda fountain. Even a visit to a friend at a nearby alley shouldn't be discouraged.

However, a bowler should be ready to bowl when it is his turn. Part of the reason for the late hour many teams bowl is the delay resulting from the wanderings of some of the men.

If you must be away from your alley, make it immediately after you take your turn, and be certain you return in plenty of time to bowl again.

AEPi Bowler Rolls 437 To Win Monthly First Prize

There must be something about the Bowladrome on Smithfield Avenue, because for the second straight month a member of a league that bowls at those alleys has won the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress sweepstakes.

Jerry Freiberg of AEPi, using his 20-pin handicap to its fullest extent, rolled 437 to win the $25 monthly first prize. Last month's big winner was Paul Lincoln of Fineman-Trinkel.

The money for second high total and high single was divided among four bowlers. Arthur Lipson of Beth Israel, an 84 bowler who carried a 36-pin handicap into the monthly sweepstakes, and Len Vargas of R. I. Jewish Fraternal, a 94-average bowler who rolled with a 28-pin handicap, hit 418 and divided the $15 second high total prize.

The winning high single was 163, even though Freiberg had a 166 single. Tournament rules allow only one prize per month per bowler. The high single was rolled by Jack Smith of Providence Fraternal, who had an 18-pin handicap, and Sid Wolf of Beth Israel, who had a 26-pin handicap.

Once again, the tournament proved its point by making it possible for middle and low average bowlers to win. In all, 556 bowlers from the 16 leagues in the congress participated.

Here are the top results from each league with the per-string handicap in parentheses:

The congress individual high single for the season, 164 by Jack Perler of Cranston, was bettered by 14 pins as Ruby Lipson racked up a 178. Lipson, who also has the highest congress average of 125, finished the evening with 384.

William Lurie rolled 372, hitting a string of 143. Philip Ostroff posted a single of 142, and Sam Posnick had a 361 total.

The Pirates set a new team high total for the league this season with a 1645 for the six-member squad of three men and three women. The previous high was just one pin less and was held by the Senators. The Pirates had singles of 577 and 566 in rolling their high pinfall.

EMANU EL

The Cubs were a happy team as each man rolled over 100 in the last string, finishing with a three-string total of 1560.

BETH EL

By Jack Appelbaum

Lennie Goldman marked his return from his honeymoon by pinning the high triple single for the night, 149, and the second-best triple of 359.

Murray Trinkle, moving up strongly with a 361, also rolled a string of 129. Nat Alterman, with more time to bowl since he vacated the league presidency, rolled 353, including a single of 136.

The team captained by Hank Cohen, including Len Goldman, Joe and Hal Robinson and George Goldman, pinned the night's best total of 1577. Close behind was Hal Fine's team, including Bud Lewis, Sam Pritsker, Bob Bernstein and Trinkle, who finished with 561 and 1552.

The American League is so closely bunched that eight points separate the top and bottom teams. In the National League, 11 is the margin between top and bottom.

 ston campus. He constituted a one man enrollment committee. As far as I know, Hal was the first man to be outspoken in his belief that University of R. I. should be the traditional rival of Brown University on Thanksgiving Day.
 Some day, this event may come to pass, and while Kopp may then be coaching at a bigger, more nationally prominent school, it will be his influence that helped bring it about.
 Inevitably, Harold Kopp some day soon will be sought after by one or more colleges that are football powers. He will accept the best offer, naturally, despite the fact that he is popular and respected here. When he goes he'll be missed, but not forgotten.

 The accolades will shower upon Kopp when he leaves, whatever year that may be. But I don't want to wait that long to express my feelings. The time is now, while we can still count him as our own.
Terry Reardon
 The fact that less is being said about Terry Reardon doesn't place him in a second fiddle category at all. Terry has been here a long time, as hockey players and coaches go, and we assume he will stay here indefinitely in his new capacity of general manager.
 This Reardon is some guy. A former major league star with the then-famous Bruins, he came to Providence as player-coach, and immediately led the way to two of the most fabulous seasons any minor league club ever enjoyed.
 Whenever he skated out on the ice, you could just feel the Reds' batteries being charged. The team always played better—up to its capacity, maybe over its head—with Terry leading the way.
 Making the sudden transition to general manager after a season or two of inactivity isn't easy in any circumstances. Yet Reardon accomplished the shift as if he had been there all his life. That's the kind of guy he is.
 And so, in just one portion of one hockey season, Terry as general manager signed a top flight coach; found, begged or borrowed players who are sensational performers; and put together a team which has the league buzzing, the home town fans delighted and proud, the turnstiles buzzing.
 More important — Reardon inherited a situation so bad that another season of failure and futility might have brought Providence perilously close to giving up the ghost in professional hockey.
 The Reds are slipping a bit now, after a red-hot start that has burned up the league. They are in grave danger of losing the lead they have held so nobly and so long. Maybe they will get their second wind and soar back to the heights. Maybe this young team is still a year away from its promised greatness.
 Whatever happens, here's a salute to Terry Reardon, whose team is in first place in the American Hockey League at this writing.

Lou Pieri
 As for Lou Pieri, the words become still fewer, but the importance and the meaning none the less. For it was Lou, after all, who had the common good judgment and remarkable foresight to bring back Terry Reardon as general manager of the Reds.
 Can you name a more important contribution than that.
