Bond Campaign Opens With $11,154,150 For Record Sale

With broad participation by Providence Jewish leaders, the 1956 Inaugural Conference for Israel Bonds, which held sessions in Miami Feb. 4 and 5, announced a record sale of $11,154,150 in Israel Bonds throughout the nation thus far this year.

At the close of the Conference, a goal of $75,000,000 in Israel Bond sales was announced for 1956.

A key message was sent to the Miami conference by Adlai Stevenson who, in a letter to Abraham Feinberg, president of the Israel Bond Organization, urged that the United States "restore an equitable balance of armed strength" by providing Israel with arms to match the flow of military supplies being funneled into the Arab nations from countries in the Soviet orbit.

Mrs. Michael Stavitsky, National Women's Division chairman, set a goal of $18,000,000 for women's division activity throughout the United States.

Providence participants at the Conference included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baran, Mr. and Mrs. Max Berman, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pansy, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Resnick, Mr. and Mrs. James I. Goldman, David Greenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Max J. Richter.

To Be Honored

JOSEPH M. FINKLE, president of District Grand Lodge No. 1, who will be honored at a dinner sponsored by Roger Williams Lodge, B'nai B'rith, and the Anti-Defamation League Committee of Providence on Sunday, March 4, in the social hall of Temple Beth El. Finkle will be paid tribute for his service in the varied facets of B'nai B'rith activities and for his promotion of the program of the Anti-Defamation League.

Philip M. Klutznick, world president, Supreme Lodge, B'nai B'rith, will be guest speaker.

Brodsky Heads Education Study

Irving Brodsky was appointed chairman of the Providence Regional Conference Study Committee on "Meeting the Personnel Crisis in our Jewish Schools," Max Winograd, president of the Bureau of Jewish Education, announced at a recent board meeting.

Providence was one of six communities in the country invited by the American Association for Jewish Education to conduct regional conferences on the serious problem of the acute shortage of Jewish educational personnel in the country.

Join In Study

Neighboring communities such as Springfield, Woonsocket, New Bedford and Fall River have been invited to join Providence in studying the personnel problems facing American Jewry. The Providence Study Committee, as well as Study Committees in other communities, will conduct hearings and study programs, the results of which will be brought to the attention of the Regional Conference in Providence on Sunday, March 18. The recommendations of Regional Conferences will be brought before the National Conference of the American Association for Jewish Education to be held in Washington, D. C.

Names Others

In accepting his appointment Brodsky stated, "It is a mark of the progress we have made in Jewish education, and the esteem in which we are held, that the American Association has invited our Bureau of Jewish Education to conduct a Regional Conference." Brodsky announced the appointment of the following Committee members: Daniel Jacobs, Mrs. C. Fox, Sherwin Kapstein, Israel Kapstein, Rabbi Nathan Rosen, Nathan Temkin, Rabbi Julius Goldberg, Walter Chucnin, Bernard J. Margolis.

Arrest 12 Jews As Israel Spies

PRAGUE — Twelve Jews have been arrested in Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia, on suspicion of espionage on behalf of Israel, according to reports received from Paris. The arrests were made, says the report, after a member of the Egyptian Economic Mission had lost his documents in a train between Prague and Pilsen. The Czech police suspected that the documents were stolen by spies working for Israel. The documents related to Czechoslovakia's munitions exports to Egypt.

Industrialist to Speak Sunday

At a breakfast meeting last Sunday at the home of Alvin A. Sopkin, honorary general Jewish Committee president, Joseph W. Ress volunteered to invite a large group to his home at 438 Cole Avenue, this Sunday morning for another in the series of breakfast meetings to spur the UJA Special Fund drive.

The guest speaker at this affair will be S. Robert Abrahami, young Israeli industrialist and administrative director of the Yuval-Gad Pipe Manufacturing Company near Ashkelon, Israel. He saw service during World War II with the British forces and fought for Israel in the War of Independence. He has an intimate knowledge of the vital phases of Israel's development and is well versed with the current crisis in Israel.

Judge Frank Licht, local chairman of the United Jewish Appeal Special Funds, has announced that gifts for the first two meetings total in excess of $35,000.

Praise Dulles' Issue Appeal

NEW YORK—Clarence L. Coleman, Jr., president of the American Council of Judaism, has praised Secretary of State Dulles' recent appeal to keep the Israel-Arab issue out of the 1956 Presidential campaign.

In a letter to Dulles he called the effort "morally commendable" and added, "it also reflects the realities of American domestic political life in which people of the Jewish faith, as all other Americans, vote as free individual citizens motivated by a wide variety of interests."

Intermarriage Rises In Great Britain

LONDON — Disclosure of a marked rise in intermarriage among Jews in England was made in a recent issue of the Manchester Guardian by the noted demographic scholar Dr. W. A. Slotki, who reported that approximately ten to twelve per cent of British Jews going to the altar were taking non-Jewish mates.

Dr. Slotki's estimate was based on a study of applications for marriage licenses and on interviews with rabbinical authorities and social workers. One social worker is quoted as having asserted that the intermarriage rate is so high that there is barely a Jewish family in Britain that has not been affected by the trend to marriage outside the faith.

The Jewish War Veterans, Department of R. I., will present Awards of Merit to three leading citizens at their annual Brotherhood program next Friday, Feb. 24 at Temple Beth El. The exercises will start at 8:15 P. M., following the regular Sabbath Eve services conducted by Rabbi William G. Braude.

The Awards of Merit will be presented by Norman D. Tilles, national executive committeeman, to T. Dawson Brown, president of Industrial National Bank; Thomas F. Gilbane, president of Gilbane Building Co., and Walter Adler, local attorney. Brown, president of R. I. Boy Scouts, is honored as a proponent of minority rights; Gilbane, president of the Providence Chamber of Commerce, for his civic leadership; and Adler, organizer of Big Brothers in R. I., for his communal activities.

The various JWV Auxiliaries of the Department will serve refreshments following the exercises.

The arrangements committee includes Nathaniel M. Bodner, chairman; Arthur Rosen, co-chairman; Alvin Kramer, Sidney Kramer, Tilles, Elliot F. Slack and Department Commander S. H. Wilk.

The value thereof shall be refunded to the successor organizations by the Israel Government.

held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Harriet of 90 Twelfth Street.

The second in the current series of training workshops for trainees enrolled in the Jewish Community Center's Junior Aides (JACS) program will be conducted at the Sessions Street building on Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 4 P. M.

Entitled, "Let's Make Something", this second workshop program will deal with arts and crafts activities for children and leaders. Objectives and motivations for crafts activities in children's groups will be discussed and demonstrations and work sessions will be conducted so that leadership trainees can learn and practice actual craft skills. The program will be directed by Mrs. Marion Roseman, director of the JACS program.

"Through play children learn how to meet the problems of life. Adults need play for relaxation.

PROVIDENCE AND PAWTUCKET

Crowds of Providence shoppers who visited The Outlet Company's new Barton's Bonbonniere Candy Department all day Friday, Feb. 10 and received several tons of continental sweets for their trouble. The occasion was a gigantic all day candy treat party at which more than 100,000 pieces of candy were served.

Barton's Gifts

The traditional shaloch manot custom of sending confections and baked goods to the poor and to one's friends goes back to about 350 B.C.E. when Purim originated in Shushan, the capital of Persia.

Barton's contributes to the observance of this custom with what is perhaps the most appropriate shaloch manot gift of all—baked hamantaschen. They head the list of Purim delicacies in The Outlet Company's new Barton's candy department, street floor, front.

Barton's presents their hamantaschen as a continental patisserie in a smartly designed gift box. Each box contains ten large hamantaschen in an assortment of three delicious fillings—chocolate nut, prune and poppy seed. They make a festive and appealing visiting gift or a treat to serve one's guests. They are priced at two for 25c, or a box of ten for $1.19.

A full selection of Purim candies and baked delicacies is available in the Barton's candy department at The Outlet Company.

"we cannot afford to do less"
By RALPH BUNCHE

There is wide-spread knowledge in the world of the imperfections of American democracy, of the anti-democratic racial and religious attitudes which weaken our unity and sap our strength. We know that there are these imperfections. We talk about them; we face them frankly. Indeed it is a part of our strength that, in the democratic framework of our society, we are entitled to point to our shortcomings. Yet it is unfortunate that they are there. Our enemies, of course, exaggerate; we couldn't expect them to do otherwise. But to our friends, and our friends are many, these imperfections are puzzling.

It seems to me that our answer must be, and it is the only answer there is in a democratic society, to exert every possible effort to eliminate un-democratic attitudes, to do all that we can to close the gap between our professions of democracy and our practice of it.

This is the only way that we can achieve our maximum national strength and unity and fully discharge our international responsibilities. In these critical times, this we must do. We cannot afford to do less.

Editor's Mailbox

I am writing this because I can no longer stomach the lethargy of Providence Jewry unless I at least voice some of my feelings about it.

Most Jews in the world, even those in Providence, are aware of the fact that Israel's very existence is now strongly threatened. And throughout the country Jews, in varying degrees, are making known their objections to this threat. Yes, even here in Providence, many deep-feeling Zionists voice their concerns. A true Zionist like Beryl Segal writes of the nightmare he has of Israel's being like a man on an island that we can't seem to reach to help. And well he might. It is a nightmare that stays with me thru many a day.

However, in this Jewish community, to which I am a relative newcomer but which I have regarded as a strong Zionist community, nothing is done. Every-one voices concern and Harry Albert writes one brilliant letter after another challenging the currently anti-Zionist stand of our only daily newspaper. And there it seems to rest.

For instance. How many of you know that in mid-January a conference of over four hundred Jewish leaders from seventeen Jewish organizations met in Washington to discuss Israel's plight? Pitifully few, I'm afraid. My sources of information are a Zionist father (in Chicago) and the national offices of Hadassah (who mail this information to me because I am the president of a small local chapter).

From the national offices of Hadassah I learn that at the conference, a series of resolutions were passed that thru the press, correspondence to our legislators, and thru protest meetings we are each individually urged to voice. To voice them now, quickly, and repeatedly it is the strong appeal. These resolutions deal, of course, with Israel's immediate need for arms for defense to create the balance of arms in the Middle East, the need for our government to negotiate a security treaty between Israel and the Arab States, and finally a plea for our government not to participate in any program injurious to Israel.

From my father, I got sidelights on the Washington conferences. It was attended by Mr. George Allen, Middle East assistant of the State Department, who listened to the tears and concerns of American Jewry. When he was called upon to address the group, his response was that he was merely there to extend greetings from the State Department but that he could say no more. Efforts were made to see Mr. Dulles. That day he granted an interview to representatives for the American Council for Judaism, a group of Jews as

"One Man's Opinion"

Favorite Short Stories From Yiddish Literature

By BERYL SEGAL

For many years now I wanted to do this—to translate into English some of my favorite authors of the Yiddish literature. But a man wants to do so many things, and time is so short, and circumstances are not always favorable, and other matters, more urgent, clamor for attention. In the meantime the work is being done by others. Hardly a year passes by now without the appearance of translations from Yiddish literature. Sholom Aleichem, Peretz, Singer, Opatoshu and other Yiddish authors can now be obtained at the libraries in English translations. Sholom Asch, of course, has long established himself in American literature. Many readers are not even aware that his famous novels, Salvation, The Nazarene, The Apostles, Mary, East River, and his current series, The Prophets, are all Yiddish originals.

So Yiddish lacks no translators. It is safe to say that Yiddish literature will be read in translation long after the last Jew in America who speaks and reads Yiddish will have been gathered to his fathers.

But every reader has his favorites, and the Yiddish author who has rewarded me greatly whenever I read his writings has not been, to my knowledge, introduced to the English reader as yet. I have some thought on the reasons for the neglect, but that is of lesser importance. I like him, and here is one of his shorter pieces I picked at random. See what you think of it.

Jewelry

Given Away Free

By Moische Nadir

All who like jewelry raise your hands!

One, two, three, four, six, eleven, 24, 1000.

Very well. Put your hands down.

anxious to see the death of Israel as Nasser is. However, the Zionists were told that the Secretary would be unable to see them.

All of this comes as news, brand-new, to most of you, and understandably so. There was not one word of this conference in the Providence Journal and strangely enough, to the best of my vision, no word in the Jewish Herald. Either the Jewish wire news services was remiss or else the Jewish Herald was. Certainly this meeting in Washington was important enough to merit lengthy coverage.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In the issue of Jan. 13, the Herald carried a front page story about the Washington conference. Two weeks later, its correspondent, David Horowitz, in his article, gave the highlights of that conference. In the previous week's Herald, there appeared a detailed story on the New York conclave which was similar to the one held the following week in Washington.)

The fact remains that most of us are uninformed and as a community we are certainly inactive. About a year and a half ago, a long time before Israel's current crisis, an attempt was made to reorganize the Zionist Emergency Council, which had worked so hard

Now I know that you all like ornaments, especially the fairest of sexes, the ladies.

They love to wear brands of fire in their ears, glowing towers on their fingers, and blinding lightnings around their necks.

They love to immerse themselves in gold and silver, in platinum, rubies, sapphires and topaz.

Now, if you must have all these precious jewels, we can let you have them absolutely free.

Tell it to all your friends and neighbors. You don't want them to miss this chance of a lifetime. Let them come early and avoid the rush.

We have a limited assortment of all kinds of jewels and we want to give them to our customers free, on this coming Friday, between sunrise and midnight.

Remember: no down payments. No charge. It is all free.

These jewels we are giving away are not imitations. They are genuine. Our gold is 18 karats, our silver is sterling, and our diamonds are without a flaw.

Come early! At sunrise (remember the day: Friday morning) you may hold out your coat tails or aprons and catch all the gold your heart desires.

Then you may go down to the river banks and fill two flasks of crystal clear water. Wear them like diamond earrings. (Look how they shimmer in the sun.)

Should you wish to dress in luxurious silk, we will tear off a length of white wind and drape it around your shoulders and your waist. Most inexpensive, and it wears well.

Later on, should a storm come up, you may take home a pair of brand new sparkling lightnings to wear like a locket near your heart. They are quite fashionable.

Now, for bracelets you may scoop up a handful of spring hail towards Israel's becoming an actuality. Beyond the initial, well-intentioned meeting I was never invited to another. I'm told they met once or twice after that. Where are they now? I'm not clear as to who should take the responsibility of re-making that organization from a title to a fact, but I'm very clear as to the need for it. Only thru such central organization can the work of the individual Zionist who wants to make his voice heard be clarified.

There are those in Washington who say that we should not take advantage of the fact that this is an election year to pressure our legislators. I say, quite the contrary. I say let's let them know. It wasn't pure coincidence that Israel became a state in a leap year.

Whatever it takes, let's wake up and open our voices. It is not my intention to make this sound like a football pep talk. These are very serious times. I would like Providence Jewry to join the rest of American Jewry in voicing their feelings and facing up to their responsibility to the State they helped to create.

and string them around the wrists of your hands. They make the most precious string of pearls.

At night you may gather a purse full of moon silver and present it to your bride. Or you may dip a bucketful of stars from the well and bring it to your beloved. A very welcome gift.

If all these still do not satisfy you, you may select a bright new rainbow and make of it a scarf, or lingerie, or even a blanket. (Rainbow blankets can keep you warm).

Quite fashionable is the murmur of the sea in your ears, and the green of the mountains in your eyes.

Very becoming are the necklaces of years that people wear all through their lifetime and hand them down as heirlooms to their children and children's children.

We highly recommend the pure tears of our childhood. Their brilliance is sublime and they endure forever.

Arabs Revitalize Firm Backlist

NEW YORK — The United States Department of Commerce has announced that it does not recognize the boycott of certain companies dealing with Israel, which have been "blacklisted" by Saudi Arabia.

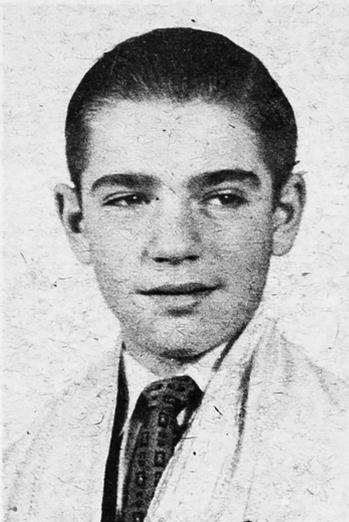

Originated by the Arab League three years ago, the list has recently been complemented by at least 25 names. New factors are Israeli citizenship and contributions to the Unitel Jewish Appeal. Affected merchants were urged by the Department of Commerce to report any difficulties at once.

The Arab ban was based originally upon these three salient conditions:

1. Imports to Arab nations were to be baned if the companies had branches, general agents or regional offices in Israel.
2. Foreign companies with concern or plant shares in Israel were unacceptable for trade.
3. Steamers touching Arab ports on two-way trips were not permitted to anchor in either direction.

Center Varsity Splits Two Hoop Contests

The Jewish Community Center's Basketball Varsity Teams won one and lost one in last week's hoop contests. In the Community League the Jewish Community Center's five defeated Benefit Street Recreation in a close 24-23 game at Benefit Street. Behind by one basket with only thirty seconds to play, Eddie Brookner sank two foul shots to put the Center ahead by one point. Time ran out before Benefit Street could put the ball back into play. Don Goldsmith and Alan Glitzner scoring a high 14 and 11 points for the Center.

The Jewish Community Center's Varsity met its first defeat of the season at the hands of the Wanskuck Boys Club to the tune of 60-47 despite the 17 points scored by Gerry Labusky for the Center team. The Varsity faces the YWCA this week.

Juniors to Hold Mixed Swim Party

A mixed swimming party for boys and girls of junior high school age will be conducted by the Jewish Community Center on Wednesday from 2 to 4 P. M. at the Pawtucket Boys Club pool.

Transportation to and from the pool, from both the main Center building on Sessions Street and the South Side Branch Building 45 Hamilton Street, will be provided for this school holiday event.

Advanced registration is necessary since the number admitted will be limited. Enrollment in the program is open to all junior high boys and girls who are JCC members. Tweens may register at either Center office for a nominal admission fee which includes transportation and admission to the pool.

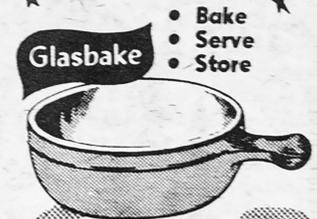

FRATERNAL MEETING

Color slides of the combination installation of officers and testimonial to Sidney J. Hoffman will be shown at the meeting of the Providence Fraternal Association to be held on Tuesday at 8:30 P.M. at Eagles Hall. Movies of a former installation also will be shown. George M. Diamond will preside. A penny social will follow the meeting.

SYD COHEN:

Dinner Digest

The Words Unlimited sports awards dinner is always good for a story. Last Thursday's edition was particularly profitable, from this column's standpoint.

First off, I finally settled the issue that has been plaguing Red Sox fans for a long time, an issue that has brought literally dozens of inquiries during the last year.

Is Norm Zauchin Jewish? He is not.

An unimpeachable authority at the dinner, who knows all the Sox players very well, and who is with them a good part of the year, gave me quite a biography of Norm. Zauchin comes from Royal Oak, Michigan, and is a Catholic. Norm also writes a newspaper column for a home town paper, and is noted, and highly rated, as a basketball referee in the South-eastern (I think that's right) Conference. Now if Norm only could learn to become a consistent hitter

So that takes care of that.

Other baseball tidbits:

During a chat with one of the baseball writers, who covers the Red Sox, I asked whether he agrees with John Hanlon's analysis of the Red Sox "Big Four" (Sullivan, Porterfield, Brewer and Nixon) in a recent column. John didn't think much of the pitching staff.

The writer disagreed, thinks the pitching will be all right, especially Sullivan and Porterfield. He classes Brewer with the Yankees'

Johnny Kucks in the matter of development and ability. That surprised me for Brewer is generally regarded as an established star, Kucks just a promising rookie. The Yanks may be even stronger than they look.

About the enigma that is Willard Nixon, he revealed that a violent and uncontrollable temper "is one of the things wrong" with the righthander who baffles the Yankees so easily, yet cannot post a winning season's record. The emphasis was on the word "one."

The scribe's summary: Sully and Porterfield are the aces (he is not worried at all about Porterfield's ability for a comeback), Brewer needs only a little more consistency, the overall staff will be strong. Plus this ominous (for Sox fans) note:

"That McDermott deal (by the Yankees) doesn't help (the Sox) any."

End of the Trail

Mrs. Manny Almeida, with whom I sat, provided several interesting boxing stories and anecdotes; among them a verification of recent reports that Rocky Marciano soon will retire. Mrs. Almeida related that Rocky has talked over this problem with Manny, who brought out to the champ the pitfalls of staying in there for too long.

Rocky's mind seems made up, she said. He talks as if two more

Congress Leagues Out To Unseat Beth El Sunday in Heart Tourney

With the January March of Dimes Tourney a possible indication of a new trend in R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress events, the 15 other leagues will be out to unseat Beth El as titlist in the Heart Fund Tourney to be held Sunday afternoon at the Bowldrome on Smithfield Ave.

As in the January tourney, Beth El is the defending league in this next one. It will be remembered, however, that Sackin-Shocket took top honors last month, with Fineman-Trinkel a close second.

Beth El set a congress mark of 5053 (net) for a 15-man team last February, while Len Decof of AEPi rolled the individual high triple of 400 and Sanford Miller of Beth David had the high single of 156.

Each league will be represented Sunday by 15 men on three teams, rolling on a three-fourths handicap. Here are the starting times for competing leagues:

1 P.M. — Kavodians, Cousins, AEPi, R. I. Fraternal, Knights of Pythias, Sackin-Shocket, Warwick and Harold Bloom.

Beth David Seeks Sackin-Shocket Match

Members of the Beth David league want to challenge the March of Dimes Tourney winning Sackin-Shocket keglers to a 10-man match.

Sackin-Shocket took top honors in the January tournament with a full 15-man squad, while Beth David had only 10 bowlers present.

According to Joel Zarum of Beth David, his league is ready to put its top ten men against the best ten the vets can offer.

Zarum says to call him at ST 1-6043 if the challenge is accepted.

HAROLD BLOOM By Harry Fellman

This modest correspondent managed to break two league-records last week, pinning 410, with a single of 164, to take first place in both individual efforts. Fellman paced the Reserves to a 1576 total.

Decof Will Prepare Uniform League Rules

In a move to provide member-leagues of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress with uniform rules to govern themselves, Len Decof of AEPi has been appointed by Nat Alterman of Beth El, congress president, to prepare a suggested list of general rules.

Decof's task will be to compile rules, which could be incorporated into the general rules of each league.

It is hoped that problems, such as the following, may someday be handled uniformly by each league:

How many bowlers (two or three) constitute a team in order not to forfeit a match?

How many bowlers (preferably five) should constitute a regular team in each league?

Up to what point after bowling starts (four or six boxes) should a late bowler be allowed to take part in the string?

Attention-- League Presidents

The president of any league not planning to enter Sunday's Heart Fund Tournament of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress is asked to contact Sam Segal, tournament chairman at once, to tell him so.

The Indians took two games and "battling" Stanley Meyerson came up with 129. "Pappy" Platkin, the dad of the new high single record holder, rolled an easy 111. The last place Pirates took three points, paced by new bowler Lewis and Dwares, Waldman, Shorl and Hirsch.

The Dodgers are moving quickly, having taken 14 out of 16 points to enable them to climb several rungs of the ladder and tie with three other teams for second place. Last week, the Dodgers pinned 535 and 1528.

There are cries of "break up the Yankees," or in this case Sam Pritzker's powerful aggregation of Bud Lewis, Bob Bernstein, Joe Levine and Murray Trinkle.

The group that set the high-for-the-congress three of 1698 the previous week came back last week and rolled a most impressive 1633 with a 553 single. The team has gone from the cellar to fourth place, and now is a mere four points from the top.

Lee Haft's team had 1572 with a 555 solo, while Hal Webber's five came in with 1560.

Vin DeCesaris rolled the night's high total of 387 with singles of 140 and 136, while solid Myer Jarcho kicked in strings of 146 and 130 for 372. Frank Supnick rolled 374 with 140 and 128. In the 125-club were Gus Newman 145, Morris Feldman 143, Jake Orchoff 136, Trinkle 131, Mike Silverstein 130, Leo Martel 129, Phil Shaulson and Dewey Shatkin 125.

Four teams tied for first place with 12-4 records at the end of the last week's bowling. The teams: the Tigers, who dropped three points to the Orioles, allowing the Orioles to move into first; and the Indians, who lost three to the White Sox. The White Sox are also in the four-way tie.

The Athletics did a surprising turnabout, taking four points and totalling 1504 to offset their previous 1 and 15 record.

Joel Orchoff rolled the league-pacing total of 343, including a single of 118, while Harv Pollock had the night's best single of 136. Bill Snell pinned 339 and hit a string of 131. Al Snell rolled 126. Izzy Yamuder posted 325, with his best single 118.

Other good strings were Bernie Green 113, Saul Nulman 114, Leon Nachbar 117, Jim Williams 114, Joel Pressman 116, Stan Miller 115 and Milt Miller 114.

 fights may wind up his career.
 It's funny, in a non-comical way. It took Rocky a long time to gain recognition as a worthy champ. But now even his severest critics agree that he is truly the champion. And now that such recognition has come, suddenly it is time to prepare for retirement. Funny, isn't it?

Mrs. Almeida is quite a fight fan, and has missed only a few of Marciano's fights. She saw him in New York, for example, against Carmine Vingo, took in the Philly "battle" with Lee Savold, and was watching from ringside when Rocky lifted the title from Jersey Joe Walcott.

I suggested to Mrs. Almeida that it was a tribute to her husband that no scandals ever had touched Manny's promotions, even while the rest of the boxing world was embroiled in bitter strife. Her reply was: "Believe me, I could write a book."

She related that while Manny has steered a path clear of scandals, he has had plenty of troubles along the way. She admitted that at times her promoter husband had become awfully discouraged. The fact that he continued to stick it out for all these years is in itself a tribute to him. "It hasn't been easy," she concluded.

Show Stopper
 Manny himself stole the show, in my opinion, with his talk which, he said, came from the heart, and obviously did. Responding to the presentation of his award, Manny reminded his listeners that he was an immigrant from Portugal who now was being honored in the company of the Governor of the state. And his voice actually shook with emotion as he said: "I'm proud to be an American citizen."

Funny thing, but another gentleman of my acquaintance, who has prospered in recent years, had told me just about the same thing about six hours earlier that day while describing how he had struggled for a place in the sun upon his arrival in this country. Both men said that success such as theirs could happen only in this country.

It is absolutely thrilling to hear words like that once in a while. Listening to these sentiments twice in one day made last Thursday a highly memorable occasion for me.

Dinner Digests
 I had a very pleasant chat with Johnny Gagnon, the famous "Black Cat" of the Canadians, who started his fabulous career with our Reds back at the start of the old CanAm League. Johnny, who now is chief scout for the Reds, put me in line of a couple of good stories that will have to wait until the middle of March, at which time he invited me to contact him. The stories will be in this column shortly thereafter.

And it was nice to renew acquaintances with Paddy Byrne, one of the most memorable of all Reds' goalies. Paddy tended the cage not too long after Gagnon moved up to join Howie Morenz, Aurel Joliat and the rest of the great Canadians of another era.

Byrne, by the way, still holds the world record for consecutive shutouts by a goalie. His total of six was set while he was with Ottawa.

Members of the R. I. Jewish Bowling Congress will be interested to learn that Tony Petronella, former NBA president, is already looking forward to attending the bowling banquet in June. And he is pleased to know that he is to receive an award at that affair.

One year ago at the Words Unlimited dinner, Tony sat beside light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore at the head table and boosted Archie for a shot at the heavyweight title. Tony didn't think then that Moore could win from Marciano — he doesn't think any man now in the business can do that — but as he explained the other night when I reminded him of the episode:

"I wanted to see Archie make a lot of money — and Rocky, too." Both of them did, you'll recall.

One of my favorite gags is Moore's reply to my query about whether the champion's (then-damaged) nose would stand up in battle. Archie said very solemnly: "I've never gotten close enough to Rocky's nose to find out."

He Made Millions in Real Estate

By Tina Levitan

In a finely appointed office at 565 Fifth Avenue, New York City, the mecca of real estate brokers, a chestnut-haired man of dignified bearing who has made millions for himself is always ready to make millions for others. A firm believer in American enterprise, Louis J. Glickman in a little over a quarter of a century has built a real estate chain that currently covers 16 states and reads like an around the nation tour of business and commerce.

Mr. Glickman, born in New York City in 1905, is the fourth son of Pincus Glickman, who at 84 is still active in the real estate field. He is a member of a family, which, for its own investment, has constructed buildings worth more than $100,000,000.

Now he shares with other enterprisers his recipe for success.

On December 12, 1955 the most recent Glickman acquisition known as the New York Trade Show Building, opened. A twelve story, fully air-conditioned building designed to handle a daily attendance of 10,000 persons, it occupies the former Ludwig-Baumann structure at 500, Eighth Avenue, and is the newest in a network stretching from New York to California, and as far south as Houston, Texas.

Leaseback Technique

One of the leading exponents of the sale-and-leaseback financing technique in real estate, Mr. Glickman has developed a system by which property requiring substantial equity money can be made less top-heavy. He has explained it thus:

"Instead of financing the purchase in the conventional manner by mortgaging the fee, the purchaser can resell the land, taking back a long-term lease. The amount realized on the sale of the land very often compares favorably with the amount that could be raised by way of mortgage, and the lease hold rental is usually pretty much in line with what would be paid in interest and amortization on the mortgage and in addition the purchaser is still eligible to raise an institutional mortgage on the lease itself."

Mr. Glickman's business career started in 1928, when after completing his studies at Brown University and the University of Virginia, he became his father's assistant. Two years later he became full partner. In 1940 he established his own investment enterprise, which he expanded with remarkable rapidity.

In all transactions he acts as principal only, buying and selling through licensed real estate brokers throughout the country and Canada. He is personally available to every broker calling at his office and sometimes may interview as many as twenty during a typical working day. He makes quick decisions. Deals involving millions of dollars and changing the face of a city are closed with a handshake, yet he is a perfectionist and is meticulous in inspecting property conditions before he buys. For instance, he has printed a self-devised real estate questionnaire consisting of more than 100 items. When he is considering the purchase of property, he insists that each and every question be answered satisfactorily. If only one of those questions is not answered to his satisfaction he will pass up a deal, however favorable its other aspects may be.

In 1953, Mr. Glickman started realty and banking circles on the Pacific Coast by purchasing $12,000,000 of land in the Los Angeles area, and again in August, 1954, by purchasing seven large prime office buildings in Los Angeles, for $13,000,000 and the former Boston Store property, for $14,000,000 located on the busiest corner of the world, State and Madison Streets, Chicago. The Los Angeles Examiner, after surveying his activities on a national scale, described Mr. Glickman as a man "who goes around the country buying buildings like bananas."

Among his recent acquisitions in New York City are: 565 Fifth Avenue, the former S. W. Straus Building, 580 Fifth Avenue, the Empire Trust Company Building, the former Jensen and Rockefeller property at Fifth Avenue and 54th Street, the twenty-one-story office building at 501 Fifth Avenue, at the corner of 42nd Street and the twenty-two story structure at 42 Broadway in the Wall Street area.

At 936 Fifth Avenue, corner of 75th street, Mr. Glickman, in partnership with Jack D. Weiler, built a seventeen story and pent-house cooperative apartment structure that combines the spaciousness and stateliness usually found in sizeable private dwellings with the convenience and accessibility of modern apartment dwelling. He resides here with his wife, Helene, and his two sons—one a student at Bucknell University, the other at Brown University.

Mr. Glickman regards many of his real estate operations as romantic. In spite of this, he is constantly cautioning persons against romancing in real estate. By using that term he alludes to the hazardous way some people buy income bearing property which appears attractive on the surface, but carries much grief and financial loss underneath.

In view of the common observation that many a man who buys property loses his shirt, Glickman recently sponsored a radio program "Its A Deal", devoted to give enlightening information to those interested in real estate operations.

The proverb, "Action Speaks Louder Than Words", tells more about the character of Louis J. Glickman than the artist's brush or pen. It is men such as him who have contributed so much to the progress and development of the American way.

IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE

As you last visited the final resting places of loved ones were you upset, dismayed, or shocked by the deplorable conditions existing in the typical gloomy, neglected graveyard . . . was there traffic congestion? Was the cemetery visit made more difficult for you by certain indignities which are in extremely poor taste on Holy ground dedicated to the memory of those who have gone before you?

If your answer is "Yes", this message is important to you. Sharon Memorial Park, the first all-Jewish garden cemetery in New England is a living symbol of the respectable way of life Jewish families enjoy in America today. And those very indignities which repulsed you in other cemeteries can't happen here. Why? Let us illustrate a few points:

1. Traffic Congestion . . . At Sharon Memorial Park you don't have to walk for long distances to come to your lot. You may drive within a few feet of it along spacious winding, hard-surfaced driveways.

2. Arguments With Caretaker . . . No arguments arise over whether a caretaker has done the job he was paid to do or not . . . or in what manner it was done. Visitors enjoy the quiet atmosphere of a well-kept garden which is equally beautiful in all sections.

3. Care Of Some Graves . . . Neglect Of Others

. . . In Sharon Memorial Park this condition cannot exist, because ALL graves are cared for by never-ending Perpetual Care. It is the responsibility of the Park and not of the people who come to visit. Perpetual care is included in the one low original price of the lot.

4. Solicitations For Charity . . . No solicitations of any kind are allowed anywhere . . . either at the entrance or inside Sharon Memorial Park. Competent counsellors will lead visitors in prayer if requested - and without charge.

5. Distinction Between Rich And Poor . . . Such a condition cannot exist at Sharon Memorial Park. No unsightly monuments of varying shapes and sizes compete with each other to mar the natural beauty of this lovely garden. Everlasting, uniform bronze plaques are set flush with the lawn, symbolizing that, at least in the "Beth Olam", there shall be no vulgar displays of wealth, no humiliating exhibitions of poverty.

You can share in this great institution which has been approved by Orthodox, Conservative and Reformed Rabbinical authorities . . . have a place for those you love and who will some day come to visit you in surroundings of consecrated beauty. All this at a price you can afford and on terms adjusted to any family budget. Let us send you the full details.

Sun Life Assurance Sets Sales Record

MONTREAL—A new sales record has just been established by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada. The Company sold more than three-quarters of a billion dollars of new insurance during 1955. At the same time, assets were increased by $72,000,000 to $1,948,000,000. The total insurance in force stands at $6½ billion, of which group insurance accounts for $2,312 million.

These figures were among the highlights of the Sun Life's 85th Annual Report presented to the holders of the Company's two million policies by George W. Bourke, president. Much of the new business figure of $761,854,137 represents insurance sold in the United States, where the Sun Life has 37 percent of its business in force. New dividend scales which, for the seventh successive year, will considerably reduce the cost of insurance to policyholders, were also announced. In 1956, the Company will pay to its policyholders dividends of $28 million.

Total benefits paid out, according to the report, amounted to $136 million. Of this, $42 million was paid to beneficiaries of deceased policyholders, and $94 million paid to living policyholders and annuitants. Since organization, $3,002,988,000 has been paid out to policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Sun Life annuities in force provide for payments of $149,000,000 per annum, 88 percent of which is represented by payments under group pension contracts. Total life insurance and annuities now in force may be considered the equivalent of $8,511,000,000 of life insurance.

Gifts were presented on behalf of the Santha by Abraham Factor to Elsie Markowitz and Dr. Joseph P. Markowitz. Bertram Piccar presented a plaque to Harry Zettel. Among the guests at the affair was Mickey Gellerman, district imperial deputy, who brought greetings from Abau Ben Adhem Temple of Boston.

A collation and dancing followed the ceremonies. More than 100 guests were present.
