GJC Distributes $510,570; 15 Agencies Get Increases

Local Groups Get $91,030

Total allocations of $510,570 — including $43,975 for the United Jewish Appeal Special Survival Fund — for 1956 has been approved by the board of directors of the General Jewish Committee, it was announced this week by Henry J. Hassenfeld, GJC president.

The regular allocations totalling $466,595 represent an increase of $23,270 over last year for 52 beneficiary agencies. These allotments were approved last Thursday on the recommendations of the Allocations Committee.

Amounts allocated to each agency were determined after numerous meetings and much deliberation and analysis of the requirements of each particular agency. Each agency's specific needs and budgets were outlined by representatives at these meetings or in written statements of programs submitted to the committee.

The largest allocation was to the United Jewish Appeal. A sum of $310,000 — an increase of $10,000 — was earmarked for the UJA, whose program of aid and assistance to Israel has been greatly expanded because of the Middle East situation. An additional sum of $43,975 has been paid to the UJA's Special Survival Fund for emergency emigration and resettlement of refugee Jews from Egypt, North Africa, Hungary and Moslem countries, making a total of $353,975 to the United Jewish Appeal.

Reflecting the overall rising costs of continuing the programs of the various agencies, the board of directors voted increases to 15 agencies and held the line on the remaining allocations. There were no decreases in allocations.

Of the total allocations, $91,030 was voted for local agencies — an increase of $9,230.

The second largest increase was $4,000 to the Jewish Community Center of Providence. A $3,000 increase was voted to the Jewish Community Center for its Sessions Street operation and an increase of $1,000 was granted to the South Providence Branch of the JCC.

The total allocation for the JCC is $29,000 — a sum of $18,000 for the Sessions Street JCC and $11,000 for the JCC South Providence branch.

The increase to the JCC was approved to care for increased

Bagdikian's First Report on Middle East to be Given April 30

A first hand report on the Middle East powder keg will be given by one of the Providence Journal's leading staff reporters at an extraordinary program sponsored by the General Jewish Committee of Providence on Tuesday evening, April 30, in the Meeting Hall at Temple Beth El at Orchard and Butler Avenues in Providence.

Ben H. Bagdikian, just returned from the Middle East and Europe, will make his first public report on his observations of the recent Israeli-Egyptian war and conditions in the Middle East and Europe. The 36-year-old correspondent, in Europe the past year on an Ogden Reid fellowship, was in Rome when hostilities broke out between Egypt and Israel. He was immediately ordered to the war zone and traveled with the Israel Army in combat areas. At the conclusion of the war, he traveled extensively in Israel, the Moslem lands, Italy, France and Spain.

Bagdikian's elucidating articles, particularly those concerned with the Egyptian-Israeli war and his travels in the tension-ridden Middle-East, have been read avidly by Rhode Island's residents as they appeared in the Journal-Bulletin.

In a recent letter to Henry J. Hassenfeld, GJC president, and Joseph Galkin, executive director of the GJC, Bagdikian said that in his report to the people of Rhode Island he plans to lay particular emphasis on Israel and its relation to the Middle East and to the United States.

This special program is open to the public and everyone is cordially invited to attend and hear Bagdikian tell his story of what is going on in Israel and the Middle East.

A social hour will follow the meeting.

Ben Gurion Sees 'Possibility'

Declares Jews May Leave Russia

TEL AVIV — "A possibility has appeared" of immigration of Russian Jews to Israel, Premier Ben Gurion declared last week in an address delivered at ceremonies opening a newspapermen's center in this city. The Premier described the possibility as "not certain but not unrealistic."

The Jewish youth of the Soviet Union is "full of a desire to immigrate," Ben Gurion said, because of restrictions on Jewish students in Soviet universities. A recent visitor had disclosed, he added, that Soviet universities had established a Jewish quota of 1.5% of the student body. Previously, the Premier stated, the quota had been 10%.

Ben Gurion revealed that the Soviet authorities were jamming Israel's Yiddish language broadcasts beamed at the USSR. He also reported that despite Soviet press charges of "Israeli atrocities," both Jews and non-Jews in the USSR were speaking of the Israeli Army's exploits.

Meanwhile, in anticipation of a large influx of immigrants, a fund of 5,000,000 Israeli pounds ($2,750,000) was established for the construction of new centers for care of the newcomers. The project is under the joint auspices of the Ministries of Labor and Education, and the program will be carried out with the cooperation of the absorption department of the Jewish Agency.

The new wave of immigration into Israel brought to this country the families of 371 professionals in the three months ending Feb. 28, according to the Jewish Agency. Of the total, 48 physicians and 96 other professionals found employment immediately, while the others are awaiting appointment to various posts.

Israel Gets 30 Million Credit

PARIS — France has granted Israel a credit of $30 million, Finance Minister Levi Eshkol announced.

Eshkol, who conferred with Premier Guy Mollet, revealed that the credit will be reimbursed within two to eight years. Israel intends to buy cereals, vehicles, iron, steel, tractors and agricultural and other machinery.

Hillel Director Conducts Seder

Rabbi Nathan N. Rosen, director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation in Rhode Island, conducted the annual Hillel Model Seder which was held on April 11 at the University of Rhode Island.

Rabbi Maurice Zigmond, the New England regional Hillel director and until recently director of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, was guest speaker. Dr. Carl R. Woodward, president of the University of Rhode Island, delivered an address. Cantor Jacob Hohenemser of Temple Emanuel chanted the Kiddush and led the singing of Passover songs. The invocation was given by the Reverend Edmund W. Fetter, chaplain of the University.

Mrs. Nathan N. Rosen pronounced the blessing over the candles, and the four questions were asked by Tamara Diesendruck, daughter of Professor and Mrs. Leo Diesendruck.

Ruth Labush was student chairman in charge of arrangements. The students who participated in the choral reading of the Hagadah were Moe Lipson, Sandy Finkelshtein, Harvey Raisner, Marcia Perry, Susan Hochman and Jordan Richmond.

Israel Gets Credit

French interest in the big Eilat-Haifa oil pipeline. Eshkol pointed out that Israel's purchase of producer goods is interesting for France because it will provide Frenchmen with employment.

"Secrets of the Egyptian Expedition," by the French journalists M. and S. Bromberger, claims it was a French warship which put the Egyptian destroyer Ibrahim el Awal out of action and that French planes cooperated in the Sinai drive. It was also alleged that when the Israelis attacked Rafah, the town's defenses were shattered by gunfire from the French cruiser Georges-Leygues.

The book says there was a "highly secret" meeting between M. Mollet and Ben Gurion at a French airfield on October 21.

The French foreign ministry formally denied repeated reports of a secret meeting in October between Premiers Mollet and Ben Gurion at the Villacoublay military airfield.

Sisterhood To Hold Annual Meeting

Mrs. Reuben Karten, program chairman, has announced that Rabbi Julius Goldberg, of the Cranston Jewish Center will be the guest speaker at the Annual Torah meeting of the Temple Beth Sholom Sisterhood on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Temple vestry.

The nominating committee, consisting of Mesdames Herman Weinstein, chairman, Robert Mushnick, Irwin Rubin, Nathan Silverman and Abraham Strauss, will present the slate of officers for the coming year.

The Sisterhood is sponsoring a trip by chartered bus to the "Ten Commandments" for the children of the Hebrew school on Thursday.

Reveals Inside Story of Attack
On Egypt By Britain and France

PARIS — A sensational article in the authoritative French newspaper Le Figaro says the British and French planned their attack on Egypt in full knowledge that Israel planned to strike first. The paper reveals for the first time what it claims is the inside story of the operation.

The French wanted a "lightning operation" by paratroopers after a 48-hour bombardment of Egyptian air bases and a swift commando raid on Cairo to kidnap President Nasser. The British nixed this, and won out with a plan for an "operation in force" that would take longer.

Labeled "Mosquito B," the plan was agreed to Oct. 24. It was already known that Israel was jumping off Oct. 29.

It was Eden, Figaro says, who telephoned Premier Guy Mollet in Paris to urge a cease-fire. Mollet was having lunch with West German Chancellor Adenauer at the moment, but interrupted it to argue with the British Prime Minister.

The Herald's news deadline is Tuesday noon. We cannot guarantee to insert copy received later.

costs of operation and maintenance, expansion of the center's program for both youths and adults and staff services.

The Bureau of Jewish Education was allocated the second largest amount — $29,080. This represents an increase of $2,080 over last year. The increase was voted to cover additional and increased grants by the bureau to various Hebrew schools in the Greater Providence community.

Other agencies voted increased allocations are the American Jewish Congress, B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, Cranston Jewish Center, Hebrew University-Technion, Joint Defense Appeal, National Committee for Labor (Hista-druth), National Community Relations Advisory Council, Providence Hebrew Sheltering Society, Rhode Island Jewish Historical Society, United HIAS Service, Inc., and Refugee Service (JFCS).

Of the $5,000 allocated to the National Jewish Welfare Board, $1,600 is earmarked for the Armed Forces. The allocation approved for United HIAS Service is the same as last year, but an additional $1,000 one-time grant for emergency immigration was voted by the Board of Directors.

The 1956 General Jewish Committee campaign reached a total of $536,000 — an increase of approximately $26,000 over 1955.

Why UN Troops Inside Border Would Prove Hazard to Israel

By GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT
Noted Military Analyst

A good deal of time and breath is being wasted in double talk about the United Nations Emergency Force being used to patrol both sides of the frontier between Israel and the Gaza Strip.

Such a patrol arrangement, it is asserted, is necessary if the UNEF is to provide protection for Israel against the possible resumption of guerilla ("fedayeen") raids across the frontier.

Bluntly, this is a lot of hogwash.

The UNEF has neither the training, the weapons, the knowledge of the terrain nor even the will to deal adequately with such desperadoes as make up the fedayeen murder-gangs. All it could accomplish, if it were to be stationed on the Israeli side of the border, would be to hamper the Israeli Army and border police in carrying out their own protective measures.

It requires no very great effort of the imagination to foresee what the attitude of Mr. Nehru or Mr. Krishna Menon would be, if an Indian soldier of the UNEF were to fire at a fedayeen raider — who would, of course, be represented by the Cairo radio as an innocent victim of Israeli injustice, seeking only to return to the home of his forefathers.

We have only to recall the furious storm that was raised over the one Arab rioter who was killed by a stray bullet when the UNEF occupied Gaza.

It may be said that at the moment the sole reason why Israel desires the presence of the UNEF in the Gaza Strip is that while the UN troops are there it is more likely that Egyptian troops will not be sent there.

The sole reason why the Egyptians desire to see the UNEF in Gaza is that while it remains, it restrains the Israeli from deciding to come back in force and throw the Egyptians out.

Of course, if the UNEF were on both sides of the border, their presence would provide an additional advantage for the Egyptians by facilitating fedayeen adventures. It should be remembered that the presence of Egyptian troops is not necessary for fedayeen operations; the personnel of these raiding groups is chiefly recruited among the refugee population of the Gaza Strip.

The Egyptian interest in retaining control of Gaza has only one purpose — the use of this position as a base for harassing and threatening Israel.

But Gaza as a military base against Israel, is in a hopelessly exposed position. It is out on the end of a long limb, separated from the centers of Egyptian power by the desert. It cannot escape being cut off by the highly mobile Israeli forces in case of war.

In fact, this is exactly what has happened twice already to Egyptian forces in the Gaza area — once in 1948 and once in the Fall of 1956.

Now Israel has reluctantly withdrawn again from the area under United Nations pressure. But the strategic realities remain. Any Egyptian tenure of Gaza is at Israeli sufferance.

What the Egyptians apparently want is to have the UNEF protect them against Israel while they continue to exercise what Col. Nasser is pleased to call "belligerent rights" — which amounts to sending gangs of murderers into Israel under the protection of the UN flag.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Miami Beach, Light and Shadow

By BERYL SEGAL

You take the sightseeing boat at the foot of Collins Avenue, the long hotel studded street of Miami Beach, and you go up the Indian River. On your left are the white cliffs of the hotels. On your right are the mansions of the Millionaire's Row; pretentious houses situated on the waterfront, with luxurious lawns and gardens, and private docks. A yacht is tied at the foot of each dock. The yacht at the dock is as symbolic of Millionaire's Row as the mink stole is the badge of the inhabitants of Collins Avenue.

The guide points out homes of famous people. Oil men, steel men, automobile men, railroad men. All tycoons. All giants of industry, finance and entertainment. Not an unknown among them. The captain of the boat who is also the guide and entertainer of the tour, keeps up an endless chatter, as the boat glides by the sunlit waters.

"This is the house that nickels and dimes built. Poor Mr. Kresge saved up his nickels and dimes to build a roof over his head. That will teach you a lesson, ladies and gentlemen. Save your nickels."

"This modest house has 36 rooms, besides the servants' quarters. It is all made of old discarded rubber tires. Poor Mr. Firestone couldn't afford to buy new tires, so he salvaged the old ones."

"Anybody here a taxi driver? What do you do with your tips? Spent them? This taxi driver saved up his tips and built himself this little house on the left. You all know him. He is the owner of the Hertz Drive It Yourself Taxis."

And so it goes. Millionaire's Row. A mixture of architectural styles, with the accent on the luxurious and showcase style.

The houses that millions built. But on the road from the airport to the city and again on the way to Coral Gables later on, we came upon Misery Row.

No need for guided tours. No mistaking where you are. The

And with ties so strong, your two hearts are bound . . . Put it on, the one you've found, found, found . . . For you know that this is really love."

They sold the song a few days later to the Rush Music Co. and started thinking of other things.

At Lafayette HS, this is old stuff to the pupils who have come to accept Shapiro as a genius, as well as a supervising teacher. The most common tribute is simply to whistle or hum his latest tune softly as they pass him by in the hall.

Last summer, they were humming "Treasure of Love," which he and Stallman put together as a nice-sounding pop tune and which was quickly rearranged on Tin Pan Alley as a hot rhythm-and-blues number to compete with Elvis Presley's "Hound Dog."

"Round and Round" will have Negro quarters. That too has an architecture of its own. Chicken coop architecture. All alike in their ugliness and in their squalor. One shanty leans against the other. Only in this manner can they stand up. Left alone they would sway with the winds. And the men and women, the men in particular, who are sprawling on the doorsteps also seek one another's company. Left to themselves they would succumb to their sorrow and loneliness.

You wonder why they are loitering in the sun when all around them the city is humming and rushing and being very busy. But in time you find the answer to your riddle.

Their work is done at night. Their work is the kind that no white man or woman would do. You will not find Negroes running elevators in hotels, waiting on tables, or serving as doormen and bus boys. You will not see Negroes on the busses and in taxis by daylight.

But if you get up early with the sunrise, and very few do in Miami Beach, you will see the Negroes in complete command of Collins Avenue. Out of the side entrances to the hotels and restaurants they slink away with their work clothes rolled under their arm. Back to the Negro Row, back to peeled off clapboard shanties, back to the noise of traffic under their very windows, back to the oppressing loneliness. And also to the saloon. What the private dock and the yacht is to Millionaire's Row, the saloon and the Coca-Cola stand is to the Negro quarters.

But the sightseeing boat does not pass by the Negro quarters. If it did the guide could hardly keep up a light hearted banter about the shanties as he does about the mansions.

It just isn't funny.

"Miami Beach is a community of superlative," the guide book boasts, and it goes on to prove it with colored pictures and breathtaking views. After a brief company soon in "Jamie Boy," another S. and S. number, which was recently recorded by Kay Starr, plus a third tune Rosemary Clooney is recording. That will be 16 records for Shapiro and Stallman.

One like "Round and Round" doesn't come around every day, however.

"Of course, my livelihood is teaching, which I love," said Shapiro. "Writing music and poetry is a delightful avocation for me. But Lou is a full-time composer. It's his livelihood."

Avocation or vocation, "Round and Round" will mean a penny a record, a nickel a piece of sheet music and a little here and there each time it is performed on the air, which will add up to a lot of delightful avocation.

"If one doesn't have a substantial hit," said Shapiro philosophically, "one may just as well stay in bed."

sojourn in Miami Beach you admit that the guide book did not exaggerate and that the pictures were not dolled up for the tourist trade.

That strip of land drenched in sunlight and sandwiched in by waters, deserves all the superlatives bestowed upon it. Fabulous is the more conservative of them.

We stood one late afternoon on a bridge spanning the Indian Creek, and we were enthralled by the sight. A white city dazzling in the setting sun. You forget the multitudes milling about on Lincoln Road. You forget the vulgar glitter of the lobbies and the sham fountains and the phony goddesses and cherubs, and the gilded colonnades. You do not even remember the revulsion that comes over you when you see for the first time the army of sun charred, henna bleached, and fur bedecked women parading along the avenue gracelessly.

Even they cannot detract from the beauty of Miami Beach. A city made by man and adorned by nature.

Nor can the men do damage to the natural beauty of the land with their loud and endless talk of horses and of baseball heroes, and repeating the age old jokes of the salesman who came . . .

At night huge buses appear on Collins Avenue. They are buses that come in the night. They are not for ordinary passengers. Signs on the front windows read: NIGHT CLUB TOURS.

They stop at the door of every hotel as they make their way up the Hotel Avenue to pick up patrons, who stand in the lobbies dressed for the occasions. Dark as Gypsies but lacking their gracefulness. They wait eagerly for the arrival of the buses that will take them away to the glitter and thrill of "night life."

What are the stars above and the murmur of the ocean at the very foundations of the hotel as compared with the sultry promises of the night club circuit? From spot to spot they go on their package-priced tour of night pleasures.

But at night also Miami Beach residents go to open air concerts and to art exhibits, and sit by the shore in silence, and fish on the municipal fishing dock, and talk over a cup of tea. At night Miami Beach residents go to lectures and debates and forums and to Synagogues.

On a Friday evening the Reform Temple was filled to capacity, and the conservative Temple had standing room only, and many leaned against the walls in the vestry and on the steps outside to hear the reading of the Megillah.

Miami Beach is a fabulous place, and it has its light and shadows, and beauty and its share of unloveliness, and you can choose the one and leave the other.

Miami Beach is as you like it.

Complete Hit Song on Subway From Times Square to Sea Gate

All the way home from Times Sq. to Sea Gate on the BMT one evening last fall, Joe Shapiro scribbled and Lou Stallman hummed.

Forty minutes from Tin Pan Alley, they arrived at their respective homes with the music and lyrics of a song.

Today the song was getting a ride.

"Round and Round" was the hottest top tune in the country.

The Perry Como record, in five short weeks, was rolling up a second million in sales.

It was one-two in jukebox plays, sheet music sales and disc jockey polls. It was No. 1 on the "Hit Parade."

It was not, however, a tribute to the BMT.

"I'd like to say it is," said Shapiro, "but it wouldn't be true."

That fateful day last fall had been a long day for Shapiro.

At 3:30 he had finished his duties as supervisor of English at Lafayette HS and left to meet Stallman, a guitar teacher, at the Brill Bldg., the nub of Tin Pan Alley.

They tried, as they have been doing these last two years, to peddle one or another of some 200 songs they had put together; and then they left for home.

"Actually," said Shapiro, a tall, professorial-looking man of 43. "I got the idea from an off-Broadway revue I'd seen a few nights before. There was a number in it, a very clever number, about various shapes, such as triangles and rectangles, etc."

So, as they got on a BMT train, Shapiro imparted his thoughts to Stallman, who is 23. And the humming and scribbling began.

"Lou worked on the tune as I worked on the lyrics," said Shapiro, "and one thing led to another. I don't think either of us thought of the wheels of the BMT going 'round and 'round.'"

"Find a wheel," wrote Shapiro, "and it goes 'round, 'round, 'round . . . As it skims along, with a happy sound . . . As it goes, along the ground, ground, ground . . . Till it leads you to the one you love . . ."

Well, as the BMT kept going, Shapiro got in a lover holding a lover 'round, 'round, 'round; a head spinning 'round, 'round, 'round; the moon, ditto; the sun, ditto — and there was nothing left to do but make it official.

"Find a ring," he wrote, "and put it 'round, 'round, 'round . . ."

Talmud Offers Modern Advice

NEW YORK — Wife been hen-pecking you lately? Well, you might try the ancients, advises a New York University marriage counseling authority, who today disclosed where he had been getting some of his best advice.

Dr. Samuel I. Spector, research associate at NYU's Center for Human Relations Studies, has found that the Hebrew sages who put together the Talmud knew just the right things to say in all sorts of cases.

In an article prepared for the National Jewish Monthly, official B'nai B'rith publication, Dr. Spector reports the discovery of "psychological insights that are cogent and vital, even for our times."

Bits of Advice

Here are some of the bits of advice produced by the ancient rabbis through long discussions on marital problems:

"A man should always see the girl before he marries her. He must keep his eyes wide open — not only about her physical beauty but to her personality traits as well."

"Don't expect to work out marriage plans without a quarrel. Not only will there be dickering over the dowry, but the bride and groom get increasingly edgy as the big day approaches."

"Don't walk into your home suddenly without knocking or calling out. To do so shows a lack of faith in your wife."

Wife's Weapons

"A wife's weapons are always with her — soft caresses and cajolery, sighs and tears or outbursts of righteous female anger and indignation."

As for the proper rearing of children, the NYU authority says the Talmudic wise men of 2000 years ago cautioned parents not to threaten a child, but to "either punish him or forgive him."

The modern-day concept that the child's destructive impulse is nothing more than a tension release likewise was recognized by the ancients. He cites the case of Rabba, a sage who bought a set of earthenware for his children to crash to pieces if they felt they needed that release.

Oh, yes, about the hen-pecked husband. The sages put such a man down as an individual "whose prayers go unanswered."

Special Mission To Visit Israel

WASHINGTON — A special Export-Import Bank mission to Israel, cancelled when the Israeli Sinai campaign started, will probably leave next month for an on-the-spot study of Israel's request for a $75,000,000 loan, it was learned this week.

The decision to send the mission followed discussions between Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban and Samuel C. Waugh, Export-Import Bank president, initiated by Mr. Eban last week.

Israel wants the $75,000,000 credit for developing irrigation projects on the coastal plain.

BASEBALL LEAGUES

Meetings of all boys registered for the Jewish Community Center's Tween and Midget baseball leagues will be conducted at the main Center building this Sunday afternoon according to Abe Lobel, JCC physical education director.

A Message to the Providence Jewish Community

from

Judge

FRANK LIGHT

JUDGE FRANK LIGHT

"Next year in Jerusalem —" now has concrete meaning with the existence of the State of Israel whose ninth anniversary we of Providence will celebrate on May 5th.

I urge you all to join me in this celebration, at a dinner in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Biltmore on Sunday, May 5th at 6:30 p.m.

Judge Simon E. Sobeloff, one of the best-known figures in the country today, will be with us for this happy event. He will outline to us the steps we as Americans must take to solidify the future of the Jewish State.

Providence should demonstrate the pride she feels in the outstanding progress Israel has thus far made in the nine short years of her status as a nation. I am confident that you and our entire Jewish community will rally behind her in an inspiring demonstration of love and devotion on this historic occasion of her ninth year of sovereignty.

Sit down and write or call the Israel Anniversary Dinner Committee, Room 401, 32 Custom House Street, telephone JACKSON 1-3637, making your reservations for the dinner. Please do it immediately. I am counting on you to join me in making this one of the most memorable events in the history of our community.

Sincerely,

Frank Licht

Runnerup Ratrice

It may seem preposterous for a weekly sports column to dare to analyze the pennant races of both major leagues in competition with those who make their living exclusively by accompanying some club throughout the season, and who actually "live" baseball all the time.

Yet, you don't have to be close to the scene to be able to pick the winners or the losers; besides, my present brashness is based on three years of analysis that — bashfully, but frankly — have not been matched by any daily writers in these parts. The clippings are here to prove it. After that, it would serve me right to have this year's predictions rammed right back down my throat, wouldn't it?

Could be that it will happen this year, too, for I have a couple of long shot hunches that just will not let me alone. I'm willing to eat crow if I miss my guesses, but my analyzing of the clubs simply will not let me play it safe.

In the American League, practically all of the guesswork involves the four "runnersup" behind the Yankees — Cleveland, Boston, Chicago and Detroit.

Considerable poring over the rosters of these four teams gets you nowhere. They are closely matched, extremely so. The five of them very easily could finish within a half dozen games of each other as last year. Picking one of them to beat the others seems to me more a matter of pinning the tail on the donkey or voting for the personal favorite than actually "seeing" a clear difference in ability among them.

The more I peruse the rosters, the more convinced I am that there must be some changes made. It seems inconceivable that they can be content to stand pat, or that they can afford to stand pat. It appears impossible that one or two of them, at least, will not contrive to strengthen their squads well before the trading deadline passes in review.

The purchase of Russ Meyer by Boston lends credence to my belief, and should be but the first of several deals that will be surprising and entertaining the fans these next several weeks.

Take that, if you will, as the second of this column's predictions.

The first is that Lefty Herb Score (of Cleveland) will be the Most Valuable Player, and Player of the Year.

Most improved club in American League — I don't see how Kansas City can miss. Got some real big league talent in deal with Yanks, talent which could not possibly get preferential treatment while with New York. KC should run away from Baltimore and Washington, might make threat on fifth place for a while. Definitely should tighten up league and make race more interesting.

As for deadlock among Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Boston — a tough one!

Red Sox

First, despite other, more expert ratings, I see Red Sox as much improved. Last spring Sox were overrated because of strong 1955 performance; this year underrated off last year's miserable showing. Infield much improved — I mean it! Klaus at short adds indefinable spirit. Malzone at third should make it, Mauch better than Goodman, first base platoon duo is good (please, Mike, don't let Zaichin pinch hit in crucial spots!). Outfield has willing, able and spirited Williams available from start. Reserve strength surprisingly good — Lepcio, Bolling, Vernon / Gernert, Throneberry, Stephens. And Goodman — best of all.

Sammy White is much better than last year, especially at bat. Improved pitching will gain even more stature through steadier defense. (This column discussed hurlers two weeks ago.)

Indians

Indians' infield not up to Red Sox, believe it or not. Wertz no better than Vernon, and must play at least 125-130 games or club will sink. Avila's value is his bat, which has been quiet last two years. Carasquel no longer looks like world-beater. Chico seems to be type of player who can rouse himself to great heights only amid excitement and hoopla of championship outfit like Yanks. Just mediocre player with mediocre team — until he proves otherwise, anyway. Third base wide open.

as good as Red Sox. Catching no better than Boston. Reserve strength and team potential based largely on rookies. A slow club.

Indians figure to win anytime Score pitches, which automatically keeps club in first division. Lemon and Wynn, getting easier to hit, figure to fade from 20-win status. They and others will depend on exceptional relief pitching to bolster fading starters, a la 1954 and 1955. Houtteman unhappy as Indian, Garcia apparently has had it, Aguirre and Daley must pick up slack, and Narleski and Mossi must stay red-hot all year. Too big a task overall.

White Sox

Strong front line, little reserve strength, insufficient pitching depth. Inclusion of Jim Wilson in "big four" is like including Willard Nixon in Red Sox top quartet. Looks good on paper, but doesn't jell in action. Wilson is old, spotty. On good days is unbeatable, but doesn't figure to have too many of those days. Pierce, Harshman, Donovan all good, but what then? White Sox need big years from all plus Wilson to go anyplace.

Second base combo is club strongpoint, genuine asset. Outfield dangerous with Minoza, Doby, Rivera. First and third base so-so. Catching strong. Team has power, spirit, good defense. But I can't see White Sox reserves as equal to Red Sox. And if my minority opinion judgment of Boston's pitching is sound, Boston will outclass Chicago on mound, too.

Overall, White Sox are strong and interesting, but team simply cannot afford a bad year or a serious injury to any of its key men. Same situation existed two years ago, and appendectomy of Donovan when he was going strong cost club real chance at pennant. In a tighter league race this year, this weakness looks costly. Besides, what if Aparicio comes up with sophomoreitis? Could happen, you know.

Tigers

If Kansas City rates as most improved team in league, Tigers should prove most disappointing. Most writers see them as solid second place choice, presenting most serious challenge to Yankees. This writer says, with what? Mirrors?

Tigers' fast finish last year in rather weak league has blinded experts to unchanged faults and defects. Even manager Tighe admits he has only three real good pitchers — Hoeft, Lary, Foytack — and latter is merely second year man. Who says he will prove a solid number three? Lary lost something like one game out of his last 14 or 15. You expect that to continue?

Tigers have decent infield defense in Boone, Bolling, Kuenn and maybe Finigan. Catching inferior to Boston's. Terrific hitting of Boone, Kuenn, Maxwell and Kaline will bail out pitchers quite often. Next to Yanks, this is best slugging outfit in league. But — and a big but — can this foursome all by itself hold up rest of club over a whole season? I say — nope!

Engaged—Mr. and Mrs. Eli Shapiro of New Hampshire announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice, to Arthur Ziegler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Ziegler of Providence.

Defects—lack of pitching depth, lack of reserve strength. Team can go like blazes for quite a stretch, but not for 154 games. Any injury to big four means curtains.

Summary

Two of these clubs — Boston and Cleveland — have trading material. Indians can afford to offer a couple of pitchers to bolster a weak spot. If you read my winter series analyzing Sox, I repeat — insistently — that Sox should offer a package deal of Nixon (a lousy .500 pitcher despite his mastery of the Yankees, which in itself makes him attractive), an outfielder, and Billy Goodman — and shove this package under the noses of Baltimore and Kansas City, and possibly Washington, and ask in return a real classy defensive second baseman or shortstop plus a pitcher of decent promise.

Actually, who knows what would happen if the Sox offered Nixon or Throneberry to the Yankees for Jerry Coleman?

I insist that these possibilities should be explored, along with any others that may be worked up.

In other words, I firmly believe that Boston could be much improved through a deal such as those mentioned. And the wonderful part would be that none of the personnel involved is actually essential to the Boston cause. Check for yourself—Nixon, Goodman, Throneberry — You would hardly miss them. As of this date, none is considered a front line player by Manager Higgins. Proof enough?

So we come to the actual selections.

Students to Study For Year In Israel

NEW YORK — A program of study enabling American college students to participate in a special one-year course at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, gets underway here for the third consecutive year. The project is sponsored by the Jerusalem university in cooperation with the American Friends of the Hebrew University and the Jewish Agency.

Applications will be accepted through March 15 for students or graduates of U. S. colleges and universities, who have completed at least two years of undergraduate work and wish to study at Hebrew University. A group of 12 American collegians, part of the second contingent of students accepted last year, has been studying in Israel since July.

The program is designed for those students who wish to acquire an extensive knowledge of the Hebrew language, to learn about modern Israel in its Middle Eastern setting, and to secure an introduction to the fundamentals of Jewish thought, history and literature. The students enrolled in the Israel course are also provided opportunity, if they so desire and their knowledge of Hebrew permits, to continue with their regular studies in the broad range of subjects offered by Hebrew University.

Living accommodations for students will be provided in University dormitories, or in private housing recommended by University authorities. Special arrangements have been made for transportation to and from Israel and for tuition.

To Seek Bias In Educational Texts

NEW YORK — The American Jewish Committee this week announced that three institutions of higher learning have undertaken extensive research studies to determine the extent and nature of biased material in Protestant and Jewish educational texts. At the same time, analyses will also be made of training programs for religious educators, the announcement said.

These research projects — in which the American Jewish Committee is cooperating — are under the direction of Yale University, and Dropsie College for Hebrew and Cognate Learning. A number of Catholic groups have also initiated studies in some of these areas. The findings will take about three years to compile and provide new understanding of the inter-group relations content in religious educational material and teacher training programs.

The studies have in common these aims: 1. To find out what biased ideology there is, if any, in teaching and curricular materials, the teaching methods, and the teacher training program in some of the denominations; 2. To assemble suggestions from writers and publishers for improving their own materials; 3. To make an objective appraisal of the findings available to religious educators and church leaders so that they may become instrumental in a sound approach to the inter-group aspects of religious education.

The Herald pages should be included in every advertising campaign for effective coverage.

Oppose Passage of Slaughtering Bills

WASHINGTON — Opposition to pending "humane slaughtering" legislation was expressed last week in Washington jointly by more than a score of Jewish organizations, including Orthodox, Conservative and Reform rabbinic and congregational bodies, as well as many civic groups.

They based their opposition on the ground that the proposed bills created the false implication that the Jewish religious method of slaughtering animals (Shechita) is inhumane.

Rabbi Isaac Lewin of the Union of Orthodox Rabbis of the United States and Canada, and Leo Pfeffer, director of the commission on law and social action of the American Jewish Congress, testified before a House Agriculture Subcommittee on behalf of the Jewish organizations.

Rabbi Lewin read a prepared statement citing many physiologists, anatomists, hygienists, and other authorities in many countries who maintain that the prescribed Jewish religious method of slaughtering animals is at least as humane as any other means.

Dangerous Implications

By exempting slaughter by the prescribed Jewish religious method from their provisions requiring "humane" methods, the pending bills create the implication that the Jewish religious method is not humane, the statement asserted.

"This false and defamatory implication must be categorically rejected," the Jewish organization declared.

"It is not surprising that within the Jewish community there is such unanimity of opposition to the bills being considered by this committee," Rabbi Lewin told the Congressmen. "For many years the false slander that Shechita is inhumane has been used as a weapon by those who would exterminate the Jewish people. It is significant that one of the first acts of the nazis upon securing power in Germany was to promulgate laws forbidding Shechita under the guise of humane considerations.

"Our concern is further heightened by the fact that even in England, where Shechita is exempt from the humane slaughtering law, that law has been used as a springboard for a continuous campaign to label Shechita as inhumane and to ban it."

The testimony was released by the National Community Relations Advisory Council, a coordinating body of which a number of the organizations are members.

Elderly Jews Threaten Suicide

TEL AVIV — One of the most pathetic demonstrations occurred here this week when a group of elderly Jews from Rumania picketed the Rumanian Legation here, threatening suicide if the Rumanian government continues ignoring its pledge to permit Rumanian Jews to become reunited with their families in Israel.

The demonstrators said they would commit suicide in front of the Rumanian legation if a new Israeli effort to intervene in their behalf with Bucharest turns out to be futile.
